First stop on the Road to Omaha: LSU hosts its 13th consecutive regional and 14th overall this weekend at Alex Box Stadium

- LSU enters the NCAA Tournament as the leader in all-time winning percentage at .731 (90-31), and is fifth in wins.
- This marks the second time that three Louisiana schools have been in a regional at Baton Rouge. It happened in 1998, the last year of the old six-team regionals, when Tulane, UL-Lafayette and Nicholls St. were all in Baton Rouge.
- LSU is in the NCAA Tournament for the 14th consecutive year, the fourth longest active streak behind Miami (30), Florida State (25) and Clemson (16).
- LSU is the only SEC school to make the NCAA Tournament in every year since 1996 and one of only two (Auburn is the other) to make it in every year since 1999.
- LSU has the longest active streak of hosting regionals. The next longest streak is Stanford with eight consecutive seasons.
- The Tigers are 48-9 all-time at Alex Box Stadium when hosting a regional, and have won 11 of the 13 regionals contested here.

Scouting the field: LSU is familiar with all three teams in the field, as all are annual opponents for the Tigers.

- UL-Lafayette comes in on a three-game losing streak after going two-and-out in the Sun Belt tournament.
- The Cajuns are making their fifth appearance in the last six years under Tony Robichaux and their ninth regional trip overall.
- Tulane is in a regional for a record fifth consecutive year under Rick Jones, but has fewer than 40 wins entering a regional for the first time in seven trips under Jones.
- Tulane has won 17 of 25 games since losing 9-5 to LSU on April 10 at the Superdome.
- Southern is the only SWAC school to win an NCAA regional game, defeating Cal St. Fullerton in 1987 and UL-Monroe (coached by Smoke Laval) in 1999.
- Coach Roger Cador won his 500th career game at his alma mater earlier this year, and is the second longest-tenured coach in Louisiana college baseball behind Wilbert Ellis of Grambling.

LSU vs. Southern: LSU has won 37 of 38 meetings with the cross-town Jaguars, including a 13-2 triumph on April 16.

- Southern's lone win in the series was an 11-6 victory on March 6, 2001 at Alex Box Stadium.
- The Tigers won the only post-season meeting between the schools, 6-3 in 1999.

LSU vs. UL-Lafayette: The Cajuns swept LSU 2-1 and 7-0 this year, but the Tigers are 3-0 in NCAA regional meetings.

- The Tigers defeated the Cajuns 8-0 in 1990, 8-5 in the 1991 regional championship game, and 15-6 in 1998.
- UL-Lafayette swept a two-game series from LSU for the first time since 1994.

LSU vs. Tulane: LSU leads the oldest athletic rivalry for both schools, 152-115-3.

- LSU is 4-2 vs. the Green Wave in post-season, but Tulane won last year's super regional at Zephyr Field 2-1.
- Tulane won 6-5 at Baton Rouge on March 5, but LSU won 9-5 at the Superdome on April 10 in front of a record crowd of 27,673.

 Smoke Laval in regionals at UL-Monroe: 2-6

Tigers tough on in-state foes in post-season
 LSU enters the regional with an 18-2 all-time mark against Louisiana foes in NCAA tournament play. The two losses came last June 2 and 3 at the super regional at Zephyr Field to Tulane as the Green Wave advance to its first College World Series.

Against this year's regional field, LSU is 3-0 vs. UL-Lafayette, 4-2 vs. Tulane and 1-0 vs. Southern. The Tigers have also faced UNO (3-0), UL-Monroe (3-0), Louisiana Tech (1-0), SLU (1-0), Northwestern St. (1-0) and Nicholls St. (1-0) in the post-season.

LSU was 10-4 vs. in-state foes during the regular season, including a 2-3 mark against the regional field (1-0 vs. Southern, 1-1 vs. Tulane and 0-2 vs. UL-Lafayette).

One end of the scale to the other
 With the new emphasis on geography in selecting this year's NCAA tournament field, it was to be expected the Tigers would get at least one and probably two other in-state schools in their regional.

But now LSU has the distinction of hosting the first ever regional where no school had to travel 100 miles. Tulane is 81 miles from the LSU campus, while UL-Lafayette is 59 miles away and Southern a mere 11 miles up I-110. The round-trip mileage for the three schools is 304 miles, nearly 100 miles short of the 400 that the committee wanted to limit teams to.

Last year, Baton Rouge had the distinction of being the only regional with no teams within 1,000 miles of the site as VCU, California and Minnesota visited The Box.

