1860s - 1920s

- The institution opened as the Louisiana State Seminary of Learning near Pineville, La., on January 2, 1860 and subsequently closed June 30, 1861, because of the Civil War. It reopened on April 1, 1862, but was again closed on April 23, 1863, due to the invasion of the Red River Valley by the federal army.
- The seminary reopened October 2, 1865, but was destroyed by fire on October 15, 1869. The seminary moved to Baton Rouge, reopening on November 1, 1869, where it has since remained. In 1870, the name of the institution was changed to Louisiana State University.
- The Louisiana State Agricultural & Mechanical College was established in New Orleans in 1874. The two institutions were merged on Jan. 2, 1877, and began their first joint session on Oct. 5, 1877.
- In 1886, the federal garrison grounds (now the site of the state capitol) were formally declared the domicile of the University. Land for the present campus was purchased in 1918, and construction began in 1922.
- On Nov. 25, 1893, LSU played its first football game, and three years later LSU adopted the tiger as the official mascot.

1920s

- With the support of Governor John M. Parker and the approval of a severance tax during the constitutional convention of 1921, the construction of the new campus, known today as Louisiana State University Agricultural and Mechanical College, began.
- The Gym-Armory was built in 1925 west of the academic quadrangle for the purpose of housing the LSU basketball team and other indoor sporting events. Tiger Stadium was completed in 1924 and on Thanksgiving Day of that year, Tulane and LSU played the first game on the new campus. In 1928, upward expansion added 10,000 seats to the 12,000-seat stadium.
- The formal dedication of the new campus took place on Friday, April 30, 1926. The date was chosen because on April 30, 1803 the United States Congress signed the Louisiana Purchase documents.

- During this time many of LSU's live oaks and magnolias were planted by landscape artist Steele Burden for what has become a symbolic part of the great legacy at LSU. The live oak trees on LSU's campus have been valued at more than $36 million. Through the LSU Foundation's "Endow an Oak" program, individuals or groups are able to endow live oaks across campus.
- In 1930, the student body adopted the alma mater that still is in use today. LSU is the home of The Southern Review, one of the world's most prestigious literary journals, established in 1935 by Robert Penn Warren, Cleanth Brooks, Albert Erskine, and Charles Pipkin.

- The Huey P. Long Fieldhouse, named in honor of the former Louisiana Governor and U.S. Senator, was constructed in 1932 and served as the campus' first student union. The Long Fieldhouse contained administrative offices and an outdoor pool that was the world's largest at the time.
- In 1937, two new athletic venues were completed and expanded. The John M. Parker Coliseum opened and served as a multipurpose arena mostly for livestock shows and rodeos. It was also used for commencements and convocations and served as home of the LSU basketball team. Alex Box Stadium also served as the football practice field. Tiger Stadium received its second expansion, adding a north endzone and bringing the capacity to 46,000.
- Huey P. Long and Castro Carazo teamed up to co-author notable songs, including "Touchdown for LSU." During his tenure at LSU, Carazo compiled one of the most complete university band libraries in America.

1940s

- The ROTC program, mandatory until 1969, carries on what is perhaps the universities' oldest tradition. The military heritage that has been part of the institution since its beginning has given LSU the nickname, "Ole War Skule." In WWII, only Texas A&M and the military academeis of Annapolis and West Point were equal to the Ole War Skule in providing officers to the armed forces.
- In 1943, the LSU Band invited its first coed member.

1950s

- In 1950 LSU enrolled its first African American student into its graduate program. Throughout the 1950s, air conditioning slowly began to be phased into administration and classroom buildings throughout the campus.
- A.P. Tureaud, Jr., enrolled, but resigned before the end of the fall term in 1953, while Brown vs. The Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas, struck down racial segregation in public schools a year later.
- Tiger Stadium was expanded in 1957 with the south endzone providing the final piece to completely enclose the stadium. The enclosure provided not only additional seating but also men's dormitories. Stadium capacity was now 67,720.
- The LSU Tiger Football team won the 1958 National Championship, defeating Clemson, 7-0, in the Sugar Bowl and finishing with an 11-0 season. The Tigers then earned the school's second national title in football in 2004, defeating Oklahoma 21-14 in the Sugar Bowl.

