

131 West 86th Street
New York, N.Y. 10024

June 16, 1975

Prof. Wilfred Cantwell Smith
Chairman, Dept. of Religion
Dalhousie University
1244 Le Marchant Street
Halifax, Nova Scotia B3H 3J5, Canada

Dear Professor Smith:

During the chourse of our long and most pleasant talk and discussion that evening in Bellagio -- the nearest I have come in many a year to the peripatetic experience -- I mentioned to you a theory concerning the medieval philosophers and their search for the proofs for God's existence.

In looking for the source, I discovered that I had mentioned it in my book, Faith and Doubt, which you received before coming to Bellagio. You will find it in Chapter I, n.42.

May I tell you once again, my dear Professor Smith, how delighted I was to make your acquaintance, and how very much I wish that we shall be able to meet again under such pleasant circumstances.

Cordially yours,

RABBI NORMAN LAMM

NL:gf