Strength in numbers

LSU's regional is one of only two that features three teams who have made it to the College World Series since 2000. LSU and UL-Lafayette reached Omaha in 2000, with the Tigers bringing home their fifth national championship and the Cajuns finishing a strong third. Last year, Tulane finished fifth in their initial CWS visit.

The Palo Alto regional is the only other regional with three recent CWS participants in Stanford (three straight years), San Jose St. (2000) and Cal St. Fullerton (two of the last three).

Heath makes SEC Tournament team again
LSU left fielder Matt Heath made his last SEC Tournament appearance a memorable one, as he repeated on the all-tournament team that was announced after Alabama's victory over South Carolina in the championship game Sunday.

The senior from Florida was 5-for-11 in the Tigers' four tournament games, and in two years at LSU, he was 12-for-26 (.462) in eight SEC Tournament games.

Heath becomes the first Tiger to make the all-tournament team in consecutive years in a combined tournament since Chris Mook won such honors in 1991 and 1992. Russ Johnson was named to the all-tournament team for the Western Division tournament in 1993 and 1994. In fact, Mook, Johnson and Heath are the only three Tigers to receive consecutive all-SEC Tournament honors.

Heath has had a fine month of May, batting .400 (16-for-40) with three home runs and 11 RBI to raise his season batting average to .307. He is one of four Tigers with a team high seven home runs and continues to lead the team in runs scored with 53.

Mestepey repeats on All-SEC first team

Last week, Lane Mestepey joined Todd Walker as the only two LSU players to be named first team All-SEC in their freshman and sophomore seasons.

Mestepey certainly has earned his status as one of the SEC's best hurlers, as the sophomore left-hander heads into the regional with an 11-3 record and a 2.64 ERA. Mestepey leads the SEC with seven complete games and has not failed to reach the eight inning in a start since April 5, a span of eight mound appearances. Barring a blowup in the NCAA Tournament, Mestepey will become the first LSU starter to post an ERA of under three since Eddie Yarnall's 2.38 mark in 1996. Mestepey is already the first Tiger to win 10 games as both a freshman and a sophomore.

The local product from Zachary has been one of the big reasons of the Tigers' 24-7 mark since March 30, as he is 7-1 with a 1.98 ERA during that stretch, allowing two runs or fewer in five of his eight starts in that time.

Mestepey will take the mound this weekend with a 23.1 inning scoreless streak at home, as the southpaw has shut out Arkansas and Alabama in his last two home starts, not yielding a run since the third inning on April 12 against Georgia. Mestepey enters the weekend second in the SEC in ERA and first in complete games and innings pitched (126.1).

Familiarity breeds winning

LSU won't have to do much scouting on its three opponents in this weekend's NCAA regional, and in fact, if the Tigers see an opponent in the regular season prior to a regional, the post-season matchup bodes well for LSU.

The Tigers are 26-4 all-time in NCAA Tournament play when it faces a team it met earlier in that regular season. The four losses are all in super regional play, as LSU was 0-2 at Alabama in 1999 and 1-2 at Tulane in 2001.

The Tigers are 19-0 in regional play vs. previous opponents, including a perfect 7-0 mark vs. the three teams in this year's regional field (1-0 vs. Southern and 3-0 vs. both UL-Lafayette and Tulane).

LSU has not faced a new opponent in regional play since 1999 when they went 2-1 against East Carolina. LSU's only first-time opponent in 2002 was Birmingham-Southern, whom LSU swept in the season opening series.

LSU looking to reach Omaha title-less

If LSU survives the regional and super regionals, it will mark just the third time the Tigers will reach Omaha without some sort of hardware in its possession already.

Only in 1987 and 1989 has LSU made it to Omaha without winning an overall SEC championship (1986, 1990, 1991, 1993, 1996 and 1997), an SEC West championship (1993, 1994, 1996-98,2000) or an SEC Tournament championship (1986, 1990, 1993, 1994, 2000). LSU finished second in the West and tied for third in the SEC Tournament.

The 1987 team finished fifth in the regular season and were tournament runners-up, while the 1989 team was the regular season runner-up but fourth in the tournament.

LSU part of baseball's "Super Six"

Entering this weekend, LSU is one of only six schools and the only school from the SEC to play in all three super regionals since the format was adopted in 1999. The other five schools to achieve the feat are Miami, Florida State, Clemson, USC and Stanford. Miami has won eight consecutive regionals, the only school to have a longer current streak than LSU's six in a row.

