

PAUL Mainieri

HEAD COACH

Paul Mainieri plans to finish his collegiate baseball career in the same place it began over 32 years ago. Mainieri earned a letter in 1976 as a freshman outfielder at LSU, where he also met his future wife, Karen, then a Fighting Tiger cheerleader. He completed his playing career at the University of New Orleans, and, after enjoying great success as a head coach at St. Thomas (Fla.) University, the Air Force Academy and Notre Dame, Mainieri returned to Baton Rouge for the 2007 season eager to enhance the Fighting Tigers' storied tradition.

Mainieri, who directed Notre Dame to 533 wins and nine NCAA Tournament appearances in 12 seasons (1995-2006), was introduced on June 28, 2006 as LSU's 25th head baseball coach by athletics director Skip Bertman.

"When I began the search for a new LSU baseball coach, I was looking for a unique individual," said Bertman, who directed the Tigers to five national titles during a brilliant 18-year coaching tenure. "It would take someone special to lead this program, someone who would demand excellence in athletics and academics, someone who would represent LSU with dignity and class, and someone who would thrive in the high expectations of a championship program.

"I believe LSU has found that man, and his name is Paul Mainieri."

Mainieri has a clear vision for the future of the Fighting Tiger program.

"Make no mistake about it," Mainieri said. "The goal is to return LSU to the pinnacle position in college baseball. I have all the confidence in the world that we can do that here.

"There are no excuses. We have what we need to win at LSU."

Mainieri's promise to LSU fans to attract the nation's best players was fulfilled over the past recruiting season, as Collegiate Baseball magazine rated the Tigers' 2007 class No. 1 in the country. The recruiting class -- which includes nine players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft -- combines with LSU's returning players to create tremendous optimism for the 2008 season.

Mainieri and his staff laid the foundation for the future of the LSU program during the 2007 season, as the Tigers posted a 29-26-1 overall mark. Despite its inexperience -- the Tigers often featured four true freshmen in the batting order -- LSU was in contention for an NCAA Tournament bid through the final weekend of the regular season.

The '07 Tigers won four SEC series over Top 25 teams, as LSU posted series victories over No. 3 Arkansas, No. 13 Ole Miss, No. 15 Mississippi State (a 2007 CWS participant) and No. 25 Alabama.

LSU was led by junior right-hander Jared Bradford, a second-team All-SEC selection who

“As a player he was a full-throttle guy. He was a total overachiever who did everything he could to help you win ball games. He maximized his talent to the highest level and does that as a coach as well. The Tigers will play the game the right way. He has no tolerance for lack of effort. His team will play the game the way LSU fans like to see it played.”

- JIM HENDRY, CHICAGO CUBS GENERAL MANAGER

posted either a win or a save in 10 of the Tigers' 12 SEC victories. Outfielder Blake Dean and catcher Sean Ochinko each received Freshman All-SEC recognition for their outstanding rookie seasons.

LSU in 2007 led the nation in total attendance for the 12th straight season -- the final attendance figure was 256,537, an average of 7,329 per game.

Mainieri's commitment to academic excellence was illustrated by the Tigers' performance in the classroom, as eight LSU players were named to the 2007 SEC Academic Honor Roll.

Mainieri has also established an active community service function within the baseball program, as the Tigers regularly visit hospitals and schools in the Baton Rouge area. The team also participated last fall in the ALS Walk -- promoting awareness of the treatment of Lou Gehrig's Disease -- and in the Buddy Walk, which is designed to encourage acceptance and inclusion of people with Down Syndrome.

The 50-year-old Mainieri established an unparalleled standard of excellence during his tenure at Notre Dame, leading his teams to 11 40-win seasons, nine conference titles and a berth in the 2002 College World Series, marking the school's first CWS trip since 1957.

Mainieri, a Miami, Fla. native, has a 25-year head coaching record of 893-518-5 (.632). His Notre Dame teams posted the nation's fourth-best winning percentage during the decade of the 2000s (.728; 324-120-3), trailing only Rice (.752), Oral Roberts (.737) and Florida State (.734).

"I have known Paul for over 30 years," Bertman said, "dating back to my days in Miami when I knew his father, the legendary Demie Mainieri at Miami-Dade North Community College. Paul's strong baseball pedigree is one of his most admirable and valuable traits. He has Louisiana roots. He played at LSU and at UNO. He understands our culture and he appreciates the nuances of our people."

