MEDIA INFORMATION

Joe Zagacki, WIOD color commentator

Sonny Hirsch, WIOD play-by-play announcer

HURRICANES ON THE AIR DURING THE SEASON

GAME DAYS: WIOD (610 AM) will present broadcasts of all University of Miami basketball games, home and away, with exciting pre game and post game shows. Play-by-play announcer Sonny Hirsch and color commentator Joe Zagacki will describe all the action for the Hurricane listening audience.

WPLG (Channel 10) will broadcast four Hurricane games this season. Channel 10 and the University of Miami this year signed a three-year agreement with Channel 10 for the ABC affiliate to carry Hurricane football, basketball and coaches' shows.

SportsChannel Florida, the regional cable network serving the state of Florida, will cablecast 15 Hurricane games, plus all four games of the Eastern Airlines Palm Beach Classic. SportsChannel's distribution will also include its sister cable networks in New York, New England, Chicago and Philadelphia.

WVUM (90.5 FM), the University student radio station, will broadcast all home games throughout the season. WVUM will also provide weekly interviews with UM coaches and players.

NBC-TV will carry the University of Miami-DePaul University basketball game from the James L. Knight Center in Miami on Saturday, February 27, at 4:00 p.m. to a national television audience.

USA Network will carry three UM games to a national cable audience this season. USA will televise the Miami-Georgetown game on Saturday, January 2 at 8:00 pm, the Miami-University of Florida game on February 15 at 8:00 pm from the Knight Center, and the Miami-Dayton game on Tuesday, March 8 from Dayton, Ohio at 8:00 pm.

ESPN will televise the Hurricanes' season opener in the Great Alaska Shootout against Michigan on Friday, November 27 at 9:30 pm from Anchorage, to a nationwide cable audience.

THURSDAYS: HURRICANE HOTLINE SHOW – A one-hour call-in radio show featuring Coach Bill Foster and his guests will be aired by WIOD Radio 610 AM. Hosted by Hurricanes' play-by-play man Sonny Hirsch along with analyst Joe Zagacki, the program will air at 7:05 pm and continue to 8:00 pm.

SATURDAYS: THE BILL FOSTER SHOW – WPLG-TV, Channel 10, will carry a half-hour weekly program every Saturday at 12 noon during the season, featuring Coach Foster. Highlights from the previous week's games, a preview of upcoming contests and features on UM players will be the focus.

MEDIA INFORMATION

INTERVIEW POLICY: All interviews with UM players and coaches should be scheduled through the Sports Information Office. The best time to reach Coach Foster is between 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon on weekdays. Players are available for interviews prior to the start of practice. Please call the SID office to establish a specific time for a pre practice interview appointment. Post practice interviews will be available on a limited basis. There will be no player interviews on game days. To arrange these sessions, call the SID office at (305) 284-3244.

PRACTICE ATTENDANCE: A specific time frame will be established for UM basketball work-outs to be open to the media. Members of the media are encouraged to attend practice during those designated times. Local and out of town media who wish to attend practice must call the SID office earlier in the day to verify the time frame for practice availability. All media guests are required to check in with the UM Sports Information Office prior to entering a practice session. THE UM LOCKER ROOM, WEIGHT ROOM AND TRAINING ROOM ARE OFF LIMITS TO THE MEDIA THROUGHOUT THE SEASON.

PRESS CREDENTIALS: Credentials for UM home games are to be used by the working media only. We ask that members of the media make their requests in writing on letterhead stationery two weeks in advance. Requests from media covering UM opponents will be confirmed with the visiting school's SID. Requests should be directed to Carol Recicar, at the UM Sports Informtion Office, P.O. Box 248167
University of Miami
Coral Gables, Florida 33124

TELEPHONES: It is recommended that media with deadline concerns order phones by calling Southern Bell at (305) 883-1471. Give Rich Dalrymple as a contact.

STATISTICS/ SERVICES Complete game statistics, play-by-play and post game quotes will be available at all UM home games. Running play-by-play sheets and stats will be distributed throughout the game.

POST GAME INTERVIEWS: Miami coach Bill Foster will arrive in the Press Room shortly after the end of the game to address the media. UM players will be brought outside the locker room for post game comments. Members of the media are instructed to inform a UM SID representative for post game player interview preferences. Due to limited space the UM locker room will not be open for post game interviews.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Court-side photographers must check in at the press gate before entering the Knight Center. NCAA rules limit the shooting access areas to BEHIND THE BASELINES ONLY. NO PHOTOGRAPHERS WILL BE PERMITTED TO SHOOT ALONG THE SIDELINE OR BENCH AREAS. Photo requests should be made at least two weeks in advance and should be directed to Carol Recicar in the UM SID office.

SPORTS INFORMATION: The offices are located in the Hecht Athletic Center at No. 1 Hurricane Drive on the Coral Gables Campus, near Mark Light Stadium. The Knight Sports Complex, headquarters for UM basketball practice, is located next to the Hecht Center.

NOTES ON THE HURRICANES

- Miami is scheduled to make five network television appearances for the 1987-88 season: Michigan (ESPN), Georgetown (USA), Florida (USA), DePaul (NBC), and Dayton (USA). In the first two seasons since the program was restored, the Hurricanes had appeared on network television in five games. CBS has carried two of those games (Arizona in 1986 and Navy in 1987), and ESPN televised the Notre Dame game of 1986 and the Florida State game in 1987. NBC broadcast the Kansas game in 1987.

- In 1987, Tito Horford was named first team freshman All American by Basketball Weekly Magazine. He was also the leading freshman rebounder in the nation with an average of 9.6 rebounds per game. In 1986 Eric Brown was named fourth team freshman All-American as selected by Basketball Weekly. During that same year, freshman All-American as selected by Basketball Weekly. During that same year, Brown was the nation's ninth leading freshman scorer with a 16.4 points per game average.

- In the past two years, 58 games have appeared on the University of Miami schedule. Thirteen of those games have been scheduled against teams which have advanced to the NCAA tournament, while 11 games have been played with NIT teams. In all, 40.0% of all Miami games have been scheduled against post season tournament teams. During those two years, Miami has fielded what is easily considered the nation's youngest team. The following is a break-down on the post season tournament teams who have appeared on the UM schedule in each of the past two years:

1986-87	1986-87 Tournament Appearance
Providence	NCAA Final 4
North Carolina	NCAA Round of 16
Duke	NCAA Round of 16
Kansas	NCAA Round of 16
Florida	NCAA Round of 16
Notre Dame	NCAA Round of 16
Navy	NCAA
LaSalle	NIT Finals
Marquette	NIT
Florida State (2 games)	NIT
Dayton	NIT

1985-86	1985-86 Tournament Appearance
Duke	NCAA Final 4
North Carolina	NCAA Round of 16
Brown	NCAA
Fairfield	NCAA
Arizona	NCAA
Notre Dame	NCAA
Florida (2 games)	NIT Semifinals
Georgia	NIT
UCLA	NIT
Dayton	NIT
Marquette	NIT

- Listed below are some of the attractive road locations that have been the site of Miami basketball games in the past two seasons:

Site	Opponent
Los Angeles, California	UCLA
New Orleans, Louisiana	Univ. of New Orleans
Durham, North Carolina	Duke University

Milwaukee, Wisconsin	Marquette University
Chapel Hill, North Carolina	North Carolina
San Juan, Puerto Rico	Three-day-tournament
Lawrence, Kansas	University of Kansas
Albuquerque, New Mexico	Univ. of New Mexico
San Diego, California	San Diego State
Baltimore, Maryland	Navy
The Meadowlands (New Jersey)	Fairleigh Dickinson
South Bend, Indiana	Notre Dame

- In those same two years, these are some of the basketball teams that have visited the James L. Knight Center:

Georgia	Notre Dame
Florida	Duke
Florida State	Providence
North Carolina	Marquette
Arizona	Dayton

- The first graduating class of Miami Basketball has completely fulfilled its academic requirements. Senior Tim Harvey (business) and Mike Noblet (health and facility management) have earned their degrees, while the third senior Bob Schneckenberg will complete the final two semesters of a five year architecture program in the spring of 1988.