Harris ready for the rotation?

One of the positive developments from Birmingham was the emergence of freshman hurler Clay Harris, who appears ready to be a solid midweek starter for next year, as all three weekend starters will likely return for 2003.

Harris made his second appearances against an SEC foe a memorable one, allowing no hits and just one earned run in three-plus innings against a powerful South Carolina lineup. Harris walked just one over his stint, the only free pass he has yielded in his last 21.2 innings pitched.

The Slidell native has pitched in three games against teams in this weekend's regional. He gave up just two hits in five scoreless innings on April 16 vs. Southern and pitched in both games vs. Tulane, starting and going 5.1 innings on March 5 at home before going 3.0 innings and giving up one earned run on three hits on April 10 at the Superdome vs. the Green Wave.

Harris has given up just five walks in 45.0 innings pitched, and enters the regional at 3-0 with a 4.40 ERA.

Tompkins proves human

Jake Tompkins earned second team All-SEC honors on the strength of his relief efforts in the second half of the season, but even he proved human in the SEC Tournament.

Tompkins took his first loss of the season in last Saturday's first game against South Carolina, as he gave up three runs (two unearned) on three hits in two innings. His error on a ground ball allowed the Gamecocks to score the eventual winning runs in a 10-8 LSU loss.

The game not only was Tompkins first loss of the year, but his first blown save in five attempts, and he allowed just the second inherited runner out of 17 this season to cross the plate.

Tompkins enters the regional at 5-1 with a solid 3.00 ERA and has posted 82 strikeouts in 75 innings to lead the Tigers in strikeouts per nine innings pitched (9.84). Tompkins continues to find his way out of jams, allowing just a .200 batting average against with runners in scoring position and an .091 mark with the bases loaded.

Coming up empty

The SEC Tournament offered a fascinating inversion for the Tigers at the plate, as LSU was much better in RBI situations than they were with the bases empty.

The Tigers batted a solid .343 (12-for-35) with runners in scoring position in the four games of the tournament, but with the bases empty, that average dropped to a mere .222 (16-for-72). In fact, the top two hitters in the LSU lineup, J.C. Holt and Aaron Hill, batted a combined .063 (1-for-16) with the bases empty and hit just .188 (6-for-32) overall for the tournament.

Although the gap isn't that pronounced over the full season, it continues the trend that has LSU hitting .303 with RISP heading into the regional compared to just .296 with the bases empty. Only Wally Pontiff has a much better average with the bases empty (.423) than with an RBI opportunity (.284).

David gets first career start

LSU southpaw Brad David made his first career start last Saturday in the SEC Tournament vs. South Carolina after making the previous 43 appearances in his career out of the Tiger bullpen.

David gave up five runs on eight hits in four-plus innings and got no-decision in a 10-8 Gamecock victory. The fourth-year junior from Baton Rouge Catholic High became the 10th different hurler to start a game for the Tigers this year, although David is one of four (Lukas Guidroz and injured pitchers Chad Vaught and Jason Determann are the others) to make a single start for LSU in 2002.

Tigers double vision fails

The loss to South Carolina in the first game last Saturday was LSU's first when getting 10 hits since April 6 at Auburn, as the Tigers had won their previous 17 games when getting 10 or more hits prior to that. LSU is 29-6 this year in games in which it records 10 or more hits.

Who's on first?

Rocky Scelfo made his first career start at first base vs. South Carolina on May 23, and he became the sixth player to start at first this year, joining Blake Gill, Clay Harris, Jason Columbus, Eric Wiethorn and Jason Vargas as starters at the position.

From 1996-2001, a total of six different players started for LSU at first base: Eddy Furniss, Jeramie Moore, Jeff Leaumont, Brad Hawpe, Zeph Zinsman and Bryan Moore.

No other position has had more than three starters this year.

Tigers climb to top of ERA heap

LSU may not have had the opportunity to play Alabama a fourth time in the SEC Tournament final, but the Tigers have now tied the Crimson Tide atop the league ERA race.

LSU and Alabama enter regional weekend with exact 3.56 ERA numbers, as they have a sizable edge over third-place South Carolina, whose 3.99 ERA is the only other mark below 4.15 in the conference.

Three of LSU's pitchers rank in the top 10 in ERA after the SEC Tournament, starting with Lane Mestepey, whose 2.64 ERA trails only the 2.12 mark of South Carolina ace reliever Blake Taylor. LSU relief ace Jake Tompkins is fourth at 2.88, while Bo Pettit is 10th in the league at 3.46. Brian Wilson's 3.82 ERA makes the Tigers the only staff in the league with four qualifying pitchers with ERAs under four.