"I mentioned to Skip that I felt like I was coming home," Mainieri said. "I spent one very special year here at LSU. I loved LSU. I loved every second of it."

Mainieri led to Notre Dame to an NCAA Regional in every season from 1999-2006, making the Irish one of 10 teams to appear in every NCAA Tournament in that eight-year span -- the others were Miami, Texas, Rice, Cal State Fullerton, Florida State, Stanford, Clemson, Tulane and Oral Roberts. Notre Dame also joined six other schools (LSU, Miami, Rice, South Carolina, Stanford and Texas) as the only programs to reach an NCAA Regional final every season from 2000-05.

Fifty of Mainieri's Notre Dame players were drafted or signed free-agent contracts, and 18 were selected in the first 10 rounds of the Major League draft. His Irish players also combined for 14 All-America and 10 Academic All-America seasons.

Mainieri's Notre Dame teams combined for a 100-percent graduation rate (71 of 71) among players who completed their eligibility. Twelve players who signed professionally after their junior year returned to Notre Dame to complete their degree requirements.

Notre Dame was the only Division I baseball program to produce Academic All-Americans each year from 2000-04, with two honored every season from 2000-03. The 2006 squad combined for an impressive 3.28 team GPA during the spring semester.

Notre Dame was one of just four schools from 1998-2001 that produced two pitchers -- Brad Lidge ('98, Houston Astros) and Aaron Heilman ('02, New York Mets) -- who were drafted in the first round, with both players advancing to the Major Leagues. Mainieri and his staff consistently have molded players into top prospects, as Lidge was just a 42nd-round pick out of high school while Heilman was a 54th-round pick.

Three of Mainieri's former Notre Dame players -- Lidge, Heilman and Christian Parker (New York Yankees) -- have pitched in the Major Leagues, with Lidge emerging as one of the game's elite closers.

Seven other recent Irish players developed into high draft picks despite going undrafted as prep players: pitchers Tim Kalita (7th round in

Mainieri's Mentors

Paul Mainieri grew up around the game of baseball on a daily basis and, as the son of a Hall of Fame coach, had the good fortune to be exposed to several outstanding coaches.

Mainieri cites three primary influences in his development as a coach, headed by his father Demie Mainieri, who coached Miami-Dade North Community College to 1,018 wins and a national title in his 30-year career.

"My father laid the foundation for identifying the correct reasons to enter into the coaching profession," says Mainieri.

"Despite his success that he may have encountered, my father emphasized to me that a coach was a teacher first and foremost. Watching how he made such a positive impact on young people's lives was the greatest factor for me wanting to follow in his footsteps."

Mainieri spent his final two seasons as an infielder at the University of New Orleans, where he had the good fortune of playing for current UNO athletic director Ron Maestri. "Coach Maestri showed me how a high intensity level and work ethic can translate into success," recalls Mainieri, whose 2002 squad opened at the Ron Maestri/UNO Classic.

"He used to do the little things-like drag the field and go into the community to raise support - and his charisma resulted in the construction of a beautiful ballpark for our team," says Mainieri.

"He pushed his team hard but would do anything for his players, and his players were very loyal to him. Coach Maestri also relayed to me the importance of recruiting the best athletes - meaning shortstops - and we had six or seven high school shortstops in our everyday lineup."

During his early days in coaching, Mainieri had the chance to meet former Los Angeles Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda and has maintained a friendship with one of the game's greatest ambassadors.

"Tommy has advised me in so many areas, it's hard to specify any areas of emphasis," says Mainieri of Lasorda, who spoke at the Notre Dame pep rally prior to the 2001 Tennessee football game and served as the keynote speaker at the Notre Dame baseball team's "Opening Night Dinner" on Feb. 18, 2002. "I think from him I really realized how important it is to bring joy to the ballpark every day. The players definitely follow your lead as the coach and the enthusiasm you show for your job will rub off on them."

Mainieri readily credits his success to the guidance of those three Hall of Famers. "To this day, I still regularly call each of these men to ask for their advice," he says. "I think it's safe to say I've learned from the best!"