- With 11 states, the District of Columbia, and one foreign country represented on the 14 player roster for next year, Miami could be considered America's Team. North Carolina is the only state that has representation from more than one UM player. The following is a break-down of the broad geographical make-up of Miami's current scholarship list:

FLORIDA:	Reggie Polnitz
GEORGIA:	Lemuel Howard
INDIANA:	Joel Warren
MARYLAND:	Tim Dawson
MICHIGAN:	Joe Ross
MISSISSIPPI:	Levertis Williams
NEW JERSEY:	Dennis Burns
NEW YORK:	Eric Brown
NORTH CAROLINA:	Mark Richardson, Bruce Moore
TEXAS:	Thomas Hocker

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI
CORAL GABLES, FLORIDA

The University of Miami is the largest independent teaching and research university in the Southeast and, opened in 1926, is among the nation's youngest. The Coral Gables campus, 10 miles from Miami, is the site of most of the university's undergraduate and graduate programs. The University also operates a medical center in downtown Miami, a world renowned marine and atmospheric science school on Virginia Key in Key Biscayne Bay, and a bio-medical research and development center on its South Campus.

Following goals established in its nationally acclaimed strategic plan, the University of Miami is in the third year of one of the largest fund raising campaigns in the history of higher education in the United States. The campaign will raise $400 million for endowment, facilities and equipment, and current operations in 1989.

Enrollment at the University of Miami has grown from a few hundred, when classes were held in a remodeled Coral Gables Hotel, to more than 13,300 credit-seeking students including about 8,500 undergraduate, 2,500 graduate, 1,400 law and 660 medical students.

Representing all U.S. states and 104 foreign countries, the student body is composed of 63 percent Florida residents, 24 percent from other states, and 12 percent foreign nationals. Eighty-three percent of the 1,500 member faculty hold doctorates or other terminal degrees in their fields.

Schools, Colleges, Institutes and Centers

The University offers 130 undergraduate and 175 graduate degree programs through Schools of Architecture, Business Administration, Communication, Continuing Studies, Education and Allied Professions, Graduate Studies, International Studies, Law, Marine and Atmospheric Sciences, Medicine, Music, and Nursing and Colleges of Arts and Sciences and Engineering.

The Rosential School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is recognized as one of the top three marine science schools in the country. The University offers graduate, as well as undergraduate, degree programs in marine affairs and marine sciences.

Established in 1952 as Florida's first medical school, the University of Miami School of Medicine is the hub of the UM/Jackson Memorial Medical Center, the fifth largest such complex in the country and one of the hemisphere's major centers for teaching, research, diagnosis and patient care. The hospital was recently ranked as "The Best in Medicine," based on peer review by 200 physicians from across the country.

In addition to schools and colleges, many institutes, centers, and interdisciplinary units attract national recognition for research and other programs. Among them are: Bascom Palmer Eye Institute, Innovation and Entrepreneurship Institute, Institute for Molecular and Cellular Evolution, Intelligent Computer Systems Research Institute, Center for Social Research on Aging, Mailman Center for Child Development, and the North-South Center.

