2003-04 Season Preview

The University of Miami men's basketball team, led by fourth-year head coach Perry Clark, enters the 2003-04 season with a young and athletic squad looking to make a return to the postseason.

Last season the Hurricanes were in every game but couldn't seem to pull it out in crunch time. Miami finished 11-17 last season snapping its string of eight consecutive winning seasons. The Hurricanes however were much better than their record indicated. In a season of near misses the Hurricanes dropped 11 games by five points or less including four overtime defeats.

This season's Hurricane squad returns seven lettermen from last season, including one of the BIG EAST's top players in 6-10 senior forward Darius Rice, four sophomores who gained valuable experience as freshmen, and welcome a strong recruiting class ranked eighth in the nation.

The Frontcourt

Much of the Hurricanes' success this season will depend on the play of senior forward Darius Rice. The 2003 Preseason John Wooden National Player of the Year Award Candidate has led the Hurricanes in scoring each of his first three seasons and last season averaged 18.7 points and 5.8 rebounds per game.

Last season Rice earned third team All-BIG EAST honors in 2002-03 and ranked among the conference leaders in scoring, rebounding, field goal percentage, free throw percentage, three-point field goal percentage and three-point field goals made.

Rice was the Hurricanes' "Mr. Clutch" last season connecting on three-pointers at the end of regulation to either win the game or send it overtime four times. His steal and three-point basket as time expired against Connecticut will long be remembered as one of the greatest individual plays in Miami history.

Miami's top returning post player is 6-9 sophomore forward Gary Hamilton. Hamilton was a pleasant surprise for Miami last season averaging 3.1 points and 5.0 rebounds per game. The Los Angeles native played in 27 games, including eight starts, and ranked third on the team in rebounding. His 12.0 rebounds per 40 minute average was best on the team.

Helping to add depth to the Miami front court are 6-7 senior Rodrigue Djahue and 6-8 junior William Frisby. Djahue has played in 84 career games for the Hurricanes and last season averaged 3.0 points and 2.4 rebounds per contest. This summer he slimmed down from 265 pounds to 250 pounds and looks to make an impact this season.

Frisby sat out last season after breaking a bone in his right foot prior to the start of the season. Frisby played in 27 games, at both power forward and center, during the 2001-02 season averaging 1.5 points and 1.4 rebounds.

Joining the Hurricanes this season is a trio of talented front court players who will be expected to step in and supply quality minutes this season.

Helping add depth on the wing will be 6-6 freshman swingman Karron Clarke. Clarke, who hails from Brooklyn, N.Y., played his senior season at The Winchendon (Mass.) School and averaged 17 points, 10 rebounds, four assists and two blocks per game. He was rated as high as 29th in the nation by ESPN.com.

In the post the Hurricanes welcome 6-9 junior college transfer Leonard Harden III and 6-9 freshman Anthony King. Harden sat out last season and will have three years of eligibility remaining. In 2001-02 he averaged 17 points and 12 rebounds per game at Garden City (Kan.) Community College and was ranked as the sixth best junior college center by Lindy's.

King gives Miami another physical low post performer. The native of Durham, N.C. averaged 21 points, 12 rebounds and five blocks per game as a senior at Southern Durham High School earning first-team All-Conference and first-team All-Area honors by the Durham Herald-Sun. King had two career triple doubles in high school.

The Backcourt

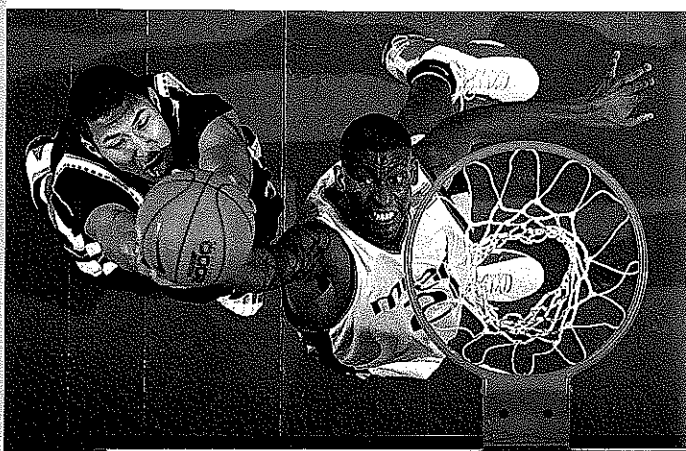

Miami will have one of the deepest backcourts in the BIG EAST this season. Although the group is very young (three sophomores, two freshmen), it has already garnered valuable playing experience.

Returning this season are 6-2 sophomore Robert Hite (18 starts), 5-11 sophomore Armondo Surratt (15 starts) and 6-4 sophomore Eric Wilkins (nine starts) who combined for 42 starts last season.

Hite ranked third on the team in scoring averaging 7.3 points and 3.6 rebounds per game. He also recorded 31 steals, 38 assists and led the team in free throw percentage (.854). Hite, who quickly became a fan favorite last season, recorded several highlight film dunks using his 39 inch vertical jump to rise over defenders on the fast break.

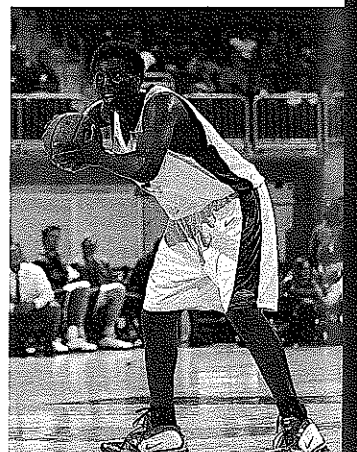

Surratt is Miami's top returning point guard and is the frontrunner to take over the starting spot this season. Last season Surratt played in all 28 games scoring 6.5 points per outing and leading the Hurricanes in assists (3.3 apg) while ranking second in steals (37).

Wilkins is Miami's best returning defender but showed his ability to score recording three double-figure scoring games including a season-high 19 points against Virginia Tech on March 5. He played in all 28 games last season averaging 4.4 points, 2.0 rebounds and 1.4 assists per game.

Joining the Hurricanes this season will be a pair of talented freshmen guards that will add flexibility to the Miami lineup with their ability to play either the point or shooting guard.

Guillermo Diaz (6-2) comes to the University of Miami after playing his senior season at Miami Christian Academy. Diaz, a native of San Juan, Puerto Rico, averaged 22.5 points, 6.5 rebounds and 6.0 assists last season and was ranked No. 31 in the nation by Insiders.com. In addition to his basketball skills Diaz is considered one of the best volleyball players in the World for his age and possesses a 41 inch vertical leap.

Anthony Harris (6-2) joins the Hurricanes after a stellar high school career at Chicago powerhouse Whitney Young. Harris averaged 24.5 points, six rebounds and eight assists per game last season earning second-team All-State, first-team All-City and first-team All-Area honors. Harris is a scoring lead guard who recorded 50 points one game during his senior season, and once poured in 31 points in a single quarter.

The Schedule

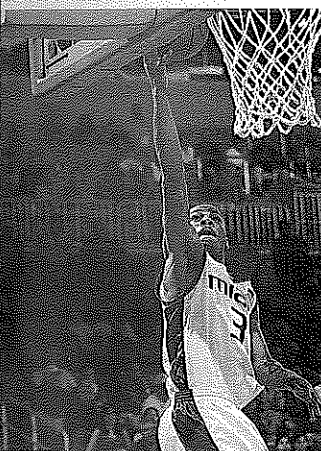

The Hurricanes will play a total of 15 games against teams the reached postseason play last season, highlighted visits from defending NCAA Champion Syracuse and intrastate rival Florida State.

The Hurricanes' will be playing their first full season at the University of Miami Convocation Center, Miami's new $48 million on campus arena. Miami, which played nine games at the Convocation Center last season, opens its 18-game home schedule against Lubbock Christian on November 21 as part of the Las Vegas Tournament.

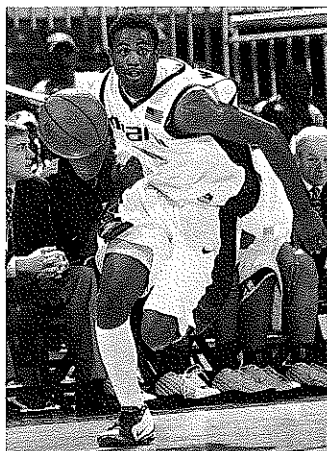

Included in Miami's non-conference schedule are home games against inner-city rival Florida International on December 6, Florida State on December 14, and a trip to Chapel Hill to face North Carolina on January 7. In addition, the Hurricanes will take on Temple at the Orange Bowl Basketball Classic at American Airlines Arena on December 20.

Miami's BIG EAST home schedule begins on January 10 when the Pittsburgh Panthers travel to Coral Gables. The Hurricanes' other conference home games include Rutgers (Jan. 21), Villanova (Jan. 25), Georgetown (Jan. 31), Boston College (Feb. 11), defending NCAA Champion Syracuse (Feb. 14), Seton Hall (Feb. 24) and West Virginia (Mar. 6).

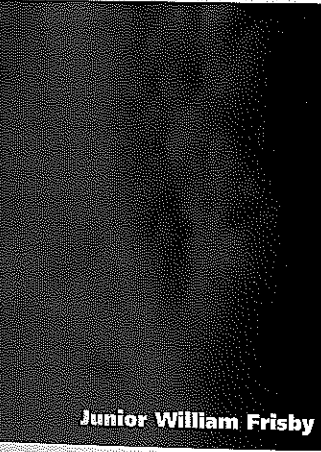

The Hurricanes' BIG EAST road schedule will include games versus 2003 NIT Champion St. John's (Jan. 14), Virginia Tech (Jan. 17), Notre Dame (Jan. 28), Rutgers (Feb. 4), Georgetown (Feb. 7), Connecticut (Feb. 18), Providence (Feb. 21) and Villanova (Mar. 2).

Miami has played at least one overtime contest in each of the last five seasons. UM has amassed a 9-6 record (including tournament games) in BIG EAST overtime contests (5-3 at home). The 'Canes own a 25-24 overall record in overtime contests during their history (5-5 in double-overtime games and a 20-19 mark in single-overtime contests). Below is a list of UM's overtime games since 1990:

Junior Rodrigue Djahue

BEING THROWN INTO THE FIRE:

Miami relied heavily on four of its freshmen last season. Rob Hite, Armondo Surraatt, Eric Wilkins and Gary Hamilton started a combined 50 games and all averaged 16 or more minutes per game. The 50 combined freshmen starts were the most since the 1985-86 season, UM's first since the program was dropped in 1971, when Eric Brown (27), Dennis Burns (20), Bryan Hughes (28), Kevin Presto (28) and Mark Richardson (18) combined to start 121 games.

Twice last season the Hurricanes have had three freshmen in the starting lineup. Miami had at least one freshman in the starting lineup in all but one game last season.

MR. CLUTCH:

Darius Rice's three-point basket with 0.5 seconds left to defeat Connecticut on January 20th marked the fourth time last season the forward hit a three-pointer at the end of regulation to either win the game or send the game to overtime.

