LSU last played Missouri (1987) and Oklahoma St. (1991) as members of the Big 8, and last played Texas A&M (1995) as a member of the Southwest Conference. LSU has never played Texas Tech, and the Tigers did not play Colorado and Iowa St. prior to those schools dropping their baseball programs after 1980 and 2001, respectively.

LSU looking to avoid another Big 12 letdown
 LSU welcomes a Big 12 team for the second time this year to Baton Rouge, and the Tigers are certainly hoping history does NOT repeat itself. That's because Kansas came into The Box in February and swept LSU, dropping the Tigers to 5-8 vs. the Big 12 since 1998.
 Baylor, on the other hand, hasn't played an SEC team since losing to Florida in 2000 Waco regional.

Tigers keep place among NCAA Fab Four

With its win over UNC Wilmington in Sunday's regional championship game, LSU assured that its spot in a select group of college baseball's elite is secure.

For the fifth consecutive year, LSU is one of 16 teams playing in a super regional, leaving the Tigers as just one of four teams to play in a super regional each of the five years that the format has existed. The other three schools to reach this lofty plateau are Florida St., Miami (Fla.) and Stanford, all of whom are hosting super regionals this weekend.

Ironically, this is the first time that the quartet is all at home in the super regional round. Stanford is the only school to host a super regional all five years, while Florida St. is home for the fourth time, with the road trip coming at Georgia in 2001. Miami is home for the third time, having traveled to FSU in 2000 and South Carolina last year, but LSU is home for only the second time, along with hosting UCLA in 2000. The Tigers went to Alabama in 1999, Tulane in 2001 and Rice last year.

Prior to this year, six schools had played in super regionals in each of the first four years. But Southern California finished 30-30 in the regular season and did not make the field of 64, while Clemson was 1-2 in this year's Auburn regional.

Of the other 12 schools in the round of 16, South Carolina is making its fourth consecutive appearance, while Cal St. Fullerton and Rice are here for the fourth time in five years. Texas and Houston are both making their third appearances, with Baylor and Ohio St. are making their second trips. The other five schools (Arizona St., Long Beach St., North Carolina, North Carolina St., and Southwest Missouri St.) are all in the super regionals for the first time.

Home cooking usually equals Omaha

While LSU is one of four schools to play in every super regional round, the Tigers have been away from the friendly confines of Alex Box Stadium three of the first four years. The result has been a 1-6 record in the super regional round away from home, including back-to-back shutouts last year at Rice.

The home team has won a staggering 78.1 percent of the series contested, or 25 of the 32 played. In fact, 15 of the 32 super regionals have ended in two-game sweeps by the home team, including three of the four LSU has been involved in. The home team is 55-25 (.688) in all super regional games, including 15-6 in 2002.

In the last two years, only two road teams have won a super regional: Tennessee at East Carolina in 2001 and Notre Dame at FSU last year. Two road teams (Cal St. Fullerton and Oklahoma St.) won in 1999, while a high of three (UL-Lafayette, San Jose St. and USC) pulled off the feat in 2000.

All four SEC teams that have hosted super regionals have reached Omaha: Alabama in 1999, LSU in 2000, Georgia in 2001 and South Carolina last year.

Bears looking to pull off rare double

Not only will Baylor have to overcome the tremendous fan support and tradition that LSU has at Alex Box Stadium this weekend, but it will also have to overcome history, which is not on the Bears' side.

Since the advent of the super regional round in 1999, only four teams have advanced to Omaha when winning a regional and a super regional on the road. Those teams were Cal St. Fullerton and Oklahoma St. in 1999, and USC and San Jose St. in 2000. Baylor was the Cowboys' victim in the 1999 super regionals, losing twice to its Big 12 rivals.

In each of the last two years, the only road team to win a super regional, Tennessee in 2001 and Notre Dame in 2002, won regionals at home. This year, Baylor, Southwest Missouri St., Houston and North Carolina are attempting to pull off the road double.