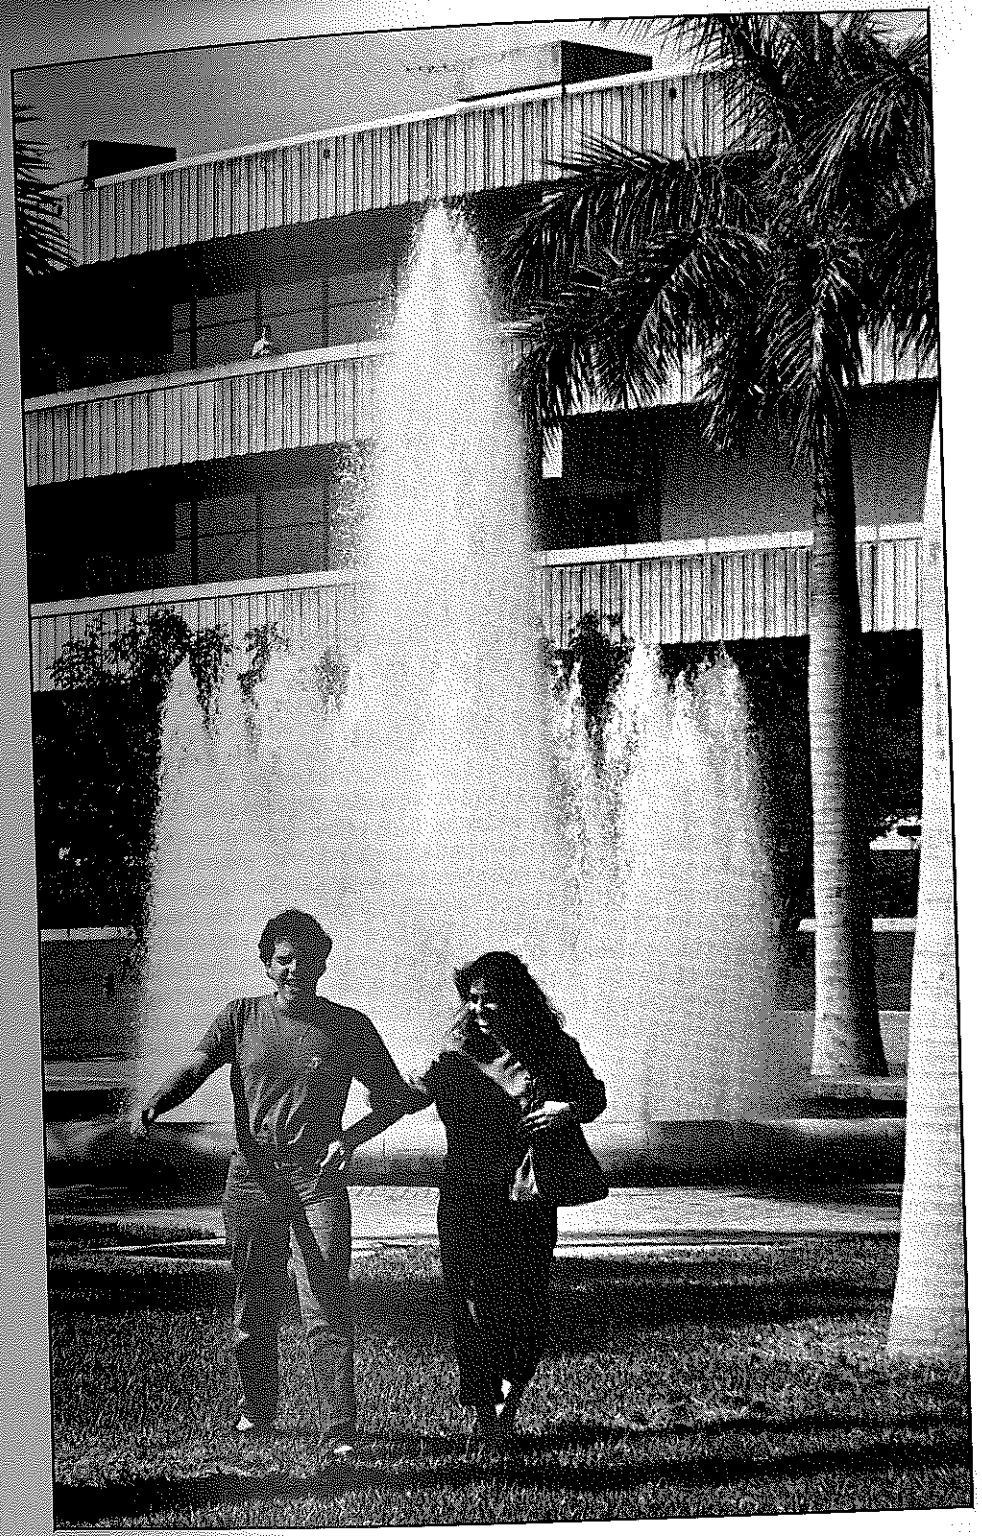

Research

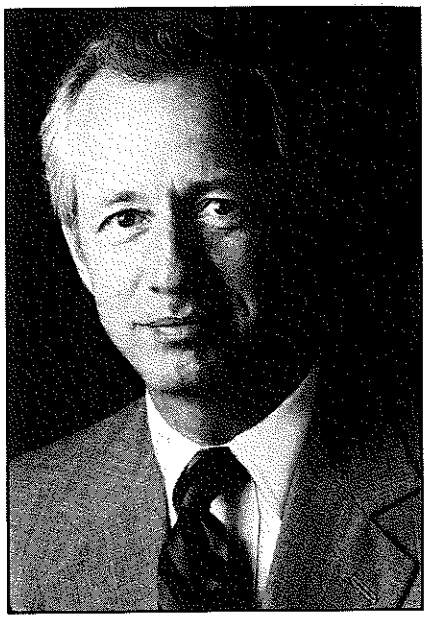

As it has for more than a decade, the University ranks among the top three percent of 2,600 universities and colleges receiving federal research and development grants. Over 1,000 sponsored research, training and service programs totalled 456 million in 1984-85 and involved more than 400 faculty.

In addition to basic research in science, medicine, engineering, and social sciences, current projects cover a wide spectrum of global concerns including climatology, oceanography, population and resource studies, criminal justice, aging, water quality, productivity, technology transfer, international relations and health care.

The Community

A crossroads where cultures and commerce of Latin America, the Caribbean, Europe, Asia and North America merge, the greater Miami area is one of the most dynamic regions of the country. Coral Gables hosts hemispheric headquarters of many multi-national corporations and yet, maintains the mediterranean charm envisioned by its (and the University's) founder, George Merrick, 61 years ago.

EDWARD T. FOOTE II
PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

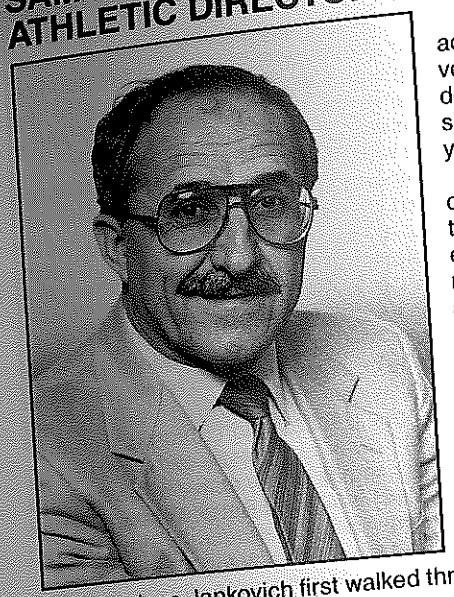

Edward T. Foote, fourth president of the University of Miami, leads one of the nation's youngest private teaching and research universities. Now the largest private university in the Southeast, it is increasingly recognized as a national and international leader.

Since his inauguration in 1981, President Foote has guided the University of Miami during a period of remarkable transition. The University has formed new schools of Architecture, Communication, and Graduate International Studies, and the North-South Center; recruited 57 percent of its 1500 member faculty; is nearing the goal in a $400 million fund-raising campaign, one of the largest in the history of American higher education; reexamined and reemphasized priorities to stress undergraduate and graduate education as well as research and entered the select circle of Phi Beta Kappa membership.

Before coming to Miami, President Foote held the following positions at Washington University in St. Louis: Special Advisor to the Chancellor and Board of Trustees (1980-81), Dean of the School of Law, where he taught constitutional law and legal ethics (1973-1980); Vice Chancellor, General Counsel and Secretary to the Board of Trustees (1970-73). From 1966 to 1970, he was an associate in the law firm of Bryan, Cave, McPheeters and McRoberts in St. Louis.

From 1962 to 1965, he worked as a reporter in Washington, D.C., first for the Washington Star, and later, while studying law at the Georgetown University Law Center, for the Washington Daily News. In his last year of law school, he worked as an assistant to the chairman of the Pennsylvania Avenue Commission. Following his 1959 graduation from Yale University, he served until 1962 as an officer in the U.S. Marine Corps.

SAM JANKOVICH
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Just over four years ago, Sam Jankovich accepted the challenge of guiding the University of Miami athletic department. It was a demanding task, an undertaking which would shape the course of Hurricane athletics for years to come.

The challenge would take place during one of the most trying times in the history of intercollegiate athletics—a period where the emphasis on winning, overall competitiveness, and generating revenues has reached an all-time high. The task would be a tough one, but the man appointed to steering the Hurricane athletic fortunes jumped in head first, with his shirt sleeves rolled up and a hard working dedication that has touched just about everyone who has come into contact with the Miami program over that four year stretch.

The results have been significant and positive—and they have come in leaps and bounds since Jankovich first walked through the doors of the Hecht Athletic Center on June 13, 1983.

National championships have been won in successive years like clockwork: football (1983), women's golf (1984), baseball (1985), women's tennis (doubles in 1986), and men's tennis (singles in 1987). The Hurricanes' overall athletic program has reached a Top 10 national ranking, based on national finishes in men's and women's sports results, and a surplus of world class athletes in all phases of the intercollegiate arena have walked through those same doors of the Hecht Center.

Now, the doors of the Miami athletic department are expanding. New horizons have been pursued and conquered in the resurrection of a major college men's basketball program which sat dormant for 14 years until Jankovich built the foundation for its reinstatement in 1984. With the rebirth came the construction of the 1.1 million dollar Knight Sports Complex which sits adjacent to the Hecht Center and houses the Hurricane men's and women's roundball programs. The sparkling new facility has also enabled the growth of a UM strength room into one of the nation's largest and most complete.