With the Hurricanes' down 72-69 to Florida, Rice connected on a three-pointer from the right corner with 26 seconds remaining to tie the score. Florida went on to win the game 94-93 in double-overtime.

On January 4th against North Carolina, Rice hit a three-pointer, again from the right corner, to tie the score at 60-60 with three seconds left. Miami went on to win the game 64-61.

In Miami's first meeting with Connecticut on January 11, Rice sent the game to overtime with a three-pointer from the tip of the key tying the score at 71-71 with two seconds left. Connecticut won the game 83-80.

CATCHING FIRE:

President
Donna E. Shalala

Donna E. Shalala became the fifth President of the University of Miami on June 1, 2001. President Shalala is an accomplished scholar, teacher, and administrator whose career has been marked by a variety of leadership positions reflecting her interest in young people. She also is a big sports fan!

Shalala was influenced by her mother, Edna, a former nationally ranked tennis player, while growing up in Cleveland, Ohio.

While attending college, she played tennis and still plays a competitive game of doubles. She also enjoys golf, skiing and other outdoor activities.

In 1987 President Shalala, a distinguished political scientist, became the first woman chancellor of a Big Ten university, the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She led what was then the nation's largest public research university, raising more than $400 million for the endowment, and spearheaded a $225 million state-private partnership program to renovate and add to the university's research facilities. In 1992 Business Week magazine named her one of the top five managers in higher education.

President Shalala's success at Wisconsin was reflected in athletics as well. She hired a new football coach, recruiting Barry Alvarez from Notre Dame. Four years later, Wisconsin won the Big Ten football championship and represented its conference in the Rose Bowl for the first time in 30 years. President Shalala served on the first Knight Commission, a committee to review college athletics, and has served on the board of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Foundation.

In 1993 Shalala was named U.S. Secretary for Health and Human Services (HHS) and served for eight years, becoming the nation's longest-serving HHS Secretary. She was an active member of the Washington, D.C., community, participating in events to benefit the arts including serving as a member of the Kennedy Center Board of Trustees.

In 1999 she led the United Way campaign for federal employees that raised a record $44 million for local and national charities. She also led the official U.S. delegation to the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia. At the end of her tenure as HHS Secretary, The Washington Post described her as "one of the most successful government managers of modern times."

As president of the University of Miami, President Shalala presides over one of the most successful college athletic programs in the country. The Hurricanes football program consistently ranks in the top of the polls. In 2001 the baseball team won its fourth College World Series and the football team won its fifth national championship. And, in 2003 the men and women's basketball team began play in a new, on-campus facility, the Convocation Center. Other Hurricane sports—from golf to tennis—have also earned national recognition.

For a sports fan like President Shalala, there is no better place to call home than the University of Miami.

Administration

Paul Dee
Director of Athletics

Paul Dee has served as Director of Athletics since June of 1993. Prior to his appointment, Dee had served the University as its Vice President and General Counsel beginning in 1981.

During his tenure as Director of Athletics, Dee has focused the efforts of the Athletic Department on four major points of emphasis: 1) the success of its programs; 2) the development of its student-athletes, both athletically and academically; 3) the quality of life of its staff; 4) improvement of facilities. The department has achieved success in each of these areas.

Program Success

The University of Miami has won three team national championships (Baseball in 1999 and 2001; Football in 2001) during Dee's tenure as Director of Athletics.

Miami has been a dominant program in the BIG EAST Conference winning 27 team championships since 1993 including: seven BIG EAST Football titles, seven BIG EAST Men's Tennis titles, five BIG EAST Women's Tennis titles, five BIG EAST Women's Outdoor Track & Field titles, one BIG EAST Men's Swimming & Diving championship, one BIG EAST Men's Basketball, and one BIG EAST Women's Indoor Track & Field title.

Under Dee's supervision, the University of Miami Athletic Department has added full scholarship programs in women's soccer, women's volleyball and women's rowing.

Student-Athlete Success

University of Miami student-athletes have continued to achieve academically. UM student-athletes have shown consistent improvement in grade-point average and graduation rates over the last decade.

Perhaps the most successful scholar-athlete of the last decade at UM was football offensive tackle Joaquin Gonzalez, who earned the 2001 HealthSouth Draddy Award (the "Academic Heisman") in addition to earning first-team All-America honors on the field in 2000 and 2001.

Quality of Staff

Miami coaches have been widely recognized by their peers as some of the nation's best. The current UM coaching staff has earned a combined 20 National Coach of the Year honors, including nine by diving coach Randy Ableman, four by baseball coach Jim Morris, three by football coach Larry Coker, two by women's golf coach Lela Cannon, one by women's basketball coach Ferne Labati, and one by men's basketball coach Perry Clark.

Improvement and Expansion of Facilities

Since 1993, the University of Miami athletic program has seen an almost complete makeover of its athletic facilities. During that period, Dee has overseen the following facility projects:

- Construction of new football field at Greentree Field
- Construction of Cobb Stadium (track and soccer)
- Renovation of football locker and equipment rooms
- Renovation of the athletic training room
- Renovation of the athletic department offices
- Construction of the academic study hall facility
- Construction of the weight training facility
- Construction of the football meeting rooms
- Construction of locker rooms for track, soccer and volleyball
- Construction of Convocation Center for basketball

A Commitment To A Well-Rounded Program

Dee believes intensified fund raising efforts and developing stronger interest in women's sports are vital to ensuring the future success of the Hurricanes' program.

National Influence

During his 10 years as Director of Athletics, Dee has been active in the NCAA and the BIG EAST Conference.

Dee has served on several NCAA Committees, including the Committee on Certification, the Management Council and currently is a member of the Committee on Infractions. In the BIG EAST, Dee has served on the Executive Television Committee and, for two years, was Chair of the BIG EAST Football Conference.

Before Miami

Before joining the University, Dee was with the Miami law firm of Mershon, Sawyer, Johnston, Dunwoody & Cole and was a law clerk for Chief U.S. District Judge Charles Fulton in Miami. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Florida in 1970 and his master's of education and juris doctor degrees with honors from the University of Miami in 1973 and 1977, respectively.

Dee has a son, Terrance, who practices law in Miami.

Head Coach Perry Clark

When the University of Miami was looking for someone to take over the reigns of the up-and-coming Hurricanes men's basketball program there was one name that continued to rise to the top of the list: Perry Clark.

In more than 24 years of collegiate coaching, the last 14 as a head coach, Clark has done one thing consistently - win. As a head coach, Clark has a 236-183 (.563) record including 11 winning seasons, seven 20-win seasons and nine postseason appearances.

He has been a part of building some of the nation's top programs including his remarkable rebuilding job as head coach of Tulane. He has learned from some of the greatest basketball coaches the sport has known including Bobby Cremins at Georgia Tech and legendary prep coach Morgan Wooten at DeMatha Catholic High School. And he is a proven cultivator of talent having coached 17 players who have been drafted or have gone on to play in the National Basketball Association.

So it was no surprise on July 6, 2000 when Miami Athletic Director Paul Dee announced that Clark would be the Hurricanes' ninth head basketball coach.

The Clark Era Begins

In three seasons at Miami, Clark has led the Hurricanes to a 51-38 (.573) record and two postseason appearances. His 51 wins are the most by a Hurricane coach in his first three seasons at Miami, and in 2002 became the only UM coach to take the Hurricanes to the postseason in each of his first two seasons.

Clark's 2001-02 Hurricane squad finished 24-8 and received the school's fourth NCAA tournament berth. The 24 wins set a school single-season record. Included in the 24 wins were a school-record 14 consecutive victories to open the season.

The Hurricanes reached as high as No. 11 in the national rankings while posting three wins over ranked teams. The Hurricanes, who were not ranked in the preseason, were ranked for the final 13 weeks of the season. Miami ended the season ranked No. 21 by the Associated Press.

In his first season at UM, Clark led a young and inexperienced team to a 16-13 mark and a trip to the National Invitation Tournament.

Over the last three seasons Clark has turned the Hurricanes' defense into one of the nation's most opportunistic forcing an average of 18.1 turnovers per game and averaging 19.5 points per game off turnovers. Last season's team led the BIG EAST and ranked 10th in the nation in steals (9.7 spg).

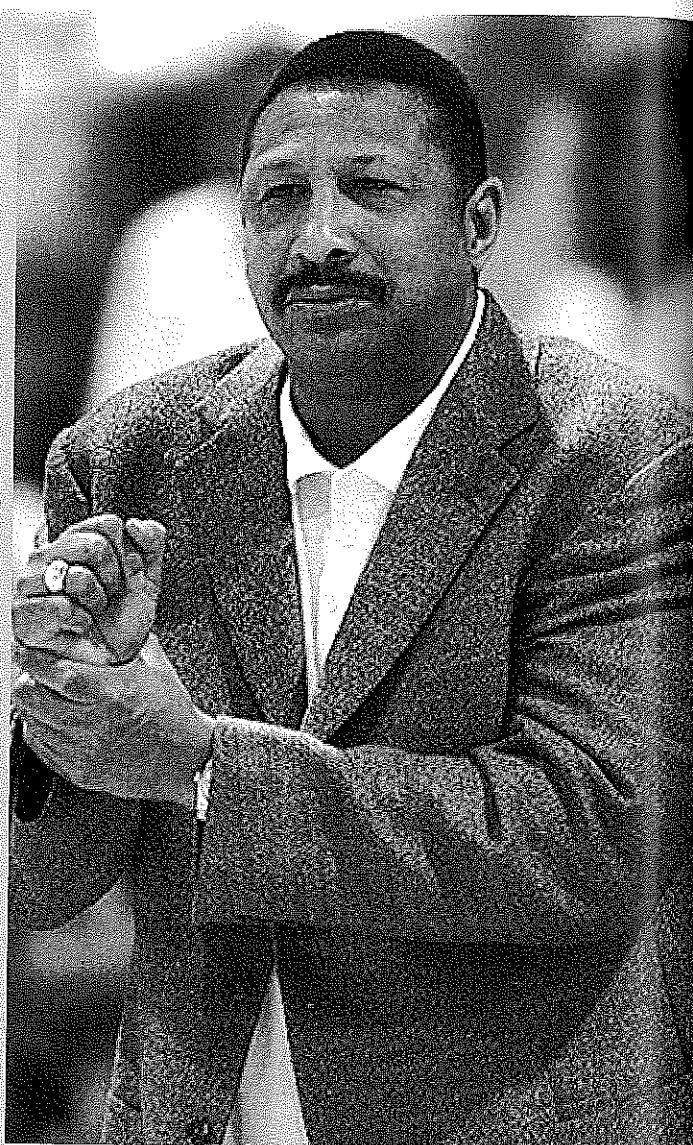

Clark has also continued to live up to his reputation as a tireless recruiter. This season's incoming recruiting class of forward Karron Clarke, guard Guillermo Diaz, forward/center Leonard Harden III, guard Anthony Harris, and forward/center Anthony King is ranked as high as eighth in the nation by Street & Smith's.