Tigers still not yielding extra

A reason for the Tigers' rise to the top of the SEC ERA heap is the fact that while LSU pitchers might give up a lot of hits, they make sure they limit opposing hitters to singles most of the time.

As it has all year long, LSU continues to yield by far the fewest amount of extra-base hits, as the Tigers have yielded just 125 extra base hits (91 doubles, 6 triples, 28 home runs) out of 555 hits, or just 22.5 percent. LSU has yielded 10 fewer home runs than the next closest team (Mississippi State, which is done for 2002), and is tied for second in fewest doubles and triples allowed.

LSU yielded just one home run in 35 innings in the SEC Tournament, and that was to South Carolina's Steve Thomas in LSU's last game of the tournament. That is the only home run LSU has allowed in its last seven games.

Pettit ready to make post-season debut

Barring a two-and-out performance, LSU's Bo Pettit will experience NCAA tournament play for the first time this weekend, as he is healthy after suffering through injuries in each of the last two seasons that cost him a shot at the post-season.

Pettit is currently on the SEC leaderboard in several categories, as he leads the league in games started, is third in innings pitched and strikeouts, seventh in opponents' batting average and 10th in ERA. In May, the Houston native is 3-1 with a 2.25 ERA and two complete games.

Zeringue makes most of opportunity

The Tigers made another lineup switch in the SEC Tournament, inserting freshman Jon Zeringue in the lineup at designated hitter against right-handed pitching.

The Thibodaux native made the most of his unexpected opportunity, collecting a hit in each of LSU's tournament games. His leadoff double in the seventh inning last Thursday started a five-run rally for the Tigers in an 8-3 victory over South Carolina, then his home run against the Gamecocks in the first game last Saturday went well over the left field fence and landed approximately 415 feet from the plate.

Zeringue, who turned down over a million dollars from the Chicago White Sox last summer after being drafted in the third round, is hitting .333 in May to raise his season average to .275.

Going the distance

The Tigers continue to get the most of their starting pitchers, as they added two more complete games to the ledger last weekend at the SEC Tournament, giving the Tigers an SEC-leading 11 complete games this season.

LSU had a total of six complete games in 2001 and four in 2000, compared to five by Tiger hurlers in the month of May alone this year. Lane Mestepey's seven complete games, which leads the SEC, is as many or more complete games the entire staff compiled in four of the five years from 1997 through 2001. Prior to this year, the last time LSU had more than 10 complete games in a season was the 15 posted in 1993. The school record for complete games is 20 in 1988.

For the season, LSU starters are 29-12 with a 3.32 ERA and have thrown 70.8 percent of the innings this year (373.2 of 527.2).

Relievers not needed as much

LSU relievers haven't seen the mound that much, especially in the second half of the season. In fact, the Tigers have accounted for just 92 bullpen appearances in 59 games, or an average of just 1.55 per contest. LSU has used more than three pitchers in a game just once in its last 21 games, and that was in the second game of a May 18 doubleheader against Alabama when the Tigers used four hurlers.

Last year, the Tigers accounted for 155 relief appearances, as seven different pitchers logged 20 or more games.

Lucky 10

The Tigers haven't scored in double figures as much this year as in the past, but when LSU hits 10 or more runs, it almost has always meant victory this year.

The Tigers are 11-1 this year when scoring at least 10 runs, with the lone loss being a 12-11 setback at Houston on February 24. The Tigers are 33-2 going back to last year when scoring in double figures, with the only other loss in the span being a 23-10 rout by Ole Miss on April 14, 2001.

In NCAA Tournament play, LSU is an awesome 41-2 (.953) when it scores 10 or more runs. The only losses were a 15-12 setback to Kent State on May 28, 1993, and a 11-10 loss to East Carolina on May 29, 1999. In both cases, LSU rallied to win the regional. When adding in the SEC Tournament, the Tigers are 56-3 when putting up 10 or more runs, with the only SEC Tourney loss being a 12-11 decision to Kentucky on May 18, 1996.

LSU has scored in double figures in 20 of its last 25 home post-season games and 29 of 59 home NCAA Tournament contests.

Tigers disinherit runners

Yes, Jake Tompkins may have allowed his second inherited runner of 17 this year in last Saturday's first game vs. South Carolina, but the Tigers have generally been very stingy since March 30.