Tigers keep home cooking going strong

With its three-game sweep of the Baton Rouge regional, LSU once again continued its tradition of strong play in the NCAA Tournament at Alex Box Stadium.

Entering this weekend's super regional series with Baylor, the Tigers are a sterling 57-10 (.851) in NCAA games at home, including six consecutive wins dating back to the 2002 regional. LSU has never lost consecutive NCAA Tournament games at home, and are seeking to go undefeated in NCAA play at home for the seventh time. LSU went 4-0 in regionals in 1986, 1991, 1994, 1996, 1998, and went 3-0 in the 2000 regional before sweeping UCLA in that year's super regional.

Counting the SEC tournaments contested in Baton Rouge in 1985, 1986, 1991 and 1993, LSU is 67-15 all-time in the post-season at home.

If LSU wins the super regional this weekend, it will wrap up its 12th season of 30 or more home wins since 1985. LSU hasn't won 30 home games since going 32-3 in 1998, which marked the Tigers' best-ever home winning percentage of .914.

Tigers could set new attendance mark

Another year, another attendance mark within sight for LSU at Alex Box Stadium, as fan support for college baseball's premier program remains at staggering levels.

The Tigers will go over the 280,000 mark in paid attendance this weekend, as LSU has sold 268,613 tickets for its 36 home games through the regional. If the super regional should reach a third and deciding game, the single season record of 286,874 set in 2000 will be broken, and the Tigers will hit the 290,000 mark with three crowds of 7,350 or more.

With this year's figures, the Tigers pushed over the 3 million mark in paid attendance since Skip Bertman's arrival in 1984. A total of 3,127,641 tickets have been sold for LSU games in the last 20 years, or an average of 4,612 for 678 dates.

Late closing for The Box

For just the third time in its 65-year history, Alex Box Stadium will be the site of baseball in June when LSU hosts Baylor in this weekend's super regional.

The Tigers' first June games at home came in the 2000 super regional, when LSU beat UCLA twice en route to their fifth national championship. LSU also played four of its five regional games at The Box last year, losing to UL-Lafayette before coming back to win the regional by eliminating Tulane and defeating ULL twice in the final round.

Since 1984, the Tigers have been at their best at home in May and June, compiling a 125-37 (.772) mark, including a 57-10 mark in the NCAA Tournament.

As the NCAA continues to push back the start dates for the regionals, June games will become more and more common at The Box, unless, of course, LSU doesn't host regionals, which doesn't seem likely in the near future, at least.

Baylor looking to celebrate in front of Tigers

Although LSU has failed to win regionals in the past that were held at Alex Box Stadium, something that has never been seen in Baton Rouge is the sight of a visiting team celebrating on the field at The Box after defeating LSU.

In the two years that Cal St. Fullerton won a regional title in Baton Rouge, the Tigers had already been eliminated from the tournament. In 1992, the Titans beat Ohio St. for the championship, and in 1995, Fullerton edged Rice to advance to the CWS, where the Titans eventually won the national championship.

The only team to defeat LSU to win a title in Baton Rouge was Florida, which won the 1991 SEC Tournament at The Box.

Tigers hoping to end longest CWS drought

LSU fans have come to expect trips to Omaha at least every other year, but this year, the Tigers are seeking their first visit to college baseball's Mecca since the 2000 national championship run.

The Tigers' current two-year drought is the first since Skip Bertman first took LSU to Omaha in 1986. From 1986 through 2000, LSU made 11 appearances in a 15-season stretch, missing only in 1988, 1992, 1995 and 1999.

LSU goes 3-for-3 against all three foes for first time

Last weekend's regional sweep for the Tigers marked the first time that LSU has beaten all three regional opponents in one tournament without having to drop into the loser's bracket, defeating Northeastern, Tulane and UNC Wilmington in order. LSU defeated all three regional foes in 1999 and 2002, but had to drop into the loser's bracket following the second game to do so in both instances.

