SEC Tournament Records

As the league celebrates its 75th anniversary, the Southeastern Conference has continued to show its leadership in the intergration of athletic competition and higher education.

Since its formation in 1933, the SEC has achieved both stature and stability by designating governing/voting power to the presidents of the member institutions. They have determined the policies of the conference and through the years this involvement has been the principal source of strength in the evolution of the SEC.

Intercollegiate athletics encountered many challenges in the 1990s and the SEC provided guidance. In 1993, the member institutions adopted The Principles of Gender Equity. Committed to increasing the quantity and quality of women's athletic opportunities, each school provides at least two more women's intercollegiate programs than the number of men's.

SEC schools began athletic competition over 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized as the Southeastern Conference at the annual Southern Conference meeting in 1932. Charter members of the new conference were Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt.

In the 1979-80 academic year, SEC championships for women were recognized in basketball, tennis and volleyball. The following year golf, gymnastics, swimming and track and field were added. The administration of women's athletics officially came under the auspices of the conference office in 1984.

The SEC currently regulates nine men's sports and 11 women's sports. The women's sports are volleyball, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track (cross country, indoor, outdoor) and volleyball.

2005 LSU/Cleveland Golf Classic Champions

Top-ranked Duke proved to be the best in the 2007 LSU/Cleveland Golf Classic, besting the strongest and largest field in an LSU women's hosted event in program history. The Blue Devils, who would return to Baton Rouge to set several course records in May in the NCAA East Regional, posted an eight-over score of 872 to win by six strokes over Vanderbilt and seven over Auburn. LSU finished eighth in the star-studded field at 42-over 906.

This year, 16 teams are scheduled to visit the University Club, March 14-16, 2008, for the 27th tournament hosted by the LSU women and the ninth event played on the par-72 U-Club.

Joining LSU for this year's tournament are Alabama, Central Florida, Charleston, Florida State, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisville, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, North Carolina, NC State, UNC-Wilmington, South Carolina, Virginia and Wake Forest.

The History of LSU's Fairwood Invitational/Cleveland Golf Classic

This year's LSU/Cleveland Golf Classic will mark the 27th consecutive spring that the LSU women's golf team has hosted a tournament that has grown to be one of the most prestigious events of the spring women's golf schedule. The Classic, since its move to the LSU University Club in 2000, has become one of the few women's collegiate tournaments with corporate backing from one of the country's top club manufacturers.

But the tournament roots go back to Fairwood Country Club and its unique membership that not only hosted and ran the tournament, but served as uncles and aunts for many of the teams that came back year-after-year. Club members hosted teams at their houses in the neighborhood every year, allowing teams to save money in the days when women's college golf wasn't funded as it is today. Dinners were provided by the club along with member entertainment and some of the nation's top golf teams and players came to participate. Jenny Lidback, who would go on to win a major championship on the LPGA tour, lost the tournament title in a playoff while at TCU and in 1986 would win the title as an LSU Lady Tiger. Arizona's Marisa Baena had her coming out party as a freshman dominating the competition. In the final LSU-Fairwood event in 1999, Duke put on the course a lineup that would become one of the most dominating in the nation, a trend that continues to this day as Dan Brooks brought his Duke team back to win the 2007 renewal on the way to winning the East Regional on the same course and eventually a third straight NCAA Championship.

LSU's annual golf tournament has not only proven to be an important event on the women's collegiate circuit, but it has proven to be a community event as seen by the hundreds of volunteers who take part each year. It's to those volunteers that the LSU golf program salutes for their tireless efforts that make the LSU event the success it is. Also thanks to sponsor Cleveland Golf and the University Club for being a special home for LSU Golf.

The pinnacle of women's college golf is the NCAA Division I Women's Championships and in 2006, LSU's Lady Tigers returned to that pinnacle by advancing from the NCAA East Regionals.

It marked the first time since 2001 that LSU advanced to the championships.

LSU made its first NCAA Championships appearance in the first NCAA championships in 1982 in Palo Alto, Calif., when LSU finished 16th.

The Lady Tigers would return in 1986 when LSU, led by Player of the Year Jenny Lidback helped the Tigers to a ninth-place finish in the national event. Lidback finished tied for 17th.

