Dear Arnold:

Please accept my thanks and appreciation for sending me the November, 1964 issue of "Minnesota Law Review," which contains your superb atticle on "Counsel for the Suspect."

Your reference to my "Judaism" article explains to me how Watten obtained knowledge of my essay. Hence, my thanks to you for my brief excursion into delicious emunence.

I did not know your address in Washington, and hence this letter bs being sent to your Minneapolis address.

My very fondest regards to your wife, and my sincerely meant invitation to call me whenever you are in New York so that we can get togethher for a "schmus." Good luck.

Cordially yours,

RABBI NORMAN LAMM
