NICK SABAN

HEAD COACH • 3RD SEASON

In two years as head coach of the LSU football team, Nick Saban has taken the Tigers to heights in which the school hasn't seen in 15 years.

In his first season with the Tigers in 2000, Saban guided a team coming off of back-to-back losing seasons to an 8-4 mark and a win over 15th-ranked Georgia Tech in the Peach Bowl to rekindle the fire of a proud football tradition in Baton Rouge.

Saban's impact on the Tigers went much further in 2001 as he led LSU to the school's first outright Southeastern Conference title since 1986 with a 31-20 win over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC title game and followed that win a 47-34 victory over Illinois in the Sugar Bowl, LSU's first New Year's Day Bowl win since 1968.

Beating Tennessee to win the league title is one thing, but the fashion in which Saban and the Tigers did so speaks volumes on the impact has had on his squad. Playing without two of their offensive stand-outs, quarterback Rohan Davey and running back LaBrandon Toefield, not only did the Tigers respond to Saban's challenge to step up, they were more dominant outscoring the high-powered Vols offense 21-3 in the second half. LSU's defense allowed just 50 yards rushing for the game.

Losing Davey and Toefield and still overcoming the adversity to win the title game, or any game for that matter, has been a trademark of Saban-coached teams. Teaching the players to trust and believe in each other has been a characteristic that Saban has branded on his squad. Saban preached to his team to play for 60 minutes, to become a dominant team on every play of every game, and to not worry about what the scoreboard read. The players responded.

After the Tigers dropped a 35-24 decision to Ole Miss in Baton Rouge in late October, LSU was practically counted out of the SEC Western Division race. Saban, however, pressed on saying the Tigers would continue to focus on getting better, playing one game at a time, and not worrying about anybody but the next opponent. It worked as the Tigers began to peak during their November run, a stretch that saw LSU win at Alabama, then beat nationally-ranked foes Arkansas and Auburn at home to advance to the SEC title game.

The win over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC Championship game and then No. 7 Illinois in the Sugar Bowl were just two more steps along the way for the Tigers as Saban continues to restore the winning tradition to an LSU program that will soon be a fixture among the nation's elite in college football.

Saban became the 31st head coach of the LSU Tigers on November 30, 1999, after five years as head coach at Michigan State.

Saban has long been revered in football coaching circles as one of the keen minds of the game, having coached under some of the best football technicians in the country, on both the college and professional levels.

HEAD COACH

NICK AND TERRY SABAN WITH NICHOLAS AND KRISTEN

SABAN RECEIVED THE TRADITIONAL BUCKET SHOWER AFTER THE SUGAR BOWL WIN.

His first two years at LSU have been anything but a disappointment as he has guided the Tigers to a two-year overall record of 18-7, including an 11-6 mark in SEC action. Saban has also led the Tigers to seven wins over ranked teams, including a 31-20 victory over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC Championship game as LSU claimed its first outright league title since 1986. He has taken the Tigers to bowl games in each of his first two seasons in Baton Rouge, winning the 2000 Peach Bowl before claiming the Sugar Bowl last year.

LSU closed the 2001 season by winning six straight games, the longest streak since 1973 team won nine straight. In addition, the 2001 team became the first LSU squad to win its final six games of a season since 1961, when the Tigers won 10 straight games to finish at 10-1. The Tigers finished the 2001 season ranked No. 7 in the nation in the Associated Press poll and No. 8 in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches poll, the first Top 10 ranking for the program since 1987.

Known for his defensive prowess, Saban's LSU offense shattered several school-records in 2001 as the Tigers scored at least 30 points eight times and went over the 40-point mark four times. LSU set six single-season records on offense, including yards per game (451.5) and passing yards per contest (298.5). LSU ranked second in the SEC and 11th nationally in total offense and passing offense.

For his efforts Saban was named one of seven finalists for the Bear Bryant National Coach of the Year Award and the Atlanta Touchdown Club recognized him as the SEC Coach of the Year.

Saban's success at LSU shouldn't come as a surprise considering the success he had rebuilding a Michigan State program that was riddled with scholarship limitations. In no time, Saban had the Spartans ranked in the top 10 and playing in a New Year's Bowl games.

His final Spartan team finished with a No. 7 ranking in the nation and became the first Michigan State team to win 10 games in one season in 34 years.

Saban's 1999 Michigan State team defeated Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State and Penn State all in the same year for the first time since 1965 and recorded six wins at home for the first time since the 1912 season.

Saban built his reputation as an assistant coach, but as a head coach he has shown the ability to put together a total program, one that produces in big numbers on both sides of the football while stressing discipline and responsibility off the field.