The Tigers made its longest championship run starting in 1986, when the Three Amigas (Ashley Winn, Laura Moore and Michelle Louviere) took the Lady Tigers to top 10-finishes in 1996 (8th) and 1998 (5th). Louviere finished tied for 19th in 1986 and Ashley Winn tied for 15th.

The Tigers posted 10th-place finishes in 1999 and 2000 and a 12th place finish in 2001 on teams led by Katy Harris and Meredith Duncan. Duncan played the last 54 holes in two under par after opening with a 10-over 82 to finish in a tie for seventh place in 2000 and Harris shot a one-under 287 to finish in a tie for third in LSU's last appearance in 2001.

Harris and Kristi Coats, who competed as an individual competitor in 1991, have the best finishes in the championships for LSU, both finishing third in the individual competition. The only other top-10 finish for an individual golfer came in 2005 when Brooke Shelton posted a tie for eighth-place finish.

Harris and Duncan are the two players who went to the championships all four years of their careers. Harris made it on four teams from 1998 to 2001, while Duncan qualified on three teams and once individually from 1999-2002.

Since 1993, to get to the NCAA Division I Championships, teams and individuals must go through the NCAA Regional Tournaments. LSU hosted one of the regional events in the inaugural year of regional tournaments in 1993 and in May 2007 will hosted the regional for the third time (1993, 2002, 2007).

A total of 63 teams and nine individuals will be selected and divided up into the three regional qualifying events. The top-eight teams and two individuals who are not part of the top-eight teams will advance to the national championships scheduled for Albuquerque, N.M., in May 2008.

There are 20 teams that will qualify as automatic invitees through conference championship tournaments, including the Southeastern Conference Championships.

LSU has advanced to the regional round of NCAA post-season play since that first tournament in 1993 every year but 1994 and 2003.

LSU Golf HOUSE

It has proven to be everything it was hoped to be. The men's and women's golf teams at LSU have the home they've always wanted right at their home course, the University Club. LSU's Golf House offers the year-round ability to concentrate on improving the play of LSU's student-athletes.

An $850,000 facility funded by the Tiger Athletic Foundation, the LSU Golf House functions primarily as a golf-learning center for the LSU men's and women's teams.

Head coach Karen Bahnsen said the building, opened in 2003, is a great benefit to the LSU programs.

It is helping the program's recruiting efforts, since many of LSU's competitors either have similar facilities or are in the process of building a similar facility.

"Our practice area is tremendous, but having a building to go with it is great," Bahnsen said. "We have a place where we can do club repairs and where we can store our teaching aids. We have two indoor hitting bays and a room we can use for video analysis, as well as meeting spaces. So, as far as helping their game, we're just basically giving them everything in the world they need to be competitive in the NCAA arena."

Bahnsen said LSU's golf teams are already well equipped for practice at University Club, with a 100-yard-long tee box and 10,000-square-foot putting green that has bunkers around it.

TAF CEO General Ron Richard echoed Bahnsen's sentiment, saying that the building ensures the continued success of LSU's golf programs.

"University Club has been a great asset for TAF in promoting the golf teams and securing financial resources for LSU," Richard said. "This clubhouse is helping to put the golf teams at their pinnacle for years to come."

In all, the Golf House also contains locker rooms for the men and women, an office for each coach, a kitchen and indoor and outdoor storage.

University CLUB

The Tiger Athletic Foundation had a goal of bringing a championship golf course to the LSU community. The LSU golf programs wanted a place to call its official home.

Both dreams have become reality. The University Club has given the LSU teams a place to call home with first-class practice facilities and the U-Club has proven to be the championship course it was designed to be.

For eight years, the course has hosted the women's LSU/Cleveland Golf Classic and three times has hosted major post-season women's collegiate events featuring some of the national's top golfers.

The 300-acre course was built in 1998 on land donated to the Tiger Athletic Foundation (TAF) and subsequently leased to University Club. The original vision that drove University Club's development was of a premier course that would provide a place for TAF members to convene and play, as well as a home for the men's and women's golf teams of LSU.

