AWARD MESSAGE

I want to recognize the outstanding leadership of the Dell Design System (DDS) Standards team for navigating a complex and fast-changing environment with excellence. In Q2, the team achieved remarkable results, including a consistent increase in our user base across all code libraries. - Angular: Beyond the strong focus on bug fixing and stability, you led the major upgrade to Angular 17. This included exhaustive testing across all components and patterns, reviewing hundreds of MRs. An extraordinary achievement. - React: You delivered dozens of new components and features, reaching 98% parity with the Vanilla and Angular libraries. This reflects your dedication, attention to detail, and commitment to quality. - DataVis: You provided quick wins that solved real customer problems, improved code quality, delivered new features aligned with our roadmap, and supported users with excellence. - Vanilla: The release of Component Templates was a game-changer. It simplified how users implement HTML and CSS, reduced code complexity, and minimized errors. You also ensured every snippet in our documentation was updated to reflect these changes. I could also highlight the many customer interactions you handled with care—listening to feature requests, answering questions, and conducting research that is shaping our next major release. You should be proud of building and maintaining such a productive and healthy work environment. Your work makes a real difference. You're real-world rockstars.
