Why LSU?

MALORIE RUTLEDGE

Midfielder (2006-09)

3-time All-American

2-time SEC Offensive Player of the Year

3-time First-Team All-SEC

"LSU gives its student-athletes every opportunity to succeed both on and off the field. Right away, I knew I wanted to play for Brian Lee and his staff at LSU. Not only does he want his players to excel on the field, but he also pushes us to succeed in the classroom as well. That's exactly what I was looking for in a coach when I was being recruited. I knew coming in that Brian had the ability to transform LSU into a contender and I wanted to be a part of that. My experience at LSU was more than I hoped it would be. It will always be a part of me wherever life may take me."

"Being a professional athlete, it's easy for people in my profession to assume that's what they will be doing for the rest of their life. The reality is that I will have a second dream job. As I continue to train and hurdle at LSU with Coach Shaver, he has continued to help me work on my resume and prepare for the day after my track career is over. He truly is a great mentor and coach, but to this day he is also a great friend. I will always be grateful to him and LSU for the many opportunities I've been given in my life."

LOLO JONES

2008 Olympian

2-time World Indoor Champion
American Record Holder (60 hurdles)

"Throughout the entire recruiting process, I always knew LSU was the best choice. Being from the great state of Louisiana, LSU was a home away from home. I knew that this would be a place I could grow as a student-athlete and a young man. The coaches, faculty and the 92,000 marvelous fans only help to make the decision much easier. Looking back on it, I couldn't have asked for more from the experience."

TYSON JACKSON

Defensive End (2005-08)

2009 NFL Draft No. 3 Pick

"As far back as I can remember (riding bicycles, playing little league baseball), I have literally bled purple and gold. It never crossed my mind that there was anywhere else to go other than LSU. The experiences and relationships that I developed at LSU have been an integral part of my life. No other colleges existed in my mind. I am fortunate to have attended a place that I considered a dream and look forward to my association with the University until the day I die."

LSU SOCCER STARS SPEND CHRISTMAS IN HAITI

Before the Christmas holiday in December 2009, LSU soccer stars Courtney Alexander and Natalie Ieyoub traveled to the Caribbean nation of Haiti for a week-long mission trip with the organization Lespwa Worldwide as they sought to bring joy to the native people. While working in the village of Messailler, the duo helped run a Vacation Bible School and assisted in construction projects for the school, church and orphanage within the complex in which they stayed. They also helped organize the soccer games for the local children to play.

Upon returning to the United States, Alexander described the love she had for the Haitian people by saying, "I had never even thought of going to Haiti before. My heart has always been for Africa. I knew immediately when I got home that I wanted to go back. I still do now more than ever. I wish I could go immediately. I think part of my heart will always be in Haiti."

Alexander and Ieyoub could have never imagined the destruction that would soon follow upon their return home as a cataclysmic earthquake that struck on Jan. 12, 2010, left the island in a state of ruin and the native people hopeless in the face of the devastation.

The organization Lespwa Worldwide derives its name from the Creole word meaning "hope," and both Alexander and Ieyoub wanted to return to show the Haitian people that there is hope for the future, for then and for their nation.

"I would definitely want to take another trip there," Ieyoub said. "There's just a lot of need right now. I think that since I've been there I can understand the damage and the amount of need that the country is in right now. I'd like to see the progress that Lespwa Worldwide is making during this tragedy. They're bringing a lot of hope to the people there. The word 'Lespwa' actually means 'hope.'"

ALEXANDER AND IEYOUNG RETURN TO HAITI FOR EARTHQUAKE RELIEF

After the conclusion of the spring semester in June, both Alexander and Ieyoung had the opportunity to return to Haiti for the first time since the January earthquake to assist Lespwa Worldwide in its relief efforts. This time, they worked with the organization at its Mission of Hope headquarters in a village called Titayen to help with the reconstruction of the campus.

Along with LSU women's golfer Mary Michael Maggio, they helped construct the roof of a new school cafeteria, paint some of the new orphanage buildings and organize medical supplies for the on-site clinic. They also served as runners in the medical clinic and assistants in the prosthetics lab.

Not only that, but the trio was fortunate to visit orphanages in surrounding villages to spend time with the Haitian children, playing soccer and making arts and crafts during their stay.

"It was great to go back and work alongside the Haitian people who have hope that their country can be rebuilt and who have an unwavering love and joy in Jesus when they literally have nothing else," Alexander said. "Mission of Hope has given them the chance to be equipped to help change their nation. You can see how the children now have a sense of responsibility and pride in their country like never had before. I didn't know you could fall in love with a place more than you already were, but it happened with me. It captured my heart in December, and it continues to hold a tight grip on me."

"The CHAMPS/Life Skills Program is great for our student-athletes because it gives them the opportunity to give back to the Baton Rouge community and better themselves as people off the playing field." -Brian Lee, Head Coach

In 2010, the LSU soccer team was awarded the Tiger Cup for the second year in a row by the Tiger Athletic Foundation for its outstanding community service efforts.

LSU student-athletes participate in a variety of community service projects including reading in schools, nursing home visits, hospital pediatric ward visits and speaking engagements.

CHAMPS/Life Skills program

Jade Jenkins
Assistant Director for the
CHAMPS/Life Skills program

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program was developed by the NCAA to help prepare student-athletes for the challenges of life beyond the playing field. Through workshops, service projects, and social events, CHAMPS, an acronym for Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success, brings LSU student-athletes information that will prepare them for the biggest game of all - the game of life!

How Can CHAMPS Help?

By focusing on "real life" skills and personal development, the CHAMPS Program not only assists the student-athletes with meeting daily challenges, but also enhances student-athlete's growth in their college years and beyond.

CHAMPS at LSU

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program at LSU is operated out of the Academic Center for Athletes, and the focus of the program is on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth.

Bo Campbell Auditorium

The 1,000-seat auditorium is used through the year as a classroom and lecture hall. Each seat in the auditorium has space for a laptop and a modem hookup, providing each student unlimited learning opportunities. The auditorium also contains a movie theatre size screen to aid professors with lectures and classroom activities.

Amenities

- ▶ 54,000 square feet of working space
- ▶ 300 computer workstations
- ▶ 14 private computer rooms in a state-of-the-art computer lab
- ▶ Additional study rooms and classrooms for private or group study

Computer Stations

The Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes is at the forefront of today's educational technology. Since the spring of 2009, the academic center has upgraded over 170 computers, including both PC and Mac.

The Library

The library provides a perfect setting for individual study, or with a tutor as a group.

Media Training

LSU is one of the few schools where student-athletes go through media training to enhance their communication skills. Dr. Tommy Karam and Dr. Shirley White are two experts in the field who give training sessions to student-athletes here on campus. The Academic Center features a mock press conference setting to get student-athletes acclimated to giving interviews in front of both print and electronic media. Karam and White record the mock interviews on camera and then provide feedback, allowing student-athletes to become more comfortable and confident when doing actual interviews.

Academic Center

A $15 million renovation to the Gym Armory in 2002 not only made it among the nation's premier academic centers, but put it at the forefront. Improvements to the existing center give LSU student-athletes the best opportunity for success by providing access to the latest technology, as well as an array of expanded services.

The Tigers have been nearly unbeatable at the LSU Soccer Complex under the direction of head coach Brian Lee as they enter the fall with a sparkling 26-4-7 home mark since 2006. The squad has only dropped two decisions at home in the last three seasons as it followed an unbeaten 5-0-3 home slate in 2007 with an impressive 8-1 campaign in 2008 and a 7-1-2 season in 2009. In fact, LSU's home dominance is highlighted by a school record 18-game home unbeaten streak that came to an end on Oct. 26, 2008, with a narrow 2-1 defeat to the sixth-ranked Florida Gators.

The start of the 2010 season marks the 15th season in the life of the LSU Soccer Complex – a field that was christened on Sept. 13, 1996, when the Tigers played host to SEC rival Tennessee.

The Tigers set the single-game attendance record on Oct. 5, 2007, when 2,402 fans witnessed a 3-0 upset of sixth-ranked Tennessee for their first ever win over an opponent ranked among the Top 10 teams in the nation. In fact, the Tigers set the all-time attendance record three times during the 2007 season and finished the fall ranked No. 10 nationally in average attendance and No. 7 nationally in average paid attendance while drawing 1,294 fans per match.