- In 1964, a $5.5 million student union was built to serve the university in many capacities. The three-story facility includes a 1,315 seat theatre, 333 seat movie cinema, bowling lanes, game room and pool hall, post office, cafeteria, and a craft shop, as well as ballrooms and conference rooms for hosting seminars and special events.

- Also in 1964, six black students enrolled as undergraduates.
- By the end of the decade, rising tensions due to U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War was mounting. The LSU ROTC program became a target for protestors, as dissatisfaction with the war increased. The pressure increased for LSU to either cancel its program or make it voluntary. In October 1968, the LSU Faculty Council voted to make the ROTC program voluntary, and on May 26, 1969 the LSU Board of Supervisors made it official.

1970s

- Former professor T. Harry Williams was honored with the Pulitzer Prize for his biography of Huey Long in 1970.
- With the growing popularity of collegiate athletics, two new athletic facilities were built and another was expanded. In 1971, LSU basketball introduced a state-of-the-art 15,000-seat multipurpose arena. The Assembly Center would eventually be named the Pete Maravich Assembly Center and nicknamed "The PMAC" following the death of LSU basketball and NBA legend "Pistol" Pete Maravich in 1988.
- In 1974, Athletics Director Carl Maddox expanded the growing LSU athletic compound with the addition of a multipurpose sports and recreational complex that now bears his name, the Carl Maddox Fieldhouse. Tiger Stadium was expanded in 1978 by adding 8,000 seats in a new West Upper Deck to lead the Tiger football program into the next decade with a capacity of nearly 80,000 seats.
- In 1978, LSU was named a sea-grant college becoming one of only 25 universities nationwide to be recognized as both a land-grant and sea-grant institution.

1980s

- In 1985, the Natatorium was built for the LSU Swimming & Diving program as the United States Sports Festival came to Baton Rouge.
- James Wharton introduced a new admissions policy that would increase university admission standards. The standards would require high school students to complete a list of core requirements throughout their high school careers. In 1987, the board of supervisors approved the proposed admission standards.
- In 1987, LSU was designated as a Research University I, putting it in the top 2 percent of the nation's colleges and universities. Only 80 universities, 59 public and 29 private, share this designation.

1990s

- In 1992, The Student Recreational Sports Complex opened to rave reviews by LSU students and faculty.
- On May 20, 1994, the LSU Alumni Association dedicated its new home. Special honorees attending were Lod Cook, President Gerald Ford, President Jimmy Carter, President George Bush, White House Chief of Staff Mac McLardy, and Governor Edwin Edwards.

- Head Coach Skip Bertman built the LSU baseball program into one of the most dominating programs in the country. With National Championships coming in 1991, 1993, 1996, and 1997, the Tigers would continue their dynasty into the next century by winning their fifth title in 2000. By the late 1990s the LSU Tiger baseball team became known as the "Program of the Decade" by all of college baseball.
- Speaking of dynasties, LSU Head Track & Field Coach Pat Henry managed to reach major milestones throughout his tenure at LSU. He has led the Lady Tiger track & field team to 22 National Titles, 12 outdoor and 10 indoor, including the 2004 indoor title.
- Henry's men's teams have won five NCAA titles, most recently the 2004 indoor crown. Henry is the only coach in NCAA history to guide both the men's and women's team to NCAA titles in the same year. Under Henry's direction, the LSU track & field program has attained unparalleled success: 27 NCAA titles and 19 SEC crowns.

2000s

- In 2000, LSU opened its home football season to a newly expanded Tiger Stadium. With an additional 11,600 seats due to the East Upper Deck addition and 70 Tiger Den Suites, Tiger Stadium is now the sixth largest on-campus arena in college football with a seating capacity of 91,600.
- In 2001, the Lod Cook Hotel and Conference Center opened on the LSU campus giving Tiger fans and visitors a full-service hotel on campus.
- In 2002, the $15 million renovation to the Gym-Armory to provide the Cox Communication Academic Center for Student-Athletes was completed, giving LSU student-athletes one of the nation's top facilities for learning.
- Pat Henry's track and field dynasty continues into the 21st century as the Tigers have now captured 27 national titles under Henry. Most recently, LSU became the first school to win both the men's and women's indoor titles in the season when both programs captured the crown in 2004. As a University, LSU has accounted for 43 national titles and 105 Southeastern Conference titles.
- Nick Saban, on his way to National Coach of the Year honors, led the 2003 football team to the national title, defeating Oklahoma in the 2004 Nokia Sugar Bowl to cap a 13-1 season, including a win over Georgia in the SEC Championship game.
- President George W. Bush addressed the graduating class of 2004 in the spring commencement ceremony at the Pete Maravich Assembly Center. Bush became the first sitting president to make a commencement address at LSU.

