Based on Brighton Dog Bite Lawyer by McCormick and Murphy

Q: What should I do immediately after a dog bite?

A: Seek medical attention as soon as possible, even if the bite doesn't appear serious. Dog bites are prone to infection and require professional cleaning and treatment. Collect the dog owner's contact information, address, and proof of rabies vaccination.

Q: Why is it important to see a doctor after a dog bite?

A: Dog bites carry a high risk of infection. It's crucial to have the wound cleaned and treated by a medical professional to prevent complications.

Q: What information should I get from the dog owner?

A: Obtain the dog owner's name, address, and proof of rabies vaccination. This information is important for documenting the incident and for medical treatment.

Q: Should I take pictures after a dog bite?

A: Yes, take photos of your injuries and the location where the bite occurred. Visual documentation can be important evidence.

Q: Who should I report the dog bite to in Brighton?

A: You should report the dog bite to Brighton Animal Control. This creates an official record of the incident.

Q: What should I do if the dog owner offers a settlement?

A: Do not agree to any settlement or sign any documents from the dog owner or their insurance company until you have spoken with a lawyer.

Q: Can I handle a dog bite claim on my own?

A: It is advisable to speak with a lawyer before agreeing to any settlement or signing documents. A lawyer can help ensure you receive fair compensation for your injuries.

Q: What are the risks associated with dog bites?

A: The primary risks associated with dog bites include a high risk of infection and potential for serious injury that requires medical attention.

Q: Is it necessary to report the bite even if it seems minor?

A: Yes, it is important to report the bite to Brighton Animal Control to create an official record, regardless of the severity of the bite.

Q: When should I contact a lawyer after a dog bite?

A: You should contact a lawyer before accepting any settlement offers or signing any paperwork from the dog owner or their insurance company.