In the Tigers' last 32 games, LSU relievers have allowed just seven of 32 inherited runners to score, or 21.9 percent. Compare that to the 42 percent of inherited runners (21 of 50) that scored through March 29.

Brad David (8 of 16) and Weylin Guidry (7 of 14) are responsible for 15 of the 28 inherited runners to score this year. However, David has pitched in just six games and Guidry none since March 29. All other LSU relievers have allowed just 13 of 52 (exactly one quarter) of inherited runners to come home.

Innings Pitched Breakdown

Team	Starters (%)	Relievers (%)
LSU	373.2 (70.2)	154.0 (29.2)
Opponents	319.2 (62.2)	194.2 (37.8)

Innings Scored Breakdown

LSU: 208 of 513 (40.5%)
Opponents: 149 of 527 (28.2%)

Tigers record another 40-win season

Two wins in last week's SEC Tournament assured LSU of its 14th consecutive 40-win season, the second longest active streak in the NCAA behind only Florida State's 25-year streak that started back in 1978.

LSU has won 40 or more in 17 of the last 18 years, with the only miss coming in 1988 when the Tigers won 39 games but were denied the opportunity to get the 40th when they were shut out of the NCAA Tournament.

Only once during the current run of 40-win seasons has LSU failed to enter the regional with at least 40 wins, and that was in 1999, when the Tigers were just 37-21-1 and seeded second behind East Carolina in the Baton Rouge regional in the first year of the 64-team field.

Tigers remain in top 10

Despite two losses in Birmingham last week, LSU managed to stay in the top 10 of the Baseball America poll heading into the regional. Here's the Tigers week-by-week in the polls:

Streaking

The 12-game home winning streak that LSU carries into the regional is by far the longest home winning streak LSU has had entering the post-season.

The previous long home streak prior to a regional is four in 1997, when LSU traveled in the final 10 games before the regional. The 12-game home streak is the longest for the Tigers since a 17-game string in 1998.

Quality starts by pitcher: Mestepey 15, Pettit 8, Tompkins 4, Wilson 3, Harris 2, Vaught 1.

A quality start is when a pitcher goes 6.0 or more innings and gives up fewer than four earned runs. Complete game victories, regardless of runs allowed, always count as quality starts. Games eventually lost by LSU are in bold.

*--Games in which starter was throwing predetermined number of innings; would have qualified for quality start if completed six innings.

LSU coach Smoke Laval

Ray "Smoke" Laval may be following a legend at LSU in Skip Bertman, but Laval is no stranger to the LSU program, having served 10 years (1984-93) under Bertman as his top assistant and as a graduate assistant to Jack Lamabe (1979) before that.

Laval, who was named Bertman's successor on July 18, 2000, came back to Baton Rouge after seven successful seasons at Louisiana-Monroe. Laval guided the Indians to a 241-159 record from 1994-2000 and led ULM to three NCAA regional appearances, including the regional final in 2000 against LSU. He was named the Southland Conference Coach of the year in 1999 and led the Indians to the SLC crown in 1999 and 2000.

During Laval's tenure as Bertman's top assistant, LSU won 483 games, reached the College World Series five times, and won the national championship in 1991 and 1993. Laval worked with 24 future major league players during that time and recruited nine first-team All-Americans.

Three Tigers earn degrees

Three LSU baseball players enter the 2002 regional with their degrees in hand, and all are senior right-handed pitchers.

Billy Brian, Weylin Guidry and Justin Hill were three of 70 current or former LSU athletes to receive their degrees in commencement ceremonies last Friday, although all three were in Birmingham with the Tigers at the SEC Tournament.

Brian and Hill received their degrees in General Studies, while Guidry received a degree in Marketing. Brian and Guidry are the only fifth-year seniors in the LSU program and both were key pitchers on the 2000 national championship team. Hill transferred to LSU from Bossier Parish Community College for the 2001 season, but saw his career be marred by injuries.

Several former LSU baseball players received their degrees, including former utility man Kevin Ward, who earned his M.B.A. from the E.J. Ourso College of Business Administration. Other baseball players to earn Bachelor's Degrees include Jamin Garidel, Bryon Bennett and Johnnie Thibodeaux in General Studies, Tommy Morel in Zoology, Tim Nugent in Marketing and Courtney Hernandez in Construction Management.

Hill and Nugent were two of six LSU players selected to the SEC Academic Honor Roll earlier this month for maintaining a 3.0 or higher GPA. Hill graduated with a 3.49 GPA, while Nugent posted a 3.16 GPA.