Already a Louisiana Legend and one of the greatest college baseball coaches of all time, J. Stanley "Skip" Bertman has made the seamless transition into the athletics director's chair with the same enthusiasm, vision and demand for excellence that were trademarks of his stellar coaching career.

In just three years as LSU's director of athletics, Bertman has already added to his impressive list of on-the-field achievements. Under his direction, LSU enjoyed arguably the greatest athletics year in the history of the institution in 2003-04. Three teams won national championships, nine teams finished in the nation's top ten, and fourteen teams ranked in the top 25. LSU teams also enjoyed improved grade point averages across the board, making the LSU student-athlete experience a success on and off the fields of competition.

While supervising the Tigers' progress on the playing fields, he has begun to implement measures necessary to realize his vision of building the LSU athletics department into the best in the country. Bertman's bold and innovative plans promise to keep the Tigers among the nation's elite in all phases of collegiate athletics.

Bertman is now in the midst of upgrading LSU's athletics complex. Working hand in hand with the Tiger Athletic Foundation, Bertman has already overseen the completion of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes while launching renovations to Tiger Stadium and the Pete Maravich Assembly Center, and beginning construction on a new Football Operations Center.

It was also Bertman who took the bold but essential move to implement a seat contribution program in Tiger Stadium to fund facility improvements and ensure the financial stability of the LSU Athletics Department for the next decade.

Bertman was named LSU's athletics director on January 19, 2001. With Bertman, LSU gained an athletics director who provides the leadership and experience necessary to manage the Tigers' $52 million budget.

Bertman guided LSU to five NCAA baseball titles, and his teams drew huge crowds to venerable Alex Box Stadium, as the Tigers led the nation in attendance in each of his final six seasons (1996-2001).

He also served as head coach of the 1996 U.S. Olympic team which captured the bronze medal in Atlanta.

Bertman continues to be honored for his remarkable coaching tenure, as he was inducted in June, 2002, into the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame. He was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in January, 2003.

In a Baseball America poll published in 1999, Bertman was voted the second greatest college baseball coach of the 20th century, trailing only Rod Dedeaux of Southern California. Bertman and Dedeaux are the only coaches to win five CWS titles.

He had previously earned recognition as one of the nation's brightest assistant coaches while at the University of Miami (Fla.) for eight seasons (1976-83). Before working at Miami, Bertman was renowned for his coaching excellence. In 11 seasons at Miami Beach High School, he directed the Hi-Tides to a state championship and two runners-up finishes and he was named Florida's Coach of the Year on three occasions.

In 1975, Bertman coached at Miami-Dade Downtown, leaving after one season to join legendary head coach Ron Fraser at Miami. The move was a homecoming of sorts, as Bertman spent his collegiate playing days with the Hurricanes as an outfielder and catcher from 1958-60. He earned his B.A. in health and physical education from Miami in 1961 and received his master's degree from UM in 1964.

Bertman and his wife Sandy are the parents of four daughters - Jan, Jodi, Lisa and Lori. The Bertman's have three grandchildren - Sophie Faith and Isaac Stanley, the children of Emile and Lori Bertman Guirard, and Samuel Aaron, the son of Drew and Lisa Pate.

Prior to his one-year stint at American University, Radakovich spent six years as the associate athletics director at South Carolina where he directed the financial operations for the Gamecocks' $30 million athletic department budget. He also served as the department liaison for marketing and promotional activities with Host Communications and was responsible for home event management and supervision of concessions, football travel and the video department. Radakovich also worked closely with South Carolina Athletics Director Mike McGee in laying the ground work for a new $70 million arena being built in Columbia. During his tenure with South Carolina, Radakovich supervised the finances and logistics for $33 million in facility improvements.

Radakovich served as the senior associate athletics director at Long Beach State from 1989-94. In that capacity, he managed a $5 million budget and supervised the nationally recognized men's basketball and baseball programs. In addition, Radakovich reorganized the fund-raising operations and coordinated the production and sales of radio broadcasting packages.