A Program Builder

Prior to taking over at Miami, Clark produced one of the most remarkable turnarounds in college basketball history.

Clark was hired by Tulane on July 16, 1988 and immediately set forth on rebuilding a program that had been dismantled following NCAA sanctions. But Clark did more than just rebuild the Tulane program, he brought it into the national spotlight.

In 11 seasons at Tulane, Clark compiled a 185-145 (.561) record, had six 20-win seasons, seven postseason appearances (3 NCAA, 4 NIT) and won the Metro Conference championship in 1992. He was the 1992

Head Coach Perry Clark

National Coach of the Year and a two-time Metro Conference Coach of the Year (1991, 1992).

After going 4-24 in the 1989-90 season, Tulane was 15-13 the next year and Clark was named the Metro Conference coach of the year. In 1991-92, Tulane would remain ranked for 11 consecutive weeks en route to a 22-9 season, its first Metro title, a trip to the NCAA Tournament and a first-round win over St. John's.

Clark and staff followed up the next season signing one of the nation's top recruiting classes. In 1993-94, despite half the team's scoring and rebounding production coming from freshmen, Clark and the Green Wave were in postseason play again, reaching the second round of the NIT.

In 1995, Tulane was back in the NCAA Tournament, winning another first-round game and posting the second-most victories in school history (23). The next season, the Wave made its deepest run ever in postseason, reaching the NIT Final Four and finishing 22-10. The postseason and 20-win streaks continued in 1996-97.

The Posse

While at Tulane Clark developed what has become known as "The Posse." It started in the 1990-91 season, and when Tulane exploded on the national scene in 1992, it became one of the hottest items in college basketball.

To describe briefly, Clark would send in mass substitutions about five minutes into the game. "The Posse" would then increase the tempo of the game, usually to its advantage. Part of Clark's hometown of Washington, D.C., inspired the moniker. "I'm a Redskins fan, and their wide receivers are called 'The Posse,'" he said. "It (nicknaming the bench) just kind of happened one day."

Head Coach Perry Clark

Clark's Tulane teams have become known for their fast-paced, energetic, all-out style, particularly "The Posse," which helped Tulane force more than 20 turnovers a game for a span of four straight seasons.

Clark has also had the chance to achieve on another level as part of USA Basketball competitions. His South team won the gold medal at U.S. Olympic Festival '94 in St. Louis. In the summer of 1995, he was an assistant coach for the USA team in the Junior World Championships in Athens, Greece.

Learning From the Best

Clark has had the chance to learn the coaching game from some of the best in the business having spent six years at Georgia Tech under Bobby Cremins, the last two as associate head coach.

Prior to his stint at Georgia Tech, Clark was an assistant to Dick Harter at Penn State for four years, and before that, he assisted legendary prep coach Morgan Wootten at DeMatha Catholic High School for three seasons.

Clark credits Cremins and Wootten for helping prepare him to deal with the potential distractions that can arise during a season.

"I think I've had the chance to be around great teachers like Bobby Cremins and Morgan Wootten, two people - especially Bobby - who stayed focused. Bobby is great at focusing on the task at hand.

"Morgan's organization helped me understand to organize and prioritize, and that's helped me avoid distractions. The biggest thing is not taking myself too seriously. The most important thing is the players and team. As long as that's the No. 1 priority, I don't get too wrapped up in the other stuff."

Clark has gotten wrapped up in success, something that has followed him wherever he has been as a coach. His success began at DeMatha (107-8 record in Clark's three years) and continued to Penn State (three winning seasons, one National Invitational Tournament bid) and Georgia Tech (123-64 record, four NCAA Tournaments and one NIT berth).

Success Breeds Success

Success has also followed Clark's players, particularly in the early stages of their careers. In his stints at Georgia Tech and Tulane, Clark went a phenomenal eight for nine, from 1983 to 1992, in helping produce the conference's top rookie, including a Metro record three in a row at Tulane.

At Tech, it was Mark Price (1983), Bruce Dalrymple (1984), Duane Ferrell (1985), Tom Hammonds (1986) and Dennis Scott (1988). At Tulane, Anthony Reed (1990), Kim Lewis (1991) and Pointer Williams (1992) claimed consecutive Metro Conference Freshman of the Year honors.

Clark also has coached 17 players who were drafted or have gone play in the NBA. Over his first three seasons at Miami, Gary has helped lead the Hurricanes to a 51-38 (.573) record and two postseason appearances.

In 2002 Miami finished with a 24-8 record, setting a school single-season record for wins. The Hurricanes 14 consecutive victories to open the season marked the best start in school-history and tied the UM record for consecutive wins.

The Hurricanes reached as high as No. 11 in the national rankings while posting three wins over ranked teams. The Hurricanes, who were not ranked in the preseason, were ranked for the final 13 weeks of the season. Miami ended the season ranked No. 21 by the Associated Press.

Overall, Gary has worked a total of eight seasons with Clark having also served as an assistant at Tulane from 1993-97 and 1998-00. The number one priority of the athletic department at the University of Miami is a commitment to its student-athletes both on and off the court. This commitment is constantly reinforced with the medical attention that is available to Hurricane student-athletes. UM's newly renovated and expanded training room, located in the Hecht Athletic Center, contains the most modern equipment available.

Computerized testing and a wide range of aerobic conditioning equipment is available to help design individual rehabilitation programs and help reduce the risk of re-injury. The training room also contains a state-of-the-art Biodex machine to aid athletes in their rehabilitation.

The University has assembled one of the finest medical staffs in the country. Team physician and orthopaedic surgeon Dr. John Uribe heads a team which includes 15 medical doctors who serve as consultants, five full-time trainers and 10 student-trainers.

Uribe, regarded as one of the finest physicians in the southeast, is the assistant physician for the Miami Dolphins and the Florida Marlins. Additionally, he and Dr. Keith Hechtman, another member of UM's medical team, serve as team physicians for both Florida International University and St. Thomas University.

Hurricane athletes enjoy the luxury of having one of the nation's finest sports medicine facilities located right on campus. HealthSouth Doctors' Hospital features a full service health-care center specializing in sports medicine. The clinic provides preventative care, physicals, injury evaluations, special testing and referral to specialists. HealthSouth Doctors' Hospital possesses some of the most high-tech equipment in the nation and is available to treat Hurricane athletes.

The hospital includes a health and fitness center where they provide a wide range of services including nutrition counseling and cardiac rehabilitation, all done with the exercise physiology department led by Dr. Jack Young, a member of UM's medical team.

Uribe and his colleagues at the sports medicine center are recognized as some of the finest in the field of sports medicine. Patients are often flown in throughout the east coast to be treated at HealthSouth Doctors' Hospital. Many doctors also fly in to learn sports medicine procedures and techniques from the hospital staff.

With all this medical expertise and equipment available to them, Hurricane athletes are among the best cared for in the nation.

Assistant trainer Garrick Edwards is in his first season as a fulltime member of the Hurricane medical staff, and works and travels with the Miami men's basketball team on a daily basis.

Strength Training with the Best

At the University of Miami winners are made on and off the court. Just as important as the final numbers that read on the scoreboard, are the results achieved in the Hurricanes' weight room. It is this firm belief that has made Miami one of the nation's up and coming programs.

The Hurricane Strength and Conditioning program operates under the guidance of head strength coach Andreu Swasey.

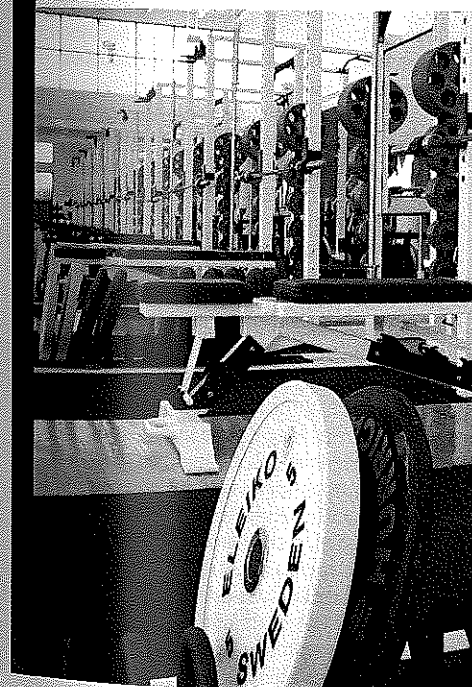

Swasey returned to Miami after spending the 1999 season as the defensive backs coach at the University of Houston. Before going to Houston, Swasey served as Assistant Strength and Conditioning coach for two years at Miami.

Swasey is noted for his enthusiastic approach to weight training and for developing year-round sports specific programs for each student-athlete. Together with assistant strength coaches Dave Richardson, Victor Ishmael, Mark Dziadek, and Lance Sewell, Hurricane student athletes are given the personalized instruction and tools to reach their full physical potential.

The goal of the Hurricane Strength and Conditioning program is to minimize risk and enhance all physical parameters, including strength, speed, power, flexibility and cardiovascular endurance.

To help achieve this goal the University recently completed the construction of a new $4.9 million weight room. The 12,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility houses 20 custom designed weight lifting stations, 17 cardio-vascular machines, a stretching area, a dumbbell and rehab area, and nearly 44,000 pounds of weights.

UM student-athletes also have the use of the state-of-the-art track at the Cobb Stadium for Soccer, Track & Field. Known as one of the nation's top training tracks, Hurricane student-athletes have the opportunity to work on all facets of speed training.

Working directly with the Hurricane men's basketball program is assistant strength coach Dave Richardson. Richardson came to Miami in 2001 after serving six seasons as the head strength and conditioning coach at the University of Louisiana at Monroe. Prior to his stint at Louisiana-Monroe, Richardson served five years as head strength and conditioning coach at Nichols State University. Two of his seasons at Nichols State he served as the head track and field coach. The Monroe native also worked as the strength and conditioning coach for Central America's Davis Cup tennis team in 1991.

Richardson, who earned a Bachelor's degree in Health and Human Performance in 1989 and a Master's degree in Exercise Science in 1990 from Louisiana-Monroe, has a strong background in power lifting. In 1984 he won the Alaska powerlifting state championship, and was crowned the Louisiana state powerlifting champion in 1986 and 1987. In 1985 and 1986 he was the ArkLaMiss champion and was listed among the Powerlifting USA Top 100. In addition, Richardson served five years in the Army and was a member of the All-Army powerlifting team.

Committed to the health and development of his players, Perry Clark is one of the most progressive basketball coaches in the country with regards to strength and conditioning. It is his belief that strength and conditioning is every bit as important as practicing and watching film. Along with Richardson, Clark will evaluate the strength and conditioning program by how the Hurricanes are doing in March because just as basketball skills must improve as the BIG EAST and NCAA Tournaments come around, so must the player's conditioning.

The national average for men's basketball players over that four-year period was 36 percent. Graduation rates were tabulated and released by the NCAA in its 2003 NCAA Graduation Rates Report.

