

Penguins of Antarctica

Antarctica is extremely cold and dry. Not many animals live there. Emperor penguins have thick feather coats that keep them warm and protect them from the harsh Antarctic weather.

Look at the penguins below and circle the 3 differences on the penguin on the right.

