1991-92 OUTLOOK

On April 2, 1990, the University of Miami basketball entered a new era with the hiring of Head Coach Leonard Hamilton. The energetic mentor looked to pave a new road to success for the blossoming Hurricane program. From the outset, that road appeared to have its share of rough terrain, but it also appeared to follow a straight line. No one could have predicted the sudden turns and new paths that Hamilton and the young Hurricane program would soon travel.

Rumors filled the Fall air around the UM campus as speculation on a landmark conference affiliation blew into Coral Gables like a steady Gulf breeze. Then, just five days before Coach Hamilton would take his new Hurricane squad through their first paces on the practice gym floor, the rumors became reality. The Miami Hurricanes became the tenth member of the BIG EAST Conference and would begin play as a full-fledged member in the 1991-92 season.

Although it was formed just 12 years ago, the BIG EAST has quickly become a dominant force in Division I basketball. The BIG EAST Conference...with nine school's that all have appeared in the NCAA Tournament...with eight appearances by six different schools in the NCAA Final Four...with two NCAA Championships...with coaching legends Lou Carnesecca of St. John's, John Thompson of Georgetown, Jim Calhoun of Connecticut and Rick Pitino of Providence, all of whom have been honored as the national Coach of the Year.

"More than he bargained for"..."Has his work cut out for him"..."That's a big mountain to climb." All cliches seem like gross understatements when compared to the challenge that Leonard Hamilton faces. Bringing the University of Miami basketball program up to the highly competitive level of the BIG EAST will undoubtably take time. With that in mind, Leonard Hamilton wasted no time in addressing the challenge.

Senior guard Jerome Scott averaged 13.3 points, 4.6 rebounds and 4.0 assists in 1990-91.

Step one was to get the most out of the talent he already possessed. Conditioning programs and intense practices paved the way to equally intense performances during games. Miami had but one senior starter in Joe Wylie on the 1990-91 team who would never see action in BIG EAST play.

Through Hamilton's direction, Wylie developed from an unknown entity to a second round draft choice of the NBA. Wylie finished his career at the UM ranked No. 8 in both career points (1,298) and rebounds (758). More importantly, Wylie earned his bachelor's degree in Broadcast Communications in the Spring of 1991.

Five players who have started at least 23 career games at the UM return for the inaugural BIG EAST season including last year's No. 2 scorer, senior Jerome Scott (13.3 points per game). Playing the point guard position for the first time in his career, Scott broke the century mark in assists with 111 while putting up remarkable totals for his position in both rebounds with 4.6 per contest and minutes played by averaging 37 minutes of PT per game.

The most experienced Hurricane for 1991-92 saw just 19 minutes of action last season. Guard Jake Morton returns as a fourth-year junior following an injury red-shirt season due to a fractured kneecap. Morton started 42 career games for Miami having earned a starting spot early in his freshman campaign.

Joining Morton and Scott at the guard positions is junior Trevor Burton. A native of Miami, Burton came into his own last season in starting 21 contests while averaging 11.2 points and hitting on 45.1% of his three-point attempts (23 of 51).

The small forward slot returns junior Samarr Logan who has been Miami's leading three-point shooter in each of his first two seasons. Logan, who wears the number "3" on his jersey, hit on 40 three-pointers during his rooking campaign and 47 in his sophomore year.

At the power forward spot are the talented senior duo of Joseph Randon and Brandon Adams. The two should combine to provide strong leadership in the frontcourt area that will have a strong influence from the freshmen class.

With the departure of Joe Wylie, junior Hammie Ward looks to step into the center limelight at the UM. The Houston, TX native provided some valuable backup performances last season, including a team-leading 23-point performance vs. Lehigh.

Coach Hamilton began climbing the Big East mountain one month following the announcement of UM joining the conference with his first recruiting class that is being heralded as the best in University of Miami history.

The group of incoming freshmen immediately helps fill the hole left by Wylie with 7'3" center and adds some extra scoring punch with the nation's leading high school scorer. Constantin Popa comes from Bucharest, Romania and Fork Union Military Academy in Virginia to become Miami's tallest player ever at 7'3". Miami native Ochiel Swaby (6'6") travels to the from nearby North Miami High School where he led the nation in scoring with a 47.4 points per game average. The Hurricanes add another in-state player with Patrick Lawrence (6'6") of Gibbs High School in St. Petersburg, FL and rounds out the class of newcomers with 5'11" playmaker Michael Gardner from James Monroe High in Fredericksburg, VA and 5'11" guard Jim Kieserman who transfered to Miami from Rider College.

