Dear Norman,

Thanks very much for sending me a copy of your "A Hedge of Roses". It is beautifully done. However, I was really intrigued by your chapter on the sanctity of time. Beginning with page 75 you make a point which I had made in my first essay in "Tradition". I thought it was original and I had offered it with tongue in cheek. Are there Gedolim who have advanced this thought? If so, I would be gratified to know. I, too, came upon the same conclusion almost twenty years ago.

Best wishes from house to house for a Chag Kasher ve-Someach.

Yours as ever,

Rabbi Emanuel Rackman