Important Information From the University of Miami Compliance Office

Dear Prospective Student-Athlete:

As a prospective student-athlete, you may have the athletic potential to play college basketball at the Division I level. If so, you probably will be exposed to an enormous amount of recruitment activities from universities across the country.

Throughout the recruitment process, coaches will reference various NCAA rules and regulations. The rules are designed for various reasons. The most important of which are to ease the pressures on prospective student-athletes and to level the playing field so that all universities operate within the same guidelines.

During the recruiting process you may have the following questions:

- When and how often can I visit an institution's campus?
- When, where and how often can a coach telephone me?
- How many times can a coach observe me in practice and/or competition?
- What academic criteria must I meet to be eligible to play Division I college basketball?

The answers to these questions and more can be obtained from the University of Miami compliance office or the NCAA by requesting the NCAA Guide for the College-Bound Student-Athlete. The guide may be provided to a prospective student-athlete at any time. The guide addresses issues related to Divisions I, II and III academic eligibility, financial aid, recruitment and more.

To receive a copy of the guide call the NCAA Hotline at 1-800-638-3731, access the NCAA website at www.NCAA.org, or request it from the University of Miami coach who is recruiting you.

Please remember that since violations of NCAA rules during your recruitment could jeopardize your athletic eligibility, it is important for you and your parents to be informed and to ask questions throughout the recruiting process.

Best of luck and GO CANES!
Sincerely,

Tony Hernandez
Director for Compliance

A Division I institution may provide you with the following printed materials:

- General correspondence, including letters, U.S. Postal Service postcards and institutional note cards;
- Game programs, which may not include posters, and one Student-Athlete Handbook;
- NCAA educational information;
- Pre-enrollment information subsequent to signing a National Letter of Intent with the university;
- One athletic publication (e.g., media guide or recruiting brochure);
- Official academic, admissions and student services publications published or videotapes produced by the institution and available to all students;
- Schedule and business cards;
- Questionnaires which may be provided prior to your junior year; and
- Camp brochures which may be provided prior to your junior year.

F.A.Q.'s

Who is a Prospective Student-Athlete (Prospect)?

You are a prospect if you have started classes for the ninth grade. Before the ninth grade, you may become a prospect if a university provides you (or your family or friends) any financial aid or other benefit that is not usually provided to prospective student-athletes.

How do I know if I'm being recruited?

A coach is recruiting you if they try to convince you directly, or through your family, to attend their school and participate in intercollegiate athletics. There are several ways to be recruited: (1) a coach may provide you with an official paid visit to view the campus, (2) a coach may arrange an in-person, off-campus encounter with you (or your family), or (3) a coach or staff member may call you (or your family) on more than one occasion for the purpose of recruitment. Coaches and authorized institutional staff members are the only individuals who may recruit you. Representatives of athletic interests (boosters) may not call, write or make in-person contact with you for the purpose of recruiting you to a university and participating in athletics.

Important Information From the University of Miami Compliance Office

When can a coach contact me?

Off Campus Contact: A coach can arrange a face-to-face meeting, off the University's campus, with you beginning July 1st following the completion of your junior year in high school.

Telephone Calls: Coaches may initiate telephone contact with prospects after July 1st following completion of your junior year. You may call a coach at your own expense at any time. However, unless it is after July 1st following your junior year, the coach may not return your call. Generally, a coach may only call you (or your parents or legal guardians) once a week, however unlimited phone calls are permitted under the following circumstances: (1) during the five days before your official visit, (2) on the initial date for signing the National Letter of Intent and the two days following, and (3) on the day of a coach's off-campus contact with you.

Mail Correspondence: Letters and recruiting information may be sent to you starting September 1st at the beginning of your junior year in high school.

What is a Contact?

A contact is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect's parent(s) or legal guardian and an institutional staff member or athletic representative during which any dialogue occurs in excess of an exchange of a greeting. NOTE: At the Division I level, athletic representatives (boosters) may not contact you for the purpose of recruiting.

What can a school offer me to attend their University?

You (or your family) may not receive any benefit, inducement or arrangements such as cash, clothing, cars, gifts or loans to encourage you to sign a National Letter of Intent or to attend an NCAA school. A University may offer you a one-year scholarship that covers room and board, tuition and fees, and required course-related books, or any part of these. The institution can recommend that this aid is renewed each year, as is the general practice at the University of Miami. In addition, they can offer you quality academic and medical support, as well as the opportunity to compete for one of the nation's top programs.

What can I do during this process?

Enjoy your high school years—work hard both in the classroom and in your sport. At the beginning of your junior year, sign up for the NCAA Clearinghouse. Your high school guidance office can provide you with the information.

Who can I contact with questions? Call the NCAA at (317) 917-6222 with questions regarding eligibility requirements and recruiting.

Miami: Where the heat is on

"Welcome to Miami...bienvenidos a Miami." With 84 miles of Atlantic coastline, yearlong sunshine, and a boasted average daily temperature of 75 degrees, it is no wonder in his hit single, rapper Will Smith dubbed Miami "the city where the heat is on."

The Heat on the Court

Thanks to South Florida's year-round, sports-friendly climate, Miami has a lot to offer in outdoor recreational activities. From some of the PGA's finest golf courses to almost 700 parks, there is something for everyone here. With countless opportunities for kayaking, scuba-diving, fishing, beach volleyball, and rollerblading, there is no excuse for going without a tan.

South Florida truly has the perfect weather for sports, and is one of only eight metropolitan areas in the United States that can boast of a professional franchise in each of the four major sports. The Major League's Florida Marlins had everybody "doing the fish" when they won the World Series a few years ago. The NFL's Miami Dolphins have thrilled fans for decades at the Pro Player Stadium, which hosted both the 1995 and 1999 Super Bowls. Despite the warm weather, South Florida's own hockey team, the Florida Panthers, can keep up on the ice. And for basketball fans, the NBA's Miami Heat and the WNBA's Sol keep things heated up at the AmericanAirlines Arena.

Miami is Caliente

Truly a melting pot, Miami plays home to a variety of cultures, creating a totally unique, vibrant cultural mosaic. With representatives of every Hispanic nation in the world, Spanish serves as a second language to most of Miami's residents. Little Havana is the heart of Miami's Cuban community, where churro vendors line the streets, the aroma of high-octane café Cubano fills the air, and the spirit of friendly competition fills Domino Park.

The spirit of the Caribbean is alive in Little Haiti, where many Haitian artists, musicians and entrepreneurs get their start in Miami. The proud focal point of this neighborhood is the Caribbean Market, an open-air replica of Port-au-Prince's Iron Market, where Creole is the dominant language, and there are elements of Afro-Caribbean religions such as voodoo.

Sizzling the Silver Screen

With tropical weather, a high quality labor pool, low production costs, and direct links to Latin America, Miami has become one of the most important entertainment centers in the world. Dubbed as the Latin-American Hollywood by the New York Times, such blockbusters as Big Trouble, written by Miami Herald columnist Dave Barry, and starring Tim Allen and Rene Russo, Any Given Sunday, There's Something About Mary, The Birdcage, and Wild Things were all filmed in Miami.

Miami is a Hollywood favorite off-screen as well as on-screen, with dozens of celebrities calling Miami home, and even more who consider it a favorite weekend getaway. Gloria and Emilio Estefan's Star Island estate and Gianni Versace's Ocean Drive mansion-turned-museum are just a couple of examples of Miami's celebrity appeal.

Miami Hot Spots

For shopping, for dancing, or for just plain people watching, Miami offers several places to see and be seen.

With over 800 buildings designed in the 30s and 40s, South Beach serves as the largest collection of Art Deco architecture in the world. It also sets the scene for a nightlife that just won't quit. Celebrity-owned restaurants like Cameron Diaz's Bambu, night clubs such as Level, which is based on the format of New York's Studio 54, and a medley of huge anchor stores and small unique boutiques create the flavor of Miami's most famous hot spot.

Coconut Grove, just a ten-minute drive from the University of Miami, is another student favorite. Built mainly by West Indian craftsmen brought in from the Bahamas, it still holds onto the Caribbean appeal its name suggests. Attracting writers, artists, and non-conformists, this hub of the bohemian arts contributed to Miami's cultural renaissance. Fast-forward a century, and the Grove is still one of Miami's hottest nightspots, with more than 75 cafes, restaurants, and clubs that line the streets.

The Warmth of Coral Gables, the "City Beautiful"

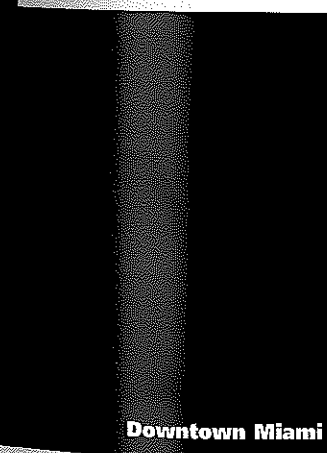

The University of Miami campus is located in Coral Gables, dubbed "the City Beautiful." Founded by George Merrick almost a century ago, the Gables is one of Miami's most beautiful areas. The palm-lined streets are all named after European villages, each one bordered by Old Spanish style homes. Downtown Coral Gables is bustling with the many offices of multi-national corporations. The city's central boulevard, Miracle Mile, has a wide array of designer boutiques and art galleries. One Gables favorite is the Venetian Pool, a beautiful swimming lagoon carved out of coral, which features cascading waterfalls and underwater caves.

Hurricane Warnings

The Hurricanes

It began in controversy. Some reports say the 1927 football team held a team meeting to select Hurricanes, hoping they would sweep away opponents just as the devastating storm did on September 16, 1926. Another version holds that Miami News columnist Jack Bell asked end Porter Norris of the 1926 team what the team should be called. Told that the local dignitaries and University officials wanted to name the team for a local flora or fauna, Norris said the players wouldn't stand for it and suggested "Hurricanes" since the opening game had been postponed by such a storm. From time to time, opposition has arisen to the name that would "reinforce Miami's negative reputation as a weather-beaten community living constantly under the threat of destruction." But as one UM official rationalized in the 60's, "Does anyone think Chicago is overrun by bears just because the town has a football team by that name?"

Orange, Green & White

UM's school colors were selected in 1926. The colors of the Florida orange tree represent UM. Orange symbolizes the fruit of the tree, green represents the leaves and white, the blossoms.

The U

In 1973, UM's Athletic Federation, the fund raising arm of the athletic department at the time, commissioned a local public relations expert to develop a distinctive logo. The University had gone several years with a variety of helmet and uniform changes and the Federation noted that a number of major colleges have the initials UM. Miami designer Bill Bodenhamer suggested the "U" idea, which lent itself to distinctive logos for each sport as well as slogans like "U gotta believe" and "U is great."