The program made history again in 2009 as the Tigers were awarded a No. 4 national seed in the NCAA Tournament and the LSU Soccer Complex was selected as a regional host site of the NCAA First and Second Rounds for the first time in its existence, solidifying its reputation as one of the most intimidating venues in all of women's college soccer.

The stadium features a newly renovated locker room facility with a brand new visitor's locker room on the south end of the facility and a state-of-the-art squad room measuring 2,000 square feet that was completed in the summer of 2006. The facility underwent further renovations in the spring of 2007 as the LSU athletic department invested $250,000 into a total reconstruction of the facility's playing surface. The field was flattened and covered with a hybrid Bermuda grass called Mississippi Choice similar to the playing surface in Tiger Stadium. It also features a brand new drainage and irrigation system to keep the field in pristine condition year round.

Further stadium renovations are also in the works, including a new grandstand completed this summer, as well as renovations to the front entrance and plans for the creation of a brand new fan plaza behind the grandstand complete with landscaping and signage.

The LSU Soccer Complex boasts a modern and spacious locker room that includes locker rooms for the Tigers, as well as facilities for opponents and game officials. The complex also provides an on-site training room, a meeting room and lounge for the team and offices for the LSU coaching staff.

The locker room facility at the LSU Soccer Complex recently underwent an extensive $200,000 renovation project that included the addition of a brand new visitor's locker room on the south end of the facility. The former visitor's locker room was expanded to 2,000 square feet and converted into a state-of-the-art squad room and lounge for the Tigers to enjoy. The facility underwent further renovations in the spring of 2007 as the LSU athletic department invested $250,000 into a total reconstruction of the facility's playing surface. The field was flattened and covered with a hybrid Bermuda grass called Mississippi Choice similar to the sand-based playing surface in Tiger Stadium. It also features a brand new drainage and irrigation system to keep the field in pristine condition year round.

RENOVATIONS

Indoor Practice FACILITY

When the weather prevents the soccer team from practicing at the LSU Soccer Complex, the squad moves inside to the climate-controlled indoor football practice facility. The indoor facility was built as part of a $15 million upgrade in the early 1990s and houses a 100-yard football field that was renovated with brand new Momentum Field Turf in the spring of 2006.

The New

LSU SOCCER COMPLEX

The LSU Soccer Complex has earned a reputation as being one of the more intimidating venues for an opposing team to compete in all of women's college soccer. That is evident in the fact that the Tigers boast a brilliant 20-2-5 home record with an impressive .833 winning percentage over the last three seasons. 23 Pete Maravich

"Pistol Pete" Maravich still holds the NCAA record for career points with 3,667 and for career scoring average with 44.2 points a game. He was selected the National Player of the Year in 1970 after leading the Tigers to the NIT Final Four. He scored 50-plus points an amazing 28 times. He went on to a 10-year professional career and was selected as one of the NBA's 50 greatest players in 1997.

One of the true legends of college football in the South, Cannon was the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner and helped the Tigers to the 1958 national title. Cannon's most memorable performance came in 1959 against Ole Miss when No. 1 LSU trailed No. 3 Ole Miss 3-0 in the fourth quarter. He fielded a punt, broke seven tackles and returned it 89 yards for the 7-3 victory. He went on to a successful 11-year professional career.

33 Shaquille O'Neal

O'Neal was the first pick in the 1992 NBA Draft. He was named MVP of the league in 2000 and was a three-time NBA Finals MVP after leading the Los Angeles Lakers to three World Championships. He also coached the United States to a bronze medal at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta and was an assistant on the gold medal-winning U.S. squad in Seoul, Korea, in 1988. Bertman retired from coaching following the 2001 season and is the LSU athletics director emeritus. Bertman was inducted into the College Baseball Hall of Fame in 2006.

About LSU Retired Jerseys

The retirement of the jerseys of Casanova, McDonald and Macklin comes under a new provision of the LSU jersey retirement bylaws that says the retirement of an athlete's jersey in a particular sport does not preclude a current student-athlete in that sport from wearing the jersey number in that or any other sport, subject to the discretion of the head coach. This provision applies only to jerseys retired after January 1, 2007, so the numbers worn by Maravich, Pettit, O'Neal, Cannon and Bertman may never again be worn by future student-athletes in their respective sports. To have a jersey retired at LSU, an athlete must have completed intercollegiate competition for LSU a minimum of five years prior to nomination. Athletes must have demonstrated truly unusual and outstanding accomplishments, exceeding and in addition to all criteria used for Hall of Fame selection. Nominees must have a unanimous vote of support from the Hall of Fame committee.

Rudy Macklin 40

Rudy Macklin was a two-time basketball All-American selection during his Tiger career from 1976-81 during which time he became LSU's all-time leading rebounder with 1,276 boards and the second-leading scorer in school history behind only the legendary Pete Maravich with 2,080 points. He led the Tigers to two Elite Eight appearances and the 1981 Final Four in Philadelphia. He still holds the school single game rebound record with 32, a mark like some of the great records in any sport that may never be broken.

Tommy Casanova 37

Tommy Casanova is the only three-time All-American in the history of LSU football and is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. During his Tiger career from 1969-71, Casanova personified versatility for his myriad of talents as he played offense, defense, returned punts and kickoffs. One of just two three-time All-SEC performers at LSU, he played six seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals of the NFL while earning his medical degree.

Ben McDonald 19

Ben McDonald won the prestigious Golden Spikes Award, given annually to the nation's most outstanding player, in 1989 and is a member of the College Baseball Hall of Fame. He led LSU to two College World Series appearances. In 1989, McDonald was named National Player of the Year by Baseball America, The Sporting News and Collegiate Baseball. Joe Alleva

LSU Vice-Chancellor/Director of Athletics

Joe Alleva enters his third year as LSU's Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics after being hired to lead one of the nation's most powerful athletic programs on April 4, 2008. Alleva joined LSU after 10 years of outstanding leadership as the director of athletics at Duke University. He officially took over at LSU on July 1, 2008.

The LSU Board of Supervisors approved a promotion in August 2009 for Alleva, adding vice chancellor to his title and expanding his role to the academic side of the university. It's the first time at LSU that the director of athletics has also held a vice chancellor position.

"I am honored to be named vice chancellor at this outstanding institution and thank Chancellor (Michael) Martin, President (John) Lombardi and the Board of Supervisors for the confidence they have shown in me," Alleva said. "Athletics is the window through which many people view LSU and it is important that we excel in competition and in the classroom while demonstrating the utmost of integrity. I believe my promotion ties athletics closer to the university and that is a good thing for everyone; we are all on the same team."

Under Alleva's guidance, LSU has reached new heights in terms of athletic success while continuing to be recognized as one of the top enterprises in college athletics.

A veteran leader in college athletics, Alleva is dedicated to athletic and academic excellence. He is committed to providing the opportunities and the resources necessary for student-athletes to excel in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

Alleva, 57, is well-respected for sustaining high standards of excellence and integrity in athletic programs, hiring the finest coaches in the country and the high level of success achieved by student-athletes.

One of Alleva's big initiatives on the LSU campus is the launching of a strategic plan for the continued success and future improvement of LSU Athletics.

LSU Athletics has produced a new booklet called "LSU: Thru and True" designed to introduce a strategic plan for operating a top tier athletics program. The strategic plan booklet is titled "LSU: Thru and True" because, in the words of Alleva, "Our core values run deep and our commitment to excellence is relentless. At LSU, college athletics is an avenue for providing opportunities, for achieving goals, for generating enthusiasm and for nurturing passion."

The subtitle of the booklet is "Excellence in Competition, Distinction in the Classroom, and Contribution to the Community." The strategic plan addresses various topics including quality of life for student-athletes; academic and athletic excellence; compliance and ethics; financial responsibility; diversity, inclusion and equity; tradition and history, and service and communication.

The plan also includes a vision for the future of LSU athletics facilities, highlighted by plans to improve North Stadium Drive between Tiger Stadium and the Pete Maravich Assembly Center.

Alleva is an innovator with bold ideas that benefit not only LSU but all of Greater Baton Rouge. Alleva was heavily involved in the planning of the inaugural Bayou Country Superfest, a two-day country music concert and festival held in Tiger Stadium last spring. The event attracted nearly 100,000 visitors to the LSU campus and made a tremendous economic impact upon the local community.