Fourth-year junior Jake Morton started 42 of Miami's 59 contests in his first two seasons as a Hurricane.

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The University of Miami is the largest independent teaching and research university in the Southeast and, opened in 1926, is among the nation's youngest. The Coral Gables campus, 10 miles from Miami, is the site of most of the University's undergraduate and graduate programs. The University also operates a medical center in downtown Miami, a world renowned marine and atmospheric science school on Virginia Key in Biscayne Bay, and a bio-medical research and development center on its South Campus.

Following goals established in its nationally acclaimed strategic plan, the University of Miami recently complete a five-year fund raising campaign that raised $517.5 million for endowment, facilities and equipment.

Enrollment at the University has grown from a few hundred when classes were held in a remodeled Coral Gables Hotel to more than 13,900 credit-seeking students including about 8,600 undergraduate, 3,000 graduate, 1,400 law and 560 medical students.

Representing all U.S. states and 110 foreign countries, the student body is composed of 67 percent Florida residents, 21 percent from other states, and 12 percent foreign nationals. Ninety-five percent of 1,700 member faculty hold doctorates or other terminal degrees in their fields.

ACADEMICS

The University offers 130 undergraduate and 175 graduate degree programs through schools of Architecture, Business Administration, Communication, Continuing Studies, Education, International Studies, Law, Marine and Atmospheric Sciences, Medicine, Music, Nursing, the Graduate School, and colleges of Arts and Sciences and Engineering.

The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is recognized as one of the top three marine science schools in the country. The University offers graduate as well as undergraduate degree programs in marine affairs and marine sciences.

Established in 1952 as Florida's first medical school, the University of Miami School of Medicine is the hub of the UM/Jackson Memorial Medical Center, the second largest such complex in the country and one of the hemisphere's major centers for teaching, research, diagnosis and patient care. The hospital was recently ranked the best in medicine based on peer review by 300 physicians across the country.

In addition to schools and colleges, many institutes, centers and interdisciplinary units attract national recognition for research and other programs. Among them are: Bascom Palmer Eye Institute, Innovation and Entrepreneurship Institute, Institute for Molecular and Cellular Evolution, Institute of Soviet and East European Studies, Law and Economics Center, Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, Mailman Center for Child Development, and the North-South Center.

Research

As it has for more than a decade, the University ranks among the top three percent of 2,600 universities and colleges receiving federal research and development grants. During the 1989-90 academic year, the faculty were awarded more than $133.7 million in separately budgeted grants and contracts from federal, state, local and private sources.

In addition to basic research in science, medicine, engineering and social sciences, current projects cover a wide spectrum of global concerns including climatology, oceanography, population and resource studies, spinal cord injuries, diabetes, AIDS, cancer, productivity, technology transfer and international relations.

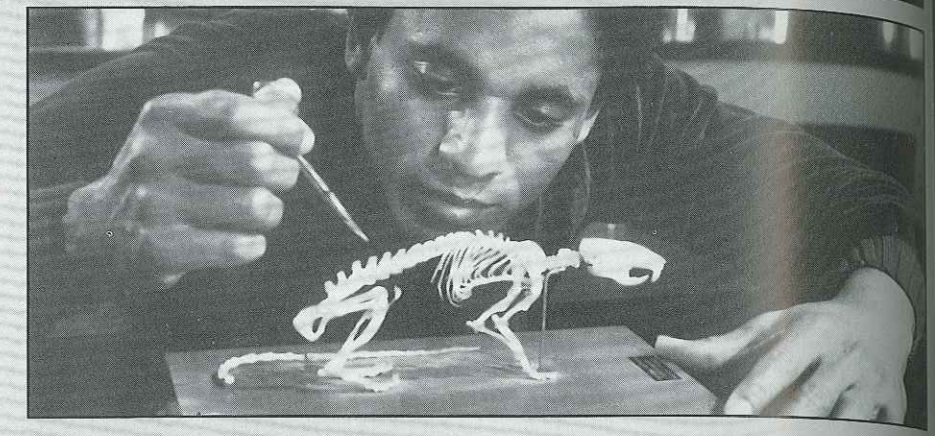

UNIVERSITY OF Miami

The Community

A crossroads where cultures and commerce of Latin America, the Caribbean, Europe, Asia and North America merge, the greater Miami area is one of the most dynamic regions of the country. Coral Gables hosts hemispheric headquarters for many multi-national corporations but maintains the Mediterranean charm envisioned by George Merrick, the city and University founder, 65 years ago.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

In striving to meet the challenges facing the student-athlete in today's complex society, the University of Miami Athletic Department, along with the Developmental Services Center, has established a unique academic support program that serves to enhance the life of the student-athlete. This cooperative effort between the academic and athletic communities reflects the commitment of the entire university to the complete development of the student-athlete.