Radakovich began his collegiate athletics career as the athletics business manager at the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Fla., from 1983-85. He worked in the private sector for four years before joining Long Beach State.

A native of Aliquippa, Pa., Radakovich graduated from Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1980 with a bachelor of science degree in finance. Radakovich was also a football letterwinner as well as a student coach at IUP. He then went on to earn his master's degree in business administration from the University of Miami in 1982.

In 2000, Southard served as chair of the NCAA Division II Women's Basketball Committee.

Prior to her nine-year stint at Texas Woman's University, Southard served as head women's basketball coach at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., for 11 years, where she led the Lady Herd to five Southern Conference regular-season titles. During her 11 years at Marshall, Southard was named Southern Conference Coach of the Year three times and her career record of 178-130 still stands as a school record for women's basketball victories. Herb Vincent

Associate Athletics Director/External Affairs

Herb Vincent, the sports information director at LSU from 1988-2000, returned to his alma mater in August 2002 to serve as Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs.

In his present position, Vincent serves as the primary public relations officer for the LSU Athletics Department and all its entities, including the Tiger Athletic Foundation. He also directly supervises the sports of gymnastics and men's and women's tennis.

Vincent served as the LSU sports information director from July 1988 to July 2000. He was appointed assistant athletics director in November of 1989, and then was elevated to Associate AD/Communications in 1992. Besides supervising the LSU Sports Information and the Electronic Media offices, Vincent also was in charge of the athletic photography and coaches' video offices.

He joined LSU as assistant sports information director in February of 1988 and was promoted to the position of SID in July of that year.

Prior to his return to LSU, Vincent served as Vice-President for Communications for the College Sports Southeast regional cable network, headquartered in Birmingham.

Vincent is a 1979 graduate of Catholic High School in Little Rock, Ark., and received a bachelor's degree in journalism from LSU in 1983. He worked as a student assistant in the sports information office directed by CoSIDA Hall of Famer Paul Manasseh during his undergraduate years.

After graduating from LSU, Vincent spent the 1984 season as assistant PR director for the United States Football League's New Orleans Breakers. In 1985, he was assistant PR director for the USFL's Los Angeles Express and was promoted during the season to the PR staff's top position.

Before joining LSU in 1988, Vincent spent one year as assistant SID at Louisiana-Lafayette (then Southwestern Louisiana), where he served as director of athletic publications and the Shreveport native also worked at the Southeastern Conference offices in Birmingham as assistant public relations director in charge of basketball publicity.

Vincent is married to the former Jamey Cavacini of Versailles, Ky.

2003-2004 LSU ATHLETICS

A CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

LSU enjoyed perhaps its best all-around athletics season ever in 2003-04 as the Tigers claimed three national championships, including the 2003 BCS National Title in football, the first on the gridiron for the school since 1958.

Pat Henry's men's and women's indoor track and field teams became the first program in NCAA history to sweep the national titles at the NCAA Indoor Meet, claiming the school's 42nd and 43rd national championships.

The Lady Tiger basketball team advanced to the Women's Final Four for the first time in school history, while the softball team made its second trip to the Women's College World Series. Smoke Laval led the Tiger baseball team to the College World Series for the second straight year and the 13th time overall.

In all, LSU had nine of its team finish the season ranked among the top 10 in the nation, while 14 of LSU's 20 teams were ranked in the top 25.

In addition to its success on the field of play, the Tigers also had four student-athletes earn Academic All-America honors with another 107 being named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll for the year.

Tiger fans again turned out in record numbers as over 1.2 fans filled LSU stadiums and arenas in 2003-04. The Tiger baseball team led the nation in attendance for the ninth time, while LSU's football team averaged a school-record 90,974 fans per game, a figure that ranked sixth nationally.

LSU's success athletically coupled with its academic achievement made the 2003-04 season one of the best in the history of Tiger athletics.

HISTORY

MEDIA

A record 1.2 million fans watched LSU athletics in all 20 sports during the 2003-04 athletic season.

All-Sports Success

LSU's athletics program has traditionally been strong throughout all of its varsity sports and has fielded nationally competitive teams in most of its sports.

A total of 18 of LSU's 20 athletic teams participated in NCAA postseason play last year with 14 of the sports finishing the year ranked among the top 25 in the nation. LSU had nine of its team ranked in the top 10 for their respective sports last year.

