Supporting Carolina Baseball

The University of North Carolina is proud of its long-standing relationship with Nike, Inc. The two parties signed a new 10-year contract in May 2009 for Nike to continue as the exclusive supplier of athletic footwear, apparel and accessory products. Nike will provide the athletic department with shoes, uniforms, coaching gear, balls and other equipment. Nike also gave the University $2 million for the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund to support faculty. This partnership has benefited all 28 varsity sports and providedmillions of dollars for academics and student scholarships at the University.

The 2013 season brings lofty expectations for the North Carolina baseball team as the Tar Heels will open the season as the nation's

The Tar Heels have garnered the top ranking for the first time since the 2009 season when Carolina reached the College World Series for the fourth consecutive year.

No. 1 preseason team according to several publications.

Leading the way for the Tar Heels in 2013 will be a pair of highly touted juniors in third baseman Colin Moran and left-handed pitcher Kent Emanuel.

Moran enters the season as a potential first round draft pick after leading the prestigious Cape Cod League in RBIs this past summer.

Emanuel returns to anchor one of the top pitching staffs in not only the Atlantic Coast Conference but also the country. The Woodstock, Ga., native will be UNC's Friday night starter for the second straight year after winning 17 games in his first two years.

The Tar Heels will welcome back all three of its weekend starters from a year ago, along with four others that combined to start 21 games in 2012. UNC returns 60 starts of its 62 games in 2012.

Carolina returns seven field starters as well for the 2013 campaign led by Moran manning the hot corner for his third season.

The versatile Michael Russell played all over the field as a freshman, starting in the outfield before making the move to shortstop to close out the year. Russell will likely see time all over the field this year but will open the season manning second base.

Carolina will look for its power to come from the first base position with the power-hitting duo of Cody Stubbs and Grayson Atwood likely to see time.

Freshman Landon Lassiter looks to take over the starting shortstop role and could become the first freshman in over a decade to start the season opener at shortstop.

The outfield looks to be the fastest in quite some time as left fielder Parks Jordan and centerfielder Chaz Frank both return and will cover even more ground with speedy freshman Skye Bolt.

The bullpen will look to replace back-end stalwarts Michael Morin and R.C. Orlan but return a bevy of talented options.

A more detailed position-by-position breakdown of the Tar Heels follows:

Starting Pitching

- The Tar Heels return their entire weekend rotation from a team that won 46 games a year ago and are led by junior left-hander Kent Emanuel.
- Emanuel will open weekend series for the second straight year as UNC's Friday night starter after posting an 8-4 record and a 1.96 FRA.
- For his efforts, Emanuel has been recognized as a preseason All-America and has a chance to become the fourth pitcher in school history to reach 300 career strikeouts. He would join Andrew Miller (2004-06), Alex White (2007-09) and Patrick Johnson (2008-11).
- The Rocky Mount duo are also back in the Tar Heel rotation for 2013 as sophomore right-hander Benton Moss (7-2, 1.94 ERA) and junior left-hander Hobbs Johnson (7-1, 1.56 ERA) hold the advantage in following Emanuel once again.
- Carolina returns 97 percent (60 of 62) of its starts from a year ago.
- Senior right-hander Chris Munnelly (2-0, 3.61 ERA) and junior right-hander Shane Taylor (5-1, 3.48 ERA) will battle for a spot in the weekend rotation and will likely be called upon to make midweek starts for the Tar Heels
- Sophomore left-hander Chris O'Brien (1-2, 3.46 ERA) made five starts as a freshman and should also get the ball for UNC.
- Sophomore right-handers Luis Paula (0-1, 5.95 ERA) and Chris McCue (1-0, 2.10 ERA) could also see starting opportunities in 2013.
- A pair of freshmen have been pushing the returnees in the fall and into the early spring for starting time as well.
- Right-hander Trent Thornton has impressed coaches in the spring with his competitiveness and brings a polished approach to the mound.
- Fellow right-hander Taylore Cherry checks in at 6-foot-8 and is one of the more projectible pitchers on the staff entering the season.
- Sophomore Andrew Smith returns after making 24 appearances as a freshman. He missed most of the 2012 season due to injury.

Relief Pitching

- One of the holes that will need to be filled for the 2013 season will be the back-end of the Tar Heel bullpen.
- Juniors Michael Morin and R.C. Orlan each appeared 38 times for Carolina in 2012 and both signed after being drafted in the 2012 MLB Draft.
- Morin earned several All-America honors after setting UNC's single-season record for saves with 19.
- Orlan was an eighth-inning fixture for the Tar Heels a year ago as a power left-hander and Carolina will look to junior Tate Parrish to take over the lefty role in 2013.
- The closer role will be a battle to watch throughout the spring as Carolina has a number of options to take over the spot.
- Sophomore Trevor Kelley appears to be the front runner entering the season after dropping his arm slot and having tremendous success over the summer.
- Kelley threw only an inning and two thirds as a freshman but finished his season in the Cal Ripken League by not allowing a run over his last 12 appearances.
- Sophomore Mason McCullough will also battle for the closer's role and brings an electric arm to the competition.
- McCullough made 16 appearances as a freshman and will push Kelley as long as he displays an increased control.
- Another pair of sophomore right-handers could also see action at the back-end of games in Chris McCue and Luis Paula. The pair have confidence from the coaching staff to get outs in big situations.
- The Tar Heels will have several left-handed options out of the pen once again as junior Tate Parrish will likely see the bulk of the work after making 25 or more appearances for the second straight year.
- Sophomore Chris O'Brien threw 26 innings as a freshman and could see time either as a starter or long-relief out of the bullpen.
- Redshirt freshman Peter Hendel has shown a competitive side after sitting out a year ago due to injury.
- The Tar Heels also expect contributions out of the bullpen from senior right-hander Chris Munnelly who could see time in long relief or tight situations along with junior right-hander Shane Taylor.
- Redshirt sophomore Andrew Smith returns after undergoing surgery midway through the 2012 season and has returned to form in the early going.
- A trio of freshmen right-handers should factor into the equation this season as well with Taylore Cherry, Trent Thornton and Reilly Hovis all pushing the returners for innings.

Catcher

- The 2013 season will be the first year since 2006 that the Tar Heels will not return a catcher that started at least five games behind the dish the year before.
- Since 2006, Carolina has seen just three catchers earn a majority of the starts as current big leaguer Tim Federowicz led the way from 2006-08 before Mark Fleury took over for the 2009 season.
- Departing senior Jacob Stallings kept the string going from 2010 until last year as the catcher line to the pros continued.
- The starting catcher competition is a two-man race entering the spring as junior Matt Roberts is battling freshman Korey Dunbar.
- Roberts has battled injuries throughout his career but is healthy entering the 2013 season and holds a slight lead in the competition.
- Roberts was drafted in the 38th round coming out of high school and provides a power right-handed bat in the Tar Heel lineup.
- Dunbar was taken by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 39th round a year ago and showed some growing pains during the fall.
- The Charleston, W. Va., native has appeared much more comfortable in the early spring and has given Roberts a real push for starting time.
- Sophomore transfer Matt Rubino and junior Brian Holberton provide catcher depth for the Tar Heels.

First Base

- First base should be a power position once again for the Tar Heels in 2013 as senior Cody Stubbs returns after starting all 62 games a year ago.
- Stubbs led the team with five home runs and ranked second with 19 doubles. The Waynesville, N.C., native got off to a hot start as a Tar Heel but struggled during the ACC season and is looking to put together a solid senior campaign.
- Sophomore Grayson Atwood had just 17 at bats as a freshman but stepped up in a key spot at the ACC Tournament when he blasted a pinch-hit home run against Miami to tie the game.
- Atwood could see at bats against left-handers throughout the year and could spell Stubbs from time to time.
- Junior Parks Jordan is undoubtedly the top defensive first baseman on the squad and provides head coach Mike Fox another lineup option.

Second Base

- The Tar Heels will be shuffling up their middle infield for the second straight season as utility man Michael Russell will make the move from shortstop to second base.
- The sophomore Russell began the 2012 season in the outfield before making the move to third base when Colin Moran was injured and moved over to shortstop late in the year.
- Russell now makes the move to second base this season and turned in a productive fall.
- Sophomore Mike Zolk made 42 starts a year ago for the Tar Heels and will battle Russell for the starting spot at second base.
- Zolk provides quality at bats from the left side for the Tar Heels and if he is not in the starting lineup provides a quality pinch hit option.
- Freshman Landon Lassiter could also see time at second base when he is not playing shortstop.
- A pair of freshmen in Alex Raburn and Matt Campbell will provide depth for the Tar Heels.

Third Base

- Junior Colin Moran returns to anchor the hot corner for the third straight year.
- Moran missed 21 games a year ago due to a hand injury but still paced the Tar Heels in batting average, slugging percentage and on base percentage with a .365/.494/.434 slash line.
- Moran is a projected first round draft pick in the 2013 MLB Draft and will be called upon to carry the Tar Heel offense in 2013.
- Russell along with Raburn will provide depth behind Moran.

