Hanahan, S.C.-Sept. 9-11, 2007
Yeamans Hall-Par 72

Youth led the way for the Lady Tigers in its first tournament of the year. Freshmen Megan McChrystal, Amalie Valle and Nicole Crochet helped guide LSU to the first round lead after the team's two-under 286. After holding the overnight lead, however, the Lady Tigers found themselves falling to fifth place after the second round, making way for Tennessee to overtake the lead. LSU finished the tournament in fifth in the 20-team field after a final round 10-over 298. Megan McChrystal led the Lady Tigers in her first collegiate event with a two-over 218, tying her for 12th.

A young lineup headed to Nashville to play in Vanderbilt's annual event and it proved to be a learning experience for the Lady Tigers. Freshman Lindy LaBauve led the Lady Tigers with her three-under 69 in her first collegiate round, helping to land the team in 12th place after one round. The Lady Tigers stumbled a little on the second day posting a 20-over 308 and fell to 14th. LSU finished with event with a 306, good enough to land them in 16th place. Amalie Valle finished low among the Lady Tigers with a 223 total (73-76-74).

After coming in eighth at last year's event, LSU looked to defend its home turf at its annual tournament. The Lady Tigers had a strong showing, never dropping out of the top three, but came up just short of a victory. Florida State led wire-to-wire and also took the top individual honors when Caroline Westrup shot rounds of 73-68-67 to win by four. Senior Rebecca Kuhn led the way for the Lady Tigers finishing third, her second top five in the LSU event.

UNM Championship Golf Course-Par 72

Rebecca Kuhn and Alexis Rather headed to Albuquerque to compete in their last event as an LSU Tiger and it was an event they will not soon forget. The team had to battle high winds, rain, hail, and the cold during the course of the event. After posting a round of 300 in round one, LSU played only a few holes on day two before play was stopped because of high winds. The rest of round two and round three were played the next day, causing LSU's last player to tee off to play thirty-five holes in one day. Conditions were slightly better the last day where the Lady Tigers produced their best score of the event in 295. The score was the sixth best score of the day and moved the team up to 15th place in the 24-team field.

The Southeastern Conference has continued to show its leadership in the intergration of athletic competition and higher education.

Since its formation in 1933, the SEC has achieved both stature and stability by designating governing/voting power to the presidents of the member institutions. They have determined the policies of the conference and through the years this involvement has been the principal source of strength in the evolution of the SEC.

Intercollegiate athletics encountered many challenges in the 1990s and the SEC provided guidance. In 1993, the member institutions adopted The Principles of Gender Equity. Committed to increasing the quantity and quality of women's athletic opportunities, each school provides at least two more women's intercollegiate programs than the number of men's.

SEC schools began athletic competition over 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized as the Southeastern Conference at the annual Southern Conference meeting in 1932. Charter members of the new conference were Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt.

In the 1979-80 academic year, SEC championships for women were recognized in basketball, tennis and volleyball. The following year golf, gymnastics, swimming and track and field were added. The administration of women's athletics officially came under the auspices of the conference office in 1984.

The SEC currently regulates nine men's sports and 11 women's sports. The women's sports are volleyball, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track (cross country, indoor, outdoor) and volleyball.

2008 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

The nationally-ranked Lady Tigers finished their 2008 season right where they wanted to at the NCAA Division I Women's Golf Championships in Albuquerque, N.M.

CHIP IN CLUB

Fans and supporters of the LSU golf programs can take part in supporting a first-class NCAA program by joining the Chip-In-Club. Monies generated through the membership will be utilized to enhance the experience of our golf student-athletes. A portion of donations may be tax deductible.

There are several donation levels from the Par membership at $100 through the David Toms Club at $2,000 with rewards and recognition at every level. Contributions to the Chip-In-Club, including membership fees, are considered in the calculation of priority points by the Tiger Athletic Foundation. Individuals making qualifying contributions will receive 1 TAF priority point per every $1,000 contributed to the Chip-In-Club.

For more information or to receive an application form, contact:

TAF/LSU Golf
P. O. Box 711
Baton Rouge, LA 70821.

The Lady Tigers made the tournament for the second time in three seasons and for the ninth time in school history, the eighth with Coach Karen Bahnsen at the helm. Despite some wide variance in weather conditions that delayed play at time, the Lady Tigers finished on a high note with their best round of the event that moved them up to a 15th place finish.

