Dear Moe:

I am acknowledging receipt of your two most recent letters, the first a reminder about the J.D.C. in India and the second a request for someone to represent the Union in the U.N. committee.

Let me say first of all that if the United States missile program were as well scheduled as your missile program that we might be getting someplace in international rocketry.

Now, concerning the J.D.C. -- whatever can possibly be done from America has already been done. I have been corresponding with Gilbert, the J.D.C. man, Manasseh, our president, and Jhirad, our executive director. Whatever other pressures can be put on J.D.C. to work along with us will have to wait until Rabbi Jung's return sometimes next week.

With regard to the U.N. committee, I am not quite sure what is needed, nor why a man of financial means is necessary for this task. Perhaps you will be able to explain to me when we meet.