Sebastian the Ibis

Folklore maintains that the Ibis, a symbol of knowledge found in the Everglades and Egypt, is the last sign of wildlife to take shelter before a hurricane and the first to reappear after the storm. The local marsh bird was considered UM's first unofficial mascot when the school yearbook adopted the name "Ibis" in 1926. Its popularity grew among the students during the 50's. In 1957 San Sebastian Hall, a residence hall on campus, sponsored an Ibis entry in the homecoming celebration. The next year, student John Stormont performed at games in an Ibis costume that was glued, sewn and pinned together and was the forerunner of today's bird. Through the years, the Ibis has become one of the most recognizable college mascots in the United States.

Cheerleaders

The University of Miami cheerleaders are the catalyst for school spirit at the University. Along with cheering at both home and away athletic contests, the squad is a strong public relations arm for the University. Active in community service and charitable projects, the cheerleaders are a great source of pride for the University and the City of Miami. Under the direction of coaches Dan Reynolds and Nicole Stimson, the co-ed cheerleaders are consistently rated among the nation's top squads. The Hurricanes, like so many other high profile universities, recently added an all-girls cheerleading squad. This squad, which competes at the national Universal Cheerleaders Association college competition, are coached by Heather Almaguer, Cristina Ball, and Suzette Benitez. The co-ed team is captained by Alfonso Restrepo and Erin Vayo. The all-girls captains will be named this fall.

Sunsations

Now in their 17th year of entertaining fans, the University of Miami Sunsations dance team is a squad of enthusiastic and talented performers. Their reputation for excellence has grown both locally and nationally. The Sunsations, coached by former members Janine Thompson and Jennifer Schaefer, perform at many charitable and community service events in addition to Hurricane football and basketball games. The captains are Stephani Estrada and Kristin Ungerland.

Athletic Facilities

Mark Light Field

In 1971, former Miami Coach Ron Fraser had a dream of building a state-of-the-art college baseball field and Hurricane supporter George Light came forward with the funding. However, Light never got to see the Hurricanes reach the College World Series. He died shortly after his donation as the Hurricanes finished second in their first CWS. The field, dedicated in 1977, is named for Light's son, Mark, who died of muscular dystrophy. Light's widow, Ethel, was known as "The First Lady of Mark Light Field." She was seldom missing from her seat right behind home plate. She passed away in 1994.

In 1994, the field was refurbished with natural grass and several additional renovations were made in the fall of 1996. The locker room, training room and umpire's room were updated. A new hitting cage and sound system were also added. "The Light" has been the home of the 1982, 1985, 1999 and 2001 NCAA College World Series Champions. One of the nation's most complete facilities, MLS has a seating capacity of 5,000.

Norman Whitten Student Union Pool

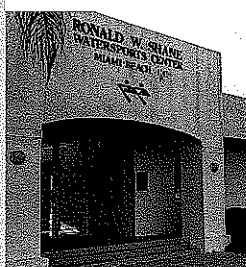

As Director of Intramural Sports, Norman Whitten had close ties with the University of Miami. His dedication to UM sports led to the contribution of the Student Union Pool. In 1966, the area was converted into part of the Student Union. The Norman Whitten Student Union Pool has been the home to 34 National Tide Winners and 28 Olympians, including three-time National Champion and five-time World Champion diver Greg Louganis.

Greentree Practice Fields

Because of a generous donation by Myron Greentree, the practice fields for Hurricane athletes was opened in the 1970s. The practice home of the 1983, '87, '89, '91 and '01 national football champions underwent a $2 million renovation during the 1998 off-season. The renovation included three full-length prescription athletic turf fields and lights for evening practices.

Ronald W. Shane Watersports Center

The Ronald W. Shane Watersports Center, home of the University of Miami rowing team, is dedicated "to promote and develop amateur water-sports competition for adults, youth, students, and underprivileged individuals in South Florida." The charter of the Watersports Center is grounded in the beliefs of its founder, Dr. Ron Shane, that giving back to the community and providing resources to anyone willing to participate is the most important aspect of the organization. The Watersports Center is a not-for-profit foundation, all of whose programs are open to the community.

The Watersports Center was dedicated in October of 1993 and has 4,200 square feet of storage space for shells. It is located on Indian Creek, a three mile sheltered body of water that is wide enough for six boats in the heart of Miami Beach. Beginning in 2002, a second level will be added to the center, with more space for meeting rooms, ergs, weight room and an internet cafe.

Knight Sports Complex

With the dedication and support of James L. Knight, the Knight Sports Complex was completed in 1985. Knight was an avid supporter of the University of Miami and made several other contributions such as the school of architecture. The building houses practice courts and locker rooms for men's and women's basketball and volleyball. One of the nation's most complete basketball practice facilities, the KSC was refurbished with a new permanent playing surface in the spring of 1994.

University of Miami Wellness Center

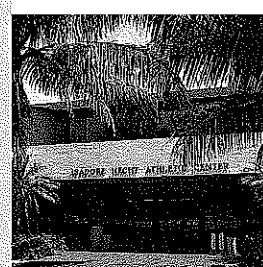

In January of 1996, the University of Miami Wellness Center was opened for use by the student body, faculty, staff and alumni. Located next to the Hecht-Stanford residential colleges, the Wellness Center provides students a variety of activities and services, including a fitness room, aerobic classes, indoor track, gymnasium with basketball, volleyball and badminton courts; racquetball and squash courts; indoor pool, spa and sauna.

Cobb Stadium

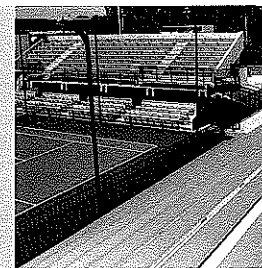

Located adjacent to the Hecht Athletic Center and providing seating for 500 people, the facility is named after Ambassador and Mrs. Charles E. Cobb. The Cobb family donated the gift for the reconstruction and expansion of the University track and the construction of the new soccer field. Because of this contribution, Cobb Stadium was opened in the spring of 1999.

Ambassador Cobb was captain of the Stanford University track team and a member of the 1960 United States Olympic team as a high hurdler. He has been a member of the University of Miami Board of Trustees and its Executive Committee for over 20 years and is a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Hecht Athletic Center

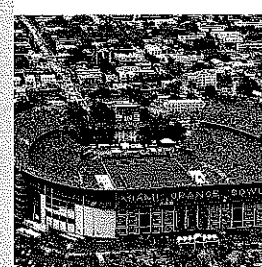

With a generous donation from Isadore Hecht, the University of Miami was able to renovate and make additions to the athletic administrative offices in 1979. Hecht believed that to attract the highest quality of student-athlete, the University needed to have the best facilities. The Hecht Athletic Center houses all the administrative offices within the University of Miami athletic program. In 2001, the facility completed an $8 million expansion that features the addition of new locker rooms, meeting rooms and an improved strength and conditioning center.

Neil Schiff Tennis Center

A 1948 graduate of the University of Miami, Neil Schiff spent the majority of his life in dedicated service to his alma mater. At the time of his passing in 1985, Schiff was vice-chairman of UM's board of Trustees. His passing was felt deeply by the tennis community and the young men and women who prospered through his love and support of Hurricane tennis.

Dedicated in 1987, the home of Miami tennis is one of the top five facilities in the country. With 16 courts and seating for 1,000 spectators, the facility hosts many of the nation's top amateur events, including the International Junior Orange Bowl Tournament, ITCA Women's Rolex Qualifier and BIG EAST Tennis Championships.

Orange Bowl

Dedicated on December 10, 1937 the Orange Bowl serves as the home of the University of Miami football team. The facility has a seating capacity of 72,319 and has played host to five Super Bowls and numerous collegiate bowl games. Since 1970, when the collegiate national champion was first selected after the completion of the bowl games, the Orange Bowl Classic has hosted 11 games that decided the national title. Until the 1996 season when the OBC moved to Pro Player Stadium, Orange Bowl Stadium had hosted eight of the previous 11 national championship games, including University of Miami titles in 1983, 1987 and 1991.

The Convocation Center

In January 2003 the University of Miami ushered in a new era of collegiate basketball when it began play at the Convocation Center, the new on-campus home of men's and women's basketball, and the University's first large-capacity venue for other educational, cultural and community events.

The $48 million facility, totally funded through private donations, opened on January 4, 2003 as the Hurricanes defeated perennial power North Carolina, 64-61 in overtime, in front of a packed house.

With seating for 7,000, the Convocation Center provides the University and the Coral Gables community with a facility designed for a wide array of uses.

The three-story, 200,000 square foot facility includes 26 executive suites, carpeted locker rooms, men's and women's basketball player lounge areas, training room facilities, convention space and banquet facilities.

The Convocation Center gives the Hurricanes one of the best home court advantages in all of college basketball. The exquisitely designed building puts fans right on top of the action, and with the executive suites a mere 101 feet from the floor, there isn't a bad seat in the house.

But the Convocation Center provides the University and the surrounding community with more than just a place to watch basketball. The Convocation Center provides the University of Miami and the South Florida Community with new opportunities to present major indoor events while upgrading the current facilities to improve the quality of education for students. Many University events are currently held outdoors or off campus.

The Convocation Center is the focal point of the UM athletic department and the surrounding community providing an abundance of opportunities, ranging from academic and athletic to campus and community.

The list of events includes: NCAA Division I men's and women's basketball games, commencement, orientation, convocation, lectures, conferences, theatrical productions, student government activities, alumni social events, class reunions, employment fairs and career days, cultural events and town meetings.

The road to the Convocation Center began on March 6, 1995 when it was announced the Ryder System Inc. had committed approximately $9 million to the development of the multipurpose facility.

The commitment from Ryder System, Inc. was one of the top 10 gifts in the history of the University and enabled Miami to move forward and begin planning for additional fundraising, and design and construction for the facility.

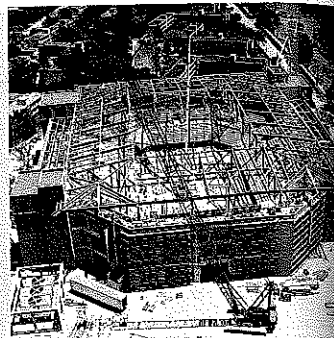

Heading up the major design effort were two outstanding national firms with Ellerbe Becket, Inc. of Kansas City, MO handling design, and Spillis Candela & Partners, Inc. of Coral Gables handling architecture. The Convocation Center design was completed in January 2000.

On August 5, 1998 the University of Miami received another generous gift as Dr. Edward and Joanne Dauer, Mrs. Reva Dauer and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dauer donated $2 million towards the construction of the Convocation Center.

Two weeks later the University of Miami entered into a 10-year partnership with First Union Corp. in which the corporation became the official bank sponsor of the University of Miami Athletic Department. The partnership included a $1.2 million commitment toward the construction of the University's on-campus facility.

In September of 1999, the Convocation Center came one step closer to fruition as the University began demolition of the student apartments located on the corner of Dickinson Drive (West) and Walsh Avenue. And on April 4, 2001 the University of Miami broke ground on the facility.

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The BIG EAST Conference

Michael Traghese
Commissioner

As The BIG EAST Conference celebrates its 25th anniversary in 2003-04, it takes pride in its long list of accomplishments. Providing opportunities to excel amongst the nation's best, both athletically and academically, has always been its mission.