Seventeen of LSU's 20 sports programs participated in post-season competition in 2009-10, including the Tiger football squad that played in a bowl game for the 10th-straight season. Six LSU teams posted Top 10 national finishes last season, and 12 were ranked among the Top

25. LSU finished in the Top 20 of the Learfield Director's Cup rankings, which measure overall athletic success for institutions across the country.

Under Alleva's direction in 2008-09, all 20 LSU sports competed in NCAA post-season play for the first time in school history, and it culminated with the baseball team winning the national championship. In addition, six teams finished in the top 10 nationally. LSU was the only school in the Southeastern Conference to participate in a bowl game and the men's and women's NCAA basketball tournaments during 2008-09. Furthermore, LSU student-athletes volunteered a total of 2,360 hours for community service projects.

LSU earned a ninth-place ranking in the 2008-09 Learfield Director's Cup, as the Tigers were second only to Florida among SEC institutions. LSU accumulated points in 18 of a possible 20 categories in the standings, also a first for the school.

Upon being hired at LSU, Alleva immediately made an impact by hiring Trent Johnson to lead the men's basketball program. Johnson, the 2009 SEC Coach of the Year, wasted little time in turning the Tigers into a winner as LSU claimed the 2009 SEC regular season title and reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

LSU also had top 10 national finishes in 2008-09 in gymnastics, men's and women's indoor track and field and men's and women's outdoor track and field. Thirteen of LSU's 20 sports finished the year ranked among the top 25 in the nation.

The Tiger football team capped their 2008 season with a 38-3 win over 14th-ranked Georgia Tech in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. During the offseason, Alleva helped secure the funding necessary for the addition of a state-of-the-art artificial turf practice field, which complements the surface the Tigers have in their indoor practice facility. The addition of the outdoor artificial turf field gives the LSU football program one of the nation's finest all-around facilities.

Not only did LSU teams set records but so did the fans, as over 1.5 million fans filled venues on the LSU campus in 2008-09. LSU set the school record for overall attendance in the sports of football, baseball and softball.

Alleva oversaw in the spring of 2009 the grand opening of two of the premier baseball and softball facilities in college athletics, Alex Box Stadium and Tiger Park.

In addition, LSU opened a new gift center for its fans – the LSU SportShop. The LSU SportShop, a spectacular, free-standing facility that features the latest in LSU apparel and merchandise, is located adjacent to Mike's Habitat.

Under Alleva's guidance, LSU has one of the most lucrative apparel and shoe contracts with Nike while also having one of the nation's most attractive multi-media rights contracts with CBS Collegiate Sports Properties. LSU athletic budget is now approaching $85 million, which allows the university to compete at the highest level in the nation.

Alleva has a long-term vision for continued improvements to LSU's athletic facilities in order to insure that the Tigers are among the best in the country well into the 21st Century. One of his top priorities is the enhancement of Tiger Stadium and making Tiger Stadium and the North Stadium Drive corridor a showplace for the university.

Alleva's innovative plan is to make a plaza area between the Maravich Assembly Center and Tiger Stadium that would recognize LSU's national championship teams and distinguished alumni. This special area, along with Mike's Habitat, and the LSU SportShop, would become the focal point for visitors to campus.

LSU opened in the spring of 2010 a basketball practice facility that houses both the men's and women's basketball teams. The new basketball practice facility features two full length courts as well as locker rooms and other amenities for both squads.

Alleva is also overseeing a major renovation to the golf course at the University Club that will be completed in September 2010, and he is developing plans for a new gymnastics practice facility, indoor tennis center and improved soccer facility. LSU's world-renowned track and field program will receive a state-of-the-art running surface this year when a new track is installed in Bernie Moore Stadium.

"Joe Alleva brings a wealth of experience and accomplishment to LSU," LSU President John Lombardi said of hiring Alleva. "I'm confident we've found a new leader for LSU athletics who exemplifies the vision and integrity needed to lead our sports programs to new heights, a champion of student athletes who believes in the highest standards of competition both on the field and in the classroom."

Alleva's impressive tenure as director of athletics at Duke propelled the university into the ranks of America's top all-around collegiate programs. Among his outstanding list of accomplishments includes the greatest 10-year period in Duke athletics, winning more ACC and NCAA championships than in any other decade in school history.

Also, his fundraising reached extensive heights providing new facilities or renovations for all 26 sports at Duke, which enhanced the experience for every student-athlete.

Alleva is active on the national collegiate athletics scene, having served on the Football Bowl Certification Committee. He sat on several Atlantic Coast Conference committees and served on the NCAA Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet.

Alleva majored in Finance at Lehigh University and received his bachelor's degree in 1975. While at Lehigh, Alleva was the quarterback of the football team and team captain in 1974. Alleva also played on the Lehigh baseball team. He served as a graduate assistant football coach and earned an MBA in 1976.

Alleva began his 32-year career at Duke University in 1976. He spent 28 years in the athletic administration prior to becoming director of athletics in 1998.

Alleva played a key role in Durham's community sports scene. He started Little League Baseball in Durham over 20 years ago, and also began the American Legion baseball program.

Alleva is a member of the North Carolina American Legion Hall of Fame, Suffern High School Hall of Fame and the Rockland County Hall of Fame.

He currently serves on the Louisiana State Board of the Special Olympics.

Alleva and his wife, Annie, have three children, J.D., Jeff and Jenny.

Dr. Michael V. Martin

Chancellor, LSU

Dr. Michael V. Martin assumed the chancellorship of Louisiana State University and A&M College on August 1, 2008. Prior to his appointment as LSU's eighth chancellor, Dr. Martin established a distinguished career in higher education, serving most recently as president of New Mexico State University.

Before arriving at NMSU in 2004, Dr. Martin served for six years as vice president for agriculture and natural resources at the University of Florida, leading the university's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences. He was elevated to senior vice president of the University of Florida shortly before being selected as NMSU's president. Previously, he was vice president for agricultural policy and the dean of the College of Agricultural, Food and Environmental Sciences at the University of Minnesota. He began his academic career at Oregon State University as a faculty member in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics.

An academic leader dedicated to the land-grant mission, Dr. Martin is recognized as a strong voice for higher education. In 2007, he received the Justin Smith Morrill Memorial Award, named after the author of the bill creating land-grant universities, which honors outstanding service on behalf of the land-grant mission. Only six individuals have been designated to receive this award since it was first given in 1980. For his leadership in improving the quality of life for New Mexico citizens and future generations, he was awarded the 2008 Distinguished Leadership Award by Leadership New Mexico.

Other recent awards include his recognition as a powerbroker by The New Mexico Business Weekly in 2006, being named Outstanding Alumnus of Minnesota State University Mankato in 2006, and receiving the NMSU Social Justice Award in 2005.

Dr. Martin is involved in a wide array of professional and community organizations and activities.

An active scholar, Dr. Martin has authored numerous book chapters and articles for academic journals, trade publications, and the popular press and recently published pieces for The Chronicle of Higher Education and University Business.

Some of his philosophy is summed up in the following quote: "It is the tradition of land-grant universities to be non-traditional," written as part of a 2001 article titled "The Land-Grant University in the 21st Century," published in the Journal of Agricultural and Applied Economics. He traced the history of the land-grant movement from the mid-1800s and concluded that "the fundamental land-grant principles of accessibility, practical as well as classical education, research and discovery in the public interest, and connectedness to all the people remain powerful and profound."

A native of Crosby, Minn., Dr. Martin earned a bachelor's degree in business and economics and a master's degree in economics at Mankato State College (Minnesota State University) in Minnesota. He received his Ph.D. in applied economics from the University of Minnesota in 1977.

Dr. Michael V. Martin speaks at the opening of the New Alex Box Stadium on February 20, 2009.

RELOADED- TIGERS PREP FOR TITLE RUN

If there was ever a doubt about LSU's claim as being one of the premier programs in the Southeastern Conference, the Tigers put it to rest in 2009 by capturing their third-straight SEC Western Division championship and earning an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament for the third year in a row. In fact, the Tigers enjoyed their most successful campaign in program history with a runner-up finish in the final SEC standings for the second-straight season.

There is no question that LSU has enjoyed its time in the national spotlight in each of the last three seasons and is poised to build on its success while competing for its first league title and qualifying for a spot in the NCAA Women's College Cup.

The mastermind behind LSU's meteoric rise to national prominence is head coach Brian Lee, who enters his sixth season leading a program that has quickly developed a reputation as one of the true contenders for the SEC championship year in and year out. The 2010 campaign is sure to be more of the same as the Tigers are set to kick off the season with a roster reloaded and ready to take on the nation's elite once again.