Shortstop

- Freshman Landon Lassiter looks to become the first freshman since Craig Corrado in 2004 to start at shortstop on opening day.
- Lassiter was a 16th round pick of the Arizona Diamondbacks a year ago and has shown a steady glove at shortstop during his time as a Tar Heel

- Russell could also see time at shortstop as he showed an ability to make plays and cover ground there in 2012.
- Freshmen Alex Raburn and Matt Campbell will provide depth as well.

Outfield

- The Tar Heel outfield has the chance to be one of the fastest in the country this season.
- Senior Chaz Frank returns to centerfield where he made several highlight-reel grabs a year ago.
- Junior Parks Jordan has a strong hold on the left field position and freshman Skye Bolt looks to start in right field for the Tar Heels.
- Frank will fuel the offense from the top of the order after drawing a team-high 46 walks en route to a .419 on base percentage in 2012.
- Jordan handles the bat well and does a good job of moving runners and emerged as an outfield option for the Tar Heels last year.
- Bolt enters Carolina as one of the top freshman prospects in the game. The Woodstock, Ga., native provides a ton of speed in the Tar Heel lineup and his ability to switch-hit will put his name on the lineup card from the get go.
- Junior Brian Holberton could also see time in left field for the Tar Heels after hitting .297 a year ago.
- Freshman Zach Daly showed good athleticism during the fall and could see time anywhere in the outfield.
- Fellow freshmen Alex Raburn and Michael Massardo will provide depth for the Tar Heels.

Designated Hitter

- Junior Brian Holberton will enter the spring as prohibitive favorite to start at designated hitter.
- Holberton posted a .404 on base percentage in 2012 and was very successful in moving runners.
- Other designated hitter options include the first base duo of left-handed hitting Cody Stubbs and right-handed hitting Grayson Atwood.
- Junior Tom Zengel started 24 games in 2012 and could also see time as the designated hitter.

Mike Fox

Head Coach 15th Season At Carolina North Carolina, 1978

Entering his 15th season as head coach at the University of North Carolina, Mike Fox has guided his alma mater to the most successful period in school history and firmly established the Tar Heels as one of the nation's preeminent college baseball programs. Capped by five trips to the College World Series in the last seven years, Carolina has made 13 appearances in the NCAA Tournament and posted a 634-262-1 record in Fox's 14 seasons in Chapel Hill.

Fox, who ranks first among the game's active leaders in career winning percentage, has been recognized by several outlets as one of the nation's top coaches in recent years. Baseball America honored Fox as its national coach of the year in 2008, and Fox's peers - the American Baseball Coaches Association selected him as the Atlantic Region Coach of the Year in three of the last four seasons

Fox's leadership and vision were instrumental in the construction of the $25.6-million Boshamer Stadium, which opened in 2009 to rave reviews as one of the finest collegiate baseball facilities in the nation. The stadium underwent another updgrade this offseason with the installation of a state of the art video

One of only six men to play in and then coach his alma mater to the College World Series, Fox has led Carolina to 11 consecutive trips to postseason play for the first time in school history.

Fox has coached his teams to NCAA tourney play in 27 of his 29 seasons as a head coach, including a combined 13 trips to the NCAA Division I and Division III World Series. Fox, who has led Carolina to 13 College World Series victories over the last seven seasons, has either played or coached in all 15 CWS wins by

But just as important as the on-field success Fox has found at UNC is the type of program that he has built. On Feb. 28, 2007, while the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 by Baseball America, they also claimed the top spot when USA Today re-ranked its preseason top 25 based on the NCAA's Academic Progress Rate (APR). Fox's players are regulars on the Atlantic Coast Conference's Academic Honor Roll, including 25 honorees over the last six seasons, and he has coached four ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District III selections in the last seven years, including Adam Warren, who was an Academic All-America pick in Fox became the 24th head coach in Carolina history on May 7, 1998, when former Athletic Director Dick Baddour selected the former UNC player and North Carolina Wesleyan College head coach to lead the Tar Heels into the 21st century. Fox is just the third head coach in Chapel Hill since 1947.

Fox has set a high standard of success in his first 14 years on the job, averaging more than 45 wins per season and guiding the Tar Heels to 50 or more victories in four of the last seven seasons. Fox collected his 700th career college coaching victory in 2002, his 800th career win in 2005 and his 900th win in 2007. He reached the 1,000-win mark with a 10-3 victory over Gardner-Webb March 4, 2009 and notched his 1,100th win in 2011.

Overall, 62 Tar Heels to play for Fox over the past 14 years have been drafted by Major League Baseball organizations, including 10 first-round or supplemental selections: Levi Michael in 2011, Matt Harvey in 2010, Dustin Ackley and Alex White in 2009, Andrew Miller and Daniel Bard in 2006, Russ Adams in 2002, Tyrell Godwin in 2000 and Mike Bynum and Kyle Snyder in 1999.

Twenty-eight of Fox's former Tar Heels were on professional rosters in 2012. The 2011 MLB season was a season of firsts for several of Fox's former players as five Tar Heels made their major league debuts. Dustin Ackley and Kyle Seager debuted for the Seattle Mariners, while Andrew Carignan (Oakland Athletics), Tim Federowicz (Los Angeles Dodgers) and Alex White (Cleveland Indians) all played in the majors in 2011. In the past two years Carolina has had eight former players debut in the big leagues, three more than any school in the country.

Fox has coached 26 first-team All-ACC selections, including pitchers Kent Emanuel and Michael Morin last season. Tar Heels have earned 22 different Colin Moran became the fourth Tar Heel under Fox's tutelage to be named ACC Freshman of the Year as he joined Adam Greenberg (2000), Daniel Bard (2004) and Dustin Ackley (2007). Moran also joined Ackley as Baseball America's Freshman of the Year in 2011.

The Tar Heels advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the 11th consecutive year under Fox in 2012 as the team earned its fifth top eight seed in the last six seasons

The 2011 season saw the Tar Heels become the 13th school in NCAA history to appear in five College World Series in a six-year span. Carolina is just one of three teams in the ACC to earn a trip to the NCAA Tournament 10 straight seasons. The 2011 Tar Heels racked up 51 wins on the back of first round draft pick Levi Michael and ACC Freshman of the Year Colin Moran.

Carolina became the first school in ACC history to make four straight trips to the College World Series in 2009. The Tar Heels featured Dustin Ackley, who would finish as UNC's career leader in average, hits, runs and total bases. Ackley was the Tar Heels' top individual performer in 2009, as he posted an ACC-best .417 average and 22 home runs, while also adding 111 hits, 75 runs and 73 RBI. He was named Rivals.com National Player of the Year and became the first three-time All-America in school history.

Paced by the first All-America quartet in school history (Alex White, Kyle Seager, Dustin Ackley and Tim Fedroff), the Tar Heels went 54-14 and reached the College World Series for the third straight season in 2008, placing third. Despite not playing on campus with Boshamer Stadium under construction, Carolina hosted both NCAA regionals and super regionals in Cary and went 5-0 en route to yet another trip to Omaha. Following a series win at then-No. 1 Miami, the Tar Heels earned the first consensus No. 1 ranking in school history May 19. Chad Flack completed his career as Carolina's career leader in hits, games, at-bats and total bases in 2008.

After breaking through with a CWS runner-up finish in 2006, the Tar Heels matched that feat in 2007 despite losing a pair of first-round selections on the mound in Miller and Bard. Carolina won a school record and NCAA-best 57 games and brought home its second straight ACC Coastal Division title and first ACC tournament title since 1990 in the process. In Omaha, Carolina dropped its second game before winning three straight to reach the finals for the second straight season.

In 2006, the Tar Heels captured the ACC's Coastal Division title and reached the College World Series for the first time since 1989. Carolina won a thenschool record 54 games, including a record 38 at home, and hosted its first NCAA Regional at Boshamer Stadium since 1983. The Tar Heels won their second regional under Fox and then captured the Tuscaloosa Super Regional in dramatic fashion to punch their fifth ticket to Omaha. There, Carolina won its first four games before falling to Oregon State in the championship series, two games to

Miller won Baseball America National Player of the Year honors and the Roger Clemens Award as the nation's top pitcher, and he joined Horton as an All-America selection. Senior Jonathan Hovis led the nation in ERA at 1.17, while Flack set Carolina's single-season hit record with 112.