Tigers time first extra inning win of '03 just right

When LSU's regional championship round game with UNC Wilmington went to extra innings, there was some cause for concern, given the fact that the Tigers had lost all four regular season games that had gone into extra innings.

This time, however, the script had a happy ending for the Tigers, as Jon Zeringue's one out home run in the bottom of the 11th inning sent LSU into the super regional round with a 9-8 victory over the Seahawks.

The win marked LSU's first extra inning win since last May 10 at Florida, and the first time LSU has won on a "walkoff" home run since Matt Heath's solo shot in the bottom of the 11th to beat Long Beach St. last March 3.

LSU is now 4-1 all-time in NCAA Tournament post-season games. Here's a look at those games:

Ten runs LSU's magic number in NCAA play

The Tigers' wins over Northeastern and Tulane in the first two games of the Baton Rouge regional this past weekend continued an old, tried-but-true theory concerning LSU in the post-season, and that it is nearly impossible to beat the Bayou Bengals when they score 10 or more runs.

LSU enters the super regional with Baylor with a staggering 45-1 mark in NCAA tournament play when it scores 10 or more runs. The only team to prove this theory incorrect was East Carolina, which took an 11-10 win over LSU on May 29, 1999 in the second round of the Baton Rouge regional. The Pirates, unfortunately, were on the wrong end of a 12-10 score the next day, and were eventually ousted.

Since that loss to ECU, LSU has won its last 13 NCAA tournament games when scoring 10 or more runs. Of those 47 games, 31 of those have come in Baton Rouge.

When adding in the SEC Tournament, LSU is 61-2 when scoring 10 or more runs in the post-season. The only SEC Tournament loss for LSU when hitting double figures came in 1996, when Kentucky ousted LSU with a 12-11 victory.

Hill drafted by Blue Jays in first round

When Aaron Hill turned down a seventh-round offer from the Anaheim Angels to play for the Fighting Tigers in the summer of 2000, some wondered why the California native turned down such a lucrative offer.

Three years later, Hill is smiling all the way to the bank. And to be sure, the Toronto Blue Jays are, too, because the Jays chose Hill with the 13th overall selection in the 2003 Major League Baseball draft.

Hill, the SEC Player of the Year and a second team All-American, becomes the 12th LSU player to be selected in the first round since the draft began in 1965. He also becomes the fourth Tiger shortstop to go in the opening round, along with Mike Miley in 1974, Russ Johnson in 1994 and Brandon Larson in 1997.

Hill was the second SEC player selected, behind only Mississippi State left-handed pitcher Paul Maholm, who went eighth to Pittsburgh. He was also the third Louisiana college player to be drafted, behind Southern second baseman Rickie Weeks (2nd overall to Milwaukee) and Tulane first baseman Michael Aubrey (11th to Cleveland).

Here's a look at the Tigers' all-time first-round draft picks:

Hill named SEC Player of the Year

Many times, a rule of thumb is that the best player on the championship team will win a league's Most Valuable Player award, and such a path came true this year, as LSU shortstop Aaron Hill was named the SEC Position Player of the Year prior to the SEC Tournament.

Hill led the SEC in batting average in conference games at .398, while also posting a league high .483 on-base percentage in conference games in leading the Tigers to their first conference title since 1997.

Hill is the fourth LSU player to win SEC Player of the Year honors, joining Todd Walker (1993), Russ Johnson (1994) and Eddy Furniss (1996), all of whom also earned first team All-America honors during the seasons in which they won the SEC MVP award.

Hill named second team All-American

The awards keep rolling in for LSU shortstop Aaron Hill, who was named a second team All-American by both Collegiate Baseball and ESPN/USA Today Sports Weekly last week.

Hill, a junior from Visalia, Calif., has been the glue of the Tigers' team through this injury-plagued campaign, batting a team high .368 entering the super regional, and leading the SEC with a .478 on-base percentage. Hill also leads the Tigers in runs scored (63), RBI (59), doubles (27) and walks (45), while striking out 16 times in 300 plate appearances.