Since opening its doors in 1979, the league has won 22 national championships in six different sports and 118 student-athletes have won individual national titles. The BIG EAST has always been able to boast that some of its best students are also some of its best athletes. More than 300 student-athletes have earned Academic All-America honors, including Connecticut basketball standout Emeka Okafor who earned first team recognition last year. A BIG EAST student-athlete has won the Honda-Broderick Cup as Collegiate Woman of the Year four times, the last by Notre Dame soccer player Cindy Daws in 1997-98.

BIG EAST student-athletes have continued their success after leaving the classrooms and playing fields. Former Connecticut women's basketball standout Dr. Leigh Curl was inducted into the Verizon Academic All-America Hall of Fame in 1999. Former Georgetown men's basketball star Dikembe Mutombo was named a winner of the President's Service Award, the highest honor in the U.S. for volunteer service.

The BIG EAST continued to thrive amongst the nation's elite in 2002-03. It became the first conference to win the men's and women's NCAA titles and the men's NIT Championship in the same year. The Syracuse men won their first national championship, the Connecticut women took home their fourth national title and St. John's won the NIT for the sixth time. The BIG EAST has won each of the last four women's basketball titles.

In the classroom, 21 student-athletes earned 2002-03 Academic All-America honors, including 10 who garnered first team accolades. UConn's Diana Taurasi was the consensus national player of the year in women's basketball. Additionally, she was the women's basketball Honda Award winner.

Whether it's the student-athletes or the league as a whole, moving forward successfully has been the norm for the conference that was formed in 1979.

In the spring of 2001, the BIG EAST added women's lacrosse to its growing list of sports and the inaugural women's golf championship was held in the spring of 2003.

When the 1990s began, The BIG EAST Conference had just completed its eighth season with nine members. The league was arguably as healthy as a conference could be. The BIG EAST was a headline-grabber immediately, especially in men's basketball, its signature sport. The BIG EAST Football Conference did not exist.

The '90s was a decade of enormous change in college athletics with conferences adding new members and new leagues beginning. The BIG EAST was no different than most groups. The BIG EAST Football Conference, with eight members, became a major player in college football immediately after its inception in 1991.

The BIG EAST became a reality on May 31, 1979, following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence College, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse Universities. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven-school alliance.

After one season, Villanova was added and began play in 1980-81. Two seasons later, Pittsburgh joined the group and started competition in '82-83.

Miami was admitted in 1990 and began BIG EAST competition in '91-92. Rutgers, West Virginia and Notre Dame joined in '94 and started to compete in '95-96. Virginia Tech became the league's 14th full member in 2000-01.

While the membership has increased, the focus of the BIG EAST remains unchanged. It is a group that reflects a tradition of broad-based programs, led by administrators and coaches who place a constant emphasis on academic integrity. The BIG EAST Conference has enjoyed a leadership role nationally. Its student-athletes own significantly high graduation rates and their record of scholastic achievement notably reflect a balance between intercollegiate athletics and academics.

Any successful consortium enjoys outstanding leadership. Michael Traghese, the league's first full-time employee, and for 11 years the associate of Dave Gavitt, took over the Commissioner's reins in June, 1990. In his first year at the helm, he administered the formation of The BIG EAST Football Conference.

BIG EAST sports attract the interest of followers in the nation's largest media markets including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, D.C., Miami, Pittsburgh and Hartford. The league has long been considered a leader in innovative concepts in promotion and publicity, particularly regarding television. Those efforts have resulted in unparalleled visibility for BIG EAST student-athletes. Exclusive long-range television contracts with CBS, ESPN, Inc. and ABC provide BIG EAST basketball and football with more television exposure.

The BIG EAST Conference

While BIG EAST basketball games are regular sellouts at campus and major public arenas, including the annual BIG EAST Championship in Madison Square Garden, attendance figures also are significant at BIG EAST soccer, women's basketball and baseball games.

More than 500 BIG EAST athletes have earned All-America recognition and dozens have won individual NCAA national championships. The BIG EAST has been well-represented in U.S. or foreign national and Olympic teams, with several athletes earning gold medals in the summer Olympiads in Sydney in 2000, Atlanta in '96, Barcelona in '92, Seoul in '88 and Los Angeles in '84.

The BIG EAST has its headquarters in Providence where the conference administers to more than 5,500 athletes in 23 sports.

2002-03 Season Review

Expectations were high heading into the 2002-03 season. Miami was coming off a record-breaking season in 2001-02 in which the Hurricanes finished 24-8 and advanced to the NCAA tournament for the fourth time in five seasons. In addition, Miami would be moving into its new $48 million on-campus arena. Unfortunately, the Hurricanes returned just two starters from the 2001-02 team and would be forced to rely on freshmen during key stretches throughout the season. Miami was without three key components to its success the previous season.

Point guard John Salmons was taken in the first round of the 2002 NBA draft, center Elton Tyler was playing professional basketball overseas, and shooting guard Marcus Barnes was dismissed from the team for violation of team rules during the summer.

The Hurricanes' two returning starters were Darius Rice and James Jones. Rice (18.7 ppg) and Jones (16.9 ppg) were forced to carry the scoring load for the Hurricanes, and the two averaged a combined 35.6 points per game or 50 percent of the team's total points.

In addition, Miami freshmen Robert Hite (18 games), Armondo Surra (15 games), Eric Wilkins (9 games) and Gary Hamilton (8 games) started a combined 50 games during the season marking the most combined starts by a group of UM freshmen since the 1985-86 season.

Miami's youth showed as the Hurricanes struggled to win the close games going 3-11 in games decided by five points or less, and 1-4 in overtime contests.

Despite the 11-17 record Miami had several highlights during the season. The Hurricanes christened their new on-campus arena with a thrilling 64-61 overtime win versus North Carolina on January 4. Rice, who scored 17 points, nailed a three-pointer at the end of regulation to tie the score, then provided the only field goal in overtime to lead Miami to the win.

Miami's next home game against 11th-ranked Connecticut saw Rice put on a scoring display that caught the attention of the nation. Rice poured in a career-high 43 points including a steal and three-point basket as time expired to give Miami the improbable come-from-behind win. The 43 points tied him for third on the BIG EAST all-time single-game scoring list.

The win over the Huskies marked the ninth consecutive season in which the Hurricanes had defeated a ranked opponent.

In 2002-03 Rice was "Mr. Clutch" for the Hurricanes hitting three-pointers at the end of four games to either win the game or send the game to overtime.

The season also saw Rice and Jones join the 1,000-point club. Jones posted 26 points against Arkansas-Pine Bluff on December 18 to become the 25th player in UM history to surpass 1,000 career points. In Miami's double-overtime defeat to Florida on December 21 Rice poured in 32 points becoming the 26th player in UM history to reach the 1,000-point plateau.

Rice was named first-team All-District 6 for the second consecutive season by the National Association of Basketball Coaches joining former Hurricane great Tim James (1998, 1999) as the only Hurricanes to earn first-team All-District honors in consecutive seasons. Rice was also named third-team All-BIG EAST by a vote of the league's coaches.

Jones also took home hardware during the season. Jones was named to the 2002-03 Verizon Academic All-America second-team becoming the first Hurricane basketball player to garner Academic All-America distinction.

The Aggies battled back and took their first lead of the game, 57-56, when Marc Watkins connected on two free throws at the 8:01 mark.

Miami looked to have the game in hand when Hite nailed a jumper to put the Hurricanes up by five with just over three minutes to play. But once again the Aggies fought back and when Antoine Wright converted a four-point play with 1:32 left, Texas A&M led 72-71. Wright finished with a game-high 25 points. GAME 11 - MIAMI 64, NORTH CAROLINA 61

January 4, 2003
Convocation Center, Coral Gables, FL

Darius Rice nailed a three-pointer at the end of regulation and provided the only field goal in overtime as the Miami Hurricanes pulled out a thrilling 64-61 victory over North Carolina in the first game at the Convocation Center. Rice finished with 17 points, as Miami picked up its third straight win.

James Jones registered a game-high 21 points and eight rebounds for the Hurricanes, who were playing their first game in their new arena. North Carolina was led by Rashad McCants, who tallied 14 points and seven rebounds. Raymond Felton added 14 points, while Jackie Manuel chipped in 11. Felton dished out a game-high six assists for the Tar Heels, who lost their second game in three outings.

After Miami gained a 27-19 lead through 11 minutes of action, North Carolina used an 8-2 burst to close to within 29-27. The Tar Heels failed to get over the hump, however, and continued to trail at the half, 35-30.

North Carolina took the lead with 18 consecutive points in the second half, but fell into a 60-60 tie at the end of regulation when the team failed to score a field goal in the final 12:10. The Tar Heels were equally inept in the extra session, missing all nine of their attempts from the floor.

University of Miami Hurricanes

It lay silent for 14 years. Collecting dust and going unnoticed, the Miami basketball program was the Rip VanWinkle of college basketball from 1971 to 1985. Now, Hurricane Basketball is back. In a big way.

Since 1985 the Miami program has undergone such dramatic and frequent changes, it seemed that the Hurricanes were continually entering "a new era." First came the "Era of Miami Basketball" itself. Then came the "Bill Foster Era," followed by the "Tito Horford Era," "The Leonard Hamilton Era," "The BIG EAST Era," and now the "Perry Clark Era."

With the entry into the BIG EAST Conference in 1991, the University of Miami not only shed its previous life-long status as an independent, it entered the ranks of the most competitive and successful basketball conference in the nation.

The road to conference affiliation in the BIG EAST was not an easy one for those who thirsted for basketball in this continually prospering section of the country. Moreover, the previous path traveled by Miami basketball players, coaches and fans was dotted by flashes of brilliance, color and sometimes disappointment.

Here is a capsule summary of the 77 years of Miami basketball that have intermittently played a part in the history of the athletic program at the University and its neighboring community.

The 1920s: Miami's First Time

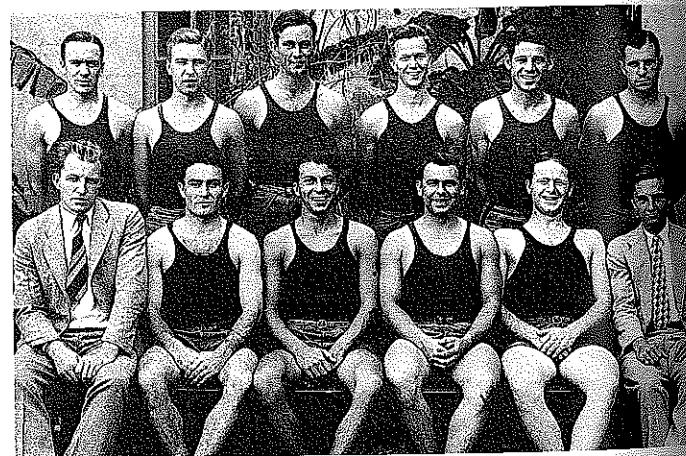

- The Hurricanes fielded a freshman team in 1926-27, finishing 7-1 under Head Coach Art Webb.
- In 1927-28, the first official varsity basketball team at the University of Miami posted an 8-4 mark, knocking off Rollins, 51-15, in the opener.