The latest transaction in April 2002 when a group of local investors allowed the Club to maintain its prosperity and rise to a new level.

"I'm pleased that local people with LSU ties are making University Club a place LSU alumni and TAF members can be proud of," said TAF CEO General Ron Richard.

The course opened for members on Oct. 22, 1998. The swimming and tennis facility adjacent to the course, opened in the summer of 2000. The surrounding housing development continues to grow as homes continue to spring up adding to the beauty of the area around the golf course.

Membership in The University Club was offered first to members of the TAF and then extended to the general public, who first must become members of the TAF. Memberships are available not only in local categories, but state, regional and national categories as well.

More than anything, The University Club has given the men's and women's golf programs the practice facilities they need to be successful.

"It's been a great help to our programs," said Karen Bahnsen. "We have the facilities and the space to take advantage of the opportunities to work for extended periods on certain parts of a player's game that may need some help. It's wonderful to have a facility like this that we can call our own."

The par - 72 layout can play to several different distances, offering golfers of all talents a test they will enjoy from the 7,274 Tiger tees to the 5,433-yard Bengal tees.

The Tiger Athletic Foundation is a private, non-profit corporation which serves as the fund-raising and development arm of the LSU athletics department. Each year, the TAF underwrites scholarship and academics awards, as well as capital development projects for LSU athletics.

LSU's Memorial Tower (main photo) was one of the first structures completed on the present campus and sits east of the quadrangle (inset). It represents the University as a memorial to those who gave their lives during World War I. Although it currently houses the LSU Anglo-American Art Museum, plans are in process to return Memorial Tower to a military museum as originally intended.

Louisiana State University and Agricultural & Mechanical College has, throughout its 144-year history, served the people of Louisiana, the region, the nation, and the world. LSU is creating a revolution, one of pervasive change and advancement. For the past five years, the focus of the LSU community has been an increased commitment to excellence. Our progress has been dramatic and shows no sign of stopping.

Having witnessed many of yesterday's possibilities become today's tangible realities, the LSU community set forth to capitalize on its success. The goal was to improve our standing as a nationally competitive flagship university. Following intense discussions among the LSU Board of Supervisors, campus administrators, faculty, and student leaders, the objectives required to reach this status crystallized, providing the impetus for LSU's National Flagship Agenda.

The Bertman Coaching LEGACY

Skip Bertman's unyielding desire to succeed drove him to the pinnacle of his profession, and his astute knowledge of the game -- obtained from over 40 years of coaching -- combined with his steadfast determination and irrepressible enthusiasm transformed LSU Baseball into the nation's premier program. Bertman has been inducted into the College Baseball Hall of Fame, the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame and the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

A Louisiana Legend and one of the greatest college baseball coaches of all time, J. Stanley "Skip" Bertman has made the seamless transition into the athletics director's chair with the same enthusiasm, vision and demand for excellence that were trademarks of his stellar coaching career.

The 2007-08 season will mark Bertman's final year as LSU athletics director. After his tenure ends on June 30, 2008, he will remain at LSU as athletics director emeritus through 2010, working as a vital fund-raiser for the university.

In six years as LSU's director of athletics, Bertman has added to his impressive list of on-the-field achievements. Under his direction, LSU has enjoyed arguably the greatest athletics seasons in the history of the institution.

The 2006-07 season saw 12 LSU teams finish among the nation's top 25, including a No. 3 final ranking for the football team and a fourth consecutive Final Four appearance by the women's basketball squad. The LSU men's and women's track and field teams each finished No. 2 in the nation.

In 2005-06, LSU joined North Carolina (1997-98) as the only schools to have their football, men's basketball and women's basketball teams all finish in the nation's Top 5. LSU in 2005-06 also became the first school in SEC history to win outright league championships in men's and women's basketball in the same season.

In 2004-05, 14 LSU teams advanced to the post-season, and in 2003-04, three teams won national championships, nine teams finished in the nation's top ten, and fourteen teams ranked in the top 25.

Under Bertman's direction, LSU teams have also recorded improved grade point averages across the board, making the student-athlete experience a success on and off the fields of competition.