Hill has also been the Tigers' most dangerous clutch hitter, batting .405 with runners in scoring position and hitting .406 with 21 RBI with two out.

Hill is the only LSU player to start all 63 games during the regular season, and was a standout on the 2002 United States national team that won the silver medal in the inaugural World University Games in Italy.

The Tigers did not have a first- or second-team selection in either 2001 or 2002 in any of the three major publications. Baseball America, the third major publication, will not release its All-America team until the College World Series gets underway later this month.

Hill continues in the long line of LSU shortstops to earn All-America honors, joining Brandon Larson (1997), Jason Williams (1996) and Russ Johnson (1994) to earn such distinction in the last decade.

Hill wins second all-tournament recognition

Aaron Hill continues to show in the post-season why he earned All-SEC and All-America recognition, as he has been named to the all-tournament teams at both the SEC tournament and the Baton Rouge regional.

Although Hill was a "pedestrian" 4-for-13 in the regional, he saved his best hit for his last at-bat of the tournament, grounding a single past the UNC Wilmington infield in the bottom of the 10th inning to tie the game at 8-8, a game that LSU would go on to win in extra innings. Hill drove in a total of six runs in the regional, including three in the title game.

In the SEC Tournament, Hill batted .429 (6-for-14), collecting his six hits in the first three games of the tournament as LSU advanced to the final.

In the Tigers' seven post-season games, Hill is batting .370 (10-for-27) with eight runs scored and a team high 11 RBI.

This year marks the second consecutive year in which an LSU player has earned All-SEC tournament and all-regional honors, as left fielder Matt Heath pulled off the double feat in 2002.

Holt caps off superb run with MOP trophy

There are some players who find a way to step up when the stakes are the highest. Count LSU center fielder J.C. Holt as one of those players.

Holt, who had gone through an up-and-down sophomore season in center fielder after earning Freshman All-America honors in 2002 at second base, turned his game up several notches in the Baton Rouge regional to pace the Tigers to the championship.

There was a feeling Holt was in for a special weekend after he hit a first-inning home run in the opener against Northeastern. The game became really special by the end, as Holt finished with a three-run home run, an RBI double and went 4-for-5 with three runs scored and five RBI, a career high.

Add in a 3-for-4, 3-RBI game against Tulane and 2-for-5 effort in the championship game vs. UNC Wilmington, it was more than enough to earn Holt Most Outstanding Player honors at the regional. Holt went 9-for-14 (.643) with eight RBI, six runs scored and a 1.286 slugging percentage. The weekend allowed Holt to raise his batting average on the year to .304, the first time he has been above .300 since March 5.

Holt has proved to be nearly unstoppable in NCAA Tournament games. In 10 career tournament games, Holt is batting .488 (20-for-41) with 12 runs scored and seven RBI.

The only unfortunate aspect to Holt's weekend was the fact that if it had not been for an ankle sprain suffered by Quinn Stewart prior to Friday's opener, Holt might not have played in all three games, as Holt started against Tulane left-handed pitcher J.R. Crowel on Saturday. Since early March, Holt had usually been on a platoon system, starting against right-handers while Stewart started against southpaws.

Naccarata's incredible run continues

J.C. Holt wasn't the only player to step his game up in the regional last weekend. Actually, for third baseman Ivan Naccarata, there was no need to step his game up, because the Canadian came into the post-season on a roll already.

To be sure, Naccarata turned in a fabulous weekend in the regional, batting .533 (8-for-15) with five RBI and six runs scored to earn unanimous acclaim to the all-tournament team.

Naccarata enjoyed his best game in the victory over Tulane on Saturday, collecting a career high four hits in a 4-for-5, 4-run, 3-RBI performance. Naccarata has collected at least two hits in five of the Tigers' seven post-season games, and is batting .481 (13-for-27) with nine RBI in all post-season games.