From 2002-05, the Tar Heels won 40-plus games in each season and reached the NCAA Tournament every year. The 2003 squad was at its best in the postseason, sweeping through the NCAA Starkville Regional with a 3-0 record, including a pair of wins over host Mississippi State. The regional victory was the first for Carolina since the 1989 team reached the College

Carolina also earned top-10 national rankings in 2005 and in 2004 with a team that was led by All-Americas Marshall Hubbard and Chris lannetta. Hubbard drove in a schoolrecord 83 runs, while lannetta, who made his major league debut with the Colorado Rockies in 2006, was one of three finalists for the Johnny Bench Award, presented annually to nation's top collegiate catcher. In a recordsetting 2000 season, Carolina posted a 46-17 mark, the second-most victories in a season in school history. Carolina earned the No. 2 seed at the NCAA Regional at Upper Montclair, N.J. and came just one win away from advancing to the NCAA Super Regional.

In his first year on the job, Fox led Carolina to a school-best 16 straight wins to open the 1999 season and, in the midst of going 22-2 to start the year, the Tar Heels peaked at No. 3 the Baseball America rankings. Carolina went on to earn the No. 3 seed in the NCAA Tournament Palo Alto Regional.

Fox came to Carolina after 15 seasons as the head coach at N.C. Wesleyan College in Rocky Mount, where he led the Battling Bishops to 14 NCAA Tournament appearances, eight Division III College World Series appearances and the 1989 NCAA Division III national championship. His teams posted 15 consecutive top-20 finishes in the national polls and won 11 Dixie Conference championships.

Fox also played on the Tar Heel junior varsity basketball team under Eddie Fogler in the 1975 and `76 seasons.

Scott Forbes

Associate Head Coach Eighth Season At Carolina North Carolina Wesleyan, 1998

Collegiate Baseball newspaper's 2008 National College Pitching Coach of the Year, Scott Forbes is in his eighth season mentoring North Carolina's pitching staff and his fourth as the Tar Heels' associate head coach.

Forbes, who has totaled a record of 667-275 in 15 seasons as an assistant coach, has been an instrumental part of the Tar Heels' run to the College World Series in five of the last seven seasons.

Under his guidance, the Carolina pitching staff has ranked among nation's top 35 in earned run average in each of the last seven seasons, including the fourth-lowest ERA in the nation last year.

Baseball America recognized Forbes as one of the top assistant coaches in the country prior to the 2013 campaign.

On the recruiting front, Forbes played in an integral role in landing some of the nation's top talent, as every class brought in to Carolina during his time has been ranked among the top 10 in the country.

Forbes, who is in his second stint in Chapel Hill, was an assistant at UNC from 1999-2002 and served as an assistant at Winthrop University for three seasons before returning to Carolina prior to the 2006 season.

Forbes has watched over the top three strikeout pitchers in UNC history as Andrew Miller, Alex White and Patrick Johnson are the only hurlers to eclipse 300 strikeouts in a career

The Tar Heels had a pair of All-America pitchers in 2012 as starter Kent Emanuel and closer Michael Morin each earned the honor.

In Chapel Hill, 20 of Forbes' pitchers have either been drafted or signed professional contracts over the last six seasons, including first-round picks Daniel Bard (2006), Andrew Miller (2006), Alex White (2009) and Matt Harvey (2010). Forbes and the rest of the UNC staff have gained a reputation of putting the health and future of their pitchers first and foremost, and Miller said it best during the 2006 College World Series: "I appreciate the coaches basically taking care of me. I've seen a lot of pitchers get abused in the postseason. They have my best interests at heart." Miller blossomed under Forbes and was named Baseball America's National Player of the Year, the Roger Clemens Award winner, first-team All-America and the Atlantic Coast Conference Pitcher of the Year, while setting UNC records for singleseason and career strikeouts in 2006. The No. 6 overall pick by the Detroit Tigers, Miller made his major league debut Aug. 30, 2006, and is currently with the Boston Red Sox with fellow first round pick Daniel Bard.

Bard had an outstanding rookie season with the Boston Red Sox in 2009 and has made more than 200 appearances during his time in the big leagues. White was the No. 15 overall selection by the Cleveland Indians in 2010 and made his MLB debut in 2011 before getting traded to the Colorado Rockies.

- Coaching Experience: Assistant Coach, NC Wesleyan (1998); Assistant Coach, North Carolina (1999-2002); Assistant Coach, Winthrop (2003-05); Assistant Coach/Pitching Coach, North Carolina (2006-2008); Associate Head Coach/Pitching Coach, North Carolina (2009-present).

Harvey was the most recent success story under Forbes. The Mystic, Conn., native was drafted in the third round coming out of high school and developed his craft even more at Carolina en route to becoming the No. 7 overall pick in the 2010 draft. Harvey made his MLB debut in 2012 a memorable one with nine strikeouts, the most in a debut by a Met in franchise history.

After working with Forbes and dropping his arm slot prior to the 2007 season, Milwaukee Brewers prospect Rob Wooten emerged as one of the nation's top relievers with 91 appearances over his final two seasons. Wooten earned an invitation to big league camp with the Brewers in 2013.

White anchored the Tar Heels' staff for the second straight season in 2009 and earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second straight season. He was joined on the all-conference team by Brian Moran and Adam Warren, who finished his career second in school history with 32 victories. Additionally, Moran became the fourth pitcher to earn All-America honors under Forbes, joining Carignan, Miller and White. In 2008, White was also named ACC Pitcher of the Year and - along with Wooten - claimed All-ACC honors. Additionally, freshmen right-handers Matt Harvey and Colin Bates earned freshman All-America honors in 2008.

In 2007, right-hander Robert Woodard completed his decorated career as the Tar Heels' career leader in wins and is the only pitcher to rank in the UNC's top 10 in wins, winning percentage, innings and strikeouts. In Miller, Woodard and Warren, Forbes has coached the Tar Heels' career leaders in strikeouts, wins and winning percentage, respectively.

Additionally, Forbes has mentored a pair of relievers to NCAA-best performances, as Jonathan Hovis led the nation with a 1.17 ERA in 2006, and Carignan shared the NCAA lead with 18 saves in 2007.

In his final season at Winthrop, Forbes helped guide the Eagles to one of the finest seasons in program history in 2005, as they won the Big South title, earned the No. 2 seed in the NCAA Knoxville Regional and posted a 44-22 record. He helped coach five All-Americas and five Major League Baseball draft picks while at Winthrop.

Forbes, who was promoted to assistant head coach prior to the 2005 season, served as the Eagles' recruiting coordinator and third base coach. He also worked as the position coach for catchers, outfielders and first basemen and coordinated the Eagles' strength and conditioning program, academic advising, community service and team travel. Forbes joined the Winthrop staff in July 2002.

Prior to his stint with the Éagles, Forbes was on Fox's staff at Carolina for four seasons, helping the Tar Heels to NCAA Regional appearances in 1999, 2000 and 2002. While in Chapel Hill, he assisted long-time pitching coach Roger Williams with instruction for the Tar Heels' hurlers and served as position coach for Carolina's catchers and comer infielders. Forbes also assisted with recruiting and served as director of Carolina's summer camps.

While at UNC, Forbes spent two summers as head coach and pitching coach of the Coastal Plain League's Wilmington Sharks. In 1999, he guided his team to the CPL title and earned the league's Coach of the Year award and tallied a 59-34 overall record in two summers with the team.

After a standout playing career for Fox at North Carolina Wesleyan, Forbes broke into coaching as an assistant with the Battling Bishops during the 1998 season. He served as the team's pitching instructor and called pitches, helping Wesleyan to a 42-9 record and a sixth-place finish at the NCAA Division III College World Series. Forbes also worked as the team's strength coordinator and first base coach.

As a player, Forbes hit .321 at Wesleyan from 1995-97 and led the team to a pair of Dixie Conference titles and a fifth-place finish at the 1997 Division III CWS. As a senior, he hit .387 with 61 RBI and 27 doubles, which set the NCAA Division III single-season record. That season, he earned second-team all-region honors and was named most valuable player of the Dixie Conference Tournament, as well as Wesleyan's MVP. Forbes also earned a spot on the regional all-tournament squad. He spent the 1994 season at Middle Georgia College, where he helped the team to the Georgia junior college state title.

Forbes earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from North Carolina Wesleyan in May 1998. He is married to the former Mandy Passwaters, and the couple has two daughters, Hannah and Ally.

Scott Jackson

Assistant Coach
Fifth Season At Carolina
Campbell, 1998

Scott Jackson is entering his fifth year as an assistant baseball coach and the recruiting coordinator at the University of North Carolina in 2013. Jackson, who joined the Tar Heels in July 2008 after one season at Liberty, works with the offense, including hitting and base running, as well as infield play.

The Tar Heels have a record of 182-72 during Jackson's time in Chapel Hill and have turned in four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including a pair of College World Series showings.

Baseball America recognized Jackson as one of the top assistant coaches in the country prior to the 2013 campaign.

Despite the change in NCAA bat regulation in 2011 the Tar Heels turned in one of the top scoring seasons in school history. Carolina finished 10th in the nation in runs scored by putting up 452 for the season. A big reason for Carolina's run scoring was its ability to draw walks and get on base as the Tar Heels' 358 walks ranked second in the country.