Assistant Athletic Director for Academics, Dr. Anna Price administers the academic support program. The system has been designed to encourage students of all levels to best prepare themselves for a career after athletics.

The University not only recognizes, but also places a strong emphasis on its responsibility to do much more than simply maintaining academic eligibility. There is a strong committment to assist the student-athlete develop his full potential both in and out of the classroom, so that he leaves the institution with a marketable degree and is prepared to deal with the realities of day-to-day society.

The recent results of this philosophy have been very impressive. The overall graduation rate for all UM athletic programs exceeds 60% and the success rate of the Hurricane basketball program has been at or near 100% since the rebirth of Miami basketball in 1985.

To ensure the University's continued philosophy of reaching for higher academic standards, the coaches have recruited student-athletes who are as impressive in the classroom as they are on the court and the athletic department has made major increases in its budget for academic support systems, most specifically in the area of tutorial programs and career development.

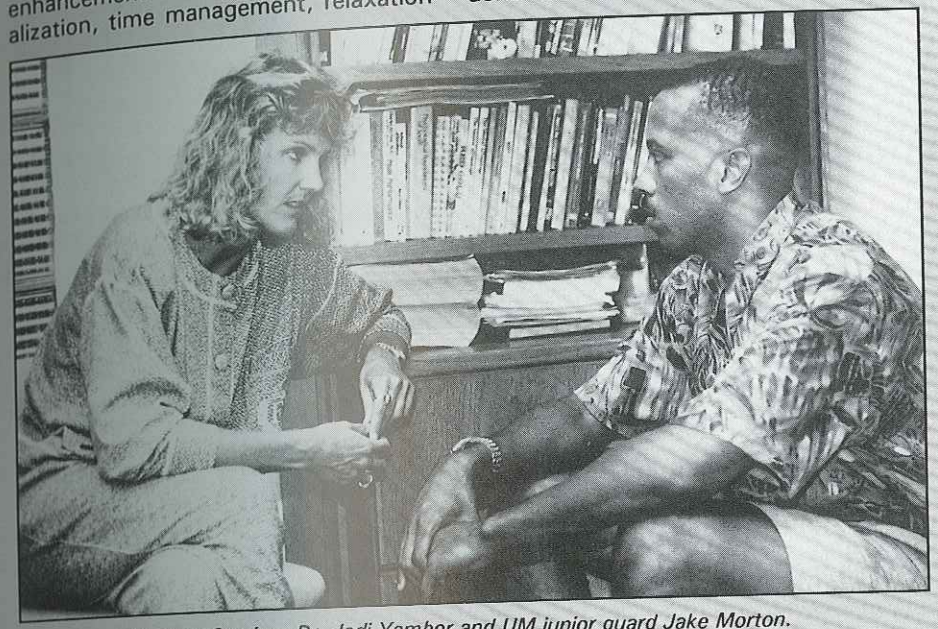

"We want to facilitate the true personal development of the student-athlete by establishing a strong fundamental background," said Dr. Price. "We provide support in helping them develop the balance between academics and athletics as well as proper time management and mental attitude in order to realize and build on their strengths."

Academic Support Coordinator Dr. Anna Price

In addition to advanced methods of individual and group tutoring, several other vehicles have been set up to acquaint student-athletes with techniques and skills in order to facilitate progress toward graduation. Student-athletes are taught a variety of performance enhancement techniques such as visualization, time management, relaxation skills, goal setting principles and thought-stopping. The use of these skills will benefit the student-athlete academically, athletically, socially and also in terms of their personal growth and development.

Dr. Price is joined by Director of Studen Services Dr. Jodi Yambor, Tutoring Coordinator Kevin Walford and Student Services Coordinator Rich Cole.

Director of Student Services Dr. Jodi Yambor and UM junior guard Jake Morton.

STUDENT SERVICES

The athletic department is dedicated to providing the best opportunities for the growth and development of everyone involved. Consequently, a program has been developed to address the various psychological needs of its student-athletes and staff.