In late April, Naccarata was on a platoon system due to his inability to hit left-handed pitching. But those days are long gone, as Naccarata is hitting .424 (28-for-66) with 19 runs scored since May 1, leaving his season average at a cool .333.

Home run continues Zeringue's big year

A game-winning home run in a regional championship game is a special moment in itself, and it was certainly fitting that Jon Zeringue hit it, because the Tigers' right fielder has made a turnaround rarely seen in the annals of LSU baseball.

When he was put back into the starting lineup on March 22 at Georgia, the Thibodaux native was batting just .204 and had struck out 18 times in 54 plate appearances.

More than two months later, the struggles are over. Zeringue is hitting .384 since he returned to the lineup, and more importantly, has shown the consistency that led the Chicago White Sox to make him a third-round draft choice in 2001.

Zeringue, a second team All-SEC selection, is hitting .381 (24-for-69) since May 1, and in the regional, struck out just once in 14 plate appearances.

Patterson looks for more vs. home state school

First team All-SEC designated hitter Ryan Patterson earned all-tournament team honors at the Baton Rouge regional after batting .412 (7-for-17) to lead the Tigers to the championship.

Patterson's big game came on Saturday against Tulane, when he went 4-for-6, his second four-hit game of the year. Patterson went 4-for-5 on April 26 against Tennessee.

Now, Patterson will turn his attention to Baylor, which is located in Waco, not too far from Patterson's Texas hometown of Rowlett. Patterson is one of three Texas natives on the Tigers' post-season roster, along with designated hitter Quinn Stewart (also from Rowlett), and pitcher Bo Pettit from Houston.

Gill enjoying solid post-season

LSU second baseman Blake Gill has quietly enjoyed a solid post-season run, augmenting a regular season that earned him second team All-SEC honors.

Gill went 5-for-13 (.385) in the Baton Rouge regional to earn all-tournament team honors, and he hit a home run in the Tigers' win over Tulane in the second game. Including the SEC Tournament, Gill is batting .400 (10-for-25) with 10 runs scored and seven RBI in post-season play.

Hill joins select company

LSU shortstop Aaron Hill collected two more doubles in the Baton Rouge regional, leaving the second team All-American with 50 career doubles, making him just the seventh LSU player to reach that lofty mark. The SEC and LSU record is held by Eddy Furniss, who banged out 87 doubles from 1995 through 1998.

Hill's 27 doubles ties him with Furniss in 1998 for the second highest double total in a single season at LSU. The record is 36 by Brad Hawpe in 2000, which is also the national record.

Sadler, Wilson both drafted by San Francisco
Former LSU All-America pitcher Kurt Ainsworth is already a part of the San Francisco Giants' rotation, and before long, he may not be alone as a former Tiger pitcher on the hill for the Giants.

San Francisco used two of its selections in the Major League draft earlier this week to take a pair of LSU right-handed pitchers, selecting reliever Billy Sadler in the sixth round and then taking starter Brian Wilson in the 24th round.

Sadler, who leads the Tigers with 25 appearances this year, 24 in relief, is 1-1 with a 3.92 ERA and four saves on the year, but he did not pitch in the Baton Rouge regional last week.

Wilson was selected despite the fact his season ended on March 28 at Alabama, as he underwent Tommy John surgery to repair a damaged ligament in his right elbow on April 16 in Birmingham in a procedure performed by Dr. James Andrews.

Sadler and Wilson are the third and fourth players to be picked by the Giants since 1999. In addition to Ainsworth, San Francisco took outfielder Todd Linden in the first round of the 2001 draft.

Pettit taken again by Minnesota

Following the 2002 season, Bo Pettit had to make a decision: either give up his final season at LSU to sign with the Minnesota Twins as the team's 13th round draft pick, or come back for another year with the Tigers, and face a possibly uncertain future.

For the Twins and for Pettit, everything has come full circle. Pettit was drafted in the 29th round on Wednesday by Minnesota, and will report to the Twins' minor league camp for assignment following the 2003 season.

