HISTORY

Louisiana State University and Agricultural & Mechanical College

has, throughout its 144-year history, served the people of Louisiana, the region, the nation, and the world. LSU is creating a revolution, one of pervasive change and advancement. For the past five years, the focus of the LSU community has been an increased commitment to excellence. Our progress has been dramatic and shows no sign of stopping.

Having witnessed many of yesterday's possibilities become today's tangible realities, the LSU community set forth to capitalize on its success. The goal was to improve our standing as a nationally competitive flagship university. Following intense discussions among the LSU Board of Supervisors, campus administrators, faculty, and student leaders, the objectives required to reach this status crystallized, providing the impetus for LSU's National Flagship Agenda.

HISTORY

"Not only was LSU the easiest choice but it was the best choice for me. Everything from basketball to academics has been a perfect fit. I couldn't imagine being anywhere else other than LSU. It was everything I hoped for and more."

Seimone Augustus

Forward (2002-2006)
2005 and 2006 NCAA National
Player of the Year
First pick of 2006 WNBA Draft

"As far back as I can remember (riding bicycles, playing little league baseball), I have literally bled purple and gold. It never crossed my mind that there was anywhere else to go other than LSU. The experiences and relationships that I developed at LSU have been an integral part of my life. No other colleges existed in my mind. I am fortunate to have attended a place that I considered a dream and look forward to my association with the University until the day I die."

David Toms

2001 PGA Champion
and LSU Graduate

"I chose LSU because it has a rich tradition and an excellent fan base. The fans are great and LSU is just a great place to go. LSU is a school with great academics and athletics as well as state of the art facilities."

Artie Brown

Forward (2001-2004)
LSU Soccer career points and goals
record holder

"I was basically an in-state guy and had always thought about going to LSU for football and to get a good education. I made a lot of visits to different schools in my selection process, but everything always pointed toward LSU. My heart and my family guided me in that direction not just for the athletics, but for the academics as well. From top to bottom LSU has good people from the coaches on down the line."

Bradie James

Linebacker (1999-2002)
Dallas Cowboys member

AFRICAN-AMERICAN CULTURAL CENTER

The African-American Cultural Center provides a multifaceted approach to working with all students at LSU. It offers opportunities for people to learn about the contributions of African-American men and women in the areas of literature, science and the humanities. In addition, opportunities for the University community to have greater exposure to art exhibits, dance troupes, theatre, poetry readings and educational programs are provided.

Program Goals

Educational programs for the African-American Cultural Center are the heart of the center. The scope of these programs fall into the following four categories:

- ▶ historical/political
- ▶ artistic
- ▶ informal student advising
- ▶ community outreach

Benefits

By creating and funding the African-American Cultural Center, the University community benefits in the following areas:

- ▶ retention of African-American LSU students
- ▶ attract qualified African-American student applicants to LSU
- ▶ educate the student body and the community about African-American culture
- ▶ increase racial and cultural awareness of students, faculty and staff
- ▶ assist with the recruitment and retention of African-American faculty and staff

The Community Service aspect does not only serve to enhance a student-athletes collegiate experience, but also serves to expand character. Players not only gain a strong sense of self-worth, but also experiences personal satisfaction and growth from volunteering and community service activities. More importantly are the benefits that the community receives. It enables the community to gain an enormous advantage in feeling that they have a "partnership" with LSU student-athletes.

LSU student-athletes participate in a variety of community service projects including reading in schools, nursing home visits, hospital pediatric ward visits, speaking engagements and more in East Baton Rouge Parish.

LSU's student-athletes served a vital role in the attempt to get the Gulf Coast on its feet after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Many of the soccer players gave time, energy and material things to those who suffered losses from the devastating storms.

LIFE OF REILLY

LSU to the Rescue

by Rick Reilly

It was on his mind — the match game the Saturday night against Arizona State and the 20 displaced people in his three-bedroom apartment. The guy sleeping on his couch? Penn Dominici. Dominici, the 6-foot-6-inch, 200-pound defensive end, had been missing for two days, in the makeshift of Reilly's girlfriend, Chanel Broussard. About the house, Reilly said, "I was in the kitchen, and I was trapped on the second floor of his house. He was rescued by boat and taken to the medical hospital at the Maravich Center. He will be hospitalized for a while, but he's not in any danger. He will be hospitalized for a while, but he's not in any danger. He will be hospitalized for a while, but he's not in any danger."

LSU athletes were — helped out Dominici and took care of him in his apartment. "I've been staying at my dad's house, getting medical and stuff," a happy-eyed Reilly said. "I'm a coach's son and after what I saw [at the Maravich Center] —

"It is so weird about losing the big game? 'What's losing a game?' he said, "when people are losing their kids, their parents, their homes? "

Just ask Reilly's teammates, defensive end Donald Harris. As for the still-living Reilly from his parents, who live in the Maravich Center, Reilly said, "I'm not in any danger. I'm not in any danger. I'm not in any danger."