While supervising the Tigers' progress on the playing fields, he has implemented measures necessary to realize his vision of building the LSU athletics department into the best in the country. Bertman's bold and innovative plans promise to keep the Tigers among the nation's elite in all phases of collegiate athletics.

Bertman is now in the midst of upgrading LSU's athletics complex, as he took the bold but essential move to implement a seat contribution program in Tiger Stadium to fund facility improvements and ensure the financial stability of the LSU Athletics Department for the next decade.

Working hand in hand with the Tiger Athletic Foundation, Bertman has already overseen the completion of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes, the renovation of Tiger Stadium and the Pete Maravich Assembly Center, and the construction of the Football Operations Center.

In addition, state-of-the-art baseball and softball stadiums are scheduled to be constructed by the fall of 2008, and a basketball practice facility will be in place by 2009.

Bertman was named LSU's athletics director on January 19, 2001. With Bertman, LSU gained an athletics director who provides the leadership and experience necessary to manage the Tigers' budget of over $50 million.

Bertman guided LSU to five NCAA baseball titles during his 18-year coaching tenure (1984-2001), and his teams drew huge crowds to venerable Alex Box Stadium, as the Tigers led the nation in attendance in each of his final six seasons.

He also served as head coach of the 1996 U.S. Olympic team which captured the bronze medal in Atlanta.

Bertman continues to be honored for his remarkable coaching tenure, as he was inducted in June, 2006 into the new College Baseball Hall of Fame as part of the hall's inaugural class. He has also been inducted into the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame and the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

In a Baseball America poll published in 1999, Bertman was voted the second greatest college baseball coach of the 20th century, trailing only Rod Dedeaux of Southern California. Bertman, Dedeaux and Augie Garrido of Texas are the only coaches to win five CWS titles.

Bertman had previously earned recognition as one of the nation's brightest assistant coaches while at the University of Miami (Fla.) for eight seasons (1976-83). Before working at Miami, Bertman was renowned for his coaching excellence. In 11 seasons at Miami Beach High School, he directed the Hi-Tides to a state championship and two runners-up finishes and he was named Florida's Coach of the Year on three occasions.

In 1975, Bertman coached at Miami-Dade Downtown, leaving after one season to join legendary head coach Ron Fraser at Miami. The move was a homecoming of sorts, as Bertman spent his collegiate playing days with the Hurricanes as an outfielder and catcher from 1958-60. He earned his B.A. in health and physical education from Miami in 1961 and received his master's degree from UM in 1964.

Bertman and his wife Sandy are the parents of four daughters - Jan, Jodi, Lisa and Lori. The Bertmans have four grandchildren - Sophie Faith and Isaac Stanley, the children of Emile and Lori Bertman Guirard; and Samuel Aaron and Ezra Michael, the sons of Drew and Lisa Bertman Pate.

The Tiger Athletic Foundation (TAF) is a private, nonprofit foundation dedicated to supporting LSU and its Athletic Program. The Foundation is administered by its own board of directors, comprised of TAF donors, which meets quarterly. Officers of the corporation are elected bi-annually.

Louisiana State University has a proud athletic tradition, highlighted by scores of Southeastern Conference and NCAA championships in more than 20 men's and women's varsity sports. Thanks to generous private-sector contributions, the Tiger Athletic Foundation continues to play an integral role in sustaining that outstanding tradition. As the central fund-raising organization in support of LSU athletics, TAF's mission is clear - to lead the university in building a comprehensively superior athletic program.

Unrestricted contributions to the Tiger Athletic Foundation benefit every athlete and team at LSU through scholarship and academic awards, as well as through the construction and maintenance of athletic facilities. These projects, large and small, chart the unmistakable course to excellence. And it is the shared vision of alumni and friends of LSU that are making them a reality.

$50 Million

Eastside Expansion of Tiger Stadium

The TAF financed an eastside expansion that added over 11,000 seats to Tiger Stadium and moved it up among the five largest on-campus stadiums in America. The eastside expansion not only created 70 Tiger Den suites to the stadium, it has provided over 300,000 more fans the opportunity to see LSU football since the expansion was opened in 2000.

Opened in 1997.

$15 Million