But before Pettit embarks on his professional career, the Houston native is looking to help LSU reach the College World Series for the first time since 2000. And he'll be doing it this weekend against a home-state school in Baylor.

Pettit, along with seldom-used pitcher Chad Vaught, are the only two players who were part of the 2000 team. But Pettit hurt his arm in early May that year and did not pitch in the post-season. Pettit is coming off of a rough outing in the regional final vs. UNC Wilmington last Sunday, as he gave up four home runs and seven runs in seven innings.

Pettit's nine strikeouts on Sunday moved him into a tie for ninth place on LSU's career strikeout list with 296, leaving him four shy of becoming the ninth LSU player to record 300 Ks in a career. Pettit is 27-12 at LSU, leaving him ninth on the Tigers' career win list.

Determann earns win in regional finale

Jason Determann's return to the LSU bullpen for the Baton Rouge regional paid dividends in the title game against UNC Wilmington, as the southpaw earned the victory by pitching four innings and giving up just one run on two hits.

Determann, who also pitched the final 1 1/3 innings of Saturday's game against Tulane, is now 6-0 on the year, and since May 1, he has walked just two batters in 21 1/3 innings in winning twice in seven outings.

The games against Tulane and UNCW marked the first time in Determann's career that he has pitched in consecutive games at LSU. In 2002, Determann was able to pitch just seven innings in two outings before undergoing season ending Tommy John surgery.

Bumstead keeps on winning

Junior right-hander Nate Bumstead added to an already impressive opening year at LSU in the Baton Rouge regional by earning selection to the all-tournament team.

Bumstead, a second team All-SEC selection, pitched 7 2/3 innings and gave up four runs on nine hits in the Tigers' second game victory over Tulane. Bumstead has won his last three starts and pitched 24 2/3 innings out of a possible 27 after getting knocked out in the first inning on May 11 against Auburn.

Bumstead is now 11-2 on the year, and can become the first Tiger to win 12 games or more in a season since Brian Tallet went 15-3 in 2000. Lane Mestepey led the Tigers with an 11-3 mark in both 2001 and 2002.

Tompkins taken by Philly in 28th round

Although it wasn't the prettiest game, Jake Tompkins' seven-inning outing in the regional opener against Northeastern was more than enough to earn his third win of the year.

Tompkins struck out eight batters in seven innings—his highest strikeout total since fanning 11 in the season opener against Northwestern St.—and gave up one run through the first six innings. Prior to the game with Northeastern, Tompkins had not pitched since May 11 at home vs. Auburn.

Tompkins, who was the Most Outstanding Player of the 2002 Baton Rouge regional when he picked up two wins, is now 3-0 with a 2.79 ERA in four NCAA Tournament outings, covering 19 1/3 innings.

Like teammate Bo Pettit, Tompkins turned down an offer from a major league team to return to LSU, and like Pettit, he also was drafted again, although not by the same team. Tompkins was selected on Wednesday in the 32nd round by the Philadelphia Phillies, one year after the Texas Rangers took the California native in the 28th round. Tompkins will report for duty with the Phillies after the season ends.

Tigers move to No. 5 in latest pseudo-RPI

Prior to the start of the NCAA tournament, LSU cracked the top five in Boyd Nation's pseudo-RPIs. The Tigers finished the SEC Tournament ranked fifth in the latest edition of the pseudo-RPIs, trailing only Florida St., Georgia Tech, Miami and Auburn. All of the teams Nation had in his top eight were named as national seeds.

This weekend's LSU-Baylor super regional matches up the No. 5 and No. 10 teams in the pseudo-RPI, one of only two top-10 matchups. The other is in Tallahassee, where No. 1 Florida St. hosts No. 9 Texas.

Nation's pseudo-RPIs are an approximation of the official Rating Percentage Index that the 11 members of the Division I baseball committee use to determine just who will make the field of 64 and where those teams will be sent. The official numbers are not released until after the season in July. Although Nation's numbers are an approximation, they have been fairly close to the official numbers once those are released.