The 1930s: A Missing Link

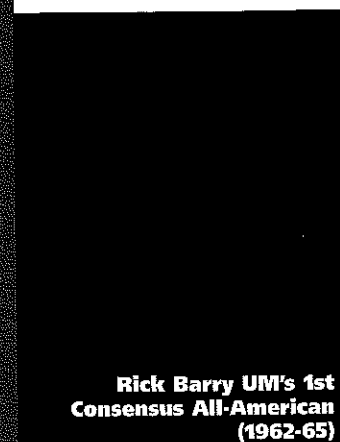

- Miami records list no official results from 1932 through 1938. During that period of time, representatives from the school played local AAU and church sponsored teams under Coach Tom McCann.

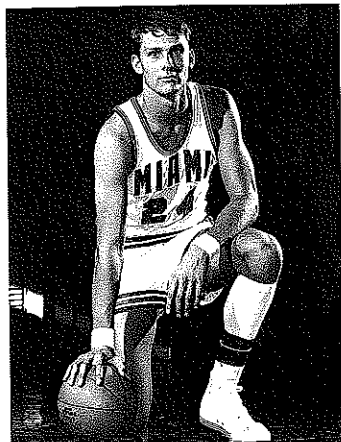

The Hurricanes returned to intercollegiate competition in the 1938-39 season, posting a 4-6 record under Head Coach Hart Morris.

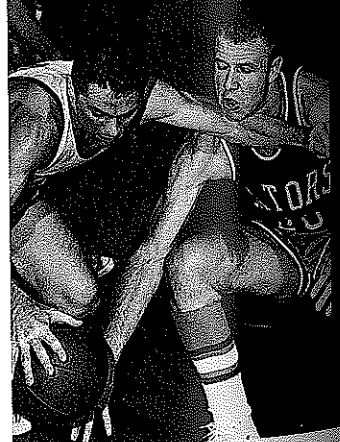

The 1928-29 Miami Hurricanes recorded a 13-6 overall record.

Rick Barry UM's 1st Consensus All-American (1962-65)

Dick Hickox was named UM's first All-American in 1960. He led UM to a 23-3 record, the Hurricanes' first NCAA tournament and the school's first final regular-season Associated Press Top 10 ranking.

- The Hurricanes returned to intercollegiate competition in the 1938-39 season, posting a 4-6 record under Head Coach Hart Morris.

The 1940s: World War II Stops Play

- Like many other institutions across the nation, Miami dropped intercollegiate basketball during the war years of 1942-1945.
- Morris returned as head coach along with the program in 1946 and was the UM mentor until 1952 when Dave Wike took over for a two-year stint as the UM coach.

The 1950s: UM's Glory Years

- In 1954, the University named Bruce Hale as its head basketball coach. The retired Air Force captain and former professional basketball star held the UM head coaching post for 13 seasons, leading the Hurricane program through its glory years of intercollegiate basketball. Before the end of Hale's tenure in 1967, the Hurricanes won 220 games and lost 112 for a .663 winning percentage. Hale's first Miami team turned in a 9-11 record, but there were no other losing campaigns in the next 12 years. The streak of non-losing seasons extended through the 1968-69 season — marking 14 consecutive campaigns of .500 basketball or better for UM.
- Hale's 1959-60 club was the first UM men's basketball team to advance to the NCAA Tournament and finish the season ranked in the Associated Press Top 10. That 1959-60 edition ran its record to 23-3 before bowing to Western Kentucky, 107-84, in the first round of the tournament.
- During that historic '59-60 NCAA Tournament year, junior guard Dick Hickox became the first UM basketball player to earn All-America recognition. Hickox averaged 22.1 points per game during that season en route to becoming a second-team AP and UPI All-American.

The 1960s: Rick Barry's All-American Years

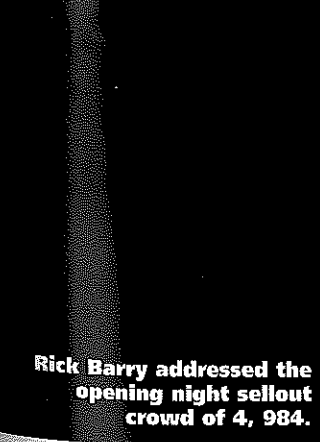

- The Dick Hickox-led Hurricanes of 1960-61 returned to post-season play — falling in the first round of the NIT to St. Louis, 58-56. The 1960-61 squad compiled a 20-7 record.
- In 1962-63, Miami advanced to the second round of the NIT before falling to Providence, 106-96. An opening round NIT victory over St. Francis (NY), 71-70, marks the only Miami victory to date in post-season play.
- From 1962 through 1965, Miami recorded three consecutive 20-win seasons, rolling up a composite record of 65-16. The star of these Hurricane glory teams was a brilliant scorer named Rick Barry.
- In 1964-65, Barry became the Hurricanes' only consensus All-America selection. The 6-7, 200-pound native of Roselle Park, New Jersey led the nation in scoring with a 37.4 average in his senior season. He went on to become the only player in basketball history to win single-season scoring titles in the NCAA, ABA and NBA. He was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, MA, in 1986.
- The 1964-65 Miami squad, led by Barry's scoring brilliance, established a new NCAA scoring record by averaging 98.4 points per game. The 'Canes, however, were not allowed to participate in the NCAA Tournament that year — after posting a 22-4 record — because of recruiting violations.
- Bruce Hale resigned after 1966-67 and assistant Ron Godfrey assumed the head coaching responsibilities.

The 1970s: First Era Ends

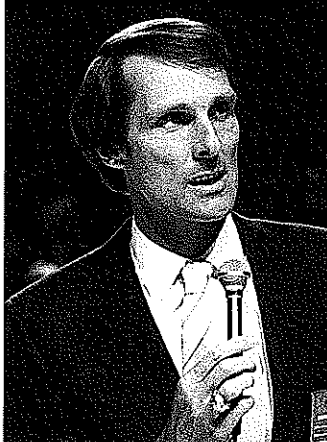

- Don Curnutt closed out his Miami basketball career in 1970 as the Hurricanes' third and last player to receive All-America recognition.
- February 27, 1971 — The last victory by a University of Miami men's basketball team for 14 years came in the second to the last game of the season, a 100-94 triumph over Florida State at home in the Dinner Key Auditorium. The 'Canes shot a season-high 62.5 percent from the floor as all five Miami starters scored in double figures.

- March 1, 1971 — After posting a four-year record of 47-56 at Miami, Ron Godfrey resigned his post as head basketball coach, effective following Miami's final game of the season against nationally ranked Jacksonville.
- March 2, 1971 — The last game played by a University of Miami men's team until 1985 took place at the Dinner Key Auditorium where one of the largest UM home crowds in years turned out to see the Hurricanes host nationally ranked Jacksonville. The Dolphins handed Miami a 94-75 loss that remained as UM's last contest for the next 14 years.
- April 22, 1971 — The University of Miami Board of Trustees voted to drop the sport "temporarily until such time as a permanent field house can be constructed on the main campus." Sagging attendance figures and serious financial losses were also believed to contribute to the discontinuation of basketball at UM.

In 1983: UM Commits To Rebuild

- July 15, 1983 — Sam Jankovich was named athletic director at the University of Miami. Coming to UM after a successful stint as the athletic director at Washington State, Jankovich immediately announced that the resurrection of men's basketball at Miami would be his primary priority in the early months of his tenure, enabling UM to have "one of the nation's most complete and visible overall programs in the country."
- October 12, 1983 — The University of Miami Board of Trustees unanimously voted to reinstate men's basketball at the University of Miami. The Board made the decision after reviewing a report submitted by newly hired Athletic Director Sam Jankovich which stated that men's basketball can be a revenue-producing venture. Moreover, nearly $500,000 had already been raised in support of bringing basketball back to the University. It was also announced that the Hurricanes would be ready to compete on the Division I level in the 1985-86 season, and the downtown James L. Knight Center was home for the reborn program.

"This is an exciting day for the University and for the athletic program," UM President Edward T. Foote II said. "And we are keeping in mind the priorities of academics first and athletics second ... we are pleased that the changes in the economics of intercollegiate basketball allow the University to resurrect one of the country's most popular sports. We look forward to welcoming these Hurricanes home again."

In 1984: Foster Hired As Coach

- March 21, 1984 — Bill Foster, a 47-year-old native of Hemingway, South Carolina was named the seventh men's basketball coach at the University of Miami. Foster came to Miami after 19 years as a head coach at three different institutions: Shorter College, North Carolina-Charlotte and Clemson. Foster also announced on this day that Clint Bryant, a long-time assistant at Clemson, would also join the Miami staff in a similar capacity.
- April 9, 1984 — Bill Foster announced the hiring of a second assistant coach, Seth Greenberg, who was serving as an assistant coach to Terry Holland at the University of Virginia.
- April 16, 1984 — Tim Harvey, a 6-10, 240-pound center, became the first basketball player to commit to the University of Miami in over 14 years. The Plainfield, New Jersey native announced that he would transfer to Miami after spending two seasons in the Georgia Tech program.
- July 1, 1984 — A third assistant coach was hired to complete the basketball staff as Miami native Cesar Odio returned home after serving as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Florida Southern College.
- October 11, 1984 — Nearly one full year after the announcement that basketball would return to the University, Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that a million dollar-plus practice facility would be constructed on the Coral Gables campus. The new all purpose structure — located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Track would be funded through a gift from the James L. Knight Charitable Trust.

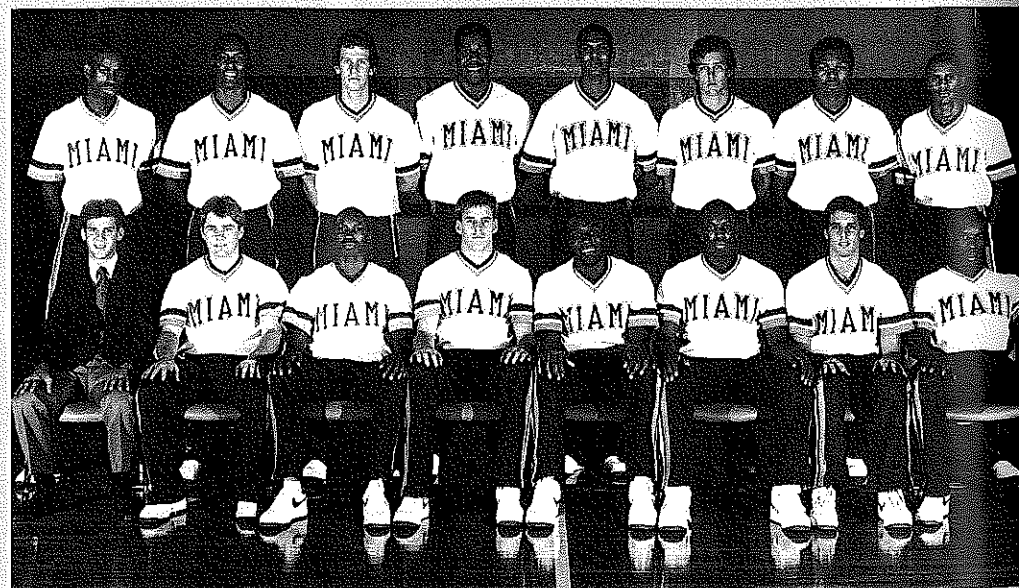

- The first phase of the 1985-86 basketball schedule was also announced on this day, and the line-up included such perennial powers as North Carolina, Georgia, Notre Dame, Marquette and Dayton.
- October 15, 1984 — The first men's basketball practice session in over twelve years was held on the patio in the center of campus. More than 200 members of the student body participated.