More recently, the Ron Fraser baseball building was added to the grounds of Mark Light Stadium, complete with dugout, clubhouse, and office facilities that make the Hurricanes' baseball home among the most attractive in the country. Construction on the Neil Schiff Tennis Center was recently finished, and now a plush 2,000-plus seat facility is the home to eight championship courts that have been furnished with top quality tournament lighting.

The refurbishing of the Greentree Track will begin this fall, and the newest addition to the Miami collection of outstanding athletic facilities will be capable of hosting major championship meets.

In subsidizing the growth and expansion of facilities and nationally elite programs, Jankovich has broken new ground in the always challenging areas of funding a major college program within a private institution. In cultivating the support of the South Florida community, Jankovich has overseen the development of the Hurricane Club into a financial foundation that has increased its annual gift total from $750,000 in 1982 to over $2 million in 1987.

Additional revenues have been generated through Hurricane appearances on network television at an unprecedented rate. In the past three years, Hurricane football, basketball and baseball teams have made 42 network television appearances. Moreover, the 1986 football team played eight of its 12 games in '86 in front of a network TV audience, while the rapidly growing basketball team made three network splashes in only its second year of existence.

In pursuing the department's goal of striving to attain the nation's most outstanding overall athletic program, Jankovich added men's and women's varsity crew to the Hurricane roster, and after one year of participation in 1987, Miami brought home a national championship in the NCAA's novice division.

Though ambitious and determined to compete with the best in the nation, Jankovich has maintained a predominant focus on the importance of the development of the student who is also an athlete. Academic support systems have grown in size, scope and productivity over the past four years, and as a very visible result, the UM athletic department's graduation rate has soared to a projected 80% by the end of the 1987-88 academic year.

Prior to coming to Miami, Jankovich served as athletic director at Washington State University where he developed a $7.5 million building effort that concluded new construction and renovation of existing facilities. While competing in the prestigious PAC-10 Conference, his teams participated in their first bowl game in 50 years (1981 Holiday Bowl), made two NCAA basketball tournament appearances and captured a conference title in track.

Committed to community activities, the Jankovich family is very active in the Serbian Orthodox Church. Sam is married to the former Patty Mullins of Butte, Montana. They have three children and six grandchildren.

Bill Foster
Head Basketball Coach

382-206 (22nd year)
Third year at Miami

As the construction project known as University of Miami Basketball heads into its third year, head coach Bill Foster is well aware of the facts of life. His upstart Hurricanes will now be expected to perform with a greater degree of maturity, poise and intensity. The honeymoon period of grace which has softened the blow of 29 losses in two seasons is drawing to a close. The fans of South Florida, who have become so accustomed to winning athletic teams in the past two decades, are now thirsting for another winner. And the 51-year old South Carolinian is the man who has been given the responsibility of making those fans happy.

Bill Foster is right where he wants to be.

Sitting proudly atop a major college basketball program that is more than prepared to burst into the national spotlight and turn the corner of truly "big-time" success. The 22-year veteran coach is right where he wants to be, because he's been there before.

In two basketball seasons of patience and persistence, Foster's green Hurricanes have won 29 and lost 30, while religiously following a well-thought plan for success. The young kids are mostly green no more, and Foster is eager to step on the gas pedal that will accelerate a rapid road to Miami basketball success on a national level.

He knows it can happen. He's seen it happen before. Twice.

At the University of North Carolina-Charlotte, he saw the opportunity to transform a Division III program into a solid major college power. He began his building process in 1970, and five years later, the 49ers were in the finals of the NIT. The following year, UNCC made a trip to the NCAA Final Four. Although he was not in Charlotte long enough to reap the two years of tournament harvest in his five seasons at the helm, Foster had achieved his top priority – to build a champion from the ground up.

Moving on to Clemson in 1975, Foster inherited a program that had never won 20 games in a single season, while making only one post season tournament appearance in more than 60 years. In nine seasons Foster's Tigers made four tournament trips, while posting three twenty game winners and an NCAA quarterfinalist.

At Miami, he was given the task of resurrecting a program that had been dormant for fourteen years. Thus far, the pieces are moving into place as Foster, the builder, has prescribed. The recent accomplishments of Miami's first two years in the "new era" may provide some indication of the bigger and better things that are soon to follow:

- The UM program has developed through weathering the storms of the nation's very best opposition. In the last two seasons, Miami has faced 13 teams that have advanced to the NCAA Tournament (seven last year and six in 1985-86). The 'Canes have also played nine NIT teams in that same span. Last year, Miami pulled upsets over Marquette, Stanford and Florida State, while dropping a four point decision to Final Four participant Providence.
- More than half of the Hurricanes games have been broadcast live on television, while five of those contests have been network telecasts. For the coming year, the UM has already scheduled five more games on network television.

• The Hurricanes have won 21 of their 35 games in the James L. Knight Center, a mark which currently includes a four game home winning streak.
• Through two years of competition, Miami's basketball program has maintained a team grade point average of better than 2.5. The 'Canes currently boast a guard (Kevin Presto) who has started 47 games, while qualifying for the Dean's List in each of his three years at UM. Last year's group of three seniors produced three UM graduates, further pushing the graduation mark for Bill Foster coached teams above the 90% mark.
• In 1987, Tito Horford was named Basketball Weekly's First Team Freshman All-American center. Horford will enter this season as the nation's top returning freshman rebounder (9.6 rpg). In 1986, forward Eric Brown was a fourth team Freshman All-American selection by the same publication, following a year in which Brown was the nation's ninth leading freshman scorer (16.4 ppg.).
• Foster has held true to his promise of playing a national schedule. In two seasons, the Hurricanes have travelled to 10 different states and Puerto Rico. This year the Hurricanes add Alaska (Great Alaska Shootout), New York (Marist in Madison Square Garden), Rhode Island (Providence), Utah (BYU), and Virginia (VCU) to the list of national road stops, bringing the three year total to 14 states and one foreign country.

The accomplishments come nowhere close to exceeding the expectations, but Foster and his ambitious staff prefer things to be that way. The head coach bases his team's philosophy on the belief that "we can accomplish anything, as long as we work together and work hard."

Even the greatest of South Florida's optimists would have balked at the thought of Miami posting more than 14 wins per season in the two year infancy of this dream. When the program was restored in 1984, and when Bill Foster was hired on March 21 of that year, the Hurricane faithful would have probably settled for the modest total of 14 wins over two years.

The wins have come more quickly. The program is on its way. This dream is just beginning.

Bill Foster's road to the sunshine of Miami has been weaved with successful stops at every southern coaching post. His career began at Carson Newman College in Tennessee, where he guided the 1958 freshman team to a 19-1 record during his senior year at the school.

His only high school coaching job was at Marion High School in Marion, South Carolina, where he posted a three-year record of 42-21 from 1958 to 1961.

At Shorter College in Rome, Georgia, his five year totals included four twenty game winning seasons and 15 conference and tournament championships.

After spending two years as a recruiter at The Citadel, Foster took on the tall task of constructing a major college program at UNC-Charlotte. From a group of junior college transfers during his first season (1970-71), to the later likes of Cedric Maxwell, Foster laid the solid groundwork for the growing program. During his final two years at the North Carolina school, the 49ers were 45-7. Following his departure to Clemson, UNCC lost in the finals of the 1976 NIT to Kentucky, and fell to Marquette in the 1977 NCAA semifinals.

