Dear Marty:

Many thanks for the reprints of your review of "Ever Since Sinai" which appeared in a recent issue of "Judaism."

I had read the review in the original, and was, as usual, much impressed by it. Nevertheless, I am deeply grateful to you for remembering me.

As a matter of fact, one of the things I truly regret in having resigned from "TRADITION" is - the cessation of our correspondence. But maybe, someday, you will decide no longer to be a hick and, instead, come to the Big City with other "mentschen"...

Fondest regards to June and the children, and please let me hear from you when you are in the city - after the summer.

Cordially yours,

RABBI NORMAN LAMM