The Tar Heels were a patient group once again in 2012 as they finished with the fourth-most walks in the country.

Jackson's work with the Carolina infield came to fruition in 2011 as the Tar Heels finished fifth in the country and set a new school record with a .979 fielding percentage. Not a single player on the squad committed more than nine errors in 67 games.

Jackson was a big part of Levi Michael's development since stepping on campus. Michael was a Freshman All-America as a second baseman before making the move to third base in 2010 and to shortstop for the 2011 campaign. Michael's versatility appealed to the Minnesota Twins who selected the infielder 30th overall in the 2011 MLB Draft.

Another player to blossom under Jackson's watch has been third baseman Colin Moran.

Moran came to Carolina as an unheralded recruit but has developed into one of the top hitters in the country as he earned All-America honors and was named the Baseball America Freshman of the Year in 2011.

In his first season in Chapel Hill, Jackson helped guide the Tar Heels to their fourth consecutive College World Series appearance, a .313 team batting average and a .970 fielding percentage.

Jackson helped coach three-time All-America Dustin Ackley to Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year honors and also mentored all-conference selection Kyle Seager and freshman All-America Levi Michael. Both Ackley and Seager were selected in the top three rounds of the 2009 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft.

Jackson's efforts on the recruiting trail have also paid off for the Tar Heels pulling in four straight top-10 classes, the 2010 group of newcomers ranked No. 7 nationally, the 2011 class was ranked No. 6, the 2012 crop was ranked No. 4 and the latest edition were ranked No. 5 in the country.

Prior to joining the staff at UNC, Jackson served as pitching coach at Liberty and UNC Wilmington over the last six years but has worked with hitters in coaching stops at Campbell, Barton and Wofford. He also served as head coach of the Wilmington Sharks of the Coastal Plain League in 2002 and earned the league's Coach of the Year Award.

In 2008 at Liberty, Jackson helped guide the Flames to a 35-26-1 record and a runner-up finish in the Big South Tournament to Cary Super Regional participant Coastal Carolina. Two of his pitchers were chosen in the 2008 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft, and his staff recorded a school record 508 strikeouts.

Jackson helped guide UNC Wilmington to one of the most successful periods in school history from 2003-07. He was an integral part of a staff that posted three straight 40-win seasons, won Colonial Athletic Association titles in 2004 and 2006 and reached the NCAA Tournament in 2003, 2004 and 2006.

Under Jackson's tutelage, six Seahawk pitchers were selected in the MLB Draft after going undrafted out of high school. His pitching staff established a number of school records at Wilmington, including strikeouts and saves. Jackson also had coaching stints at Campbell (2002), Barton (2001) and Wofford (2000). In addition to his collegiate work, Jackson also spent two seasons with the Wilmington Sharks, where he was an assistant to fellow North Carolina assistant Scott Forbes in 2000. He led the Sharks to a league-best 31-17 mark in 2002 as head coach and coached five MLB draft picks.

Jackson is a 1998 graduate of Campbell with a bachelor's degree in physical education and he earned a master's degree in education in 2000, also from Campbell. During his playing days with the Camels, he played seven different positions and posted a career .268 batting average in 182 games. A Charlotte native, Jackson is married to the former Sara Moore, who was a standout basketball player at Campbell. The couple has two sons, Ryan and Tyler.

Holden Thorp

Chancellor Fifth Year At Carolina

Holden Thorp took office as Carolina's 10th chancellor on July 1, 2008. He has invested three decades of his life at the University, starting as an undergraduate student who earned a bachelor of science degree with honors in 1986. Through his research, Thorp developed technology for electronic DNA chips and founded spin-off companies. He raised money for a science complex that has helped boost faculty research productivity, served as director of the Morehead Planetarium and Science Center and was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Thorp announced in September 2012 that he planned to step down, effective June 30, 2013. A Kenan Professor, he will resume his research and teaching in the chemistry department

A North Carolina native, Thorp grew up in a Fayetteville family steeped in UNC traditions dating to the 1800s. When he graduated from Terry Sanford High School, the only college on his application list was Carolina, where he earned a bachelor of science degree with honors in 1986.

Attending a world-class research university - where the same people conduct research and teach - allowed Thorp to work in chemistry labs with top faculty and inspired him to become a professor. He pursued that dream at the California Institute of Technology, where he earned a doctorate in chemistry in 1989, and at Yale University for postgraduate work. After teaching a year at NC State, he returned to UNC to teach chemistry in 1993. He was chair of the chemistry department and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences before becoming chancellor.

Thorp is driven to be sure that UNC students today have the same opportunities that he had as an undergraduate. "Carolina students are inspired to tackle the great problems facing the world," he says.

Thorp's priorities include protecting Carolina's legendary commitment to providing a high-quality education at an affordable price - core values that have kept the University and the chancellor in the spotlight as leaders during a national debate about college costs and the future of U.S. higher education. Thorp was among a dozen college presidents and higher education leaders invited to the White House with the president to discuss how campuses can become more affordable while producing more graduates.

The chancellor serves on the national Commission on Higher Education Attainment, which was created by the six presidentially based higher education associations to chart a course for improving college retention and attainment and, in turn, restoring the nation's higher education preeminence. He is also on the national Homeland Security Academic Advisory Council.

Under Thorp's leadership, UNC launched "Innovate@Carolina: Important Ideas for a Better World," a roadmap for innovation in science, business, medicine, nonprofits and academia. He serves on the president's National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship, which held its first national forum in Chapel Hill, and co-authored "Engines of Innovation — The Entrepreneurial University in the 21st Century," a UNC Press book that makes the case for the pivotal role of research universities as agents of societal change. Royalties support innovation at UNC. He has published 130 scholarly articles on the electronic properties of DNA and RNA, holds 12 issued U.S. patents and co-founded Viamet Pharmaceuticals, which is developing drugs for prostate cancer and fungal infections. In 2012, Thorp was selected a charter fellow of the National Academy of Inventors, a nonprofit organization that recognizes investigators who translate their research findings into inventions to benefit society.

An accomplished musician who plays jazz bass and keyboard, Thorp is married to Patti Worden Thorp, a Hope Mills native and UNC Greensboro graduate. Their children are John and Emma.

From 1988-2002, Cunningham worked in the athletics department at the University of Notre Dame. Cunningham served as associate director of athletics for external affairs from 2000-02. He renegotiated the school's footwear contract, developed a communications and marketing plan, created marketing teams for all 26 varsity sports, increased corporate sponsorship income, created a financial/equity plan for the department and served as chairman of the NCAA Division I Women's Golf Committee.

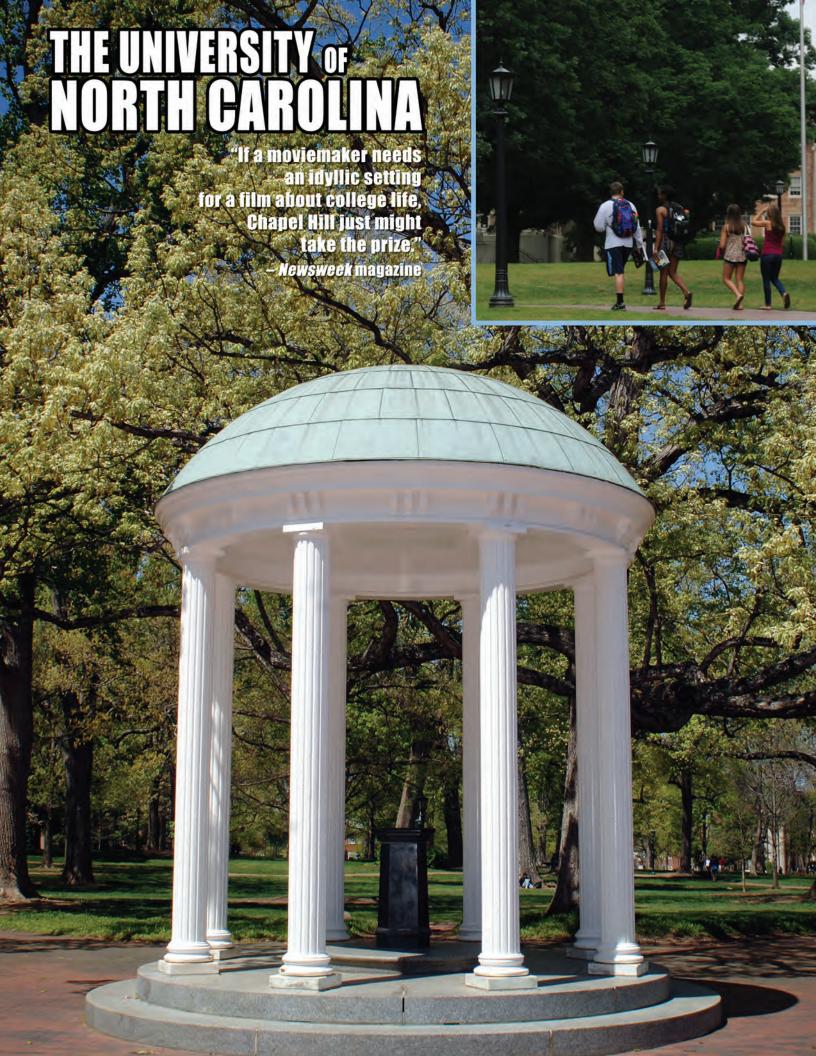

Cunningham earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in business administration, both from Notre Dame, in 1984 and 1988, respectively. He played on the Irish golf team in 1982-83.