While LSU returns six full-time starters from a year ago, the side also welcomes a crop of freshmen that ranks among the best in the NCAA for the Class of 2010.

Among those wearing the purple and gold uniform for the first time are five TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 recruits, giving the team a perfect blend of youth and experience to continue in their championship tradition.

"We're excited about how far this program has come in just a few short seasons, and we expect to make another run at an SEC championship again this fall with the nucleus of players we have returning in the fall," Lee said. "I think that a big key for us this fall will be how quickly our young players adapt to the college game. We need them to step up in support of our veterans who have already experienced tremendous success at this level."

The Tigers captured their third-straight SEC West crown and finished runner-up in the overall SEC standings for the second time in as many seasons on the strength of the league's most prolific offensive attack that scored a league-leading 56 goals and 162 points in 2009.

If it hopes to join the SEC title race once again this campaign, LSU must replace 32 goals and 93 points from last year's team. Sophomore Carlie Banks is the team's top returning scorer from a year ago as she scored seven goals and dished out four assists for a total of 18 points while being named to the SEC All-Freshman Team as one of the league's up-and-coming forwards. She was especially impressive in conference play while scoring all seven goals against SEC foes.

Courtney Alexander, the team's lone senior this fall, is preparing to make the transition to the front line after competing as LSU's starting left back for much of the 2009 campaign. After scoring just two goals a season ago, Alexander emerged as a rising star in the attack while scoring a total of three goals in just four matches during the 2010 spring season.

Joining Alexander and Banks up top this fall will be two of the nation's premier forwards in TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 recruits Addie Eggleston (33) and Kaley Blades (37).

Junior Kellie Murphy is the team's top returning scorer in the midfield after setting a pair of career highs with five goals and 11 points last fall. Junior transfer Natalie Martineau is surely a welcomed scoring threat for the Tigers in the midfield as she joins the program following a career at the University of Montevallo in Alabama. A veteran of the Under-20 Canadian National Team, Martineau won NSCAA/adidas All-South Region and All-Peach Belt Conference honors in 2009.

The Tigers have also added the services of one of the top midfield recruits in the nation in TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 selection Nina Anderson (68).

"We take great pride in our ability to play an attacking style of soccer that is able to put a tremendous amount of pressure on opposing defenses. We have a good nucleus of players coming back, but a number of fresh faces who will need to step it up if we hope to have the same level of production," Lee said. "Cojo (Alexander) will be a leader for us in the attack this season."

The Tigers also have the potential to compete with a strong defense again this fall, led by a pair of juniors in Second-Team All-SEC defensive midfielder Allysha Chapman and goalkeeper Mo Isom. The duo helped anchor one of the SEC's leading defensive units in 2009 as the team set a school single season record 0.71 goals against average. Each has experience on her side with a combined 67 starts to their credit. Isom has started 43 of 44 matches in two seasons at LSU, while Chapman cracked the lineup in all 24 matches a year ago.

Isom will be pushed by one of the country's best goalkeeper recruits for the Class of 2010 as freshman Megan Kinneman ranked No. 96 in the TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 this spring and is the No. 9-ranked goalkeeper recruit in the NCAA.

Perhaps the unit hardest hit by graduation following the 2009 season is the back line, with LSU needing to replace a trio of four-year starters in three-time All-SEC performer Chelsea Potts, Nikki Bush and Katherine Lagow. Not only that, but the Tigers must replace Alexander, who will make the switch to the front line after playing primarily as a left back last fall.

Two-year starting midfielder Taryne Boudreau is likely to slide back into defense to fill a void in the middle. She will be joined by sophomore Hannah Jobe, while freshmen competing for playing time in the midfield and on the back line include Emily Cancienne, Shannon McLain, Danielle Murphy, Kendall Narum and Alex Ramsey.

"While we have some holes to fill in defense, we've got some talented players back again this year and some talented players coming in to help fill those holes," Lee said. "Allysha Chapman is one of the best defensive midfielders in college soccer and Mo Isom provides us with the experience and leadership we need in goal. The back line is where we're going to need people to step up big for us this season, perhaps more than any other position on the field."

In order to prepare for a run at the SEC championship, the Tigers will compete against an imposing non-conference schedule that features road matches against four NCAA Tournament teams from 2009, including BYU, Memphis, Wake Forest and Virginia Tech. LSU also travels to face Big 10 Conference power Illinois.

The Tigers will then compete against an SEC schedule that features five fixtures against a NCAA Tournament team from a year ago. They welcome the four-time defending SEC champion Florida Gators and Auburn Tigers to the LSU Soccer Complex, while they must go on the road to face Georgia, Ole Miss and South Carolina in a trio of challenging matches.

There's no question that the LSU soccer program has firmly established itself among the nation's elite with its performance over the last three seasons, and the Tigers are hungry for more as the 2010 season opens at home against South Alabama on Aug. 22. When Lee took the helm in December of 2004, he committed himself to "build a program that annually contends for the SEC, qualifies for the NCAA College Cup and competes to win a national championship." With LSU's performance over the past five years, his goals are now well within reach for a new generation of Tigers.

FORWARDS

Despite losing the services of one of the program's all-time leading scorers at forward in Rachel Yeppez, the Tigers are sure to be strong in the attack once again this fall as senior Courtney Alexander and sophomore Carlie Banks return to lead the charge up top.

Banks, a native of Peachtree City, Ga., is the team's returning scorer from a season ago as she scored seven goals and dished out four assists for 18 points in her rookie season en route to earning a selection to the SEC All-Freshman Team. Banks was especially impressive in SEC play as she scored all seven of her goals a year ago against conference opponents.

She will be joined up top by the team's lone senior in Alexander, who is in the midst of a transition to the front line after playing primarily as a left back during the 2009 campaign. After a brilliant spring season in which she emerged as a budding star in the attack, Alexander's move up top is sure to pay dividends as LSU seeks to replace the six goals and 19 points scored by Yeppez a year ago. Alexander's leadership will also be a key for the Tigers all season long.

"We're certainly going to miss a player like Rachel Yeppez when we go on the attack, but we're also very excited about the talent we have returning in the fall," said LSU head coach Brian Lee. "I am especially pleased with the progress Cojo (Alexander) has made with her move toward the front line. They give us two great options in the attacking third."

An infusion of young talent will complement the likes of Alexander and Banks when LSU goes on the attack this season as freshmen strikers Kaley Blades and Addie Eggleston are on the team as TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 recruits in the country for the Class of 2010.

Eggleston, a product of the famed Challenge Soccer Club of Houston, was the No. 33-ranked recruit in the country by TopDrawerSoccer.com during the spring recruiting season as she was also recognized as a high school All-American by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. She earned that reputation while competing with the U.S. Youth National Team and as a member of the Region III Olympic Development Program Team during her prep career.

Blades, who hails from Largo, Fla., was the No. 37-ranked recruit nationwide and the top-ranked recruit in the state of Florida for the Class of 2010 by TopDrawerSoccer.com. Like Eggleston, Blades developed her skills as an attacker while competing as a member of the Under-15 U.S. Youth National Team and Region III ODP Team during her prep career.

COURTNEY ALEXANDER

MIDFIELDERS

The resume of Malorie Rutledge speaks for itself. A two-time consensus All-American, a two-time SEC Offensive Player of the Year and a three-time First-Team All-SEC performer in four seasons at LSU, Rutledge ended her collegiate career last season as the most decorated Tiger to ever step onto the soccer pitch.

Rutledge rewrote the record books in four seasons in Baton Rouge as she left the program as the team's all-time career leader in assists (46) and points (102) while also scoring 28 goals for her tenure. And she went out as the team's leading goal scorer and point scorer with a career-high 13 goals and 12 assists for 38 points in 2009.

If losing Rutledge weren't enough, the Tigers must also replace three-time all-conference selection Melissa Clarke in the midfield. Clarke, a three-time Second-Team All-SEC pick, scored 12 goals and 29 points as the team's second-leading scorer a season ago.

"It is going to be impossible for us to replace two class players like Malorie Rutledge and Melissa Clarke in the midfield. That just doesn't happen overnight," Lee said. "But we have some talented players coming back and some very talented recruits coming in that will help us continue to play the attacking style of soccer we like to play. Our fans will really enjoy getting to know the next generation of Tigers we have coming in this fall."