The Maravich Center was a two-hooped hospital. The field house was a patient ward. Katrina chaos was everywhere.

The LSU sports information office, under assistant Bill Martin couldn't sleep after not receiving at the Maravich Center, so he decided to urge his friends to help out by e-mailing them about what he'd seen.

BlackBerry laptops were scarce in a place where there wasn't an on-call phone. Reilly called in from New Orleans. ... A lady did not have a BlackBerry and we wanted to help her out. ... A man from New Orleans was badly injured on his hand. Five minutes later he was dead. ... A man was badly injured on his hand. Five minutes later he was dead. ... A man was badly injured on his hand. Five minutes later he was dead. ...

Everybody in the athletic department was in this deep. During the morning, the football coach's trainee, Jack Maravich, brought a plane from the bay to get the equipment out. I have all the things, including Katrina, but I don't know what to do. ... I'm not in any danger. I'm not in any danger. I'm not in any danger."

Hurricane Relief

Many of the soccer players volunteered their time as the Maravich Center, was activated as Medical Triage Unit in the days after Hurricane Katrina hit the coast.

In the Community

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program was developed by the NCAA to help prepare student-athletes for the challenges of life beyond the playing field. Through workshops, service projects, and social events, CHAMPS, an acronym for Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success, brings LSU student-athletes information that will prepare them for the biggest game of all - the game of life!

How Can CHAMPS Help?

By focusing on "real life" skills and personal development, the CHAMPS Program not only assists the student-athletes with meeting daily challenges, but also enhances student-athlete's growth in their college years and beyond.

CHAMPS at LSU

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program at LSU is operated out of the Academic Center for Athletes, and the focus of the program is on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth.

CRITICAL TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN ATHLETE

as a student is an adequate academic facility and capable staff to further the athlete's progress. The Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes is responsible for overseeing the educational development and progress toward graduation for all student-athletes. The staff acts as a liaison between the student-athlete and the academic communities and insures that student-athletes comply with academic rules established by the University, NCAA and Southeastern Conference. The staff also coordinates academic programs designed to assist student-athletes in acquiring a quality education.

Paramount to the success of the “student” half of the term student-athlete is providing LSU athletes with the best possible resources to excel in the classroom. For more than 20 years, the LSU Academic Center for Student-Athletes has helped to build well-rounded student-athletes. But as times change and technology advances, the need for further improvements still exists. As a result, the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes opened its doors in November of 2002. A $15 million renovation to the Gym Armory not only made it among the nation’s premier centers, but put it at the forefront. Improvements to the existing center give LSU student-athletes the best opportunity for success by providing access to the latest technology, as well as an array of expanded services.

Computer Stations

Throughout the Academic Center are 75 computer stations, providing student-athletes with a quiet working environment for research, writing and studying.

Bo Campbell Auditorium

The 1,000-seat auditorium is used through the year as a classroom and lecture hall. Each seat in the auditorium has space for a laptop and a modem hookup, providing each student unlimited learning opportunities. The auditorium also contains a movie theatre size screen to aid professors with lectures and classroom activities.

The Library

The library provides a perfect setting for individual study, or with a tutor as a group.

Study Area

Included in the 54,000 square feet of the Academic Center are individual study areas as well as 14 private computer rooms for student-athletes to work one-on-one with tutors or by themselves.

COMMUNICATIONS LAB

Along with the success of the LSU Soccer team, comes a great deal of media attention and Dr. Tommy Karam, the Director of the Communications Lab, uses his lab, located on the fourth floor of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes, to work with LSU student-athletes on their interactions with the media and interview skills. Karam's lab is a mock press conference setting to get the student-athletes used to handling themselves in front of both print and electronic media. He video tapes the mock interview session and reviews it with the student-athlete to help them become more comfortable in an interview setting. Karam also helps the LSU Football players get prepared for the NFL Combine by working closely with those players on the interview process.

Lights, Camera, Answer

Dr. Karam uses his studio to prepare LSU's student-athletes to interact with all phases of local and national media by working one-on-one in a press conference setting. The Communications Lab includes a working camera for Karam to review the session with the student-athletes.

MAINTAINING LSU'S COMMITMENT TO PROVIDING THE FINEST ATHLETIC FACILITIES IN THE NATION, the Tigers will begin their 11th season at the LSU Soccer Complex - a field that was christened on Sept. 13, 1996, when the Tigers hosted Southeastern Conference rival Tennessee.

The LSU Soccer Complex, located just a half mile from the Mississippi River, provides seating for 1,500 spectators. The Tigers set the single-game attendance record last year when 1,689 fans witnessed the team play Ole Miss on Sept. 30 in its annual Cram the Complex campaign.

In addition, the stadium features a modern sound system and rows of hedges that were planted last year. The Complex has served as the host site of four prestigious tournaments in recent years and was most recently the site of the 2001 SEC Tournament. It also played host to an MLS game between the Chicago Fire and Colorado Rapids in 2003.