Cunningham serves on the NCAA Division I Men's Golf Committee, is a member of NACDA's Executive Committee, and was on the Board of Directors of the Alzheimers Association of Oklahoma and the Folds of Honor Foundation Board. "I like to believe I am an example of what the UNC system is all about taking small-town kids and giving them worldly exposure so that they can contribute in their communities and wherever opportunities lead them."

- John Skipper President of ESPN, UNC Graduate

Advancing to graduation,

Building Character,

Developing leadership

 The Academic Support Program assists Tar Heel student-athletes in exploring their interests and abilities, enjoying a broad educational experience, and reaching or exceeding their academic goals.

LOUDERMILK CENTER FOR EXCELLENCE

- The Academic Support Program is housed in the Loudermilk Center for Excellence, a 150,000-square-foot facility that serves all of Carolina's nearly 800 student-athletes across 28 varsity sports. The Loudermilk Center's largest feature is the John W. Pope Student-Athlete Academic Support Center. This 29,000-square-foot facility provides classrooms for teaching and tutoring, study rooms and office space, as well as a writing lab and computer lab. It also houses the Baddour Carolina Leadership Academy, which offers leadership training for Carolina student-athletes, coaches and staff.
- During the 2011-12 academic year, 290 Carolina student-athletes earned spots on the ACC Academic Honor Roll, which is open to members of varsity squads who earn a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 for the year. In the fall of 2011, 129 student-athletes made the Dean's List, and 124 did so in the spring of 2012.
- The Academic Support Program helps freshmen transition from high school to college through a variety of academic programs such as academic counseling, individual tutoring, group review sessions and supplemental instruction.

UNC student-athletes have the opportunity to participate in the Carolina Leadership Academy. As the nation's premier leadership development program in collegiate athletics, the Carolina Leadership Academy develops, challenges and supports student-athletes, coaches and staff in their continual quest to become world-class leaders in athletics, academics and life.

The Carolina Leadership Academy provides comprehensive and cutting-edge leadership development programming through interactive workshops, 360-degree feedback, one-on-one coaching, peer mentoring and educational resources.

Developing World-Class Leaders for a Lifetime of Service and Success

The Carolina Leadership Academy consists of three programs:

CREED Program

Leadership training begins in the freshman year. All leadership begins with personal leadership, therefore freshmen are taught skills to effectively lead themselves. Training consists of monthly meetings featuring keynote speakers and small group discussion. Upperclass student-athletes serve as peer mentors and discussion leaders. Special focus is on responsibility, accountability, making good choices, ethics and character building.

Rising Stars Program

Designed for a select group of "high potential" sophomores and juniors, the program provides future leaders with insights, strategies and skills necessary to become effective leaders. The program includes monthly meetings, interactive exercises and action learning experiences.

Veteran Leaders Program

This program is designed for team captains and veteran student-athletes. It provides advanced leadership training and support, teaches the critical skills and insights necessary to be effective vocal leaders and provides a strong peer network. Student-athletes meet regularly to learn and reinforce leadership principles and share successes, frustrations and lessons.

BADDOUR CAROUNA LEADERSHIP A CADEMY

One of the Tar Heels annual community service events is the Miracle League.

Carolina CREED

As a University of North Carolina studentathlete, I pledge to make every effort to abide by the Carolina CREED as a show of my commitment to the University, the Department of Athletics, my team and myself.

- C I will know and embrace the tradition and CULTURE of this great University and its athletics department
- R I will RESPECT myself and others
- E I will pursue EXCELLENCE in my academic work by striving to reach my academic potential while preparing for a career of significance
- E I will EXCEL athletically by committing myself to performance excellence, team success and continual improvement
- D I will DEVELOP the capacity to effectively lead myself and others

BOSHAMER STADIUM

With the 2009 opening of the state-of-the art Boshamer Stadium, the University of North Carolina baseball program can now call one of the finest facilities in all of collegiate baseball home.

The completely new facility, built within the same footprint as the old Boshamer Stadium, brings incredible upgrades to the program, and the changes allow Tar Heel student-athletes to compete at the highest level in an atmosphere unlike any other venue in collegiate baseball. Located on Ridge Road in the heart of the Carolina campus, the site of Boshamer Stadium has been the home of the Diamond Heels since the late 1960s when Emerson Field was razed due to University expansion. Ground was broken on the new stadium in October 2007 and the team moved into its brand-new home in February 2009

The original Boshamer was opened in 1972 and hosted five Atlantic Coast Conference Tournaments, as well as NCAA regionals in 1983, 2006 and 2007. The Tar Heels closed "The Bosh" in style with a Super Regional victory over South Carolina in 2007 to advance to the program's sixth College World Series.

Boshamer Stadium was a gift from 1917 Carolina graduate and textile industrialist Cary C. Boshamer of Gastonia, N.C.

Listed capacity of 4,100 with room for overflow crowds of more than 5,000. There is chairback seating throughout the facility, and fans can enjoy clean sightlines throughout the facility, a wider concourse and vastly improved restroom, concession and merchandise facilities.

The concourse level also features a Hall of Honor space on the third base line that offers stunning views of the action. Additionally, 10 picnic tables will be scattered throughout the facility, and a small grass area, reminiscent of the grassy bank at the old stadium, is located on the first base line.

A new stadium entrance, featuring Steinbrenner Family Courtyard, creates a scenic gateway to the ballpark.

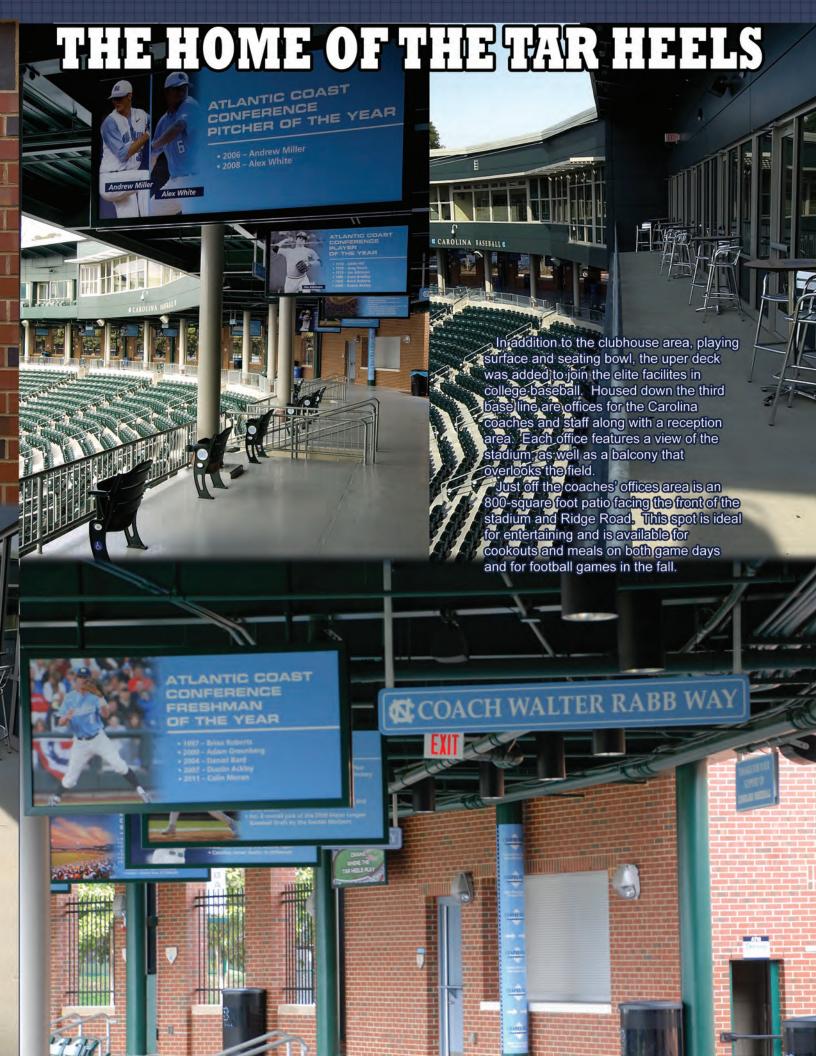

Both dugouts are 75 feet long and completed with padded benches and cubbies for each player. The dugouts feature poured rubber floors with camera wells on each end.