His tenure at Clemson was highlighted by fifteen wins over teams that were ranked in the Top 20 – including an 87-82 overtime win over No. 1 Duke in 1980. His teams made four straight trips to post season tournaments from 1978 to 1982, and the 1980 club advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals before bowing to UCLA by an 85-74 count. During that same season, the Tigers went undefeated at home, while earning a national ranking for nine straight weeks.

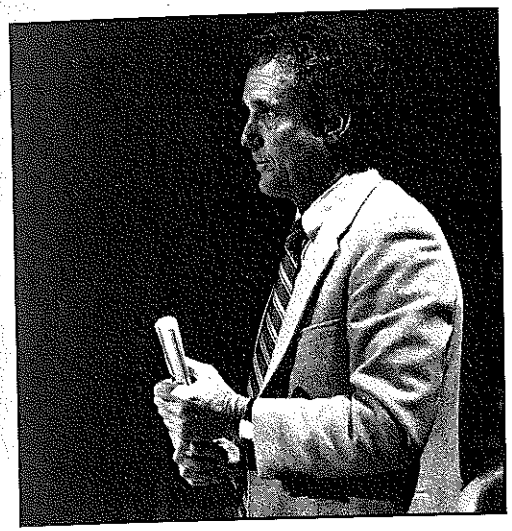

Foster has helped guide the careers of current NBA stars Cedric Maxwell (UNC-Charlotte), Tree Rollins (Clemson) and Larry Nance (Clemson).

Year on UM Staff: Fourth

Clint Bryant is entering his eleventh year as an assistant coach to Bill Foster. The Forestville, Maryland native began his association with the Hurricane head coach as an assistant at Clemson University in 1977.

A 1977 graduate of Belmont Abbey College in Belmont, North Carolina, Bryant was a four year starter at guard and forward for the Crusaders before earning a B.A. in business administration. As an undergraduate, Bryant was selected as the Marty Thomas Award winner, given annually to the school's top scholar-athlete.

He later earned a master's degree in personnel services, while serving as an assistant basketball coach, at Clemson in 1980.

During his tenure at Miami, Bryant has made trips to the Virgin Islands (summer of 1985) and to Australia (summer of 1986) for basketball clinics and lecture engagements.

Bryant attended Bishop McNamara High School in Forestville, where he earned prep All-American honors in basketball. He also earned letters in track, cross country, and baseball in high school.

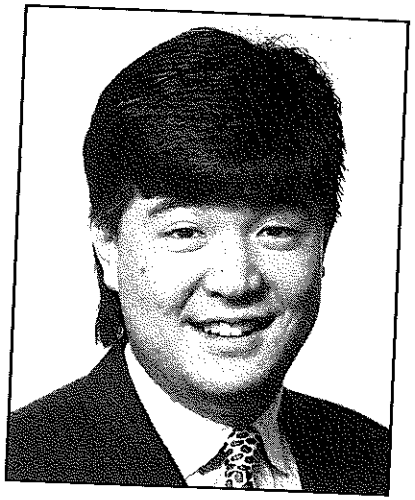

The 32-year-old Bryant is married to the former Patricia Ann Sweeney of Piedmont, South Carolina.

Daniel Chu
Assistant Coach

Years on UM Staff: Third

After spending his first two years as a college coach in a graduate assistant's capacity at the University of Miami, Daniel Chu was elevated to a full-time position in the summer of 1987. A member of the Miami coaching staff since the program was brought back to life in November of 1985, Chu has been a valuable asset to Bill Foster's staff in the areas of scouting, academics, and actual work on the floor in practice sessions and games.

A 1981 graduate of St. Mark's School in Dallas, Texas, Chu spent his first two seasons as a college player at Cornell University (1981-83). He completed his playing career at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, where he earned a B.S. in electrical engineering.

One of the nation's youngest Division I full-time assistant coaches, Chu has been very active in the summer camp circuit for the last four years. He was one of the founders of the Dallas All-Star Basketball Camp (now known as the Spud Webb Basketball Camp), and he has also worked the Bill Foster Basketball Camp at the University of Miami in each of the past three years.

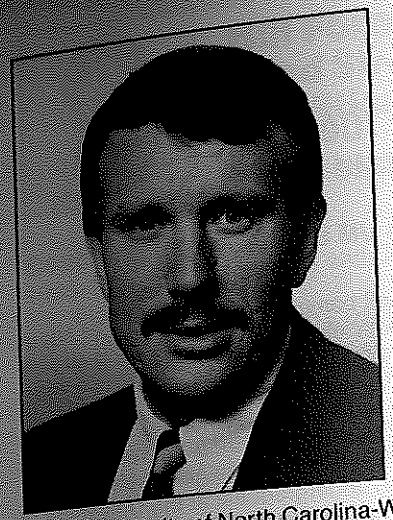

The 24-year old Chu is married to the former Victoria Boyd of Cincinnati, Ohio.

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI BASKETBALL THROUGH THE YEARS – 1926-1987

Hurricane basketball is back. In a big way.

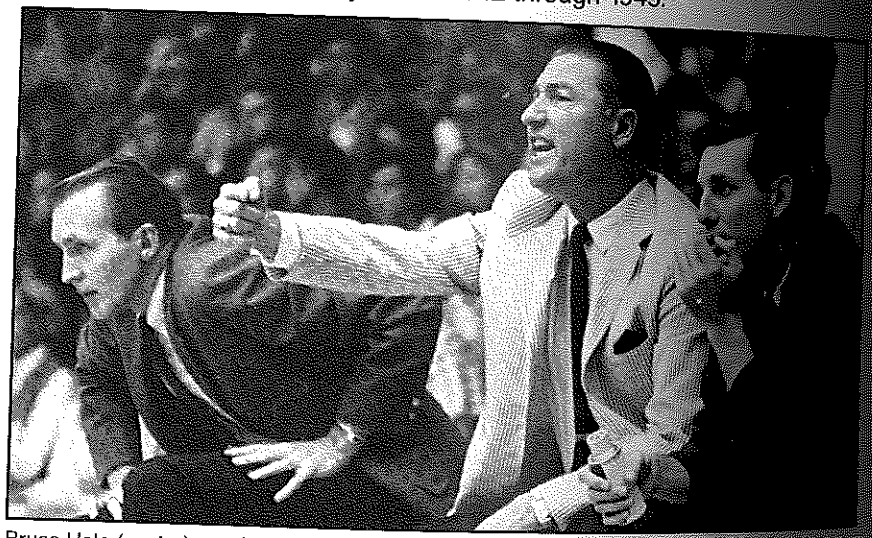

The resurrection of the men's basketball program at the University of Miami has signalled the start of a new and exciting era in the storied history of collegiate athletics at the UM. The slick new edition of Miami men's basketball will develop through its infancy under the watchful eyes of nation-wide television audiences, and extensive print, radio and television coverage will assist in creating instant exposure for this young group of pioneers who dare to tackle and create history.

The road back was not an easy one for those who have thirsted for basketball in this continually prospering section of the country. Moreover, the previous path traveled by Miami basketball players, coaches and fans was dotted by flashes of brilliance, color and sometimes disappointment.

Here is a capsule summary of the sixty years of Miami basketball that has intermittently played a part in the history of the athletic program at the University and its neighboring community.