'99), Danny Tamayo (10th round, '01), J.P. Gagne (13th round, '03) and Jeff Samardzija (5th round, '06), shortstop Alec Porzel (13th round, '01), centerfielder Steve Stanley (2nd round, '02) and first baseman Craig Cooper (7th round, '06).

In the Mainieri era, nine of 13 Irish players who were drafted out of high school went on to be drafted in a higher round at Notre Dame while 24 who were undrafted as prep players went on to be drafted as members of the Irish program.

The 12 years of the Mainieri era at Notre Dame include 83 noteworthy players who have gone on to distinguish themselves after their Irish careers. Among that group are: three pitchers who have reached the Major Leagues; 16 other current professional players (plus 29 former pro players); nine lawyers/current law-school students; five medical/dental-school students; seven others who have received a master's degree (including two MBAs); three engineers; five involved in medical sales; 11 college/high school coaches; three teachers; three commodities brokers; a sports agent; a contractor; and a town mayor - plus others who are involved in areas such as youth services, accounting, sales, athletic administration, technology, advertising, graphic design, banking and consulting.

In 12 seasons of Big East Conference play, the Irish won more league games (192-67-2, .740) than any other team in the conference. Mainieri owns the top career Big East winning percentage (.740) in the 22-year history of the league and four of his teams have posted 20-plus wins in Big East play (no other school has won more than 18 Big East games in a season).

The most recent season in the Mainieri era saw the 2006 team reach 45 wins (45-17-1) for the sixth time in the past seven seasons (all but '05). The 2006 squad ranked among the national top-30 in all three major categories (batting avg., ERA and fielding pct.) for most of the season.

The wide-reaching excellence of the Notre Dame baseball program was reinforced at the athletic department's 2006 awards recognition showcase, as the baseball team was the first recipient of the Notre Dame athletics "Trophy Award" - honoring one varsity team for community service dedication during the academic year. The 32 members of the Notre Dame squad combined to total nearly 200 hours of community service in 2005-06.

Mainieri was honored in 2005 with a 25-year coaching certificate at the American Baseball Coaches Association convention and was voted to the position of the ABCA's chair of the Division I Baseball Coaches. He is also a member of the ABCA executive committee.

Mainieri established in 2002 the Opening Night Dinner at Notre Dame, and the event has featured an impressive lineup of keynote speakers: Hall of Fame manager Tommy Lasorda, Chicago Cubs GM Jim Hendry, award-winning author and lifelong baseball fan John Grisham, legendary baseball pitcher Roger Clemens and Notre Dame football coach Charlie Weis.

A former Chicago White Sox farmhand,

Mainieri was the first civilian baseball coach at Air Force and averaged 26 wins in six seasons (1989-'94) for a program that averaged just 15 wins in the six previous years. He is the only Air Force baseball coach to post six straight 20-win seasons and his 1994 squad led the nation in hitting (.360), slugging (.623) and triples (0.76 per game).

Mainieri guided the 1993 Air Force team to its first winning season in nearly a decade (28-22), with a school-record 21 wins at home. He coached three All-Americans, two Freshman All-Americans and two Academic All-Americans with the Falcons.

Mainieri coached six seasons at St. Thomas (Fla.) University where - in 1983 at the age of 24 - he took over a program that had yet to post a winning season. Mainieri led St. Thomas to four seasons that ended with the team ranked in the final NCAA Division II poll. The 1984 Sunshine State Conference coach of the year saw his St. Thomas teams average 30 wins per season (after an average of just 18 wins in the six previous years).

Fifteen of Mainieri's St. Thomas players entered pro baseball, with Joe Klink, Dane Johnson (Chicago White Sox, '94) and Dan Rohrmeier (Seattle Mariners, '97) each going on to appear on Major League rosters. Klink played with the 1987 Minnesota Twins and 1989 Oakland A's World Series championship teams while also pitching with the Florida Marlins in 1994.

Mainieri's coaching career began at his alma mater, Columbus High School in Miami, where he served as assistant baseball and football coach for three years before taking over at St. Thomas in the fall of 1982. He also spent the final three years at St. Thomas as director of athletics.

A four-year letterwinner in college, Mainieri played one season at LSU, one for his father at Miami-Dade and two at the University of New Orleans. The second baseman helped the Privateers win two Sun Belt Conference titles and advance to the 1979 NCAA Tournament during his senior season.

After completing his undergraduate degree requirements at Florida International (1980), Mainieri played two minor-league seasons before earning a master's in sports administration from St. Thomas in 1982.

Born August 29, 1957, in Morgantown, W.Va., Mainieri and wife Karen have four children: Nicholas (24) - a Notre Dame graduate; Alexandra (23, a Ball State University graduate); Samantha (21, a cheerleader at Notre Dame); and Thomas (13, named after his godfather, Los Angeles Dodgers Hall of Fame manager Tommy Lasorda.)

“Coach Mainieri knows the game but he knows his players even better. He knows how to manage players extremely well - knowing who he has to push harder and who he needs to give space, always getting the best out of his players. His door was always open and he was willing to listen to whatever was on your mind - all while treating everyone with the respect they deserved and caring about the person and his life, not just the player.”

TERRY Rooney

Associate head coach Terry Rooney enters his second season as LSU's pitching coach and recruiting coordinator. He arrived in Baton Rouge with Paul Mainieri in the summer of 2006 after three seasons as the Notre Dame pitching coach.

Rooney, 34, was promoted to associate head coach at LSU in July 2007. His 2007 LSU recruiting class was voted No. 1 in the nation by Collegiate Baseball magazine. The star-studded class included nine players selected in the Major League Baseball Draft. Eight of the players were High School All-Americans and three earned JUCO All-America recognition.

Rooney's first season as LSU was highlighted by the accomplishments of All-SEC right-hander Jared Bradford, who posted either a win or a save in 10 of the Tigers' 12 league victories.

Rooney's philosophy features the concept of "offensive pitching" that focuses on aspects that the staff can control - being mechanically sound, working to advantage counts, high first-pitch strike percentages and controlling the running game.

Rooney arrived in the fall of 2003 at Notre Dame, where his primary role centered on instructing the program's highly-regarded pitching staff while also serving as the program's recruiting coordinator. His earlier eight seasons as a Division I assistant included serving as pitching coach with four programs - George Washington, James Madison, Old Dominion and Stetson - with additional recruiting coordinator responsibilities in four of those seasons.

Rooney's recruiting skills and guidance as a pitching coach have combined to yield several noteworthy success stories. In each of the past 10 seasons, at least one of his former pitchers has gone on to sign a professional contract despite not being drafted out of high school. Seventeen of his former pitchers have been MLB draft picks, with eight selected in the first 10 rounds. Rooney's most recent draft selection was LSU left-hander Charlie Furbush, the fourth-round choice of the Detroit Tigers in 2007.

Rooney, a Fairfax, Va. native, has been involved in eight recruiting classes that have been ranked among the national leaders, including the No. 1 class at LSU in '07 and Notre Dame's group of 2006 freshmen that were rated as the nation's seventh-best recruiting class.

Rooney's experienced immediate success at Notre Dame as his 2004 staff yielded a 3.43 ERA in 2004 that ranked ninth in the nation - the program's fifth straight season among the nation's Top 20 ERA leaders (matched only by Texas and Rice). An emphasis on limiting free passes in '04 yielded just 162 walks for an average of 2.63 walks per nine innings that ranks second in the Notre Dame record books.

Rooney's 2006 staff set or tied four Notre Dame records -- strikeouts thrown (504), saves (18), staff strikeout-to-walk ratio (2.95; 504/171) and fewest wild pitches (0.38/gm).

The 2006 Irish staff also allowed just 18 home runs all season for the best HR average by Notre Dame in the 12-season Mainieri era (0.29 HR allowed/gm). The '06 staff ranked third-best in the Mainieri era in ERA (3.52; 20th in the nation for '06) and opponent batting average (.249). Notre Dame's team ERA finished in the nation's Top 20 in two of Rooney's three seasons with the Irish.

Rooney supervised the development in 2006 of right-hander Kyle Weiland, who was third in the nation in with 16 saves and earned first-team Freshman all-America recognition.

The 2006 Major League Baseball Draft marked the first time three Irish pitchers were selected by MLB clubs - righthander Jeff Samardzija (fifth round, Chicago Cubs), righthander Jeff Manship (14th round, Minnesota Twins) and lefthander Tom Thornton (21st round, Detroit Tigers).

Notre Dame pitchers Grant Johnson (second round, Chicago Cubs) and Chris Niesel (ninth round, Cleveland Indians) were chosen in the 2004 MLB draft, marking the first time in school history two pitchers were selected in the first 10 rounds.

Rooney's two seasons at Stetson - including the final season as pitching coach and recruiting coordinator - included two NCAA appearances and 40-win seasons with four pitchers earning all-conference honors. The '03 staff posted a 4.43 ERA and a 2:1

strikeouts-to-walks ratio. The season highlight came in NCAA Regional action at Georgia Tech when Adam Blair's 10 strikeouts helped defeat the seventh-ranked Yellow Jackets, 4-3. A team-record five Stetson players were selected in the '03 draft, including two pitchers. The '02 Stetson staff racked up 422 strikeouts, led by 12-game winner Roger Lincoln.

Rooney also produced at Stetson a recruiting class ranked No. 12 in the nation by Baseball America magazine, marking the highest rating in the history of the program. Three members of that class were selected in the first 10 rounds of the '06 MLB draft.

During Rooney's two seasons at Old Dominion (2000-01), ODU earned a NCAA Regional berth as a No. 2 seed in 2000. He assembled a recruiting class for the '01 season that was nationally-ranked, and four of the pitchers he coached went on to pro baseball. Most notably among the recruiting class was Justin Verlander, now one of the American League's top pitchers with the Detroit Tigers.

Rooney's two years at James Madison (1998-99) included a pair of nationally-ranked recruiting classes, as he first assumed the role of pitching coach/recruiting coordinator in 1999. Two of his JMU pitchers were later drafted in the first 10 rounds despite not being drafted out of high school. Six of the '99 JMU freshmen went on to sign pro contracts, including three that were drafted in rounds 1-5.

Rooney's coaching career began in 1997 at George Washington after he had completed his playing career in Radford. His experience in top wood-bat summer leagues included serving as head coach for the Waynesboro (Va.) Generals 1998 Valley League champs, in addition to being an assistant with Valley League champion Staunton (1996) and Cape Cod League Cotuit (1997).

Rooney has served as a baseball clinic instructor, and he has authored a video produced by Championship Books and Videos: 30 Minutes to Better Pitching: A Championship Workout.

A 1996 Radford graduate with a degree in social science, Rooney ranks second in Radford history with 79 appearances and posted an 8-2 career record. He played one season at Davis & Elkins (W.Va.) College, compiling a 4-2 record.

CLIFF Godwin

Cliff Godwin begins his second season as LSU's hitting coach. He supervises the Tigers' offense while also working with the catchers and assisting Terry Rooney in the baseball program's recruiting effort.

Godwin arrived at LSU in the summer of 2006 after serving one season as the hitting coach at Notre Dame.

In his first season at LSU, Godwin helped to develop a very young Tigers lineup that often included four true freshmen. Two of Godwin's LSU hitters -- outfielder Blake Dean and catcher Sean Ochinko -- earned 2007 Freshman All-SEC recognition. Dean was also voted a Freshman All-American by Collegiate Baseball magazine.

Godwin, a former standout catcher at East Carolina, joined the Notre Dame staff as an assistant coach in the fall of 2005. Under Godwin's direction, the 2006 Notre Dame hitters compiled the program's best plate discipline ratio (BB + HBP - Ks) since 1990, finishing at +66 with 247 walks, 100 times hit-by-pitch and just 281 strikeouts (4.5 per game).

The '06 Irish squad finished with the program's third-best totals in two categories: 10.81 hits per game and 100 times hit-by-pitch.

Godwin coached in 2006 Big East player of the year Craig Cooper, a consensus All-American who hit .425 (No. 6 in the nation). Cooper was a seventh-round draft selection as a senior, marking the first time he had been drafted in his career.

Prior to serving as director of baseball operations at Vanderbilt during the 2004-05 academic year, Godwin spent one season as a volunteer assistant coach at UNC Wilmington (2003-2004). His duties at Vanderbilt included helping organize daily activities associated with the baseball program and serving as liaison to the Bullpen Club support group.

Godwin was part of the historic UNCW season in 2004, as the Seahawks claimed their first Colonial Athletic Association conference title and advanced to the final game of the NCAA regional in Kinston, N.C.

Godwin is credited with making a big impact on the young UNCW catchers in 2004. Neal Eichhorn earned all-conference honors that season while Chris Hatcher went on to become a 2005 all-conference catcher and the fifth-round draft pick of the Florida Marlins in 2006. Godwin also assisted with the hitters and was the first-base coach on Mark Scalf's staff.

An all-region catcher and two-time Academic All-American at East Carolina (1997-2001), Godwin was a three-year team captain who started 126 games in his final three seasons. He earned all-East Region honors from the American Baseball Coaches Association in 2001 after batting .322 with 15 home runs and 45 RBI.

The lefthanded-swinging Godwin was also named first team all-Colonial Athletic Association in 2001, when his other season stats included 14 doubles and 23 walks in 57 games played. One of three ECU players to ever receive Academic All-America honors, Godwin was a third-team Academic All-American in 1999 before being named to the second team in 2001.

Godwin helped Keith LeClair's ECU teams post a record of 169-76 in four seasons, including 46-plus wins in each of his final three years (46-16 in 1999, 46-18 in 2000, 47-13 in 2001). Godwin's career totals with the Pirates included 24 home runs, 31 doubles and 95 RBI.

East Carolina won two Colonial Athletic Association tournament titles and advanced to the NCAA Tournament every season from 1999-2001. The Pirates were the top seed in their regional all three years (including 1999 at LSU), advancing to the Super Regional in 2001 before being eliminated by Tennessee. Godwin was named all-tournament at the 2001 NCAA Regional, hosted by ECU in Wilson, N.C.

Godwin - who spent 2003 as an assistant coach at Kinston (N.C.) High School - played two seasons of professional baseball (2001-02) for the Frontier League's Gateway Grizzlies (based in Sauget, Ill.).

He had the unique experience of serving as head coach for the 2005 Wilmington Sharks, a collegiate summer team in the wood-bat Coastal Plains League. The Sharks finished second in the first-half standings of the CPI's South Division with a 23-15 record. Godwin also served as a head coach in the 2005 CPL All-Star Game, guiding his team to a 5-3 victory.

The Snow Hill, N.C., native was a three-sport standout at Greene Central High School, earning all-conference honors in football, basketball and baseball. He also was an all-state performer in baseball, starred on the hardwood as a shooting guard for his father's team and quarterbacked the Greene Central football team to the best season in the school's history, receiving 1995 conference player of the year honors.

Godwin graduated magna cum laude from East Carolina in December of 2000, with a science degree in management information systems. He received the Pat Draughon Postgraduate Scholarship and - after completing his final season - received his MBA from ECU in 2002.

Javi Sanchez was hired as LSU's volunteer coach in July 2007 after playing four seasons of minor league baseball in the Minnesota Twins organization. He was the Twins' 14th-round draft choice in 2004 as a catcher after playing four seasons (2001-04) under Paul Mainieri at Notre Dame.

Sanchez, a Miami, Fla. native, helped lead the Irish to the 2002 College World Series as Notre Dame's starting shortstop, batting .281 with seven doubles, three triples, five homers, 29 RBI and 50 runs. A second baseman in high school, he was moved to shortstop early in the '02 season after injuries sidelined two other Irish infielders.

Sanchez, 26, played the final two seasons of his collegiate career as Notre Dame's starting catcher, earning 2003 Big East Tournament MVP honors. He was also voted to the 2003 NCAA Fullerton Regional all-tournament team.

Sanchez earned third-team all-Big East honors in 2004 while also serving as one of Notre Dame's three team captains.

Sanchez, who owns a business management degree from Notre Dame, completed his pro baseball career in June 2007 with the Fort Myers Miracle, the Twins' Single-A affiliate.

COORDINATOR OF BASEBALL OPERATIONS

will Davis

Will Davis, a four-year (2004-07) LSU letterman as a catcher, is in his first season as coordinator of baseball operations.

Davis, who earned a secondary education degree from LSU in 2007, was a two-time member of the Southeastern Conference Academic Honor Roll. A Baton Rouge native, he will handle several administrative duties, including team travel, fan relations and camp management.

Davis' father, Randy, was an LSU graduate assistant coach under Skip Bertman from 1988-90, helping lead the Tigers to College World Series appearances in 1989 and 1990. Randy Davis later served as an assistant coach at South Carolina and head coach at Louisiana Tech.
