Decision Making in an Unpredictable World

In a fast-moving market like shipping, decisions constantly have to be made - or at least evaluated. Whether to buy, sell or order. Whether to charter-in, charter-out or play the spot market. How to optimize the balance sheet to align risk with return. Decisions are what create wealth. And yet, making decisions has never been so challenging. Join us as we explore the essential questions in the market with its most active participants.
