Lily Edelman spoke to you today. They want to scrap the whole book, which satisfies you because it was too watery. She will send you a new contract, considering all previous partial payments as null and void. What she wants is a book on the compassionate society to include what you think appropriate, from any author, no matter how many times, and from any source. Borowitz will have nothing to do with it and you need not fear that his restrictions are any longer operative. She will let you know more details in a letter that she will be sending you. You need approximately another 150 pages of manuscript. Think of adding:

- (1) A piece from נחמה נא on goodness
- (2) The prayer for a bride that you translated in Hedge.
- (3) Ramban's attack on the פיקנע.
- (4) The letters of Rav Kook
- (5) Selections from Rabbi Epstein's פני חיים.
- (6) On Kiddush Hashem, one or several responsa from פיקנע.
- (7) Responsum on excessive piety and the rights of the school from פיקנע.
- (8) On נחמה נא or general ethics, from Ben Amozegh.
- (9) S.R.H. - Horeb
- (10) פיקנע - פיקנע
- (11) Finkelstein's Self-Guilt - פיקנע of Frankfurt