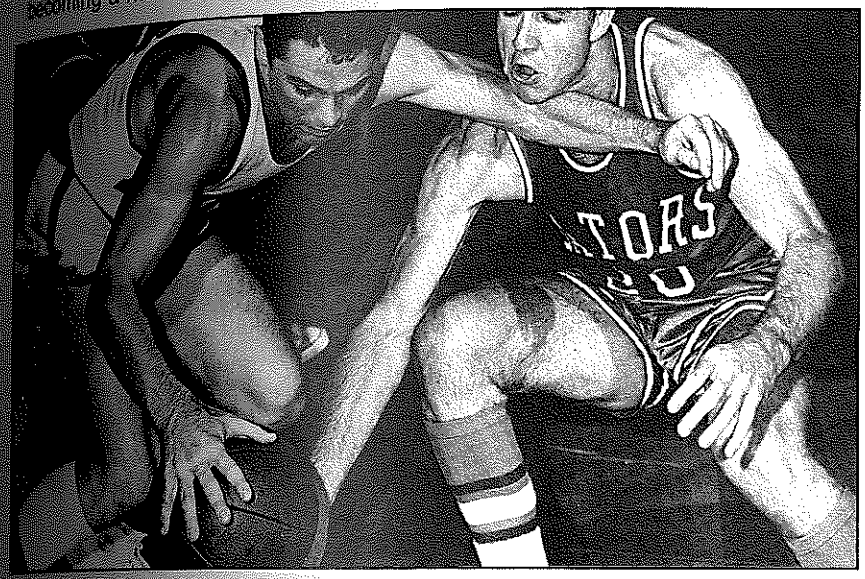

When it all began again, on November 22, 1985, the green Hurricanes were shooting to improve on an all-time record of 456 wins and 297 losses for a .606 winning percentage. And that was an impressive ledger to improve upon.

- The Hurricanes fielded a freshman team in 1926-27, finishing 7-1 under head coach Art Webb.
- In 1927-28, the first official varsity basketball team at the University of Miami posted an 8-4 mark, knocking off Rollins 52-15 in the opener.
- Miami records list no official results from 1932 through 1938. During this period of time, representatives from the school played local AAU and church sponsored teams under coach Tom McCann.
- The Hurricanes returned to intercollegiate competition in the 1938-39 season, posting a 4-6 record under head coach Hart Morris.
- Like many other institutions across the nation, Miami dropped intercollegiate basketball during the war years of 1942 through 1945.

Bruce Hale (center) was hired in 1954.

- In 1954, the University named Bruce Hale as its head basketball coach. The retired Air Force captain and former professional basketball star held the UM head coaching post for 13 seasons, leading the Hurricane program through its glory years of intercollegiate basketball. Before the end of Hale's tenure in 1967, the Hurricanes won 220 games and lost 112 for a .663 winning percentage. Hale's first Miami team turned in a 9-11 record, but there were no other losing campaigns in the next 12 years. The streak of non-losing seasons extended into the 1968-69 season--marking 14 consecutive seasons of .500 basketball or better for the UM.
- Hale's 1959-60 club was the only UM men's basketball team to ever advance to the NCAA Tournament. That 1959-60 edition ran its record to 23-3 before bowing to Western Kentucky, 107-84, in the first round of the tournament.
- During that historic 1959-60 NCAA Tournament year, junior guard Dick Hickox became the first UM basketball player to earn All-America recognition. Hickox averaged 22.1 points per game during that season en route to becoming a member of the AP and UPI All-America teams.

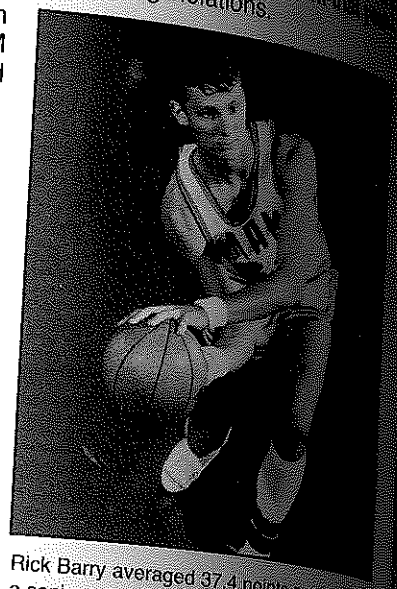

Dick Hickox, UM's first All American.

- The Dick Hickox led Hurricanes of 1960-61 returned to post season play--falling in the first round of the NIT to St. Louis, 58-56. The 1960-61 squad compiled a 20-7 record.
- In 1962-63, Miami advanced to the second round of the NIT before falling to Providence 106-96. An opening round NIT victory over St. Francis (71-70) marked the only Miami victory ever in post season play.
- From 1962 through 1965, Miami recorded three consecutive twenty-game winning seasons, rolling up a composite record of 65-16. The star of these hurricane glory teams was a brilliant scorer named Rick Barry.
- In 1964-65, Barry became the Hurricanes' only consensus All-America selection. The 6-7, 200 pound native of Rosselle Park, New Jersey led the nation in scoring with a 37.4 average in his senior season. He later went on to become the only player in basketball history to win single season scoring titles in the NCAA, the ABA, and the NBA.

...Miami squad, led by Barry's scoring brilliance, ... new NCAA offense record by averaging 98.4 points per game. The ... however, were not allowed to participate in the NCAA Tournament ... after posting a 22-4 record--because of recruiting violations.

- Bruce Hale resigned as head coach after the 1966-67 season, and UM assistant Ron Godfrey assumed the head coaching responsibilities.
- Don Curnutt closed out his Miami baskeball career in 1970 as the Hurricanes' third and last player to receive All America recognition.
- February 27, 1971--The last victory by a University of Miami men's basketball team came in the second to last game of the season, a 100-94 triumph over Florida State at home in the Dinner Key Auditorium. The 'Canes shot a season high 62.5% from the floor as all five Miami starters scored in double figures.

Rick Barry averaged 37.4 points per game a... a senior.

- April 22, 1971--The University of Miami Board of Trustees voted to drop the sport "temporarily until such time as a permanent fieldhouse can be constructed on the main campus." Sagging attendance figures and serious financial losses were also believed to contribute to the discontinuation of men's basketball at the University of Miami.
- July 15, 1983--Sam Jankovich was named athletic director at the University of Miami. Coming to the UM after a successful stint as the athletic director at Washington State, Jankovich immediately announced that the resurrection of men's basketball at Miami would be his primary priority in the early months of his tenure, enabling the UM to have "one of the nation's most complete and visible overall programs in the country."
- October 12, 1983--The University of Miami Board of Trustees unanimously voted to reinstate men's basketball at the University of Miami. The Board made the decision after reviewing a report submitted by newly hired Athletic Director Sam Jankovich which stated that men's basketball can be a revenue-producing venture. Moreover, nearly $500,000 had already been raised in support of bringing intercollegiate basketball back to the University. It was also announced that the Hurricanes would be ready to compete on the Division I level in the 1985-86 season, and the downtown James L. Knight Center would serve as the home court for the reborn program.