"He's a first-rate person and he's a marvelous football coach," said Bill Polian, the president of the NFL's Indianapolis Colts, who is considered one of the premier minds in Pro Football. "He brings all the right values to the position and to the job. He believes in an exciting and up-tempo offense and yet his teams are always terrifically sound and very physi-

Saban's background in football is rich and varied. He coached in the NFL under Bill Belichick at Cleveland and under Jerry Glanville at Houston. He is a protege of George Perles at Michigan State and Earle Bruce at Ohio State. He got his start in football under venerable Washington coach Don James as a graduate assistant at Kent State.

"No-nonsense" is one description of his style of coaching, but consistent and exacting might be more precise. "Hard work" can be attached to any successful program, but also working smart is a trademark of Saban coached teams. The keys to Saban's success are founded on aggressive and disciplined leadership and a philosophy of personal responsibility both on the football field and in the classroom.

"Basically, if anybody doesn't want to work hard or be committed to the way he's committed, then they're going to have a problem with him," said Belichick, coach of the Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots. "Now, if they like to work, they won't have any problems at all."

Saban is a communicator who gets the best out of his players, a coach who can guarantee that a player willing to dedicate himself to the program will maximize his talents.

"Instead of looking at the overall picture, he gives his players something they can really lash their teeth into, which allows them to play more aggressively," said Dean Pees, the head coach at Kent State who served as a defensive coordinator under Saban. "There are a lot of guys who can draw up defenses in the dirt and draw X's and O's. The question is what little things can you find to help each player play his position? That's one thing Nick is good at."

Saban has a career won-loss record of 61-33-1 for a winning percentage of .647, a total that includes five years as head coach at Michigan State (1995-99), two seasons at LSU and one year at Toledo (1990). He also has extensive experience in the NFL, having coached the secondary of the Houston Oilers for two seasons (1988-89) and having served as defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns for four seasons (1991-94).

During his five-year tenure as head coach at Michigan State, Saban tutored four first-team All-Americans and 10 NFL draft picks.

The 50-year-old Saban returned to Michigan State following four seasons as the Cleveland Browns' defensive coordinator from 1991-94. The Browns went from allowing the most points in the NFL prior to Saban's arrival to allowing the fewest points in 1994. His defensive unit allowed a league-low 21 touchdowns and 204 points in 1994, the sixth-fewest points surrendered in NFL history at the time.

Saban previously served as head coach at the University of Toledo where he guided the Rockets to a 9-2 record overall in 1990, including a share of the Mid-American Conference title at 7-1. The Rockets ranked among the NCAA leaders in both total defense (12th at 284.8 yards) and scoring defense (16th at 16.2 points). In his rookie season as a head coach, Toledo missed posting an undefeated record by only five points.

He began his first stint in the NFL with the Houston Oilers as the secondary coach from 1988-89. The Oilers ranked among the AFC leaders in interceptions in both 1988 (tied for second with 22) and 1989 (fourth with 21).

As secondary coach and defensive coordinator, Saban played an integral part in helping Michigan State to three postseason bowl appearances from 1983-87, including a Big Ten championship in 1987 and a 20-17 triumph over Southern California in the 1988 Rose Bowl. The Spartans led the nation in rushing defense in 1987, allowing only 61.2 yards per game, and ranked second in scoring defense, permitting 12.4 points.

His college coaching credits also include stops at the U.S. Naval Academy (1982), Ohio State (1980-81), West Virginia (1978-79), Syracuse (1977) and Kent State (1975-76). While coaching the secondary at Ohio State, he helped produce four NFL draft choices.

He began his coaching career in 1973 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater Kent State. A defensive back for the Golden Flashes from 1970-72, Saban played in the 1972 Tangerine Bowl against Tampa. He also picked up two letters as a shortstop on the Kent State baseball team.

Born October 31, 1951, in Fairmont, W.Va., Saban earned his bachelor's degree in business from Kent State in 1973 and his master's in sports administration in 1975. He is an avid golfer.

He and his wife, the former Terry Constable of Fairmont, W.Va., have two children, Nicholas and Kristen.

ASSISTANT COACHES

DEREK DOOLEY

Tight Ends/Recruiting Coordinator

Derek Dooley is no stranger to successful Southeastern Conference football programs. The son of legendary Georgia football coach Vince Dooley, Derek enters his third season as LSU's tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator. In his first two years with the Tigers, Dooley played a key role in the development of LSU's tight end corps, a group considered to be among the finest in the nation each of the last two seasons.

Dooley also organized LSU's recruiting efforts the past three years, two of which were considered among the finest signing classes in the nation. LSU's 2001 recruiting class was rated No. 1 in the nation by some publications and included three Parade All-Americans and six USA Today All-Americans.

