WELCOME TO ARTISAN CASKS

The Artisanal Spirits Company philosophy is rooted in technical artistry. Our whisky-making expertise sits at the heart of creating a unique vision for every cask we mature and every bottling we release.

Artisan Casks offers our clients a rare chance to appreciate – exclusively and first-hand – our craft and ambition for the finest casks in our care.

May I invite you to explore and enjoy the artisanal nature of our whisky by joining the exclusive circle of Artisan Casks owners.

A handwritten signature in dark blue ink, reading "James Mackay". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "James" and last name "Mackay" clearly distinguishable.

THE ARTISANAL WAY

IMPECCABLE PROVENANCE, TECHNICAL ARTISTRY

Our artisanal approach has emerged from decades of expertise in selecting, maturing and bottling the finest casks of impeccable provenance.

Over the last 40 years, building on trusted and long-standing relationships, we have acquired an outstanding range of casks from more than 100 single malt Scotch whisky distilleries including Macallan, Bowmore, Laphroaig and other great names. Every cask we release has been hand-selected, chosen for its own unique qualities and characteristics.

Under our custodianship, we take great care when pairing spirit and wood, regularly assessing each cask to ensure the perfect balance between oak and distillery character is maintained.

Where we believe we can elevate the whisky even further by moving it into a superior quality cask we spare no expense doing so, making regular visits to the world's finest cooperages and sherry bodegas to acquire casks for this purpose, upon which they receive daily care and attention at our own custom-fitted, state-of-the-art facility in Scotland, from maturation to bottling.

Every cask's story is an individual one, but our underlying dedication to first-class cask management, technical prowess and artisanal vision ensures each one is skilfully guided towards the peak of its potential.

The result is an Artisan Cask, a unique demonstration of our commitment to crafting outstanding expressions of single malt Scotch whisky.

ARTISAN CASKS BOTTLING

OUTSTANDING PRESENTATION OF ARTISANAL SPIRITS

Although all Artisan Casks are of a quality to allow immediate bottling, owners may continue to mature their cask for an additional period. The decision of when to bottle your cask is made in consultation with our whisky-makers and the cask owner, led by our expert judgement on the nature and quality of the whisky.

Prior to bottling your Artisan Cask, you may also enjoy up to two 70cl sample bottles per year to personally experience and explore how your whisky is evolving, accompanied by an annual statement that sets out key considerations from our whisky-makers to help determine optimum maturation.

At the end of the agreed maturation period your cask is bottled by us at our own custom-fitted, state-of-the-art facility in Scotland.

The packaging and presentation of all Artisan Casks has been carefully designed with authenticity and contemporary luxury in mind, recognising the cask's unique provenance, rarity and inherent value: each bottle label highlights the distillery of origin, the age of the liquid when bottled and the unique cask number. The fill date, bottling date and unique bottle number are hand-written onto the label itself, whilst owners may also choose to personalise bottlings from each cask with their name or a short message.

Bottles are individually hand-inspected and pre-packed into gift-boxes that combine luxury appearance with protective functionality to enable worry-free shipping and transit.