Under the leadership of coordinator Dr. Jodi Yambor, a former UM All-America swimmer who holds a Ph.D. in sports psychology, the program includes three specific areas: performance enhancement, counseling and chemical dependency. Dr. Yambor is the performance enhancement specialist. Dr. Malcolm Kahn heads up the counseling area and is supported by the staff of the on-campus counseling center. Dr. Lynn Hankes, the director of the South Miami Hospital Addiction Treatment Program, is the expert in the area of addiction medicine.

Performance enhancement involves providing education regarding arousal control -- teaching activation and relaxation skills, developing and improving the ability to concentrate and visualize, increasing self confidence, developing communication skills, and building team cohesiveness.

The primary approach of the counseling component is education and prevention. Teaching the staff to identify and deal with potential or existing problems and promoting positive mental health. Working one-on-one with individuals having any type of personal or emotional problems.

The chemical dependency component of the program offers educational, interventional and therapeutic services for those with dependent or co-dependency disorders.

NICKNAMES, MASCOTS, ETC.

THE HURRICANES -- It began in controversy. Some reports say that the '27 football team held a team meeting to select Hurricances, hoping they would sweep away opponents just as the devastating storm did on September 16, 1926. Another version holds that the Miami News columnist Jack Bell came out to the field the day before UM's freshmen team played Rollins in '26 and asked end Porter Norris what the team should be called. Told that the local dignitaries and University officials wanted to name the team for a local flora or fauna, Norris said the players wouldn't stand for it and suggested "Hurricanes" since the opening game had been postponed by such a storm. From time to time, opposition has arisen to the name that would "reinforce Miami's negative reputation as a weather-beaten community living constantly under the threat of destruction." But as one UM official rationalized in the 60's, "Does anyone think Chicago is overrun by bears just because the town has a football team by that name?"