As LSU's tight ends coach for the past two seasons, Dooley helped develop Robert Royal into one of the nation's premier tight ends. Last year, Royal caught 18 passes for 224 yards and one touchdown. As a group, LSU's tight ends combined to catch 24 passes for 286 yards and three touchdowns.

Royal capped his career ranked third in LSU history among tight ends for receptions (59) and yards (707), and ranked second in receiving touchdowns (7). Royal also set the LSU record for tight ends for touchdowns in a season with five in 2000. Royal earned First Team All-SEC honors in both 2000 and 2001. Last year, freshman Marcus Spears earned a spot on the Freshman All-SEC squad.

While at SMU he helped develop a young group of receivers, including Albert Johnson who became the first player in SMU history to have three straight multiple touchdown games. In 1999, Dooley helped develop two true freshmen, Chris Cunningham and Cody Cardwell, who caught 70 passes for 1,039 yards and eight touchdowns.

A native of Athens, Ga., Dooley attended the University of Virginia, where he walked on the football team and earned a scholarship following his second season. While at Virginia, Dooley participated in three bowl games (Sugar, Citrus, All-American) and helped the Cavaliers win the 1989 ACC Championship. In 1990, Dooley was named First Team Academic All-ACC and was invited to participate in the Senior Bowl.

He graduated from Virginia in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in government and foreign affairs, then went on to earn his law degree from Georgia in 1994.

Dooley served as a graduate assistant coach at Georgia in 1996 before going to SMU in 1997. Dooley is the son of former Georgia coaching great and current Georgia athletic director Vince Dooley. Derek Dooley and his wife, Allison, have two sons, John Taylor and Peyton.

KIRK DOLL

Linebackers/
Assistant Head Coach

Kirk Doll, who spent the last eight years as the assistant head coach at Notre Dame, enters his first season with the Tigers this year. Doll will serve as assistant head coach and linebackers coach at LSU.

While at Notre Dame, Doll helped lead the Irish to five bowl games, including an appearance in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in 2000.

Among Doll's coaching responsibilities at Notre Dame were the linebackers, special teams and the kickers. In 2000, Notre Dame punter Joey Hildbold was a finalist for the Ray Guy Award, which is given to the nation's top punter.

In 1995, Doll helped Notre Dame reach the Orange Bowl as the Fighting Irish defense allowed just 270 yards per contest, the lowest figure at the school since the 1980 season.

Prior to his stint at Notre Dame, Doll coached at Texas A&M for six years, helping the Aggies to five bowl games, including three appearances in the Cotton Bowl. Doll helped Texas A&M lead the nation in total defense in 1991 (222.4 yards per game) and rank third nationally in 1993 (247.6). The Aggies ranked third nationally in scoring defense in 1993 by allowing only 10.8 points per contest. In his final three years at Texas A&M, the Aggies posted a 32-5 overall mark, including a 12-1 record in 1992.

Doll has also coached at the collegiate level at Arizona State (1985-87), Tulsa (1980-84), Iowa State (1979) and Wichita State (1975-76). Doll coached outside linebackers at Arizona State, helping the Sun Devils to a 10-1-1 mark and an appearance in the Rose Bowl in 1986. Doll served as the offensive line coach at Tulsa for five years and he coached the tight ends for one season at Iowa State.

Doll's coaching career has featured 13 bowl games, including appearances in the Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Fiesta Bowl.

Doll, a native of Wichita, Kan., earned Bachelor's degrees from both East Carolina and Wichita State. He played as both a defensive end and tackle at East Carolina for two years.

Doll is married to the former Kathy Reding and the couple has three children – Kate, Kelsey and Kyle.

JIMBO FISHER

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

Jimbo Fisher continued to put his name alongside some of the nation's top offensive coordinators in 2001 as he directed an

LSU offense that set numerous school records in the Tigers' championship season.

In his second-year with the Tigers, Fisher developed quarterback Rohan Davey into one of the nation's premier players. Davey set a total of six school-records during the regular-season and then broke another seven Sugar Bowl or LSU bowl records in the Tigers' 47-34 win over Illinois. For the year, Davey completed 217 of 367 passes for 3,347 yards and 18 touchdowns. He connected on 31 of 53 passes for 444 yards and three scores in the Sugar Bowl. Throw in Josh Reed's 94 receptions for an SEC record 1,740 yards and LSU's offense had two of the nation's most potent players. Reed was named the winner of the Biletnikoff Award, the honor that goes to the nation's top wide receiver, while Davey was a Second Team All-SEC selection.