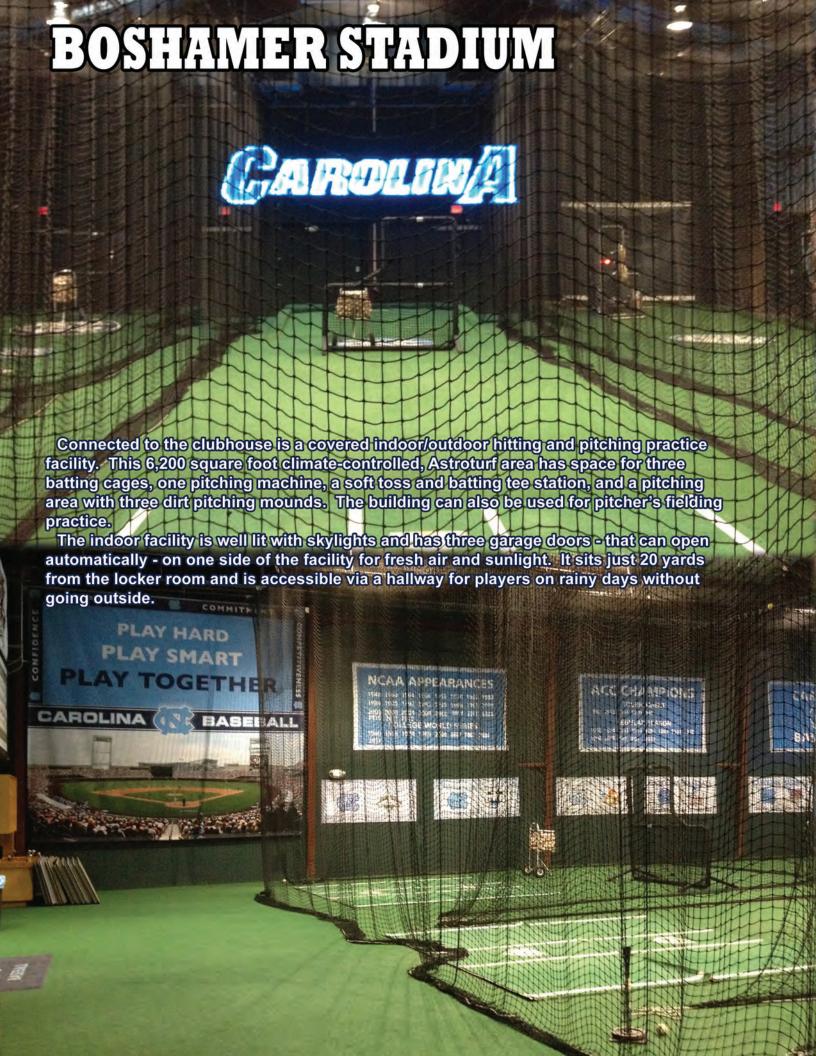

The stadium also features a new lighting system that exceeds AAA minor league standards and is on par with the finest professional stadiums.

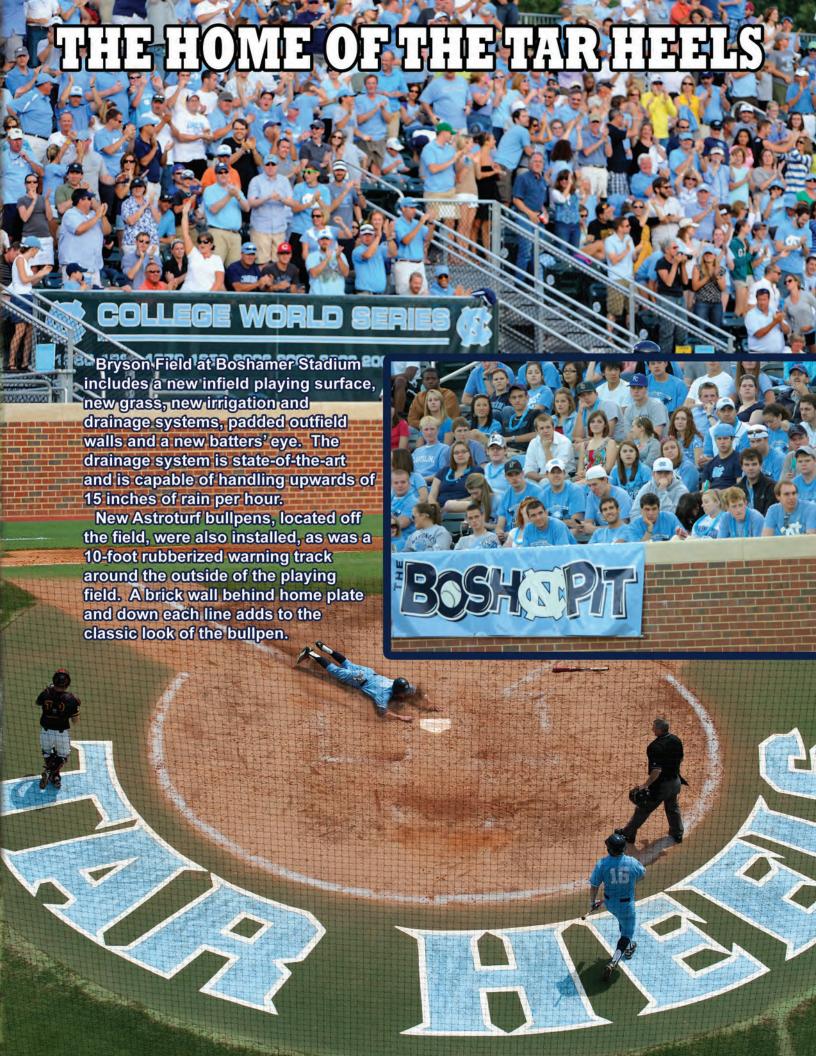

The dimensions of the playing field are 335 feet down the left field line, 370 to left center, 400 to center field, 355 to right center and 340 down the right field line.

The 2013 season will see the addition of a state-of-the-art video board thanks to a generous donation from letterman Vaughn Bryson and other Carolina baseball supporters.

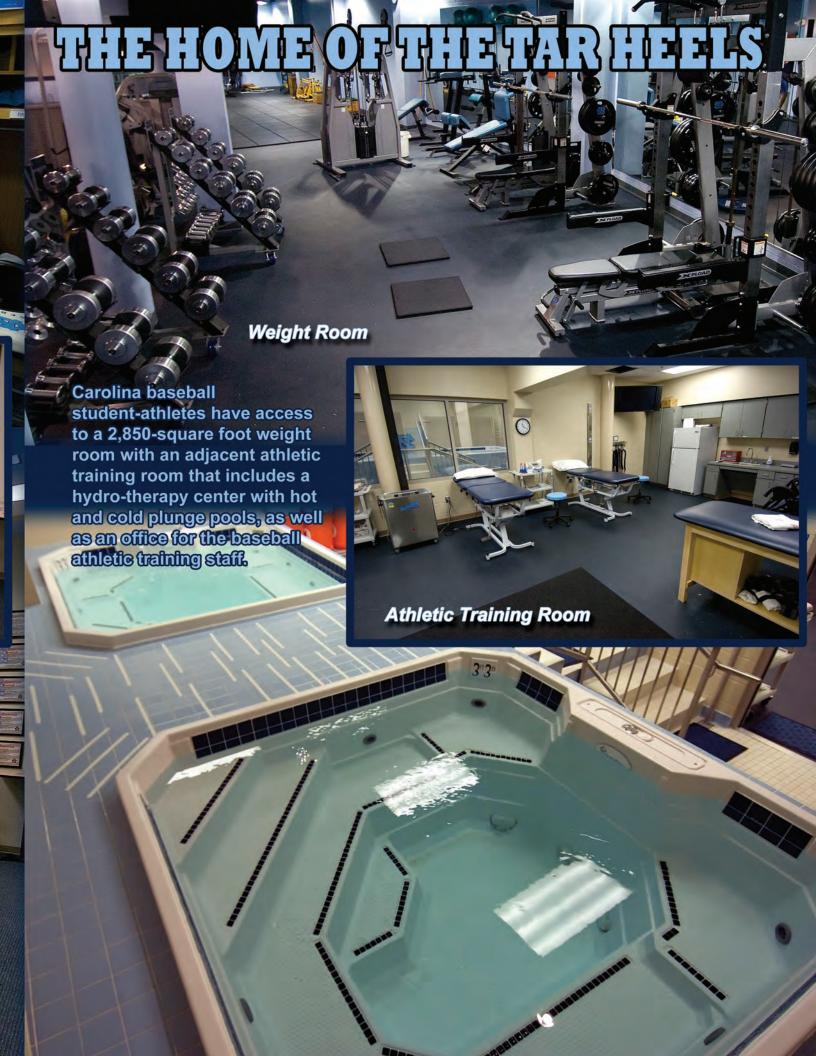

The Carolina Baseball Hall of Honor shows a variety of Carolina baseball artifacts from their rich history of eight College World Series appearances. Different displays will showcase the Old Leaguers, Carolina's 17 First-Team All-America selections, College World Series trophies, NCAA postseason play, Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and eight ACC Players or Pitchers of the Year. Other highlights will include Major League Baseball draft board, bat and ball displays, CWS rings and Carolina Baseball tribute videos. The Carolina Baseball Hall of Honor is open before each home game.