LSU advanced to the Championships from the NCAA Central Regionals in Austin, Texas. Needing to be in the top eighth, LSU finished in a tie with Florida State for the eighth and final spot, forcing a playoff.

In the playoff, senior Alexis Rather chipped in from off the green to get the only birdie of the playoff to advance the Lady Tigers to the national championship event.

LSU made its first NCAA Championships appearance in the first NCAA championships in 1982 in Palo Alto, Calif., when LSU finished 16th.

The Lady Tigers would return in 1986 when LSU, led by Player of the Year Jenny Lidback helped the Tigers to a ninth-place finish in the national event. Lidback finished tied for 17th.

The Tigers made its longest championship run starting in 1986, when the Three Amigas (Ashley Winn, Laura Moore and Michelle Louviere) took the Lady Tigers to top 10-finishes in 1996 (8th) and 1998 (5th). Louviere finished tied for 19th in 1986 and Ashley Winn tied for 15th.

The Tigers posted 10th-place finishes in 1999 and 2000 and a 12th place finish in 2001 on teams led by Katy Harris and Meredith Duncan. Duncan played the last 54 holes in two under par after opening with a 10-over 82 to finish in a tie for seventh place in 2000 and Harris shot a one-under 287 to finish in a tie for third in LSU's appearance in 2001.

Harris and Kristi Coats, who competed as an individual competitor in 1991, have the best finishes in the championships for LSU, both finishing third in the individual competition. The only other top-10 finish for an individual golfer came in 2005 when Brooke Shelton posted a tie for eighth-place finish.

Harris and Duncan are the two players who went to the championships all four years of their careers. Harris made it on four teams from 1998 to 2001, while Duncan qualified on three teams and once individually from 1999-2002.

Since 1993, to get to the NCAA Division I Championships, teams and individuals must go through the NCAA Regional Tournaments. LSU hosted one of the regional events in the inaugural year of regional tournaments in 1993 and in 2007 hosted the regional for the third time (1993, 2002, 2007).

A total of 63 teams and nine individuals will be selected and divided up into the three regional qualifying events. The top-eight teams and two individuals who are not part of the top-eight teams will advance to the national championships scheduled for Owings Mills, Md., in May 2009.

LSU has advanced to the regional round of NCAA post-season play since that first tournament in 1993 every year but 1994 and 2003.

It was the fall of 179 and LSU was adding a new sport to its already impressive roster. A women's golf team was set to begin play and there were dreams. Dreams of competing at the highest level of women's championship golf. Now, as the program enters its 30th season of competition, those dreams are reality on a yearly basis.

The LSU women's golf team is always mentioned when the elite of the sport are discussed. The Tigers are back in the national picture after advancing to the NCAA Division I National Championship tournament two of the last three years.

But in a program of this magnitude there are roads to travel to be the best. Here are a few of the journeys:

HISTORY of LSU Women's Golf

The First Recruit

Her name was Karen Mayson from Mobile. The media folder said, "Works very hard on game and even practices in the rain, which is one of the reasons she is a success."

She was part of a young LSU team that had to face more established teams right away. "In that first year, I remember like it was yesterday, getting in that van. We had five girls and our coach and drove 18-hours straight to Chapel Hill, N.C. We had team golf bags, but we went up to the student union and bought our own uniforms because we wanted to match. We finished middle of the field in some of the first tournaments we played in and maybe a little higher. It's just come so far..."

The First Team Win

It took 17 tournaments and two and a half years, but the Lady Tigers finally tasted victory in the Eagle Scoremaster event in Memphis, Tenn., in 1982. It was a momentous occasions for the team, one that wouldn't be felt again for almost three years, but would things change in a hurry.

The Transfer

The addition in 1985 of transfer Jenny Lidback in her senior season, just turned the program up a few notches. Lidback became the number one player in the country, winning seven tournaments. LSU won a school record five events that year and advanced to the NCAA Division I Championships in 1986, where LSU finished ninth.

The First Coach

Mary Rehling certainly had the background to qualify her to be the first head coach of the Lady Tigers. One just had to look at her father, Conrad Rehling, who spent years as the golf coach at Florida and then at the University of Alabama.

