Dear Rabbi Lamm:

I am writing to you on 10/1/72 since I think it is a mitzvah and hope to present a memorandum which would be classified otherwise a sekreter.

For about half a year I have come to the conclusion that the Jerusalem College of Technology needs a full time president.
It has now over 60 students and will grow rapidly in the next few years. Under these circumstances I personally have only two choices: either to give up my university position and take over the presidency of this school or find someone to head the school. In the latter case I would take a back seat or be a trouble shooter at most.

I am turning to you with the hope that you may consider favorably the possibility of being the president of the school. I am sure that you are swamped with many offers here in Israel, some no doubt will ~~be~~ be in position to offer considerable rewards.

However, I doubt, whether any institution has achieved this balance of religious studies and secular studies in this country or in the U.S.A. Both the student body and the staff are unusual, I think a person, who is dedicated, can through this school achieve a major revolution in the attitude of Israelis to religion and disown religious circles themselves.

I hope that you might be interested. If you see it would be best if we were to meet as soon as possible and discuss all further details. I can assure you that from my part you will obtain the maximum cooperation.

Sincerely W. L.