Junior Kellie Murphy is LSU's top scoring midfielder returning this fall after establishing new career highs with five goals and 11 points in 2009. Murphy emerged as a full-time starter for the Tigers as an attacking midfielder at the end of the season.

Supporting Murphy on the wing will be junior transfer Natalie Martineau, a veteran of the Under-20 Canadian Women's National Team who has joined the LSU program following two successful seasons as an All-Peach Belt Conference performer at the University of Montevallo in Alabama. Martineau started 41 of 42 matches with the Falcons while proving to be one of the best players at the NCAA Division II level.

The Tigers have also added the services of one of the top midfield recruits in the nation in Dallas Texans product Nina Anderson, who was the No. 68-ranked recruit nationwide and one of the top midfielders in the TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 for the Class of 2010.

LSU's defense will also start in the midfield as junior Allysha Chapman returns as one of the most dominant defensive midfielders in all of women's college soccer. After opening the year as LSU's starting left back, Chapman made the move to the defensive midfield, where she earned a Second-Team All-SEC selection in her first season with the program.

Also expected to crack the playing rotation in the midfield this fall are Alexander, sophomores Natalie Ieyoub and Tricia Johnson, and freshmen Danielle Murphy and Kendall Narum.

Freshman Jodi Calloway, the No. 77-ranked recruit in the country by TopDrawerSoccer.com, will redshirt this season after tearing an ACL while playing club soccer this spring.

ALLYSHA CHAPMAN

DEFENDERS

With the 2010 campaign on the horizon, perhaps the group hardest hit by graduation from last year's team is along the back line as LSU must replace all four starters from one of the SEC's top units a year ago. Gone is a trio of four-year starters in Nikki Bush, Katherine Lagow and Chelsea Potts, who combined for a total of 233 starts in four seasons with the Tigers.

Losing Potts is especially difficult as she proved to be the SEC's premier center back while finishing her career with three All-SEC honors, including a first-team selection in 2009.

Add that to the fact that Courtney Alexander, the team's lone senior this fall, is moving to the front line after starting at left back a year ago, and it's easy to see that the Tigers will count on some fresh faces to step up and fill the void left in defense.

"We definitely have some question marks and some holes to fill along our back line," Lee said.

"We're going to have a young group back there this fall. We've got some very talented freshmen coming in who have the ability to make an impact for us, but the question remains to be answered about how quickly they will adapt to the speed and pace of play at this level.

"Our back line went from being the most experienced to the least experienced group in an instant, and camp this year will be key for us in identifying who has what it takes to step up for us and fill the void."

After playing primarily as a defensive midfielder in her first two seasons with the Tigers, junior Taryne Boudreau will slide back in defense as a starting center back to anchor the back line this fall. Boudreau, who has started 45 of 47 career matches in an LSU uniform, also logged some minutes as an outside defender during her sophomore season. She will be joined at the back by returning sophomore Hannah Jobe.

There is no doubt that LSU's talented recruiting class will be called upon to help fill each of the remaining three spots along the defensive back line. Freshman Alex Ramsey might have an advantage over the rest of her classmates after enrolling at LSU in January 2010 and competing in the spring season. The Rock Hill, S.C., native was the No. 1-ranked recruit in her home state according to TopDrawerSoccer.com and is in position to compete this fall as an outside defender.

Among those looking to join Ramsey on the outside are Jobe and fellow freshmen Shannon McLain of Spring, Texas, and Kendall Narum of Clearwater, Fla. It will also include freshman Emily Cancienne in the middle of the defense with Boudreau.

TARYNE BOUDREAU

GOALKEEPERS

While LSU must replace four starters along its defensive back line, the Tigers are blessed with a wealth of talent and depth in goal that will provide the foundation of the team's defense for years to come. Junior Mo Isom is fresh off a record-setting sophomore campaign in which she set new school records for wins (15), shutouts (12) and goals against average (0.72) in a single season. Not only that, but she became the school's all-time career leader with 29 wins, 19 shutouts and a 0.77 goals against average in just two seasons with the program. Isom has started a total of 43 of 44 matches in her collegiate career.

A native of Marietta, Ga., Isom continued her development as one of the nation's premier young goalkeepers during the offseason as she was invited to train with the Under-23 U.S. Women's National Team for the second year in a row. Isom made the trip to Corvallis, Ore., with 24 of the nation's U-23 stars in April for a week-long national team camp.

"Being called up to train with the national team is such a great honor, and it's a giant leap forward personally as I want to improve each and every day," Isom said. "Training with the players and coaches here at LSU over the past two years helped prepare me for the opportunity to train with the national team. I hope to take everything I've learned in my experience and help this team be successful in the fall."

With her performance in just two short seasons with the program, Isom will enter the year as a true All-SEC candidate as one of the premier goalkeepers in the Southeastern Conference.

"Mo will be a leader of our defense," Lee said.

"We will have some new faces back there in defense, and it's going to be her job to communicate and help us stay organized when our opponent is in the attack. I'm very proud of the leadership role that Mo has accepted at this young age, and that speaks to her maturity level as a student-athlete. And she won't be without a little bit of competition as Megan Kinneman comes to us as one of the top recruits in the country."

Kinneman was one of five TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 recruits in the country to sign with the Tigers as part of the Class of 2010. A product of Elkins High School in Missouri City, Texas, Kinneman ranked No. 96 nationwide and No. 9 among goalkeeper recruits in the nation in 2010. She is a veteran of the U-15 U.S. Youth National Team and also a four-year member of the Region III Olympic Development Program Team.

BRIAN LEE

SIXTH SEASON

THE VISION

LSU is the sleeping giant of college soccer. My vision for LSU is to build a program that annually contends to win the SEC, qualifies for the NCAA College Cup and competes to win a National Championship. The foundation that we've built these last five years has given us that opportunity.

THE PHILOSOPHY

I believe in a commitment to excellence from our players, coaches and staff in all facets of the program. We will provide an environment in which our student-athletes can maximize their potential as students, athletes and people.

When Brian Lee took the reigns of the LSU soccer program in December 2004, he envisioned a program with the potential to be a perennial contender for the Southeastern Conference championship and an annual participant in the NCAA Tournament. His bold vision to transform LSU soccer into a nationally-respected program has produced unprecedented results as the Tigers enter the 2010 campaign as the three-time defending SEC Western Division champions and veterans of three-straight NCAA Tournament appearances.

LSU soared to new heights a year ago by matching its school wins record with a 15-4-5 overall mark and establishing a new school record with an 8-2-1 mark and 25 points in SEC play. For the second-straight season, the Tigers finished in second place in the final SEC standings and just one point shy of Florida for their first ever SEC championship. LSU then took a No. 2 seed to the SEC Tournament and advanced to the conference final for the first time in program history.

The Tigers were rewarded for their outstanding performance with a No. 4 national seed in the NCAA Tournament, while serving as a regional host for the first time in team history, and advanced to the NCAA Second Round for the second time in three seasons.

Their effort helped land a No. 14 national ranking at the end of the 2009 season in the final Top 25 ranking released by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. It marked the second year in a row for LSU to finish the season as high as No. 14 in the national rankings.

In fact, the Tigers have been a staple in the national rankings over the past two seasons as they have spent time in the Top 25 of all three major polls, climbing as high as No. 9 in 2008 and No. 10 in 2009. They have been ranked among the Top 20 teams in the country for 20 weeks over the last two seasons, while continuing their ascent to the pinnacle of college soccer.

But it has been their performance in conference play that has established the Tigers as an undeniable threat in the SEC championship picture. LSU has finished runner-up to Florida for the conference title in each of the last two years, including a narrow one-point decision for the league championship in 2009. Under Lee's direction, LSU has posted a remarkable 20-7-6 SEC record in winning three-straight SEC West titles from 2007-09, including a sparkling 13-2-3 mark in games played against SEC Western Division opponents.

Despite finishing in 12th place in each of the two years prior to Lee's arrival, the Tigers have shown steady progress in their ascent to the top of the SEC as the team finished in eighth place in 2005, eighth place in 2006, fourth place in 2007 and second place in 2008 and 2009.

On the strength of winning three-straight SEC West championships, LSU has garnered its share of national acclaim while earning the right to compete in the NCAA Tournament in each of the last three seasons. The team has advanced as far as the second round in 2007 and 2009.

