Dear Rabbi Lamm, 358-3726

I am delighted to know how well your Melbourne lectures are going and I look forward to a similar success story in Sydney. I have, as requested, pruned the Sydney itinerary to the barest minimum to allow you time to see the sights and relax, and I enclose a copy of the programme as it stands at present. Accommodation and meals are being arranged at the moment and I should be able to send you details very shortly.

Concerning the subjects for your various addresses I suggest that, if possible, we adhere to the titles listed on the draft programme as these have been either requested or approved by the respective organisers. On the Sunday evening in particular it is important to have a subject which links Israel and Judaism.

At the communal welcome it might be an idea to speak very briefly about something provocative like "Jewish Responsibility" or "Difference and Indifference", as this particular gathering will certainly act as a shop-window for the rest of the Sydney programme.

Looking forward to seeing both you and Mrs. Lamm, and with all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Rabbi Dr. Norman Lamm,
c/o Mr. Hans Bachrach.
