For your philosophy course, EMC, on problems in Jewish philosophy:
Re: Problems in Jewish philosophy -- discuss or assign the question of the meaningfulness of religious statements according to contemporary linguistic philosophers. The literature is reviewed by Dr. Louis Jacobs in his new book Faith. See especially the arguments of Professor Basil Mitchell concerning especially the verifiability concept. See also the position of Professor Markus Barth in his New Essays, pages 220-223; on this, see either Jacobs or Seymour Siegel's article in Conservative Judaism (Summer 1969).