"This is an exciting day for the University and for the athletic program," UM President Edward T. Foote, II said at a press conference. "And we're keeping in mind the priorities of academics first and athletics second . . . we are pleased that the changes in the economics of intercollegiate basketball allow the University to resurrect one of the country's most popular sports . . . and the rise in television income during recent years makes basketball a money-maker at universities like ours. We look forward to welcoming these Hurricanes home again."

olina was named the seventh men's basketball coach at the University of Miami. Foster came to Miami after 19 years as a head coach at three other institutions, Shorter College, North Carolina-Charlotte, and Clemson. It was also announced on this day that Clint Bryant, a long time assistant at Clemson, would also join the Miami staff in a similar capacity.

Sam Jankovich and Bill Foster, March 21, 1984.

- April 9, 1984--Foster announced the hiring of a second assistant coach, Greenberg, who was serving as an assistant coach to Terry Holland at the University of Virginia.
- April 16, 1984--Tim Harvey, a 6-10, 240-pound center, became the first basketball player to commit to the University of Miami in over 14 years. The Plainfield, New Jersey native announced tht he would transfer to Miami after spending two seasons in the Georgia Tech program.
- July 1, 1984--A third assistant coach was hired to complete the basketball staff as Miami native Cesar Odio returned home after serving as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Florida Southern College.
- October 11, 1984--Nearly one full year after the announcement that basketball would return to the University, Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that a million dollar-plus practice facility would be constructed on the Coral Gables campus. The new all purpose structure--located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Practice Fields--would be totally funded through a gift from the James L. Knight Charitable Trust.

  The first phase of the 1985-86 basketball schedule was also announced on this day, and the line-up included such perennial powers as North Carolina, Georgia, Notre Dame, Marquette, and Dayton.
- October 15, 1984--The first men's basketball practice session in over twelve years was held on the patio in the center of campus. More than 200 members of the student body participated as Foster and his assistants searched for prospects under the warm sunshine.
- April 24, 1985--Foster announced that the UM's 1985-86 basketball roster will include nine freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior as the spring signing period ends for NCAA basketball.

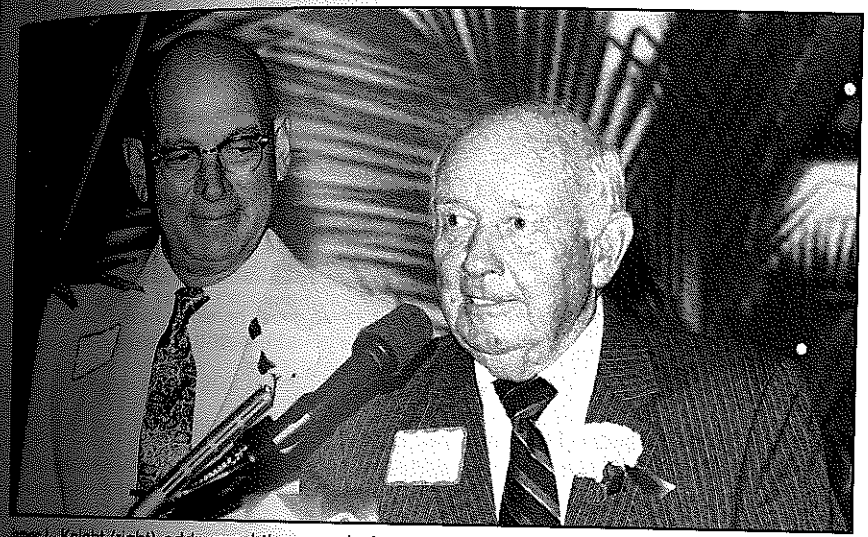

August 16, 1985--Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that the 1985-86 basketball schedule had been completed and that network television coverage of the Hurricane program would include two games to be broadcast by CBS (Arizona) and ESPN (Notre Dame).

Jankovich also announced the completion of a local television schedule (WBFS-Channel 33) that would bring all nine UM road games back to Miami by way of live local broadcasts. Channel 33 would also carry selected home games in the Knight Center.

WQAM Radio, the radio voice of UM football and baseball would also carry all Hurricane basketball games during the 1985-86 season.

October 15, 1985--Basketball practice officially begins at the University of Miami in the Knight Sports Complex.

November 12, 1985--The Knight Sports Complex was dedicated at a gala banquet that was held on the basketball courts of the new structure. CBS basketball analyst Billy Packer served as the evening's guest speaker for the event which welcomed over 500 guests to the on-campus home of Hurricane basketball. The facility now serves as the practice home to the men's and women's basketball programs while also housing the men's basketball coaching staff offices. In addition, the Knight Sports Complex enabled the athletic program to more than double the size of the existing strength room, while also providing meeting rooms and lecture rooms for all of Miami's student athletes. The structure is located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Practice Field and Track.

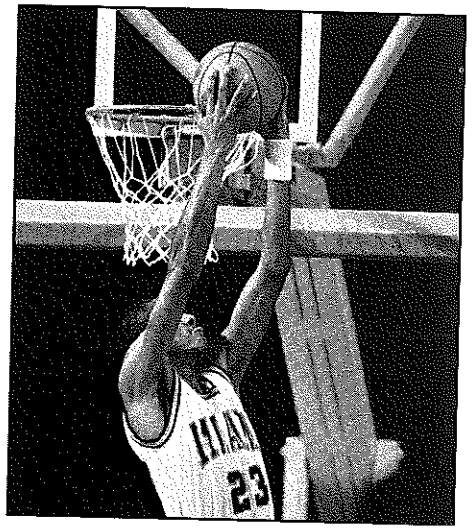

James L. Knight (right) addressed the crowd of more than 500 who attended the dedication ceremony of the Knight Sports Complex as James McLamore (Chairman, UM Board of Trustees) looked on.

November 22, 1985--The brand new era of Hurricane basketball was ushered in by a young UM squad which defeated The Citadel 85-77 in front of a sell-out crowd of 4,984 at the Knight Center. Dennis Burns (24 points), Kevin Presto (22) and Eric Brown (21) combined to lead the Miami offense, while Bryan Hughes enjoyed the distinction of scoring Miami's first point in 14 years (a free throw with 18:34 remaining in the first half).

Forward Dennis Burns thrilled Miami fans on opening night with six dunks.

Miami's most heralded basketball player Rick Barry addressed the Knight Center sell-out crowd of 4,984.

- November 30, 1985 – Miami stuns 1985 NCAA Tourney participant George with a thrilling 81-78 victory to capture the first AMI Classic Championship at the James L. Knight Center.
- March 5, 1986 – An 84-62 loss to Marquette in Milwaukee closed the Hurricanes' first season since 1970-71. Miami finished the year with a 14-14 record, giving Bill Foster his 19th non-losing record in 20 years as a collegiate head coach.
- The 1986-87 season – Though still considered the "youngest team in America," Miami compiled a 15-16 slate – recording upset victories over Marquette, Stanford and Florida State, while losing by only four points to a Providence team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four.

Mark Light Stadium. Built in 1977, "The Light" has been the Hurricanes' launching pad to national baseball titles in 1982 and 1985 while playing host to eight NCAA regional tournaments.

Miami's Basketball home—James L. Knight Center and Miami Convention Center, capacity 5,109. Just a Metrorail ride away from the UM's Coral Gables Campus, the Knight Center has been the site of major events like the Miss Universe Pagent as well as professional basketball, tennis and wrestling.

Miami's Orange Bowl, Home of the Football Hurricanes.

Officially dedicated this past summer, the Neil Schiff Tennis Complex is the UM's most recent athletic addition and the new home of the prestigious Ryder-UM Tennis Tournament.