LSU ranked No. 11 in the nation in the United States Sports Academy Directors' Cup for the 2003-04 season.

In all, LSU has won an SEC-leading 43 national titles, including three during the 2003-04 year. In addition, LSU ran its all-time SEC titles to 105 by winning conference championships in football and softball in 2003-04.

Athletics as a Business

Athletics is mistakenly thought of as merely entertainment. In fact, the total revenues of over $37.5 million generated annually by the Athletic Department is:

- twice that of the sales of an average manufacturing plant in Louisiana
- twice the volume of an average food processor
- about seven times more than the typical apparel plant in the state

Attendance

LSU teams draw some of the largest crowds in all of college athletics:

- More than 1.2 million fans watched LSU athletics in all 20 sports during the 2003-04 athletic year.
- Since 1957, LSU has averaged over 74,000 fans a contest in football, including over 90,000 for the past three seasons.
- In 2003, LSU football set a school-record by averaging 90,974 fans a contest, a number that ranked sixth nationally. The 90,974 average per game, made Tiger Stadium more populated than 51 of Louisiana's 64 parishes.

- LSU baseball set the standard in college baseball for attendance again in 2004 as more than 291,000 fans watched the Tigers play at Alex Box Stadium in regular and postseason play.

CHAMPS Program

LSU sponsors a fully funded life skills program for student-athletes. The program is called CHAMPS, an acronym for Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success. Under the CHAMPS program, LSU sets up a number of projects and workshops that aid student-athletes in addressing day-to-day living situations, handling stress and preparing for post-college life.

Under the CHAMPS program, LSU also establishes community service projects in which student-athletes organize and participate. The LSU CHAMPS program sponsors an annual Halloween "Boo-Zar" on campus. The boozar is a trick-or-treat night in the LSU Field House in which athletes from all sports distribute candy to Baton Rouge area children. Each athletic team participates in CHAMPS workshops, which educate them in life skills and personal development.

Community Involvement

Because of the athletic facilities on the LSU campus, Baton Rouge is able to attract many events and conventions that benefit the community in both public relations and monetary means. LSU has played host to such events as the National Sports Festival

(now called the Olympic Festival) and the International Special Olympics. In 2001, LSU hosted the U.S. Senior Olympics and in the past has played host to the U.S. Junior National Track & Field Championships.

The LSU campus is annually the site of the LHSAA Track & Field Championships as well as the Louisiana High School All-Star Games, bringing to campus thousands of young people and their parents. Most recently, LSU hosted the 2002 NCAA Outdoor Track & Field Championships at Bernie Moore Stadium.

Economic Impact

LSU has a tremendous impact on the economy of the Baton Rouge area. LSU sporting events bring money into the Baton Rouge economy, not only from throughout the state, but throughout the southeast.

According to a study by LSU economics professor Loren Scott, the existence of LSU Athletics generates $131 million in sales for businesses in the Baton Rouge community, another $40 million in household earnings and supports over 2,100 jobs in the Baton Rouge area.

Finances

The LSU Athletic Department is a totally self-sufficient auxiliary of the University. No state tax dollars are used to finance LSU athletics. All money spent by the Athletic Department is generated by the department through ticket sales, corporate sponsorships, radio and television revenue, the Tiger Gift Center and concessions, and is supplemented through revenue-sharing resulting from LSU's membership in the Southeastern Conference.

Individual Athletes

Year in and year out, LSU boasts some of the most renowned athletes in all of college athletics.

Former NBA Most Valuable Player and worldwide entertainment superstar Shaquille O'Neal delighted Tiger basketball fans for three seasons. Former PGA Champion David Toms played for the Tigers in the late 1980s, while Major League Baseball standouts Todd Walker and Paul Byrd learned their trade at Alex Box Stadium. Four former LSU football players were members of the 2004 NFL Super Bowl Champions New England Patriots.

Sometimes overlooked are some of the finest female athletes in the country in their respective sports: golfer Meredith Duncan, softball All-American Britni Sneed, women's basketball All-American Marie Ferdinand, and track superstar Muna Lee have dazzled LSU fans in recent years.

Job Placement

Is there life after college athletics? LSU is helping to answer that question with a job placement program as part of the Ninth Semester Program. LSU works closely with the Career Placement Center on campus as well as professional recruiting services to offer advice to athletes on entering the job market upon graduation.

