IN-PERSON EVENTS

Our event experience is second to none and has been a staple of the industry for over 30 years. As we look to a post-Covid19 future, we look forward to bringing the community back together in a safe, engaging and exciting way.

The locations for our events are held in the most premier venues across the globe. We focus on building a premium environment that enables the best conditions for networking, intelligence gathering and relationship building. We do this to a level that our c-suite and senior management attendees have come to expect and are proud to continue to deliver these events in the future.

VIRTUAL EVENTS

Our virtual events are the best in the industry as we pair best-in-class technology with timely, industry-leading content.

The technology we use is tried and tested to make it easy for the audience to view and engage with our speakers and their discussion. We hold extremely high engagement rate with over 90% of our audience staying to the end to participate in Q&A with the speakers.

The content that we provide for our virtual events is on the pulse of ship finance. Not only is our content up-to-the-minute but it is also delivered by the top ship owners and financiers in the world. Sharing their thoughts, strategies and predictions for the market.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Sponsoring our events are an effective way to market your company, raise awareness for your business and capture new business leads by showcasing your brand

For more information please contact the event organizer of the event you are interested in for a more specific and comprehensive proposal.

During the sessions and presentations we will cover the most up to date shipping issues prevalent for Copenhagen as a shipping center and for the industry at large.

Marine Money - Climate Week

September 20th, 2022

Virtually

EVENT ORGANIZERS

Jim Lawrence
jlawrence@mtinetworkusa.com

Lorraine Parsons
lparsons@marinemoney.com

"Marine Money - Climate Week Launch" will be held Virtually during the week of September 19, to coincide with and support the Global Maritime Forum's Annual Summit September 22 and 23 in New York City. The summit takes place alongside the UN General Assembly and bringing together international shipping industry leaders, government and civil society to showcase and hopefully coordinate on global climate action.

Marine Money's 3rd annual Climate Week event will focus on critical, proven and invaluable interim actions being undertaken by industry leaders on the voyage to 2050. The one hour event will also present a "Green Carpet" look ahead at the ambitious environmental agenda set out by both the Global Maritime Forum and the UN General Assembly.

Climate Action and Sustainability are transforming the $3 trillion per year GDP Ocean Industries sector as regulators, investors, operators, shippers, shipowners, and lenders all become laser-focused on reducing the emissions from the industry's 220 million tons of fossil fuels consumption. As Marine Money has done for more than 30 years, this event will focus on initiatives turning the industry's high ambitions into reality.