In 2001, LSU's offense ranked second in the SEC and 11th in the nation in total offense (451.5 yards per game) and passing offense (298.2). LSU set seven school-records during the regular-season in 2001, including single-season yards of total offense (5,418), single-season passing completed (238), passing yards per game (298.5), total offense per game (451.5) and single-season passing yards (3,578).

Perhaps Fisher's finest moments came in a 35-21 win over Alabama and a 31-20 victory over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC Championship game. Against Alabama, LSU set a school-record with 528 passing yards, the most-ever recorded against the Crimson Tide. Davey tied an SEC record with 540 yards of total offense in the game, while Reed set SEC records for receptions (19) and receiving yards (293).

Against Tennessee and with starting quarterback Davey out of the game with an injury, Fisher altered the Tiger game plan to better suit second team quarterback Matt Mauck. Mauck took advantage of his rushing skills to lead the Tigers to a 31-20 win and the SEC title.

In the Sugar Bowl, the Tigers racked up a Sugar Bowl record 595 yards of total offense, including 444 through the air, in their 47-34 win over seventh-ranked Illinois. LSU also set a Sugar Bowl record with 34 first half points, including 27 in the second quarter.

For his efforts in 2001, Fisher was named a finalist for the Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year Award.

In his first year with the Tigers, Fisher's influence on quarterbacks Josh Booty and Davey was nothing short of remarkable as Booty was named First Team All-SEC, while Davey earned Most Outstanding Offensive Player honors at the Peach Bowl. The First Team All-SEC honor for Booty marked the first time since 1989 that an LSU player earned all-league honors at quarterback. For the season, Booty and Davey combined to complete 183-of-353 passes for 2,698 yards and 24 touchdowns. The 2,698 yards and 24 TD passes both rank second in school history. Booty and Davey also tied the LSU record by tossing four TD passes in a single-game last season. Davey threw four TD passes in LSU's overtime win over 11th-ranked Tennessee and Booty followed with four scoring passing in a win over Alabama.

In 2000, LSU ranked third in the SEC in passing offense with 245.3 yards per game and the Tigers were second in passing efficiency with a 129.4 rating. As a unit, the Tiger offense ranked fourth in the league in total offense with 376.4 yards a contest.

Prior to joining the Tigers, Fisher engineered one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks at Cincinnati in 1999. Cincinnati finished the 1999 season ranked No. 16 in the nation in total offense with an average of 424.4 yards a contest (172.2 rushing, 252.2 passing).

Before joining the Cincinnati staff in 1999, Fisher served as the quarterbacks coach at Auburn under Terry Bowden from 1993-98 where he tutored record-setting quarterbacks Stan White, Patrick Nix and Dameyune Craig, who is the only 3,000-yard passer in Auburn history. He helped lead Auburn to appearances in the 1996 Outback, 1996 Independence and 1998 Peach Bowls.

Fisher, a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., also served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Samford for two years (1991-92) before joining the Auburn staff. He started his coaching career as a graduate assistant tutoring quarterbacks at Samford from 1988-90.

In college, Fisher played quarterback for Terry Bowden for three seasons, two at Salem College (1985-86) and one at Samford (1987). While at Samford he set the national record for touchdowns in a season with 34 and was named the Division III National Player of the Year that season. He also set 13 school passing and total offense records.

Following college, Fisher played for one season with the Chicago Bruisers of the Arena Football League in 1988.

Fisher, who graduated from Salem College in 1989, is married to the former Candace Coogler. The couple has one child, Trey, who is a year old.

CHARLIE HARBISON

Defensive Backs

Charlie Harbison, who has been a part of two of the last three Southeastern Conference Championship teams, enters his second season as LSU's defensive backs coach.

In his first year with the Tigers, LSU's defensive backs combined to intercept 18 passes, including an SEC-leading five by Damien James.

Harbison also held together an LSU defensive backfield that was devastated by injuries last year. Returning starter at left cornerback Robert Davis was lost for the year with a knee injury during the second week of the season, while strong safeties Norman LeJeune and Lionel Thomas combined to miss five games with injuries.

LSU was so depleted at the cornerback season late in the year that true freshman cornerback Travis Daniels, who hadn't played a down all season, had to be inserted into the game during the fourth quarter of the Tigers' 31-20 victory over Tennessee in the SEC Championship game. Daniels responded by breaking up a pair of passes, including one in the endzone that prevented a Vol touchdown.

Harbison joined the Tigers for the 2001 season after spending the 1998-2000 seasons as the defensive backs coach at Alabama. Harbison helped the Crimson Tide to the 1999 Southeastern Conference title and a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Prior to his stint with the Crimson Tide, Harbison spent three years coaching defensive backs at Clemson, where he helped guide the Tigers to a pair of bowl appearances. Under Harbison's watch, Clemson led the ACC in pass defense in 1995. Harbison served as defensive backs coach at Texas-El Paso in 1994. Harbison has also coached at the collegiate level at his alma mater, Gardner-Webb.