In 1985:

With Everything In Place, Miami Tips Off Again

- April 25, 1985 — Foster announced that the UM's 1985-86 basketball roster would include nine freshmen, one sophomore and one junior as the spring signing period ends for NCAA basketball.
- August 16, 1985 — Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that the 1985-86 basketball schedule had been completed and that network television coverage of the Hurricane program would include two games to be broadcast by CBS (Arizona) and ESPN (Notre Dame).
- Jankovich also announced the completion of a local television schedule (on WBFS-Channel 33) that would bring all nine UM road games back to Miami by way of live local broadcasts. Channel 33 would also carry selected home games in the Knight Center.
- WIOD Radio, the radio voice of UM football and baseball would also carry all Hurricane basketball games with veteran Hurricane announcer Sonny Hirsch at the microphone.
- October 15, 1985 — Basketball practice officially begins at the University of Miami in the Knight Sports Complex.
- November 12, 1985 — The Knight Sports Complex was dedicated at a gala banquet that was held on the basketball courts of the new structure. CBS basketball analyst Billy Packer served as the evening's guest speaker for an event which welcomed over 500 guests to the on-campus home of Hurricane basketball. The facility now serves as the practice home to the men's and women's basketball programs while also housing the men's basketball coaching staff offices. In addition, the Knight Sports Complex enabled the athletic program to more than double the size of the existing strength room, while also providing meeting rooms and lecture rooms for all of Miami's student athletes. The structure is located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Track.

- November 22, 1985 — The brand new era of Hurricane basketball was ushered in by a young UM squad which defeated The Citadel, 85-77, in front of a sellout crowd of 4,984 at the Knight Center. Dennis Burns (24 points), Kevin Presto (22) and Eric Brown (21) combined to lead the Miami offense, while Bryan Hughes enjoyed the distinction of scoring Miami's first point in 14 years (a free throw with 18:34 remaining in the first half).
- November 30, 1985 — Miami stuns 1985 NCAA Tourney participant Georgia with a thrilling 81-78 victory to capture the first AMI Classic Championship at the James L. Knight Center.

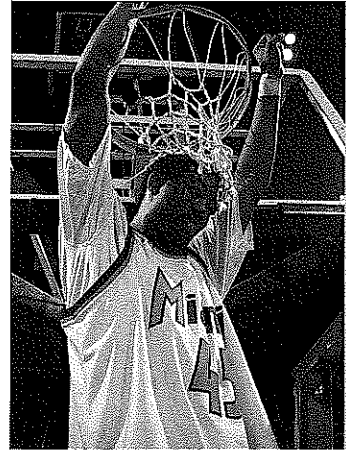

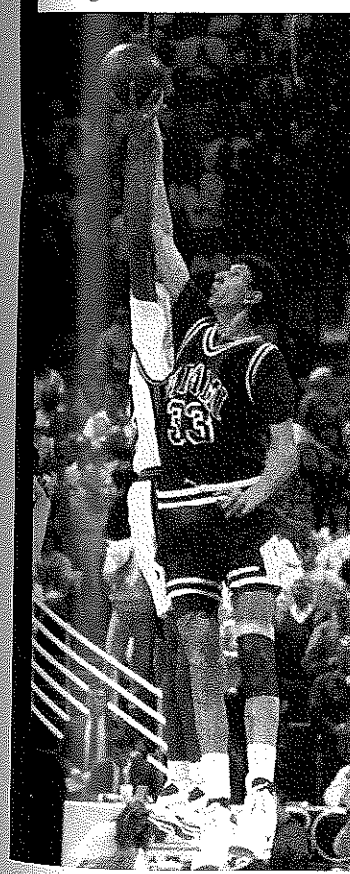

End of the 1980s:

UM Moves Forward, Upsets Top 20 Teams

- March 5, 1986 — An 84-62 loss to Marquette in Milwaukee closed the Hurricanes' first season since 1970-71. Miami finished the year with a 14-14 record, giving Bill Foster his 19th non-losing record in 20 years as a collegiate head coach.
- The 1986-87 season — Though still considered "America's Youngest Team," Miami compiled a 15-16 slate — recording upset victories over Marquette, Stanford and Florida State, while losing by only four points to future BIG EAST foe Providence — a team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four.
- The 1987-88 season — Thrilling victories over both Providence and Virginia Commonwealth propelled the 'Canes to continued improvement with a 17-14 record. Following the season, center Tito Horford announced his intention to enter the NBA Draft without completing his final two seasons of eligibility. Miami was left with anything but a depleted roster as ten lettermen, including eight seniors, returned for UM's fourth season.

John Salmons celebrates after Miami defeated St. John's 74-70 in overtime to capture the 1999-00 BIG EAST regular-season championship.

- April 12, 1988 — Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announces plans to move Hurricane Basketball to the new $56 million Miami Arena. Also home to the NBA's Miami Heat, the state-of-the-art basketball facility signifies a new era in the rise of South Florida basketball.
- December 10, 1988 — A crowd of 6,654 watches the Hurricanes run neck-and-neck for 40 minutes with ACC powerhouse Duke. Blue Devil Danny Ferry needs a superhuman performance to stop the 'Canes as he connects on 23 of 26 shots en route to 58 points. Ferry later calls Miami "a definite Top 40 team."
- January 12, 1989 — Joel Warren's free throw, his only point of the evening, with two seconds remaining clinches Miami's first victory over a Top 20 team as the 'Canes upset defending national champion and No. 16-ranked Kansas, 87-86, at the Miami Arena.
- March 6, 1989 — The Hurricanes post an 89-82 win over Florida International University in the first annual Carnival Miami Cup. The win leaves Miami with a 19-12 slate, good enough for the best record in 24 years and ten seasons at Miami. Eric Brown ends his brilliant Miami career with 2,270 career points, just 28 back of All-America Rick Barry's Hurricane record of 2,298.
- December 6, 1989 — Miami hands an 87-82 loss to eventual NCAA tournament participant University of Dayton as a Hurricane squad that includes six freshmen and no seniors jumps out with three consecutive wins to start the season.

Retired Jerseys

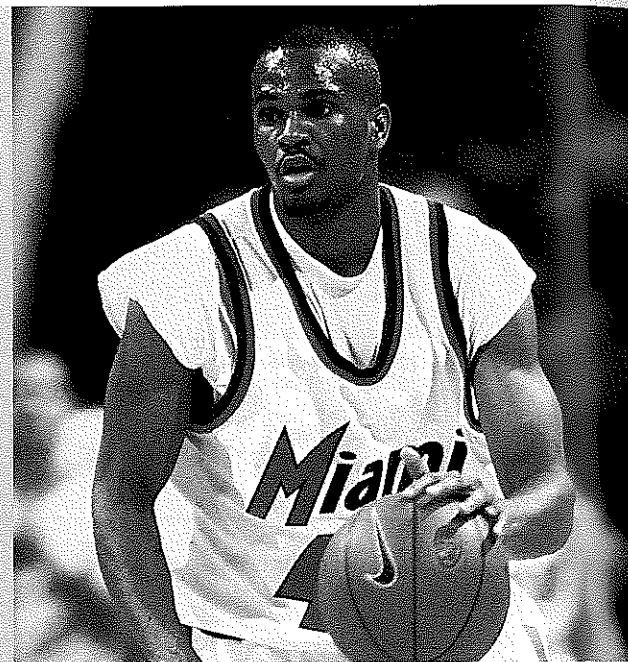

#24 Rick Barry

The first basketball jersey to be retired at the University of Miami was number 24 in honor of Rick Barry, the Hurricanes' all-time leading scorer. Barry, UM's lone consensus first team All-American, led the Hurricanes to a 65-16 record and a pair of post-season berths in his three years. Barry, who finished his UM career with 2,298 points and 1,274 rebounds, is the only Hurricane to top both the 2,000-point and the 1,000-rebound barrier. He still owns five UM career records and numerous single-season records. Barry was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, MA in 1986. He is the only player in basketball history to win single-season scoring titles in the NCAA, NBA and ABA.

Rick Barry was named one of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History in 1996.

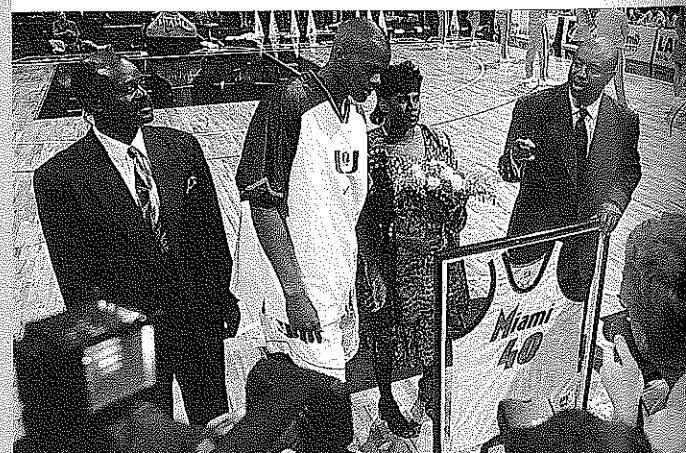

#40 Tim James

On February 27, 1999 Tim James became just the second Hurricane to have his number retired. During his four seasons at UM, James was a positive influence both on and off the court. A Miami native, James was very active in the community working with the "Join a Team, Not a Gang" program and speaking to local youth groups on the importance of staying in school and saying no to drugs.

James, the only player to record over 1,500 career points, 800 career rebounds and 200 career blocked shots, helped lead the Hurricanes into the national spotlight. During his four seasons Miami registered a 68-41 (.624) record, four consecutive winning seasons and three consecutive post season appearances including the school's first NCAA Tournament bid since 1960. The 6-7 forward ended his UM career ranked fourth on Miami's career scoring list (1,713 points), fifth on the career rebounding list (856 rebounds) and second on the career blocked shots list (224 blocks).

James, a two-time first-team All-BIG EAST selection, was named third-team All-America by both the Associated Press and National Association of Basketball Coaches as a senior, as well BIG EAST Co-Player of the Year in 1999.

Tim James had his jersey retired in a ceremony prior to the Hurricanes regular-season finale versus Rutgers on February 27, 1999.