The RPI takes into account a team's winning percentage (25 percent), their strength of schedule (50 percent) and the strength of schedule of a team's opponents (25 percent). Here is a breakdown of the Tigers' 2003 opponents by ranking:

Rating	W-L	Opponents (W-L record)
1-10	2-1	#4 Auburn (2-1), #10 Baylor (in super regional)
11-20	6-6	#12 Long Beach St. (1-2), #15 Mississippi St. (3-2), #17 Alabama (2-2)
21-30	7-4	#23 South Carolina (2-1), #27 Tulane (2-2), #29 Arkansas (3-1)
31-40	8-2-1	#32 Florida (2-0-1), #34 Houston (1-1), #35 Ole Miss (2-1), #39 Georgia (3-0)
41-50	1-0	#48 UNC Wilmington (1-0)
51-75	8-5	#56 Tennessee (3-0), #59 Kansas (0-3), #64 Northwestern St. (4-0); #66 Southern (game rained out in 5th on March 18), #73 Vanderbilt (1-2)
76-100	0-0	#92 Kentucky (DNP in 2003)
101-125	5-1	#103 New Orleans (1-1), #104 Winthrop (3-0) #117 UL-Monroe (1-0)
126-150	1-0	#149 Northeastern (1-0)
Below 150	4-0	#156 Southeastern Louisiana (2-0), #198 Nicholls St. (1-0), #227 Centenary (1-0)

NOTE: The Tigers' May 6 game against Loyola is NOT computed into the RPI, as Loyola is not a Division I school.

Ratings listed through the end of the conference tournaments on May 25.

Quality start totals by pitcher: Meier 8, Bumstead 8, Pettit 5, Tompkins 4, Wilson 3, Determann 2.

- A quality start is defined as a starting performance of six or more innings allowing fewer than four earned runs, OR if a pitcher allows ZERO earned runs in five or more innings.
- If a pitcher throws a predetermined number of innings or is on a pitch count and meets all other criteria for a quality start, he shall be credited with a quality start. Such situations are noted with an asterisk.
- Complete games wins, regardless of runs allowed, are always considered quality starts. Games that LSU eventually lost are in bold.

Team—LSU overall W-L record when that pitcher starts; individual record is listed in the W-L column.

LSU Pitchers baserunners per inning ratio

This chart tells how many baserunners a pitcher is putting on base per inning, not counting errors by the defense that allow extra baserunners to reach base. The ratio is found by adding up the number of hits, walks and hit batsmen allowed per inning and dividing it by the innings pitched.

Team	Scored	Total	Pct.	5	10+	IR	GA	TA	Net
LSU	214	542	39.4	21	2	60 of 161	102	128	+13
Opponents	161	561	28.7	4	0	52 of 214	105	80	-27

IR—immediate response; times a team responds to an opponent by scoring in the next half inning.

GA—Giveaways: total # of runs a team gives up in the half inning immediately after scoring runs. If LSU scores one run in the bottom of the eighth but gives up two in the top of the ninth, it counts as two “giveaway” runs.

TA—Takeaways: total # of runs a team scores in the half inning immediately after the opponent scores.

Net: Net of giveaways and takeaways after counting runs that were scored by the opponent in the half inning immediately preceding the giveaway and/or takeaway. For example, if LSU scores one run in the bottom of the eighth inning, but gives up one run in the top of the ninth, the net is zero. Therefore, the net figure does not necessarily add up to the total of giveaways and takeaways.

LSU's NCAA Super Regional History

June 8, 2002—LSU is eliminated by Rice, 3-0, the Owls' second straight shutout of the Tigers. Nobody realizes it at the time, but it will be the last game ever for third baseman Wally Pontiff, who dies tragically of a heart abnormality on July 24.

June 7, 2002—After a brief rain delay, Rice uses a pair of LSU errors to score six runs in the third inning off of LSU ace Lane Mestepey as the Owls take a 6-0 victory. Few realize it at the time, but it will be Mestepey's last game until the 2004 season.