In just five seasons, Lee and his dedicated coaching staff have built a program with the ability to compete with anyone in women's college soccer. That was never more evident than in 2007 when LSU battled No. 4 Texas to a 2-2 draw in Austin and dominated No. 6 Tennessee by a 3-0 margin at home for the program's first victory against an opponent ranked among the nation's Top 10 teams. The Tigers were impressive again in 2009 when they earned a pair of shutout wins against teams in the Top 10 of the polls with a 6-0 blanking of No. 8 Georgia and a 1-0 shutout of No. 10 South Carolina. They then drew South Carolina, 1-1, in the SEC Tournament final.

The Tigers have more than proven themselves against elite competition as they have won four matches while drawing six against nationally-ranked opponents since 2007.

World-class midfielder Malorie Rutledge has been at the center of LSU's turnaround. After being recruited by Lee to LSU five years ago, the Sharpsburg, Ga., product wrapped up her collegiate career last fall as the most decorated Tiger to step onto the pitch. Rutledge earned a pair of consensus All-America accolades, while also being named a two-time SEC Offensive Player of the Year and three-time First-Team All-SEC performer during her brilliant career.

Rutledge also rewrote the LSU record books in four seasons as she set two school records with 46 assists and 102 points, while also scoring 28 goals from 2006-09.

Lee has coached nine of his athletes to 17 All-SEC selections in five seasons as LSU was recognized with a team-best five all-conference selections in 2009. Joining Rutledge on the All-SEC squad were defender Chelsea Potts (first team), midfielder Allysha Chapman (second team), midfielder Melissa Clarke (second team) and forward Carlie Banks (all-freshman). Like Rutledge, seniors Clarke and Potts each finished their collegiate careers as three-time All-SEC performers.

Lee's impact has not only been felt with unprecedented results on the field, but also at the box office as record crowds have packed the LSU Soccer Complex week in and week out to see the Tigers in action since his arrival in Baton Rouge.

The 2007 season proved to be unlike any other in the history of the LSU Soccer Complex as the Tigers were unbeaten for the first time with a 5-0-3 record while drawing an average of 1,294 fans per match. That number ranked LSU among the Top 10 teams in the nation in average attendance for the first time as the team finished the season ranked No. 7 in the NCAA in average paid attendance. The Tigers also set three single-game attendance records while setting the bar with a record crowd of 2,402 for its historic 3-0 victory over No. 6 Tennessee on Oct. 5, 2007.

And they have been nearly unbeatable on their home turf while following an unbeaten 5-0-3 home schedule in 2007 with an 8-1-0 mark in 2008 and a 7-1-2 record in 2009 for a combined 20-2-5 record at the LSU Soccer Complex over the past three seasons.

Winning conference titles and leading a nationally prominent program are nothing new for the native of Cheltenham, England, who led the Furman Lady Paladins to six Southern Conference Championships and four NCAA Tournament appearances during his 11-year tenure after starting the program from scratch in 1994.

In 11 seasons, Lee's teams amassed a 144-80-10 overall record, including an impressive 76-16-3 mark in conference play. The Lady Paladins went undefeated in conference play three times (1999, 2000, 2002) and were just shy of perfection in 2003 after finishing the season with a 10-0-1 record in Southern Conference play.

Individually, Lee has coached five athletes to All-America honors and six athletes to Freshman All-America honors in 16 seasons as a head coach. In addition, he has coached four SoCon Players of the Year, five SoCon Freshmen of the Year and two SEC Players of the Year, while guiding his athletes to a total of 71 all-conference selections since his first season as a head coach at the collegiate level in 1994.

Also a proven recruiter, Lee produced four Top 50 recruiting classes in his last five seasons at Furman, including the nation's 12th-ranked signing class in 2002. That tradition continued with his arrival at LSU as he landed the program's first ever Top 50 recruiting class in the spring of 2005. Lee followed that effort by signing the top-ranked class in the SEC and the seventh-ranked class in the NCAA in 2006, as well as the No. 1 class among SEC West teams for the second-straight season. It marked LSU's first Top 10 recruiting class in program history.

And the future remains bright for years to come as Lee recruited yet another Top 10 class in the country with the Class of 2010. The Tigers are set to welcome five TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 players in the country to campus in the fall, as well as four of the Top 15 prep players in the state of Texas, and the No. 1 recruit from Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana.

Lee's athletes have proven to be just as successful in the classroom as his teams have earned five NSCAA Team Academic Awards. A total of 122 student-athletes were selected to the Southern Conference Academic Honor Roll in his 11 years at Furman, while 49 Tigers have been named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll over the last five years.

For his many accomplishments, Lee was named the Southern Conference Coach of the Year five times and was named the NSCAA and Soccer Buzz Southeast Region Coach of the Year in 1999, the same year in which he was selected as a finalist for the NSCAA National Coach of the Year Award.

COACH LEE ON HENSLEY:

"We certainly would not enjoy the kind of success we do now without the leadership that Debbie brings to this coaching staff. She is an outstanding leader of young women, and she has helped us attract many of the best players in the country to LSU with her tremendous recruiting ability. Her passion for the sport is unmatched by anyone I've ever worked with."

There is no doubt that in order for a program to take the next step and compete for championships year in and year out, it must have an outstanding coaching staff in place to guide the way. In five seasons as a member of Brian Lee's staff at LSU, Debbie Hensley has more than proven herself as one of the top assistant coaches in the country in leading the Tigers to national prominence as one of the premier programs in the Southeastern Conference.

It is for that reason that Hensley was promoted to the rank of associate head coach before the start of the 2008 campaign as she now enters her sixth season at LSU.

Adding Hensley to his staff was an easy decision for Lee when he took the head coaching job in December 2004 as the two coached together at Furman for three years.

"We certainly would not enjoy the kind of success we do now without the leadership that Debbie brings to this coaching staff," Lee said. "She is an outstanding leader of young women, and she has helped us attract many of the best players in the country to LSU with her tremendous recruiting ability. Her passion for the sport is unmatched by anyone I've ever worked with."

That passion has certainly paid dividends on the field as Hensley has helped build LSU into the championship program it is today. The Tigers enter the 2010 season as the three-time defending SEC Western Division champions after making consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament in 2007, 2008 and 2009. The Tigers are coming off a record-breaking 2009 season in which they finished in second place in the final SEC standings for the second year in a row, while matching a school record for wins with a 15-4-5 overall record and establishing a new school record with an 8-2-1 mark and 25 points in conference play.

Hensley has been a driving force in that success as she has established a reputation as one of the nation's top recruiters attracting many of the best players in the country to Baton Rouge.

She led the way in LSU signing its first ever Top 25 recruiting class in 2005 as the Tigers were ranked No. 25 on the recruiting trail that year. Hensley followed that effort in 2006 by helping Lee to sign the first Top 10 recruiting class in the history of the LSU soccer program with a crop of future stars ranked No. 7 nationally in the Soccer Buzz Magazine recruiting rankings.

The Class of 2006 is the most decorated class in the history of the LSU soccer program as it completed its eligibility a season ago with a class record of 50 wins in four seasons from 2006-09. The group captured three SEC West titles, earned three NCAA Tournament selections, placed No. 2 in the final SEC standings twice and combined for 10 All-America and 12 All-SEC picks in four seasons in Baton Rouge.

And the future of the program remains bright for years to come as the Tigers welcome yet another Top 10 recruiting class to campus in the fall. Hensley helped recruit a 10-member Class of 2010 that includes five TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 players in the country, four of the Top 15 players in Texas, and the No. 1-ranked recruit from Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana.

"There's no doubt that recruiting is the lifeblood of any program at this level, and we are certainly fortunate to have someone like Debbie leading our recruiting efforts," Lee said. "She is an outstanding evaluator of talent and has the ability to target the players we feel can thrive in our program both on and off the field. That's been a key in building the foundation we have now."

Hensley compiled a 60-52-9 record in six years at Western Carolina after starting the program from scratch prior to the 1999 season. She led the Catamounts to a 10-9-1 record and a Southern Conference Tournament appearance in her inaugural season and was named the SoCon Coach of the Year in 2001 after guiding the team to the Southern Conference regular season title with a 16-6 overall record and 8-2 league mark.

Hensley coached seven players to 11 All-Southern Conference honors in her time at Western Carolina, a total that includes three first-team selections. In addition to her duties as head coach of the program, Hensley also served as university's Assistant Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator.