- North Carolina set an ACC record with four straight trips to the College World Series.
- The Tar Heels have appeared in nine College World Series, one of only 15 teams in the country to do so.
- With a pair of GWS final series appearances, the Tar Heels joined Texas and Oregon State as the only teams to play for the national title twice since the NGAA went to its current format in 2008. Texas has played in the final three times.
- Dustin Ackley and Carrett Core each etched their names in the CWS record books.
 Ackley established a record with 23 career base hits, while Core set the career CWS games played mark with 21.
- Chad Flack, who started all 18 CWS games from 2007-09, set an Omaha record with 73 career at-bats and finished his career with 22 hits in CWS play, which ranks fourth all-time.

OMATIA ESTRETANCE

- Playing on the biggest stage in college baseball, the Tar Heels have been nationally televised by ESPN networks more than 20 times from Omaha.
- To help ESPN prepare for their broadcasts, players and members of the Tar Heels' staff have had the chance to meet with former major league greats Orel Hershiser, Barry Larkin, Robin Ventura, Eric Karros and Harold Reynolds.
- Carolina played in front of more than 20,000 speciators at Rosenblatt Stadium 16 times and the 30,422 fans that took in UNC's 7-8 win over LSU in 2008 is the largest crowd in UNC baseball history.
- The Tar Heels opened the newest addition to Omaha in 2011 when they played the first game in TD Ameritrade Park, the new home of the CWS.

HELP PROVIDE THE TAR HEEL EXPERIENCE

The University of North Carolina is an exceptional place. You know it from your time on campus. Maybe it is the bells, or even the Well, or perhaps the stone walls. It most certainly is the people. Whatever factors play into it, the "Tar Heel Experience" is something that all Carolina alumni, students, fans and supporters can deeply appreciate.

Members of The Rams Club provide life changing opportunities for accomplished student-athletes to experience this exceptional place. They provide the resources for them to excel as competitors, students and leaders. By renewing your membership in The Rams Club or by joining as a new member, the Tar Heel Experience remains possible for deserving student-athletes.

MAKE AN IMPACT

Annual Fund

The Rams Club has over 16,000 members who contribute to the Annual Fund. Your annual donation as a member of The Rams Club is vital to helping to cover the immediate funding needs of Carolina Athletics, particularly the cost of providing 450 scholarships annually.

Carolina Forever

Carolina Forever provides an opportunity for donors to leave a lasting legacy and ensure the future of Carolina Athletics. Giving to this program will allow the member substantial tax benefits while also giving generous support to Carolina's athletic programs.

Scholarship Endowment

Giving to the Scholarship Endowment fund allows donors to provide critical, long-term support for Carolina's athletic scholarship program. The cost to endow a scholarship is $500,000, payable over 5 years. Its annual yield helps cover the 450 scholarships provided by Carolina Athletics.

Sports Endowments

Each of Carolina's sports programs has its own endowment which members can contribute toward in addition to their annual fund donation. Sport endowments are integral to Carolina's commitment to a broad-based athletic program and allow each program to meet its specific needs.

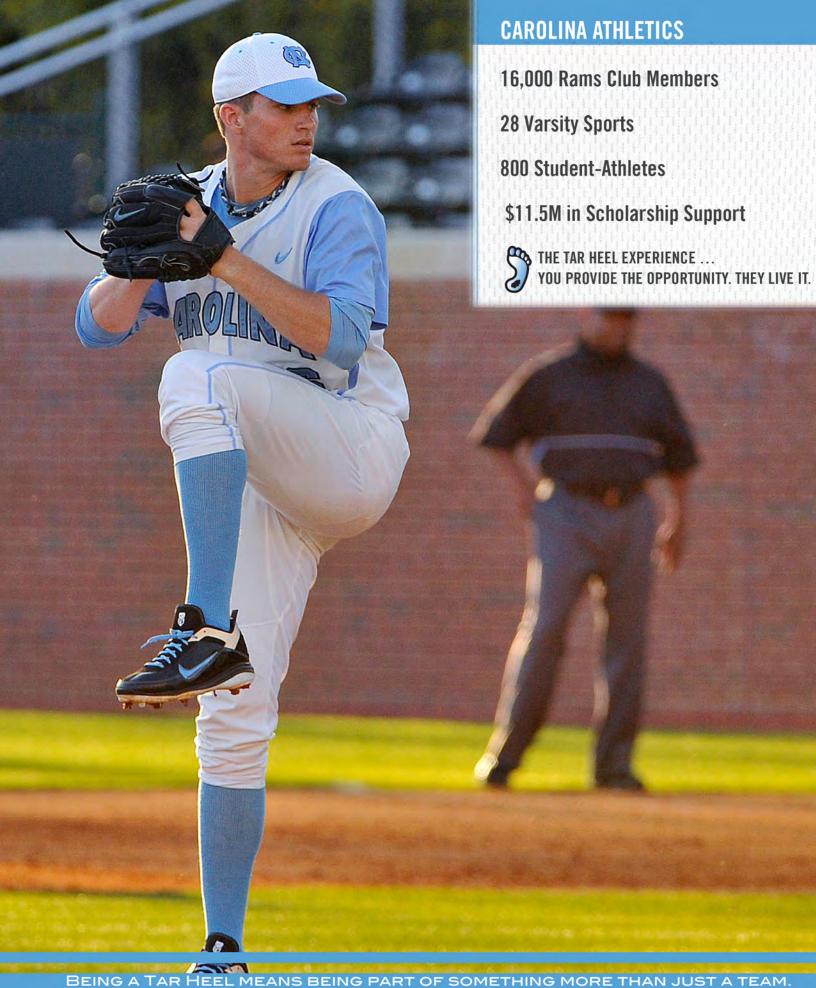

IT IS BEING A PART OF, AND REPRESENTING ONE OF THE GREATEST HISTORIES

AND TRADITIONS IN COLLEGE SPORTS. I'M SHANE TAYLOR AND I'M A TAR HEEL.

The 2012 North Carolina baseball season ended quicker than anticipated as the Tar Heels were upset in the regional round by St. John's.

The regional round exit was only the second for the Tar Heels since the 2005 season. Carolina claimed its fourth ACC Coastal Division title since 2006 with a 22-8 conference mark in 2012.

National Seed Once Again

- The Tar Heels earned the No. 6 national seed after their 44-14 regular season, marking the fifth time in the last six seasons that the Tar Heels were a top eight national seed.
- The five times that Carolina has been named a national seed the Tar Heels have never been lower than a 6 seed.
- The 2008 squad was the No. 2 seed, the 2009 group was a No. 4 seed, the 2007 and 2011 teams were No. 3 seeds and the 2012 group received the No. 6 seed.

40 Wins Once Again

- Carolina reached the 40-win plateau for the 19th time in school history in the weekend sweep of Virginia Tech and posted 46 wins in 2012.
- The Tar Heels have won at least 40 games 10 times in the last 11 years.
- The 44 regular season wins tied for the third-most in the country in 2012 and one shy of the nation's top mark of 47 held by Utah Valley.
- Carolina has posted the most wins in the country since 2006, outdistancing second place Florida State by a 12 wins, 348-336.

Another Successful Draft

- The 2012 season snapped a string of three straight years that a Tar Heel was taken in the first round of the MLB Draft but Carolina was still well represented.
- Five Tar Heels were taken in the 2012 MLB Draft, along with four signees.
- Leading the way was senior catcher Jacob Stallings who was taken in the seventh round by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

- Junior right-hander Michael Morin was the next Tar Heel to go when the Los Angeles Angels fo Anaheim tabbed the UNC closer in the 13th round.
- A pair of Tar Heels went in the 16th round when the Tampa Bay Rays selected infielder Tommy Coyle and the Cleveland Indians took right-hander Cody Penny.
- Left-hander R.C. Orlan was the last Tar Heel to go off the board when the Washington Nationals selected Orlan in the 30th round.
- Carolina had four signees taken in the 2012 MLB Draft, including a supplemental pick in Matt Smoral. Smoral was the only signee to sign with a big league club as infielder Landon Lassiter (16th round, Arizona), outfielder Skye Bolt (26th round, Washington) and catcher Korey Dunbar (39th, Los Angeles Dodgers) all elected to attend UNC.
- Carolina has had 70 players taken in the MLB First Year Player Draft since head coach Mike Fox took over the program in 1999, including 12 in the first and supplemental rounds.