In addition to his collegiate experience, Harbison has also coached in the Arena Football League as well as the World League of American Football. Harbison got his coaching start in 1982 at East Lincoln High School in North Carolina.

A native of Shelby, N.C., Harbison is a 1982 business administration graduate from Gardner-Webb College, where he was a two-sport star in football and track. He was drafted by the Buffalo Bills in 1982 and he also played with the Boston Breakers and the New Orleans Breakers of the USFL.

Harbison is married to the former Gloria Allen and the couple has four children, Charlie, Stedman, Masai, and Meiba.

MICHAEL HAYWOOD

Running Backs/Special
Teams Coordinator

The veteran on the LSU coaching staff, Michael

Haywood enters his eighth season with the Tigers this year.

Haywood has served as LSU's running backs coach for all eight years. Last season, he added the title of Special Teams Coordinator to his list of responsibilities.

During his seven prior seasons with the Tigers, Haywood has helped produce some of the finest running backs in school history.

In 2001, Haywood continued to develop sophomore running back LaBrandon Toefield as one of the nation's top backs. Toefield tied an SEC record with 19 rushing touchdowns last year. He had not gone down with a season-ending knee injury in the first half against Tennessee in the SEC Championship game, Toefield would have topped the 1,000-yard mark. Toefield finished with 992 yards rushing and 230 carries on his way to earning First Team All-SEC honors.

Domanick Davis proved to be the perfect complement to Toefield as he rushed for 406 yards and five touchdowns during the regular-season and then added 122 yards and a Sugar Bowl record four rushing touchdowns in Toefield's absence in the 47-34 win over Illinois.

As Special Teams Coordinator, Haywood had the Tigers among the best in the SEC in nearly every category. LSU ranked third in the SEC and eighth nationally in net punting (39.6 yards per punt) and the Tigers were tops in the league in kickoff coverage, allowing just 15.2 yards per return.

Individually, LSU's Davis earned Second Team All-SEC honors after leading the league in punt return yards (13.8). Punter Donnie Jones ranked fourth in the SEC and 19th nationally with 43.7 yards per punt.

In 2000, Toefield, who was named first team Freshman All-America by the Sporting News, rushed for 682 yards and five touchdowns despite missing two games with an injury. Toefield's top two rushing games came against two of the nation's best run defenses as he had 120 yards rushing and one TD against Tennessee and 119 yards and a pair of scores, including the game-winner in overtime, against Mississippi State. Davis rushed for 445 yards and five touchdowns for the Tigers.

Haywood was instrumental in developing Kevin Faulk and Rondell Mealey into two of the most productive running backs in school history. Faulk left LSU with virtually every rushing record, while Mealey capped his career ranked in the top 10 in both rushing yards and rushing touchdowns. Both were chosen in the NFL draft after their respective senior seasons, Faulk going to New England in the second round and Mealey in the seventh round to Green Bay.

While at Ball State, Haywood was the position coach for three All-Mid-American Conference players.

Brian Oliver was selected All-MAC in 1993, then Tony Nibbs and Michael Blair earned all-league honors in 1994. In addition, Blair was the MAC's Freshman of the Year in 1993 and went on to play for the Green Bay Packers of the NFL.

Haywood started his coaching career at Minnesota as a graduate assistant in 1988, then went to Army as an assistant coach in 1989 and 1990. In 1989 he coached the defensive secondary before taking on the outside linebackers in 1990.

He then went to Ohio University in 1991 and coached there for two years, tutoring the outside linebackers there as well.

As a collegiate player, Haywood earned four letters at Notre Dame, playing wide receiver as a freshman, then moving to cornerback where he started in each of his final three seasons.

Haywood, a native of Houston, Texas, is a 1982 graduate of St. Thomas High School in Houston.

STAN HIXON

Associate Head Coach/
Wide Receivers

Stan Hixon's impact on the wide receivers position at LSU can best be seen in the Southeastern Conference Record

Book. Last season, LSU wideout Josh Reed virtually re-wrote both the LSU and SEC record books as he caught a school-record 94 passes for an SEC record 1,740 yards and seven touchdowns during the regular season. Reed capped his three-year LSU career with an SEC record 3,001 receiving yards on 167 receptions. Reed, who was a consensus All-America in 2001, won the Biletnikoff Award as the nation's top rated wide receiver. In all, Reed, who originally signed with LSU as a running back, set or tied 14 school, SEC or Sugar Bowl records last season.