Prior to her stint at WCU, Hensley spent three seasons as an assistant coach under Lee at Furman where she recruited eight players who earned all-conference accolades in their careers. Along with her coaching achievements, Hensley garnered recognition during her athletic career as a soccer and softball standout at Georgia Southern where she was a three-time first-team All-SoCon selection and led the conference in scoring as both a junior and a senior.

Hensley was selected to play in the Umbro Select College All-Star Classic after being named an NSCAA Regional All-American and All-Region honoree in 1995, and she was named the Georgia Female College Athlete of the Year by the Georgia Hall of Fame the same year.

The two-sport standout was also a first-team all-conference selection in softball as she set the Georgia Southern career record for stolen bases and runs scored. She graduated with a bachelor's degree in education from Georgia Southern in 1996 and a master's degree in health and exercise science from Furman in 1998.

With just over a month remaining before the start of the 2010 regular season, head coach Brian Lee hit a "home run" on July 19 when he announced the hiring of former College of Charleston women's soccer head coach Kevin Dempsey to complete the Tigers' coaching staff this fall.

Dempsey joins the LSU program following an outstanding nine-year stint as the head coach at the College of Charleston, where he led the Cougars to an 86-70-22 overall record and a 54-32-8 mark in Southern Conference play since 2001. That includes an overall record of 24-12-6 in his final two seasons.

He will team with Lee and associate head coach Debbie Hensley to form the core of an outstanding coaching staff with a combined 31 years of head coaching experience at the NCAA Division I level. Lee has been a head coach at the NCAA Division I level for the past 16 seasons, while Hensley was the head coach at Western Carolina for six seasons before joining the LSU staff.

"I'm really appreciative to Brian for the opportunity to join the staff at LSU. He and Debbie have done an amazing job of transforming LSU into one of the elite programs in the country, and I just want to come in and help them continue in that tradition and win a SEC championship," Dempsey said.

"We had a fantastic nine years at CofC. It's never easy to leave a place that you love. We appreciate all of the support we've received over the years, from our fans and players to our staff and administration. The program is in a much better position today than when we arrived nine years ago. I'm very proud of that."

The Cougars flourished in nine seasons under Dempsey's direction as they reached the postseason in each with nine appearances in the SoCon Tournament, including runner-up finishes in 2002 and 2009. The side earned 28 All-SoCon and All-SoCon Tournament selections under Dempsey.

The Cougars were also outstanding in the classroom during Dempsey's tenure while winning the NSCAA Team Academic Award in each of his nine seasons while posting a team GPA of 3.0 or higher. In addition, six Cougars were named NSCAA All-Region Scholar Athletes in his final two seasons at the College of Charleston, demonstrating his commitment to success both on and off the pitch.

"We are excited to add a coach with the quality and experience Kevin brings with him to LSU," Lee said. "I am certain he will have a positive impact on our team and this community. I approach the staff just like the team with a goal to go out and recruit the best. I think this is a home run hire for our program. With Kevin joining Debbie (Hensley) and the rest of our staff, we've assembled a staff that will continue to recruit and develop some of the best players and people in all of college soccer."

Dempsey boasts 16 years of head coaching experience at the collegiate level during which he compiled an overall record of 166-116-29 since 1994. Prior to his appointment at the College of Charleston, Dempsey served as the head coach of the women's program at Catawba College of NCAA Division II for seven seasons from 1994-2000 while compiling an overall record of 80-46-7, including a 34-13-3 mark in the South Atlantic Conference.

After helping the Indians win South Atlantic Conference regular season and tournament titles as an assistant coach in 1993, the team captured four SAC Tournament titles in his seven seasons as a head coach in 1994, 1997, 1998 and 1999. He also led Catawba College to the NCAA Division II Southeast Region Championship in 1997 before earning its place in the national quarterfinals of the NCAA Division II Women's Soccer Tournament that same year.

In all, Dempsey coached 10 NCAA Division II All-Americans, 17 All-South Region selections, four SAC Players of the Year and four SAC Freshmen of the Year during his seven-year tenure while the head coach at Catawba College.

In addition to his experience as a head coach at the collegiate level, Dempsey also served as head coach of the Under-15 Region III Olympic Development Program Team for seven years from 2003-09.

Dempsey graduated from Catawba College in 1993 with a bachelor's degree in history. He and his wife, Krista, have a 5-year-old son named Jack.

SEASON REVIEW

Three-Peat! Tigers Capture Third-Straight SEC West Crown

After being tabbed as the SEC West favorite in the preseason polls released by the Southeastern Conference, the Tigers certainly lived up to the hype and asserted their dominance with their performance in 2009 by capturing their third-straight SEC Western Division championship. LSU finished two points ahead of the Ole Miss Rebels in the division standings while compiling a school record 8-2-1 mark and 25 points in conference play. For the third-straight year, the Tigers clinched the division crown with a win over the Arkansas Razorbacks in their regular-season finale. Senior Malorie Rutledge solidified her claim as the SEC Offensive Player of the Year as she accounted for all four goals in LSU's 4-1 win over the Razorbacks, scoring one goal and assisting with three. LSU has been a force for the SEC West in recent years as it boasts an impressive 15-2-3 mark against division opponents over the past three seasons.

Tigers Finish One Point Shy of First SEC Championship

Not only did the Tigers capture their third-straight SEC West crown during the 2009 season, but they also finished runner-up in the overall SEC standings for the second year in a row while matching the school record for wins with a 15-4-5 overall record and setting a new school record with an 8-2-1 mark and 25 points in conference play. And the Tigers just missed claiming their first overall SEC title as they finished only one point behind the Florida Gators on the league table. Florida captured its fourth-straight league crown on the strength of an 8-1-2 mark with 26 points in league play. With its performance, LSU kicked off the postseason with a No. 2 seed in the SEC Tournament for the second year in a row and earned an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament for the third year in a row.

Lee Guides Tigers to Unprecedented Heights in SEC Standings

In five seasons under head coach Brian Lee, the Tigers have enjoyed unprecedented success in SEC play as they continued their climb to the top of the league standings in 2009. After finishing dead last in 12th place in the SEC standings in the two seasons prior to Lee's arrival in Baton Rouge, LSU has seen steady progress while following eighth-place finishes in 2005 and 2006 with a fourth-place finish in 2007 and back-to-back second-place finishes on the league table in 2008 and 2009. LSU's record of 27-18-10 in SEC play for the last five seasons under Lee includes a 20-9-6 mark during its three-year reign as the SEC West champion.

LSU Advances to SEC Tournament Final for First Time in Program History

After traveling to the SEC Tournament in Orange Beach, Ala., with a No. 2 seed on their side, the Tigers made even more history with a berth into the SEC Tournament final for the first time in eight trips all-time to the conference tournament. LSU opened with an easy 4-2 win over No. 7-seeded Vanderbilt in the first round before earning a spot in the final with a 1-0 shutout of No. 6-seeded Auburn in the semifinal round. Despite playing South Carolina to a 1-1 draw in regulation, the Tigers finished runner-up to the Gamecocks for an SEC Tournament championship after dropping an 8-7 decision in penalty kicks.

Tigers Earn No. 4 National Seed in NCAA Tournament, Host Regional

The Tigers have catapulted themselves into the national spotlight with three-straight appearances in the NCAA Tournament, and the 2009 season proved to be unlike any other as they earned a No. 4 national seed from the NCAA Selection Committee and were chosen as one of 16 regional hosts for the first time in program history. While playing on its home turf at the LSU Soccer Complex, the team advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament for the second time in three years following a 7-0 victory over Arkansas-Pine Bluff in the opening match. LSU then played Texas A&M to a 1-1 draw in regulation before falling, 4-2, in penalty kicks. The Aggies then advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 from the Baton Rouge Regional. LSU wrapped up a record-setting season with a 15-4-5 overall record and a school record 8-2-1 mark with 25 points in SEC play.

LSU Soccer Ranked in Final Top 15 for Second-Straight Season

For the second year in a row, LSU wrapped up the season ranked among the Top 15 teams in the country in the national rankings with a No. 14 selection from the National Soccer Coaches Association of America in its final poll released on Dec. 10. It marked the first time in program history for the Tigers to finish the season ranked in the NSCAA/adidas Top 25. It also marked the second-consecutive season in which LSU finished ranked No. 14 to end the year after picking up at No. 14 national ranking in the Soccer America Top 25 at the end of the 2008 season. The team climbed as high as No. 10 in the polls in 2009 where it stood in the Soccer Times Top 25 on Oct. 6 and in the NSCAA/adidas Top 25 on Nov. 10. LSU has been a staple in the Top 20 over the past three seasons with a ranking in 20 weeks during that span.