Morin Sets ACC And UNC Saves Mark

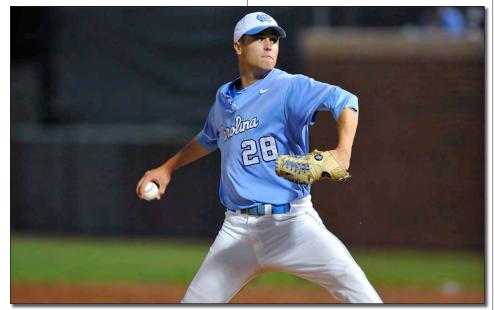

- Junior closer Michael Morin turned in one of the top seasons in Carolina history in 2012.
- Morin racked up 19 saves in 38 appearances for the Tar Heels in 2012 while posting a 6-4 record along with a 1.64 ERA.
- The 19 saves set a UNC and ACC single season record as he eclipsed the previous mark set by Andrew Carignan and Thad Chrisman in 2007 and 1993, respectively.
- Morin closed out his career with 32 career saves to finish third in the UNC career record book.

Morin Hauls In All-America Honors

- Thanks to Morin's record saves totals he was named an All-America by several publications.
- Morin was a first team selection by Perfect Game, Collegiate Baseball, ABCA and NCBWA.
- Baseball America tabbed Morin as a third team All-America.

Orlan Provides Double-Barrell Option

- Junior left-hander R.C. Orlan was almost as dominant out of the bullpen as Morin was in 2012.
- Orlan also made 38 appearances and posted an 8-1 record with a 2.21 ERA from the left side.
- Orlan and Morin combined to close the door on a number of games for the Tar Heels in 2012 as the pair contributed in nearly all 46 wins.

All-America closer Michael Morin set a UNC and ACC single-season record with 19 saves.

Junior Tommy Coyle was drafted in the 16th round by the Tampa Bay Rays after a successful three-year career at UNC.

- Freshman right-hander Benton Moss emerged as the Saturday starter early in the 2012 season and earned Freshman All-America plaudits thanks to a 7-2 record and a 1.94 ERA in his initial campaign.
- Sophomore left-hander Hobbs Johnson showed his potential early in the season with several long-relief appearances but did not break into the rotation until late in the year.
- Johnson made seven starts as a sophomore and produced a 7-1 record and a 1.56 ERA for the Tar Heels.

Four Tar Heels Earn All-ACC Honors

- North Carolina placed four student-athletes on the 2012 All-Atlantic Coast Conference teams as voted on by the league coaches.
- Junior closer Michael Morin and sophomore starter Kent Emanuel both earned All-ACC First Team honors. The pair of All-ACC First Team pitchers marks the first time in school history that two Carolina pitchers were named to the first team.
- Morin was one of the top closers in the country posting an 6-4 record with a 1.40 ERA in 58.0 innings pitched on the year. The junior right-hander closed the door on a league-high 19 saves. Morin was the first Tar Heel closer since Andrew Carignan in 2007 to earn All-ACC First Team honors.
- Emanuel turned in a stellar sophomore campaign with an 8-4 record and the second-lowest ERA in the conference at 1.96. The Woodstock, Ga., native opened the year with five straight wins and closed it with three more victories. Emanuel produced a quality start in 14 of his 15 starts this season and becomes the first Tar Heel sophomore pitcher since Alex White to earn All-ACC First Team honors.

- Carolina also had a pair of position players earn All-ACC Second Team honors with senior catcher Jacob Stallings and sophomore DH Brian Holberton being named to the squad.
- Stallings became the first Tar Heel catcher to earn an All-ACC mention since Tim Federowicz was named to the second team in 2008. Tar Heels In Summer Baseball

Each year, Carolina has a long standing tradition of placing its players in the most prestigous wooden bat summer leagues in the country, including the Cape Cod League and the Coastal Plain League. This past summer, the Tar Heels placed three players with the famed Chatham A's on the Cape.

"(Carolina) has been gracious enough to make sure we get quality kids," Chatham manager John Schiffner said. "We reciprocate by treating them well. There's Carolina blue in Chatham blue and vice versa."

"(The Cape) is such a classy league," UNC head coach Mike Fox said. "The coaches up here really understand what their purpose is and why the kids are here. They don't abuse them and they treat them with respect. There really are no negatives to the Cape Cod League."

The Tar Heels also place a number of players in the Coastal Plain League, which features teams throughout North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia. Carolina also sends players to the Northwoods League which features teams throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Canada.

Carolina Old Leaguers
The Carolina Old Leaguers is a group of former UNC baseball monogram winners whose primary goal is to encourage support of the University and the Tar Heel baseball program. The Old Leaguers have established an endowed scholarship for baseball in honor of former head coach Walter Rabb and in memory of his wife Amy.

The Old Leaguers meet annually on a fall weekend in Chapel Hill where they play golf, attend a football game and have a lunch picnic at Boshamer Stadium. It's always a great opportunity to mingle and see old friends.

Please contact Dave Arendas in the UNC Baseball Office by phone (919-962-6999) with address changes or information.

Atlantic Coast Conference Baseball

- A Tradition Of Excellence

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now, in its 60th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 127 national championships, including 67 in women's competition and 60 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 145 times in men's competition and 104 times in women's action.

The ACC saw nine teams – Clemson, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Miami, North Carolina, NC State, Virginia and Wake Forest – ranked nationally for all or part of the regular season. That produced a balanced field for the 39th annual ACC Baseball Championship, which was held May 23-27 at NewBridge Bank Park in Greensboro, N.C. The balance of the conference was reflected in the championship game, which saw eighth-seeded Georgia Tech score an 8-5 win over sixth-seeded Miami in the title game. MVP Jake Davies hit four home runs, drove in 11 runs and delivered a solid starting pitching performance in a May 26 win over Clemson to help the Yellow Jackets become the lowest seed to capture the tournament title.

Marquee honors for the regular season went to Player of the Year James Ramsey, the dynamic centerfielder who led Florida State to the Atlantic Division title, and NC State's Carlos Rodon, who posted a 9-0 regular-season record on the mound and became the first player to be named both the ACC Pitcher and ACC Freshman of the Year. FSU coach Mike Martin, whose team tied an ACC regular-season record for conference wins with 24, was voted the ACC Coach of the Year.

Eleven ACC players – Ramsey, Rodon, Clemson third baseman Richie Shaffer, Duke pitcher Marcus Stroman, Florida State first baseman Jayce Boyd, second baseman Devon Travis and pitcher Robert Benincasa, North Carolina pitchers Kent Emanuel and Michael Morin, and NC State shortstop Chris Diaz and third baseman Trea Turner – were named to at least one All-America team. Ramsey earned National Player of the Year accolades from the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA).

Eight conference student athletes – Florida State pitchers Mike Compton and Brandon Leibrandt, North Carolina pitcher Benton Moss, NC State's Rodon and Turner, Virginia outfielder Derek Fisher and Virginia Tech catcher Mark Zagunis – were named to at least one Freshman All-America team.

A total of 50 ACC players were taken in the 40-round Major League Draft, including first-round selections Stroman, Ramsey and Shaffer. It marked the eighth straight year that at least three ACC Players were taken in the opening round and the seventh straight year that at least 50 players from the conference were selected.

North Carolina's Morin set an ACC single-season record with 19 saves. NC State's Turner led the nation with 57 stolen bases, six steals shy of the ACC single-season record.

In addition to collecting honors for his talents on the diamond, FSU's Ramsey was recognized as the Capital One Academic Player of the Year and the 2012 Lowe's Senior CLASS Award winner. Ramsey was joined on the Capital One Academic All-America first team by Clemson designated hitter Phil Pohl, and Georgia Tech outfielder Brandon Thomas earned second-team honors.

Seven ACC teams earned spots in the 2012 NCAA Championship. It marked the seventh time in the last eight years that the ACC had placed at least seven teams among the 64-team field.

The conference boasted two of the top six national seeds, as Florida State was seeded No. 3 overall and North Carolina was at No. 6. Those teams were joined in postseason play by Clemson, Georgia Tech, Miami, NC State and Virginia. Florida State and NC State advanced to Super Regional play, with FSU moving on from there to the 66th College World Series at Omaha, Neb.

The Seminoles' trip to the CWS was their 21st overall and their 15th under Martin. The ACC has sent 15 teams to Omaha since 2006. FSU opened the College World Series with a tough 4-3 loss to Arizona in 12 innings, then bounced back to defeat Stony Brook by a 12-2 count in the losers' bracket game. The Seminoles remained alive by downing second-seeded UCLA, 4-1, in their third game before bowing out with a loss in a rematch with Arizona. Florida State now has 174 all-time wins in NCAA Tournament play following three regional wins, a Super Regional sweep of Stanford and two CWS wins in 2012.

The ACC Championship will be held in the Durham Bulls Athletic Park in 2013.