In just their second-year under Hixon's tutelage, LSU's wide receivers were arguably one of the best units in the nation. Led by Reed, LSU re-wrote the school record for passing as the Tiger wide receivers combined for 191 receptions for 3,072 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Joining Reed as key components of LSU's receiving corps were true freshman Michael Clayton and junior Jerel Myers. Clayton, who earned Freshman All-America honors, caught 47 passes for 754 yards and six touchdowns, while Myers had 39 receptions for 461 yards and one TD. LSU's receivers did all of this despite losing returning starter Reggie Robinson to an injury before fall camp even started.

In his first season with the Tigers, Hixon helped develop Reed into a star in the SEC. Reed ranked first in the Southeastern Conference and sixth nationally with 102.5 yards receiving a contest. For the year, Reed caught 65 passes for 1,127 yards and 10 touchdowns, the second highest total in school history. Reed did all of this despite playing his first full season at wide receiver after shifting from his original position of tailback during the 1999 season. For his efforts, Reed was a consensus First Team All-SEC selection.

Reed wasn't the only receiver to shine in 2000 for the Tigers as Robinson caught 31 passes for 391 yards and two TDs, while Myers hauled in 29 passes for 347 yards and three scores.

In all, LSU receivers combined for eight 100-yard games last season and Robinson and Reed each caught 10 passes in a game one time.

Hixon's success coaching wide receivers should not come as a surprise as he developed some of the most prolific receivers in Georgia Tech history from 1995-1999.

Hixon, who joined LSU in December of 1999, coached All-Atlantic Coast Conference receivers Kelly Campbell and Dez White at Georgia Tech in 1999. Campbell in 1999 was No. 2 in the ACC and 12th nationally in receiving yards per game (100.5) and he set school records for receptions (69), receiving yards (1,105) and touchdowns (10).

Campbell earned First-Team All-ACC honors and White was named Second-Team All-ACC as they formed the most prolific receiving tandem in Georgia Tech history.

Prior to the emergence of Campbell and White, Hixon tutored the receiving duo of Harvey Middleton, who rewrote Tech's receiving records at the time, and Derrick Steagall, who ranks as one of the Yellow Jackets' career leaders.

Hixon went to Georgia Tech in 1995 after serving as running back coach and assistant head coach at Wake Forest for two seasons. While at Wake Forest, Hixon tutored the leading rusher in the Atlantic Coast Conference, Jon Leach, who became the first 1000-yard rusher for the Deamon Deacons in almost two decades.

He also served as receivers coach at South Carolina from 1989-92, producing All-American wideouts Robert Brooks and Eddie Miller, both of whom later played in the NFL. He coached at Appalachian State from 1983-88, helping the Mountaineers capture consecutive Southern Conference titles in 1986 and 1987, after he served as running backs coach at Morehead State from 1980-82 and tight ends coach at Richmond in 1980. Hixon, a native of Lakeland, Fla., played at Iowa State. He led the Cyclones in receiving his junior and senior seasons and played in the 1977 Peach Bowl and the 1978 Hall of Fame Bowl. Hixon earned his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1979. He earned a master's degree at Morehead State in 1984.

Hixon and his wife Rebecca have one son, Drew, and two daughters, Adele and Avis. Drew is a member of the football team at Tennessee State.

WILL MUSCHAMP

Defensive Coordinator

Will Muschamp, who served as LSU's linebackers coach in 2001, enters his first season as the Tigers' defensive coordinator after being promoted to the position prior spring practice. Muschamp, who will be 31 years of age when the season starts, is one of the youngest coordinators at the Division I level.

Last season, in his first year with the Tigers, Muschamp coached one of the nation's best linebacking corps in Trev Faulk, Bradie James and Jeremy Lawrence. Faulk was a semifinalist for the Butkus Award, while James was on the Butkus Award watch list. Both Faulk and James were named First Team All-SEC as the duo combined for 232 tackles and five sacks. Lawrence finished the year with 39 tackles and one pass interception.

Muschamp's promotion to defensive coordinator for the Tigers will mark the second time he has held such a position. Prior to joining the Tigers, Muschamp served as the defensive coordinator at Valdosta State for one year. Muschamp helped lead the Blazers to a 10-2 overall mark, a share of the Gulf South Conference title and an appearance in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

Prior to his year at Valdosta State, Muschamp spent the 1999 season coaching the secondary at Eastern Kentucky. Muschamp served as the secondary coach for West Georgia in 1998. From 1995-1997, Muschamp was a graduate assistant coach at Auburn.