Tigers Defeat Two Top 10 Ranked Opponents in 2009

The Tigers have certainly shown the ability to compete against anyone in the country under head coach Brian Lee, and that fact was never more evident than in 2009 when LSU posted a 2-2-2 record against nationally-ranked opponents. The Tigers played perhaps the most complete game of the season in their SEC opener against No. 8-ranked Georgia as they dominated the Bulldogs to the tune of an impressive 6-0 shutout. It marked LSU's second victory all-time against an opponent ranked among the nation's Top 10 and its second highest margin of victory against an SEC opponent in program history. The Tigers didn't stop there as they also defeated No. 10 South Carolina, 1-0, at the LSU Soccer Complex in a nationally-televised broadcast on ESPN.

Rutledge Named Consensus All-American for Second Time

During her four-year career at LSU, Malorie Rutledge established herself as one of the premier attacking players in all of women's college soccer while earning All-America honors during her sophomore, junior and senior seasons. In fact, the Sharpsburg, Ga., native was a consensus All-American in each of her last two seasons in Baton Rouge, including being named a TopDrawerSoccer.com First-Team All-American and an NSCAA/adidas Third-Team All-American in 2009. Rutledge wrapped up her career as the most decorated Tiger to ever step onto the soccer pitch and the greatest player to wear the LSU uniform.

Rutledge Repeats as SEC Offensive Player of the Year

With her All-America performance in 2009, the SEC's 12 head coaches honored Rutledge as the SEC Offensive Player of the Year for the second-straight season as she wrapped up her career as one of the league's all-time great offensive talents. Rutledge wrapped up the season as the SEC's leading scorer in four different offensive categories with 13 goals, 12 assists, 38 points and six game-winning goals. In fact, her 13 goals, 38 points and six game-winning goals were new career highs for a single season. She was also impressive in SEC play with nine goals and 11 assists for 29 points as the league's leading point scorer in conference matches. Rutledge is LSU's only student-athlete to earn three first-team All-SEC honors during her collegiate career.

Rutledge Rewrites LSU Record Books in Brilliant Career

Not only is Rutledge the most decorated soccer player in the history of the LSU program, but she helped to rewrite the record books in four seasons with the Tigers as the school's all-time leading scorer. She wrapped up her career as LSU's all-time career leader with 46 assists and 102 points, while she finished fourth on the school's all-time list with 28 career goals. She also ranks No. 2 on the SEC's all-time list with 46 career assists. In addition, Rutledge started more games than any player in LSU soccer history while starting all 88 games in which she played from 2006-09. There is no denying her place in history as the greatest Tiger to wear the LSU uniform.

Four Tigers Join Rutledge on All-SEC Team for 2009 Season

Rutledge was not the only Tiger to be honored by the Southeastern Conference for her performance a year ago as striker Carlie Banks, midfielders Alysha Chapman and Melissa Clarke, and defender Chelsea Potts were part of a school record five selections to the All-SEC team. Potts joined Rutledge as a first-team All-SEC selection as she wrapped up her career as a three-time all-conference honoree at LSU. Chapman and Clarke each earned second-team honors, while Banks was named a member of the SEC All-Freshman Team. Like Potts, Clarke earned three All-SEC selections during her collegiate career as one of the premier attacking midfielders in the SEC.

Rutledge, Clarke Selected in 2010 WPS Draft

Seniors Malorie Rutledge and Melissa Clarke capitalized on an outstanding 2009 season by being selected in the Top 30 picks of the 2010 Women's Professional Soccer Draft held in Philadelphia on Jan. 15 in conjunction with the 2010 NSCAA Annual Convention. Rutledge became the first ever draft selection by the expansion Philadelphia Independence as the 13th overall pick and the second pick of the second round. With her selection, Rutledge became the highest draft pick for the Southeastern Conference in the brief two-year history of the WPS. Clarke followed Rutledge as the 29th overall selection and the ninth pick of the third round by the Sky Blue FC of New York. Each was a three-time All-SEC selection in during their tenure at LSU.

Yepez Named Soccer America National Player of the Week

In four seasons with the Tigers, Rachel Yepez earned a reputation as one of the SEC's most prolific strikers while finishing her tenure among the all-time scoring leaders at LSU. But it was her performance in decisive wins against Georgia and Tennessee on the opening weekend of SEC play that earned her national recognition as she was named the Soccer America Women's National Player of the Week on Sept. 28. Yepez scored one goal and dished out two assists in LSU's historic 6-0 victory over the No. 8-ranked Bulldogs, and also scored two goals in another dominating 5-1 win over the Lady Volunteers. She became the third Tiger all-time to have the Soccer America Women's National Player of the Week honor, joining Michelle Makasini (Oct. 9, 2007) and Mo Isom (Sept. 2, 2008).

Potts Named an NSCAA Academic All-American in 2009

Senior Chelsea Potts was not only recognized as one of the nation's premier center backs with a first-team All-SEC selection in 2009, but she was also honored for her outstanding performance in the classroom with an Academic All-America selection from the NSCAA following the season. Potts was named a member of the NSCAA/adidas Women's College Scholar All-America Third Team while she posted a 3.39 cumulative grade-point average in business. Potts became LSU's fourth Academic All-America selection and the first to be honored since former Tiger Chelsea Agar was an ESPN Academic All-America following the 2004 campaign.

Tigers Ink Top-10 Signing Class for Recruiting Season

While LSU will be without the services of eight departed seniors from the most successful recruiting class in program history, the future appears bright for years to come as head coach Brian Lee signed one of the nation's Top 10 signing classes in February that was highlighted by five TopDrawerSoccer.com Top 100 recruits in the country for the Class of 2010. This fall, the Tigers have welcomed the likes of freshmen Addie Eggleston of Houston, Texas (33), Kaley Blades of Largo, Fla. A record-setting season for the LSU soccer team came to an end in the second round of the NCAA Tournament on Nov. 15 as the Tigers dropped a 4-2 decision to Texas A&M in a penalty kick shootout after battling the Aggies to a 1-1 draw in 110 minutes of action. It marked the first meeting for the Tigers and Aggies on the soccer pitch with Texas A&M advancing to face No. 1 national seed Florida State in the NCAA Sweet 16 the following weekend.

After defender Emily Peterson gave the Aggies a 1-0 lead in the 66th minute of play, All-America striker Malorie Rutledge drew a penalty just two minutes later after being fouled in the box and Melissa Clarke converted from the spot to draw LSU level in the match. The sides were unable to break the 1-1 tie after playing two 10-minute overtime periods.

The Aggies then advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 with a 4-2 win in the ensuing penalty shootout as Peterson, Rachel Shipley, Mary Grace Schmidt and Cydne Currie converted for Texas A&M. While Taryne Boudreau and Brittany Lowe converted PKs for LSU, the Tigers came up short in the final tally as both Rutledge and Clarke failed to score their opportunities in the shootout.

THE HERMANN TROPHY

MALORIE RUTLEDGE

08 HERMANN TROPHY CANDIDATE 09

- 3-time All-American
- 2-time SEC Offensive Player of the Year
- 3-time First-Team All-SEC Selection
- 3-time NSCAA/adidas All-Region Selection
- U-23 U.S. Women's National Team Player Pool
- 2010 WPS Draft (13th Overall Pick by Philadelphia Independence)

Each year, the Heisman Trophy Trust presents the famed Heisman Trophy to the most outstanding college football player in the country. In the sport of college soccer, athletes from across the country compete each season for the right to raise the Hermann Trophy as the premier soccer player in the NCAA as presented by the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

Considered the highest honor in intercollegiate soccer, the recipient of the Hermann Trophy is selected each year by Division I head coaches who are certified members of the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. After releasing the Hermann Trophy Watch List each preseason, the field is then cut to 15 semifinalists in November before three finalists are named prior to the NCAA Women's College Cup in early December.

The LSU soccer program has been represented on the Hermann Trophy Watch List in each of the last two seasons as former Tiger All-American Malorie Rutledge was recognized as one of the top players in the country by the Missouri Athletic Club. While Rutledge never made the cut as one of the award's 15 semifinalists, she certainly earned a reputation as being one of the elite talents in all of college soccer with a brilliant four-year career from 2006-09.
