July 16.

Dear Rabbi + Mrs Lamm

Greetings from your Anglo-Saxon friends!

It's a girl!! Born on 14 July at 31st 3rd

11.50 pm to be named Naomi - what a relief & excellent timing. Naomi attended the final speech day and promptly afterwards at 4.30pm we despatched her off to Wallingford Hospital. 17 both are well and doing fine.

Hopefully I will have some time this summer to catch up on my vacationed delights: fiddling, reading, writing + being with my wife + family for a while (what a change!!) I would like to send you some ideas on 31st for your forthcoming book + if you give me a few weeks I'll be writing a longer letter.

May I in the interim make one suggestion. You seem to want to cover a tremendous field within the confines of one book and yet at the same time to present the profound Hasidic ideas which will require concentrated thought and study. You mention that you don't want to adopt the anecdotal style of Buber or non-existentialist/bar academic approach of Scholem. If your format is to be selected passages from classical texts + commentary, won't you need to be rather highly selective in what you choose or compete with the 8 vols of 17th 18th 19th 20th 21st 22nd 23rd 24th.

Anyway be that as it may, I would like to write to you my favourite stories, ideas on 3/4.

The merger between junior/teen school goes ahead in September. I'll be teaching English + social studies across the board + a Rabbi Helman (a friend of yours?) is coming to join the staff.

With kindest wishes from the Tabor trio to The Lamm Sextet, I end with an observation of the previous Rebbe on the state of western + particularly American society: He says that in America the mitzvah is lo p'k, eyn p'k but the Chasidim of old used to say:
