LSU's landscaping was called "a botanical joy" in its listing among the 20 best campuses in America in Thomas Gaines' "The Campus as a Work of Art."

Louisiana State University and Agricultural & Mechanical College has, throughout its 144-year history, served the people of Louisiana, the region, the nation, and the world. LSU is creating a revolution, one of pervasive change and advancement. For the past five years, the focus of the LSU community has been an increased commitment to excellence. Our progress has been dramatic and shows no sign of stopping.

Having witnessed many of yesterday's possibilities become today's tangible realities, the LSU community set forth to capitalize on its success. The goal was to improve our standing as a nationally competitive flagship university. Following intense discussions among the LSU Board of Supervisors, campus administrators, faculty, and student leaders, the objectives required to reach this status crystallized, providing the impetus for LSU's National Flagship Agenda.

"THE MOST DIVERSE SCHOOL IN THE NATION."

Newsweek magazine named Louisiana State University the "Most Diverse" school in the nation in the Sept. 3, 2003 issue. The enrollment consists of 24 percent minority students.

The LSU Honors College provides intellectual opportunity and challenge for academically able and intellectually motivated undergraduate students. Honors students pursue a rigorous academic program, which satisfies all requirements of their academic departments and colleges and goes beyond those requirements to provide the basis for outstanding achievement and appropriate recognition for that achievement. From small enrollment interdisciplinary seminars in the freshman year to independent research activities in the senior honors thesis, honors students work closely with selected members of the faculty.

History and tradition began with LSU's founding in 1853 by the General Assembly of Louisiana as the Louisiana State Seminary of Learning and Military Academy near Pineville, Louisiana. The institution opened January 2, 1860. When the Civil War began, the school's first superintendent, William Tecumseh Sherman, resigned to assume a command in the Union Army. The seminary reopened in 1869, but was soon destroyed by fire. The institution moved to Baton Rouge, opening on Nov. 1, 1869.

WHY LSU?

“As far back as I can remember (riding bicycles, playing little league baseball), I have literally bled purple and gold. It never crossed my mind that there was anywhere else to go other than LSU. The experiences and relationships that I developed at LSU have been an integral part of my life. No other colleges existed in my mind. I am fortunate to have attended a place that I considered a dream and look forward to my association with the university until the day I die.”

The University Club, which is the home of the LSU men's golf team, received the honor of being ranked the 13th best home for college golf in the country according to a survey published in the September 2005 issue of Golf Digest. The evaluation by Golf Digest ranked the top 15 home courses in college golf and included such criteria as shot values, resistance to scoring, course layout and design, memorability and conditioning.

"Being included in such a list is a nice honor," said LSU head coach Chuck Winstead. "Jim Lipe, the designer of the University Club, is an LSU alum and is a proven and terrific architect. He's been Jack Nicklaus' right-hand man on his design team for years. It's certainly a great honor to be included on the list."

The course opened in 1998 under the design of Lipe and is a par-72 course that plays with a championship yardage of 7,274 yards. It is carved into nearly 300 acres of land just seven miles south of the LSU campus on Nicholson Drive and will host the second-annual University Club Intercollegiate in October.

The University Club also boasts one of the nation's finest practice facilities, The LSU Golf House, which opened in the fall of 2002. The Golf House includes a lavish meeting room, office space for the coaching staff and an area devoted to equipment repair and storage. It also includes an indoor driving range and a learning center that can utilize video analysis to benefit each player's development in a classroom setting.

The course was built on land donated to the Tiger Athletic Foundation and subsequently leased to University Club. The original vision that drove University Club's development was of a premier course that would provide a place for TAF members to convene and play, as well as a home for the men's and women's golf teams of LSU. This recent transaction will allow that vision to be realized according to Villages developer Sinclair Kouns, himself a member of the investment group that made the acquisition.

"I'm confident we'll be able to fulfill the expectations of the golf teams, the club members and the residents of University Club Plantation in making this facility one of the best in the Southeastern Conference and the region," said Kouns.

"I'm pleased that local people with LSU ties will now make University Club a place LSU alumni and TAF members can be proud of," said TAF CEO General Ron Richard. Part of the change is a new general manager on board in retired 30-year Marine Colonel Joe Stewart.

Originally from Alabama and a graduate of Auburn, Stewart was the CEO of services at Camp Lejeune and Paris Island for the last 10 years, which included the Officers Club, beach club, hotel, food operation, golf course and retail. He led and directed an organization with 2,100 employees of which 1,900 were civilian.

The course opened for members on Oct. 22, 1998. The swimming and tennis facility adjacent to the course opened in the summer of 2000. The surrounding housing development continues to grow as homes continue to spring up, adding to the beauty of the area surrounding the golf course.

Membership in The University Club was offered first to members of the TAF and then extended to the general public, who first must become members of the TAF. Memberships are available not only in local categories, but state, regional and national categories as well.

The Tiger Athletic Foundation is a private, non-profit corporation that serves as the fund-raising and development arm of the LSU athletics department. Each year, the TAF underwrites scholarship and academics awards, as well as capital development projects for LSU athletics.

The Bluffs on Thompson Creek

St. Francisville, La., is home to one of the state's premier golf courses in The Bluffs on Thompson Creek. This picturesque Arnold Palmer design is described by Ron Whitten of Golf Digest as "a collection of gorgeous, challenging golf holes, perhaps the best of any Palmer design. If any Louisiana course comes close to the ambiance and appeal of a laid-back resort like North Carolina's Pinehurst, it's The Bluffs." This par-72 gem is ranked as the fifth-best course in Louisiana and 96th on Golf Digest's list of "America's 100 Greatest Public Courses."

Carter Plantation

Carter Plantation, which opened in October 2003, is the first signature design of LSU alum and 2001 PGA Champion David Toms. The par-72 masterpiece plays to a championship yardage of more than 7,000 yards and winds through Louisiana's signature live oak flats, cypress wetlands and upland pine forests. Located in Springfield, La., Carter Plantation was named to Golf Magazine's list of "Top 10 Courses You Can Play" in February 2004 and is ranked as the ninth-best course in the state of Louisiana by Golf Digest.

Country Club of Louisiana

The Country Club of Louisiana located in Baton Rouge is a challenging par-72 Jack Nicklaus signature design that plays to a championship yardage of more than 7,100 yards. Rated as the eighth-best course in the state by Golf Digest, the CCLA is carved into an undulating landscape that meanders through pockets of beautiful magnolia trees. It features a putting green that measures 5,000 square feet, finely manicured chipping and pitching greens, practice bunkers and a 300 yard driving range with 80,000 square feet of tee surface. The CCLA served as the host to LSU's Country Club of Louisiana Intercollegiate for 12 years from 1992-2003.

The LSU Golf House opened in the fall of 2002 to rave reviews from players, coaches and members of the athletic administration alike. This $850,000 facility funded by the Tiger Athletic Foundation functions primarily as a golf-learning center for the LSU men's and women's teams where student-athletes are able to improve their skills at one of the premier practice facilities in the nation.

The Golf House features a lavish meeting room, office space for the coaching staff and an area devoted to equipment repair and storage. It also includes a player's locker room, an indoor driving range and a learning center which can utilize video analysis to benefit each player's development in a classroom setting.

Outside the facility is a practice tee box that measures 100 yards in length and a 10,000 square-foot putting and pitching green surrounded by practice bunkers where players are able to practice in a spacious environment.

Chuck Winstead, who is the first-year head coach of the men's golf team and a Top 100 Teacher according to Golf Magazine, believes that having such a facility is essential in the development of his players and is evidence that LSU is committed to running a first-class program.

"The facility offers our student-athletes an environment second to none to excel and reach their potential," Winstead said. "The combination of state-of-the-art technology to work on their game combined with our indoor putting area to fine-tune their stroke enables our players to maximize their ability. We are able to utilize the tools we have to get the best out of each player and teach them in a comfortable setting."

LSU women's head coach Karen Bahnsen echoed Winstead's sentiments, saying that she enjoys having the opportunity to utilize the facility's many features to teach her players in a productive atmosphere.

"There's no question that the LSU Golf House offers our student-athletes state-of-the-art instructional technology to take their game to another level," Bahnsen said. "Our two indoor hitting bays, club repair room with a lie and loft machine and video center allows each coach to teach the players in the most effective way possible. We also have a large meeting room that allows us to meet as a team and discuss course strategy and work with our team on all mental aspects of the game."

For more than 20 years, the LSU Academic Center for Student-Athletes has helped to build well-rounded student-athletes. But as times change and technology advances, the need for further improvements still exists. As a result, the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes opened its doors in November of 2002. A $15 million renovation to the Gym Armory not only made it among the nation's premier centers, but put it at the forefront. Improvements to the existing center give LSU student-athletes the best opportunity for success by providing access to the latest technology, as well as an array of expanded services.

The 1,000-seat auditorium is used through the year as a classroom and lecture hall. Each seat in the auditorium has space for a laptop and a modem hookup, providing each student unlimited learning opportunities. The auditorium also contains a movie theatre size screen to aid professors with lectures and classroom activities.

COMPUTER STATIONS

Throughout the Academic Center are 75 computer stations, providing student-athletes with a quiet working environment for research, writing and studying.

THE LIBRARY

The library provides a perfect setting for individual study, or with a tutor as group.

STUDY AREA

Included in the 54,000 square feet of the Academic Center are individual study areas as well as 14 private computer rooms for student-athletes to work one-on-one with tutors or by themselves.
