SPECIALIST CERTIFICATE IN HEALTHCARE QUALITY

Quality in healthcare is defined as the degree to which health services for individuals and populations increase the likelihood of desired health outcomes and are consistent with current professional knowledge. Quality in healthcare is directly related to patient safety and plays a significant role in saving lives. Although healthcare interventions benefit the patient, in some instances, they can also cause harm to the patient. Healthcare professionals trained in the fundamentals of quality of care and patient safety can improve health outcomes.

Medvarsity and the International Society for Quality in Health Care (ISQua) together curated a 2-month online education program on healthcare quality. This "Specialist Certificate Course in Healthcare Quality" includes a diverse range of topics from the introduction to healthcare improvement to the current quality improvement trends in healthcare. This self-paced course enables the learners to acquire essential knowledge and helps deliver best practices across healthcare systems.