Muschamp was a four-year letterwinner at Georgia from 1991-1994 and he served as co-captain of the defense as a senior. In four years with the Bulldogs, Muschamp played in two bowl games, helping Georgia to a 24-15 win over Arkansas in the 1991 Independence Bowl and a 21-14 victory over Ohio State in the 1993 Citrus Bowl.

Following his graduation from Georgia in 1994, Muschamp moved to Auburn where he spent the next two seasons as a graduate assistant coach. Muschamp earned his master's degree from Auburn in 1997. While at Auburn, Muschamp coached with current LSU offensive coordinator Jimbo Fisher and former defensive line coach Pete Jenkins.

Muschamp is a native of Rome, Ga., and he is married to the former Carol Davis of Thomaston, and the couple has one child, Jackson.

LANCE THOMPSON

Defensive Line

Lance Thompson, a member of the Georgia Tech coaching staff in 2001, enters his first season as LSU's defensive line coach.

Last season at Georgia Tech, Thompson coached a defensive line that recorded 21 sacks for the Yellow Jackets, including 10 by All-America defensive end Greg Gathers. Georgia Tech completed last season with an 8-5 overall record, which included a 24-14 victory over 11th-ranked Stanford in the Seattle Bowl.

Thompson spent the 1999 and 2000 seasons coaching the defensive line at Alabama, where he helped the Crimson Tide to the Southeastern Conference title in 1999.

Prior to his two-year stint at Alabama, Thompson was a part of the Georgia Tech staff for 11 years. During his 11-year stay with Georgia Tech, Thompson was defensive line coach in 1998, defensive ends coach in 1996 and 1997 and tight ends coach in 1995. Thompson served as the Georgia Tech's recruiting coordinator from 1995-98 and then again in 2001.

Prior to serving as an on-field coach for the Yellow Jackets, Thompson held the position of Director of Football Operations at Georgia Tech from 1992-94.

Thompson got his start in coaching in 1989, serving as a graduate assistant for two years at Georgia Tech followed by two more years as a volunteer assistant in 1990 and 1991. Georgia Tech won the national championship in 1990.

As a player, Thompson was a four-year letterwinner at The Citadel. He graduated with from The Citadel in 1987 with a bachelor's degree in education/math.

A native of Riverdale, Ga., Thompson is married to the former Stacy Cambron of Henderson, Ky., and the couple has three daughters – Alexandra, Christina and Lane.

GEORGE YARNO

Offensive Line

George Yarno put the experience he gained as a 13-year pro football player to good use last season as he established the LSU offensive line as one of the best units around last season. It took a while, but by the end of the 2001 season, the Tiger offensive line was considered to be one of the most consistent in the Southeastern Conference.

As a group, the LSU offensive allowed 19 sacks for the season, but only four over the final five weeks of the regular season. LSU also held three teams – Tulane, Arkansas and Auburn – without a sack.

Yarno did all of the despite having two first-time starters and one seldom starter as mainstays on the offensive line. True freshman center Ben Wilkerson earned Freshman All-America and Freshman All-SEC honors after starting the final nine games of the year for the Tigers. LSU posted an 8-1 mark with Wilkerson in the starting lineup.

Jason Baggett, who had six career starts prior to the 2001 season, started every game at right tackle and earned Second Team All-SEC honors for his efforts. Stephen Peterman, who spent the 2000 season as a defensive end, started 12 of LSU's 13 games at left guard for the Tigers.

Rodney Reed, a Second Team Academic All-American and Dwayne Pierce held down the left tackle and right guard positions for the Tigers, while Rob Sale jockeyed between the guard and center positions for LSU.

Yarno came to LSU from Arizona State where he served as the Sun Devils' offensive line coach during the 2000 season.

Yarno started his collegiate coaching career at his alma mater, Washington State, in 1991 where he served as the offensive line coach and the special teams coach thru the 1995 season. From there he moved to Idaho, serving as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach for three years.

In 1998, Yarno moved to the University of Houston where handled the offensive line as well as serving as the assistant head coach for the Cougars for two years.

As a player, Yarno spent 11 seasons in the NFL, which included eight years with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1979-83, 85-87). Yarno also played one each year with the Atlanta Falcons (1988), the Houston Oilers (1989) and the Green Bay Packers (1990). He also spent two years with the Denver Gold (1984-85) of the USFL.

At Washington State, Yarno was a four-year letterwinner on the defensive line for the Cougars from 1975 to 1978. He graduated with a criminal justice degree from Washington State in 1978. Yarno and his wife Cindy have three children, Josh (21), Adrienne (20) and George (17).