National Awards

LSU has had one winner each of the Heisman Trophy, Adolph Rupp Award and Golden Spikes Award, the premier individual awards in football, basketball and baseball. The Heisman Trophy, given annually to college football's best player, was won by Billy Cannon in 1959. The Adolph Rupp Award, which goes to college basketball's top player, was won by Shaquille O'Neal in 1991. The Golden Spikes Award, given to college baseball's most outstanding player each year, was won by Ben McDonald in 1989. In 2001, Josh Reed added his name to the list as he claimed the Biletnikoff Award, which goes annually to the nation's top receiver.

National Championships

LSU has won 43 national titles in its athletic history, the most of any school in the SEC. Most recently, the Tigers claimed three national titles during the 2003-04 season with championships being brought back to Baton Rouge in football and men's and women's indoor track and field.

Stadiavision

At all LSU football games in Tiger Stadium, basketball games at the Pete Maravich Assembly Center and baseball games at Alex Box Stadium, live action is shown on monitors near concession stands and restrooms so fans won't miss the action in progress.

Tiger Gift Center

LSU operates a fully stocked merchandise store on the campus, giving fans a wide array of LSU clothing and memorabilia. The Gift Center is open on football, basketball and baseball game days for fans' convenience. The Tiger Gift Center also went worldwide during the 2000-01 season as LSU merchandise can now be purchased from anywhere in the world on LSU's website, LSUsports.net or at LSUtigergifts.com.

University Involvement

LSU continues to produce profits in its athletic department, despite generally difficult economic times for college athletic programs.

Athletics has contributed over $10 million to the academic side of the university in the past 13 years. In 1994-95, athletics contributed $100,000 to the LSU Libraries to assist in buying books and other materials necessary to keep LSU's library system among the finest in the nation, and in 1996 generated over $30,000 by dedicating all ticket sales from the Spring Football Game to the libraries. Most recently, the LSU athletic department purchased new uniforms for the Tiger Marching Band, which will be on display for the first time during the 2004 football season.

After the 1988-89 fiscal year, LSU Athletics donated $2 million to the general fund of the university to help offset projected losses. LSU Athletics has also donated sizeable amounts of money to fund professorships and provide for repairs in academic facilities.

The Southeastern Conference, with its storied 72-year history of athletic achievements and academic excellence, has built perhaps the greatest tradition of intercollegiate competition of any league in the country since its inception in 1933.

The 2003-04 academic year was another season to remember for the SEC as conference teams captured six national titles and nine national runner-up finishes. In the last 15 years, the SEC has won 100 national team championships for an average of more than six per year.

LSU won the conference's first three NCAA titles of the year, in men and women's indoor track and football. Auburn won both the men and women's swimming & diving titles and Arkansas won the men's outdoor track & field championships. Georgia finished first among Southeastern Conference schools and fifth overall in the Sears Trophy final standings.

Overall, the SEC finished in the top two in 10 of its 20 sponsored sports and in the top five in 15 of the 20 sports. Seven SEC teams participated in football postseason bowls with LSU winning the BCS Championship game. Six men's and seven women's basketball teams were invited to the NCAA Tournament with LSU and Tennessee advancing to the Women's Final Four. An NCAA record nine teams advanced to postseason play in baseball with four teams (Arkansas, Georgia, LSU and South Carolina) advancing to the College World Series.

With 170 teams, over eight per sport, advancing to NCAA postseason competition, the SEC continued to solidify its place as the nation's premier conference.

In addition to the six team championships, 81 SEC student-athletes garnered individual national championships, while 498 individuals were awarded with first-team All-America honors. Student-athletes around the league continued to excel in the classroom as well with 1,954 earning recognition on the SEC Academic Honor Roll.

On the national all-sport level, the SEC placed seven teams in the top 30 of the Sears/NACDA Director's Cup rankings. Georgia led the league with a fifth-place finish. Florida placed sixth, while LSU was 11th, Tennessee finished 14th, Auburn 23rd, Arkansas 27th and Vanderbilt 28th to round out the league's top 30 finishes. Ten of the SEC's 12 schools finished in the top 50 of the Sears Cup Standings. Alabama (41) and Kentucky (45) also made the top 50.