Located in the heart of the Coral Gables campus, the Norman Whitten Student Union pool has been home for over 385 All-America swimming honors.

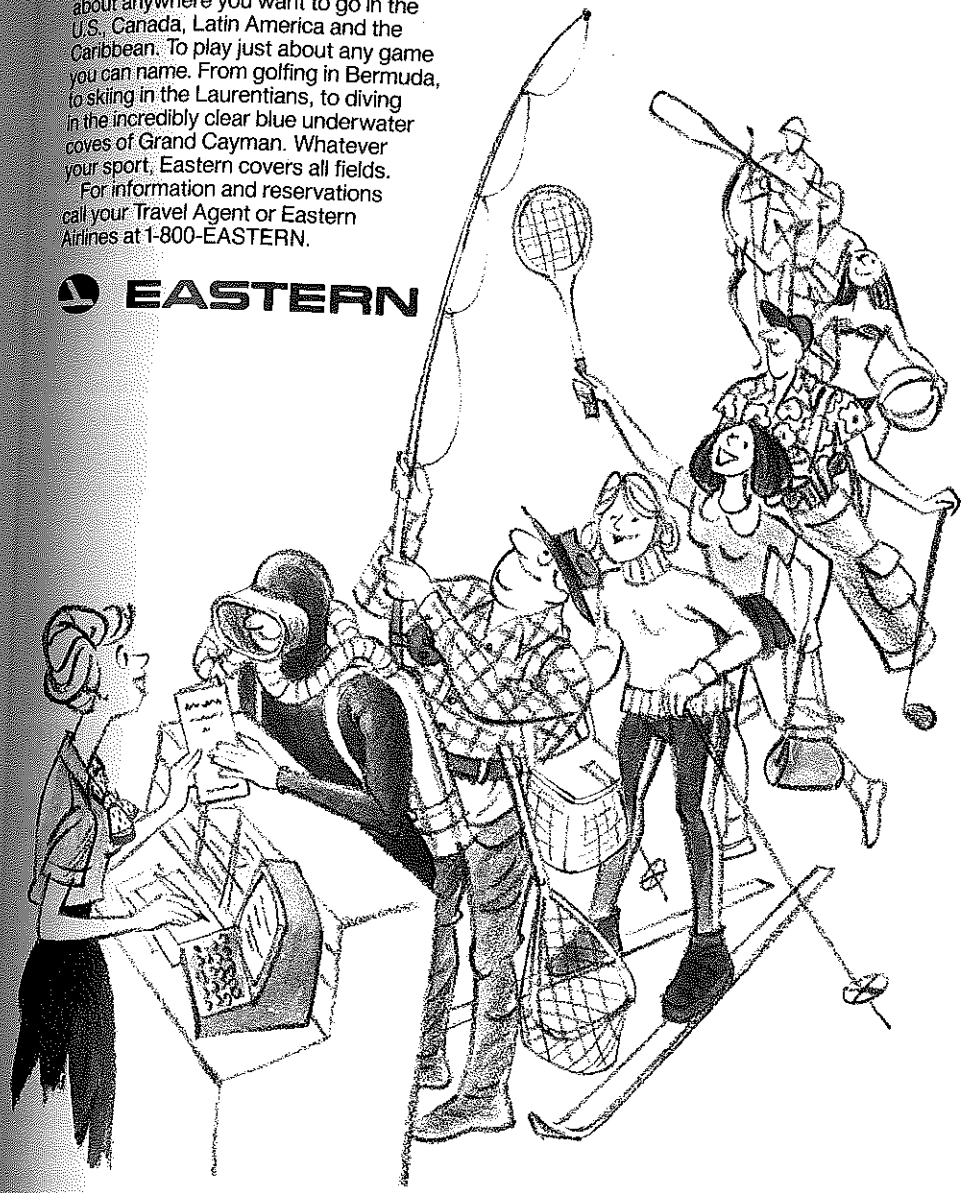

Dedicated on May 3, 1987, the Ron Fraser Building, located on the grounds of Mark Light Stadium, houses the entire UM Baseball operation.

ACADEMIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

In striving to meet the challenges facing the student-athlete in today's complex society, the University of Miami Athletic Department has laid the groundwork for a unique academic support program that will serve to enhance several important areas in a student's life.

Under the guidance of Associate Athletic Director Bruce Mays and with the support of UM Athletic Director Sam Jankovich, the system has been designed to encourage students of all levels to better prepare themselves for life after college.

The recent results of this philosophy have been very impressive. Following the 1985-86 academic year, Miami compiled a graduation rate of just over 60% for all athletic programs. This past year (1986-87), the overall figure reached 72%.

Further emphasis on excellence in academics throughout the entire University of Miami has seen the SAT scores of incoming Hurricane athletes increase by an average of 120 points over the past two years. To ensure the University's continued philosophy of reaching for higher academic standards, the athletic department has made major increases in its budget for academic support systems—most specifically in the area of tutorial programs. As a result, the ratio between tutors and student athletes will reach a three-to-one percentage in the 1987-88 academic year.

"We have a responsibility to all our athletes," said Jankovich, "and the responsibility does not stop with academic eligibility. We must prepare them to deal with the realities of what to expect after they leave this University. Our goal is to not only help people earn a degree, but to help them earn a meaningful degree and have some direction in their lives.

"The job that Bruce Mays and his staff are doing is paramount to our success in intercollegiate athletics. Our coaches believe in what we are trying to accomplish and these factors add up to tremendous experience for people who chose the University of Miami as an institution to further their education."

The goals of the academic support program are to help the student-athletes understand their priorities and their expected levels of academic and social performance and to develop intense communications between the athletes and the academic opportunity.

"We want to develop the student-athlete in total," said Mays. "And this program is set up as an aid to all levels of achievers. If a person is an A student, we want to show him the avenues to being an A-plus student. For all students involved in our program, it is important that they understand not only how to improve but the value of succeeding."

Support staff in this area has increased drastically since Jankovich took over as Athletic Director in 1983. Bruce Mays is joined by Academic Coordinator Jacqui Colyer, Sports Psychologist Jodi Yambor, Ph.D., Dr. Gale Lang, Coordinator of the Study Skills Program and Steve Carichoff, Academic Support Coordinator.

Besides advanced methods of individual and group tutoring, several other vehicles have been set up to acquaint student-athletes with techniques and skills in order to facilitate progress toward graduation and to provide information of social adjustment. Moreover, Hurricane athletes are currently venturing into a broad scope of academic interest, ranging from Arts and Sciences to Architecture and Engineering.

KNIGHT SPORTS COMPLEX

The most visible sign of the roundball resurrection at the University of Miami can be seen right on the Coral Gables campus, where the newly completed Knight Sports Complex recently opened its doors for operation.

Dedicated November 12, 1985, the new structure was made possible through a gift from the James L. Knight Charitable Trust. The facility houses the offices for the men's basketball staff, while also serving as a home court to most of the Hurricane women's basketball games. The Knight Sports Complex is located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Practice Field and Track.

Other features which benefit the entire athletic program at the UM include an expanded weight training room which more than doubles the size of the existing strength training area; locker rooms for men's and women's basketball; a lecture room capable of seating more than one hundred student athletes that serves several academic and meeting purposes; and an indoor jogging area which surrounds the basketball floors.
