To Our Trusted Stakeholders,

Relationships matter. As a valued Martin Marietta partner, we appreciate the loyalty and trust you place in us. I am writing to share just some of Martin Marietta's enterprise-wide actions to safeguard the health and well-being of our employees, customers, vendors, communities and other stakeholders as we together confront the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic in the United States.

While Martin Marietta is open for business and ready to meet your product and service needs, we are also committed to the safety of all who our business touches. We have been closely monitoring national, regional and local COVID-19 developments and proactively taking actions to responsibly prepare so our stakeholders and business remain safe, healthy and prosperous. To that end, our current focus is largely four-fold: Communication, Resource Management, and the resiliency of Essential Work Functions allowing for Business Continuity. Prudent steps we've undertaken include enhanced protocols and frequency of equipment and facility cleaning. Further, we are continually educating our teams, providing them with preventative resources – including remote access – to keep themselves and their families healthy and instructing them to stay home if they are not feeling well. Additionally, we have suspended all non-essential business travel and directed our employees to use teleconference and other methods of communication with our stakeholders as appropriate. Please partner with us in these important efforts and consider alternative communication methods if they are effective in the near-term.

As the COVID-19 situation evolves and we learn more, additional preventative measures may be implemented to better ensure everyone's well-being. Your local Martin Marietta representative is available to answer any questions and will communicate directly to you and your colleagues any necessary changes within their respective operation or function.

Martin Marietta is wholly committed to providing quality products and superior service. Our values are consistent, enduring and transparent: Safety, Integrity, Excellence, Community and Stewardship. We appreciate your continued support as we work to minimize the COVID-19 impact. Thank you in advance for your patience and continued patronage as we together successfully navigate this challenging and uncertain situation.

Sincerely yours,
