

I sat at a pesach table with Mike Tabor a while ago, and he mentioned to me that there were stirrings in the wind that whispered that you might soon be elevated (is this the correct term?) to the chief rabbinate in Maifa. Its all a mytery to me, however, and, as I know that you'd inform me of such an event with a flourish of trans-antlantic trumpets, I remain silenced and deafened by the deep shadows where a letter from you might well stand.

In other words, it would be good to speak with you again.
