Dear Rabbi Lamm,

Thank you very much for your congratulations and wonderful wishes. It was really very nice of you to have taken the time to express them.

By the way, my father showed me your speech on mixed pews (not in mixed pews) and I thought it was literally out of this world -- in the right direction, of course. I read it, reread it, tried to memorize the arguments, and then put it in my file cabinet in case I should forget its contents. I think that it is far and away the best treatment I have seen or heard of the subject. Congratulations! I hope you can keep doing this sort of work. It's really excellent.

^e
Sincerely,

Respects to the Haskel
Leibetzin.