June 3, 2001—A 7-1 victory by Tulane at Zephyr Field closes out the coaching career of LSU's Skip Bertman. Bertman finishes his career with an 870-330-3 mark, a ledger that includes seven SEC championships, 11 College World Series appearances and five national championships.

June 1, 2001—A sacrifice fly by David Raymer in the 13th inning scores Chris Phillips with the game-winning run as LSU takes a 4-3 victory over Tulane in the super regional opener.

June 3, 2000—LSU finishes off UCLA as both Ryan Theriot and Mike Fontenot go 3-for-5 in a 14-8 pasting of the Bruins. LSU goes on to win its fifth national championship since 1991.

June 2, 2000—Brian Tallet and Weylin Guidry combine to hold UCLA to two hits as LSU wins its first super regional game at home with an 8-2 victory.

June 5, 1999—Alabama ends LSU's run of three consecutive CWS appearances with a 13-5 victory in Tuscaloosa to sweep the first super regional.

LSU Coach Smoke Laval

LSU coach Smoke Laval followed up a successful rookie campaign at LSU by leading the Tigers to the 2003 SEC Championship and earning SEC Coach of the Year laurels, becoming the sixth LSU coach to earn that distinction.

Laval was named Skip Bertman's successor on July 18, 2000, and spent the 2001 season as the LSU administrative assistant. From 1994-2000, Laval coached for seven years at Louisiana-Monroe, guiding the Indians to three NCAA regional berths (1995, 1999, 2000) and a 241-159 mark. Among Laval's pupils at ULM was Ben Sheets, a 2000 member of the United States Olympic gold medal team and a 2001 major league all-star with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Laval was Bertman's top assistant at LSU from 1984-1993, helping the Tigers reach the College World series six times and win the national championship in 1991 and 1993. Laval was also a graduate assistant at LSU under Jack Lamabe in 1979 and an assistant at Florida in 1982 and 1983.

The other super regionals

LSU and Baylor are competing for one of the eight slots in the College World Series, which begins on June 13 at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium. Here are a look at the other seven series played this weekend:

Arizona St. at Cal St. Fullerton—The two West Coast powers have combined for eight national championships, but the Titans haven't won it since 1995 under Augie Garrido, while the Sun Devils' drought extends back to 1981 under the late Dr. Jim Brock. The winner faces the Baylor-LSU super regional winner on June 13 in Omaha.

North Carolina at South Carolina—Gamecocks' coach Ray Tanner is familiar with the Tar Heels after playing and coaching seven seasons at North Carolina St. UNC is seeking its first trip to Omaha since 1989, while USC is seeking to go back after finishing as runners-up in 2002.

Long Beach St. at Stanford—The 49ers are the last team to win a NCAA tournament series at Sunken Diamond, winning the 1998 West Regional by defeating Alabama. The Cardinal are the only school to host a super regional all five years of the format. The winner of this series faces the UNC-USC winner on June 13 in Omaha.

Texas at Florida St.—The defending national champion Longhorns travel to Tallahassee to face the No. 1 national seed Seminoles in a blockbuster matchup. FSU's Mike Martin still searching for elusive first national championship, while Texas coach Augie Garrido seeks his fifth.

North Carolina St. at Miami—The Wolfpack are in the super regional for the first time and must face a Hurricane team that is hungry after missing CWS in two of last three seasons. The winner faces the Texas-FSU winner on June 14 in Omaha.

Southwest Missouri St. at Ohio St.—Both teams traveled as No. 3 seeds to their regionals, but the Buckeyes beat No. 4 national seed Auburn twice, while the Bears bested CWS hometown favorite Nebraska twice in three meetings.

Houston at Rice—The Silver Glove series gets an encore at Reckling Park after the Cougars stunned Texas A&M twice in College Station, while the Owls had little trouble in sweeping McNeese and Wichita St. twice. The winner faces the SMS-Ohio St. winner on June 14 in Omaha.