Rehling was a fine golfer in her own right, growing up in Tuscaloosa and playing golf at the University of Alabama. If anyone had the knowledge on how to start a program, it was the 23-year-old Rehling.

That first year, while serving as a graduate assistant, she led a fledgling squad of six freshmen and one transfer. Her top four players averaged 81 or better competitively and one qualified for the AIAW Regionals. Rehling was named to the full-time head coaching post in July of 1980.

Coaching Changes

For the 1982-83 season, Buddy Alexander took charge of both the men's and women's program at LSU. Karen Mayson played her final season at LSU under Alexander. "He was coaching both the men and the women. That poor man would get out of the van with one group and jump in the van and go with the other. I felt so sorry for him, but he did a great job. I learned so much from him on how to do things."

Obviously, Buddy felt there was something special about Mayson, who would soon marry LSU student basketball manager, Bo Bahnsen.

"I had been studying advertising and public relations in school, but I didn't know exactly what I was going to do," Karen Bahnsen recalled. "Buddy called me out of the blue and asked me if I was interested in taking the women's job. I was shocked. This was my fifth year in school and I needed to graduate and then it would be my position. Yea, I would love it."

Karen Bahnsen began her career during the 1984-85 season. The LSU program quickly took a new direction and upward.

Bahnsen's first team won two tournaments with players like Wendy Lawson, Cissy Meeks and Missy Parker.

The SEC Championship

When Karen Bahnsen's turn came to host the Southeastern Conference championships in 1992, she knew she was going to do all she could do to make it a special weekend. There was an electronic scoreboard, a hospitality tent and little things that these days seem routine at the Championship event. But Bahnsen pulled out all stops at Santa Maria and as it turns out, so did her team.

The Lady Tigers took the early lead and never faltered. LSU finished with a winning 892 score as Kristi Coats, Laurie Robbins, Julie Rigazio, Page Oeser and Jennifer Vernon brought the title home.

Special Awards

Lee in 2000 and Meredith Duncan in 2002 made national headlines for the Tiger program, winning the prestigious Diana Shore Award presented by the LPGA to the nation's top golfer for her on-course play, her work in the community and her classroom accomplishments.

Duncan, who is having one of her best seasons ever on the LPGA tour, had one of the greatest summers of any collegiate golfer in 2001, taking the championship in three top major women's amateur tournaments, including the United States Women's Amateur title. Duncan's amateur title came on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff after making a putt to keep the match alive on the 36th hole of the nationally-televised match.

Duncan also played on the 1992 Curtis Cup for the United States, helping the Americans to a win over Great Britain and Ireland.

Duncan and Wilkinson-Harris are the only players to have made it to the NCAA Division I Golf Championships all four years. Duncan had a seventh place finish in the 2000 event, shooting two under over the last 54 holes after opening with a 10-over 82, while Harris in 2001 would finish in a tie for third at one-under 287.

These Days

The LSU program is rolling on. LSU returned to the Division I Championships in both 2006 and 2008 as the program returned to its nationally-ranked standard thanks to the play of three seniors – Rebecca Kuhn, Kim Meck and Alexis Rather. Freshman Megan McChrystal renewed memories of the play of the Amigas, Duncan and Wilkinson-Harris with her play that helped the team to the 1998 championships, posting the fourth lowest average in team history.

Now McChrystal and senior Caroline Martens lead the team into its 30th season with a recruiting class ranked in the top five in the country, trying to get to back-to-back NCAA Championships since 2000-2001.

It's just another story in a history full of wonderful stories that has made this LSU women's golf program very special.

The Three Amigas

The arrival Michelle Louviere, Laura Moore and Ashley Winn prior to the 1994-95 season signaled the arrival of a new era in LSU women's golf. The trio was given the name "The Three Amigas" by then New Orleans Times Picayune beat writer Dave LaGarde.

"The Three Amigas was the beginning of a lot of wonderful things," said Bahnsen. "It was so exciting because I never thought I'd get all three. There were everything I thought they could be and more, and off the golf course."

With the help of Shannon Hanson and Casey Scott on the front end and Celeste Roper, Lisette Lee and Katy Wilkinson Harris on the back end, the trio was part of nine team titles, six individual championships and two NCAA Division I Championship top 10 finishes.