SKIP BERTMAN, DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

J. Stanley "Skip" Bertman was named LSU's athletics director on January 19, 2001, succeeding Joe Dean, who finished his 14-year term as A.D. on Dec. 31, 2000. Bertman, who completed a brilliant 18-year career this June as LSU's head baseball coach, served both as athletics director and head coach during the 2001 baseball season before assuming the full-time role as A.D. in August.

With Bertman, LSU gains an athletics director who can provide the leadership and experience necessary to manage the Tigers' nearly $35 million athletic budget. He is one of the most respected people in the Baton Rouge community and throughout the state of Louisiana. His talent as a fund-raiser and businessman, as well as a public relations mastermind, developed the LSU baseball program into the best in the nation.

One only has to look at what Bertman has accomplished with the Tiger baseball program over the last 18 years to see he brings all the tools necessary to direct LSU's 20-sport athletic department.

Bertman guided LSU to five NCAA titles, including back-to-back championships in 1996 and 1997. His teams drew huge crowds to venerable Alex Box Stadium, as LSU led the nation in attendance in each of his final six seasons (1996-2001). Bertman's unyielding desire to succeed drove him to the pinnacle of his profession, and his astute knowledge of the game -- obtained from over 40 years of coaching -- combined with his steadfast determination and irrepressible enthusiasm transformed LSU Baseball into the nation's premier program.

Those same characteristics will carry over to the athletics director's chair, where Bertman has inherited a program considered to be one of the best in the country.

Bertman, 63, guided the baseball Tigers to a 870-330-3 (.724) record in his 18-year tenure, including the 1991, 1993, 1996, 1997 and 2000 NCAA titles, 11 College World Series appearances and Southeastern Conference championships in 1986, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1996 and 1997. He was named National Coach of the Year on six occasions -- 2000, 1997, 1996, 1993, 1991 and 1986, and he served as head coach of the 1996 U.S. Olympic team which captured the bronze medal in Atlanta.

In a Baseball America poll released in January, 1999, Bertman was voted the second greatest college baseball coach of the 20th century, trailing only Rod Dedeaux of Southern California. LSU was voted No. 3 in a poll of the greatest college baseball programs of the century.

LSU is one of only three schools to win five NCAA championships, and the Tigers are one of only 10 teams to have made 11 College World Series appearances. Bertman and Dedeaux are the only coaches to win five CWS titles, and LSU (1990s) and Southern California (1970s) are the only schools to win four championships in one decade.

Bertman mastered the art of winning big games throughout his career, guiding the Tigers to a 21-4 record in championship games in NCAA post-season play. That mark includes all NCAA Regional, NCAA Super Regional and College World Series championship contests. Bertman also directed LSU to the highest all-time NCAA Tournament winning percentage with a 89-29 (.754) record.

Bertman led LSU to its fifth national title in 2000, as the Tigers recorded a 52-17 mark, including a perfect 13-0 post-season record. LSU won the SEC Tournament with four straight wins, and the Tigers raced to a 9-0 mark in the NCAA Tournament. The Tigers captured the national title with a thrilling 6-5 win over Stanford in the CWS championship game, as LSU scored four runs in the last two innings to overcome a 5-2 deficit. Catcher Brad Cresse's RBI single in the bottom of the ninth inning drove home shortstop Ryan Theriot with the winning run. LSU became only the third school in NCAA baseball history to win five national championships, joining Southern California and Arizona State.

The Tigers took their first crucial step toward college baseball prominence in 1983 when Bertman was hired to pump new blood into the program. He had previously earned stellar recognition as one of the nation's brightest assistant coaches while at the University of Miami (Fla.) for eight seasons (1976-83).

Bertman was known as the "best assistant coach in college baseball" while a member of Ron Fraser's staff at Miami, and he brought to LSU the same brand of exciting, winning baseball he helped install at UM.

Even before working at Miami, Bertman was renowned for his coaching excellence. In 11 seasons at Miami Beach High School, he directed the Hi-Tides to a state championship and two runners-up finishes. He was named Florida's Coach of the Year on three occasions.

Bertman left Miami Beach High School in 1974 to author the book, Coaching Youth League Baseball, funding the project out of his own resources. The book has become required reading for youth league coaches around the nation and in many foreign countries.

In 1975, Bertman went back to coaching at Miami-Dade Downtown, leaving after one season to join Fraser at Miami. The move was a homecoming of sorts, as Bertman spent his collegiate playing days with the Hurricanes as an outfielder and catcher from 1958-60. He earned his B.A. in health and physical education from Miami in 1961 and received his master's degree from UM in 1964.

Bertman and his wife Sandy are the parents of four daughters -- Jan, Jodi, Lisa and Lori. The Bertmans have two grandchildren -- Sophie Faith and Isaac Stanley, the children of Emile and Lori Bertman Guirard.