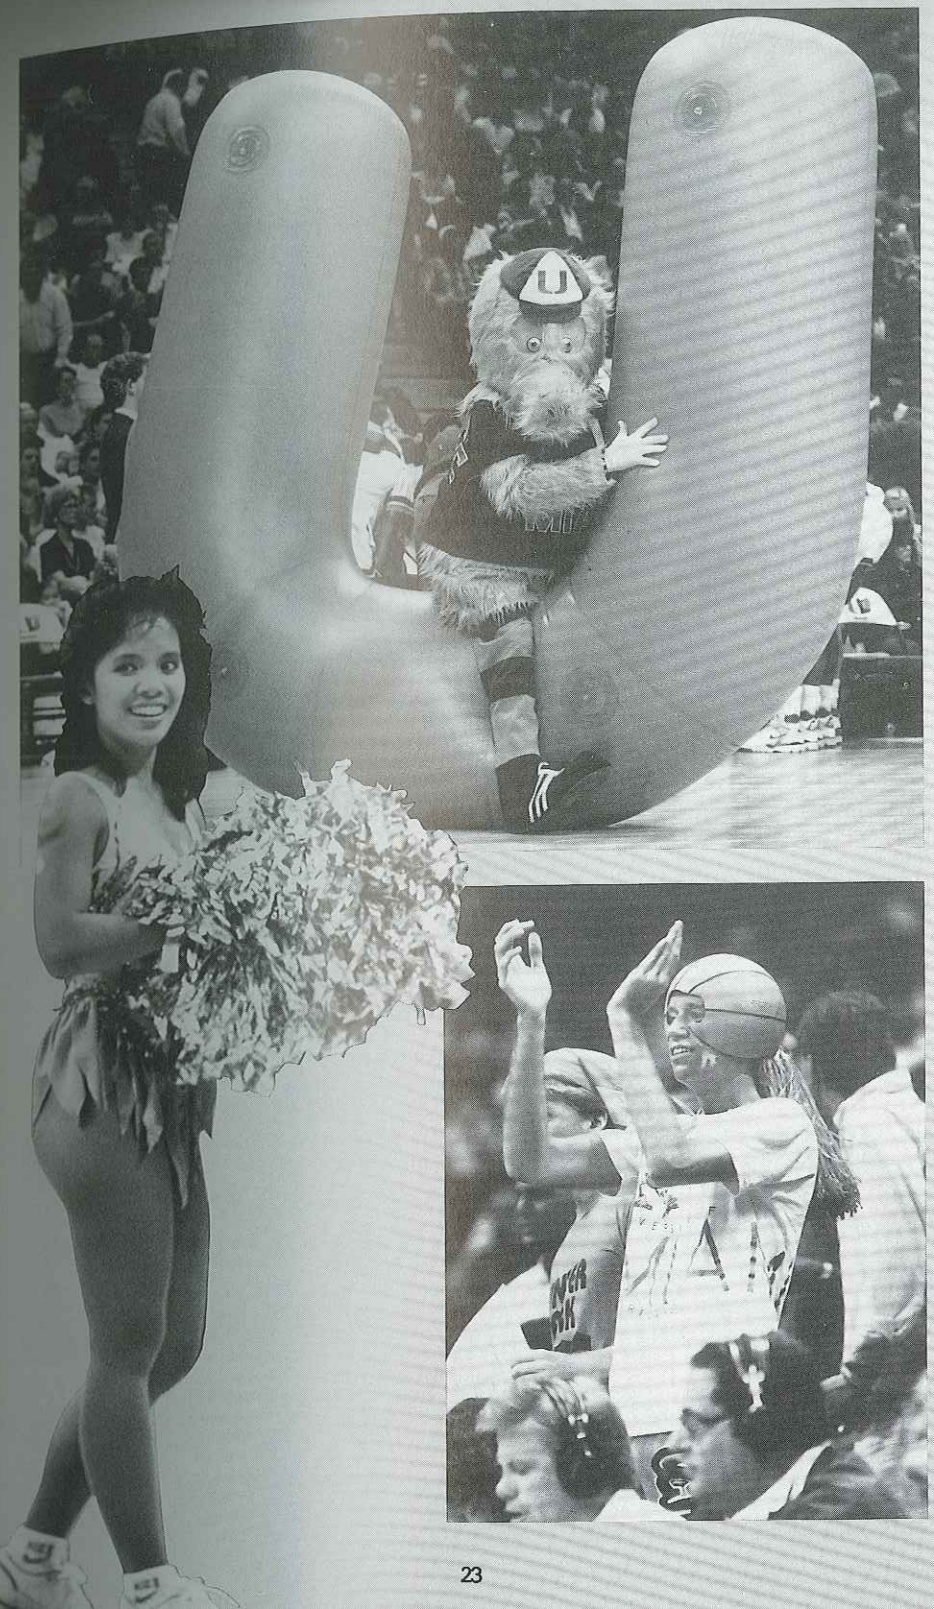

ORANGE, GREEN & WHITE -- The school colors were selected in 1926 by THE committee of Ruth Bryan Owens (daughter of famed attorney William Jennings Bryan), Harry Provin and Bertha Foster. Owens was a member of the board of regents and taught speech at the University. From her suggestion, the colors of the Florida orange tree were to represent UM -- orange for the fruit itself, green for the leaves and white for the blossom.

THE "U" -- In 1973, the UM Athletic Federation, the fund-raising arm of the athletic department at the time, commissioned a local public relations expert to develop a distinctive logo. The University had gone several years with a variety of helmet and uniform changes and the Federation noted that a number of major colleges have the initials UM. Miami designer Bill Bodenheimer suggested the "U" idea, which lent itself to inserting silhouetted athletes in the middle of the "U" to establish distinctive logos for each sport as well as slogans like "U gotta believe" and "U is great."

THE MIAMI MANIAC -- Serving as the official mascot at all Hurricane basketball home games is the Miami Maniac. Having been originated by UM Baseball Coach Ron Fraser in 1983, the Maniac also performs at Miami baseball games as well as special performances as the official mascot of the College World Series. The maniac inside the costume since 1984 is John Routh, who also portrays Sebastian The Ibis, the official mascot of Hurricane football. Routh is in his 10th year in the mascot business, having begun as "Cocky," the mascot of the University of South Carolina, his alma mater.

SEBASTIAN THE IBIS -- The school yearbook adopted the name "Ibis" with its inception in 1926, and the local marsh bird was considered UM's first unofficial mascot. In 1957, San Sebastian Hall, a UM residence hall, sponsored an Ibis entry in the homecoming celebration. The next year, student John Stormont performed at games in a glued, sewn and pinned together costume that was the forerunner of today's bird. Folklore has it that the Ibis, a symbol of knowledge found in the Everglades and Egypt, is the last sign of wildlife to take shelter before a hurricane and the first to reappear after the storm.

EDWARD T. FOOTE, II
PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

Edward T. Foote II became the fourth president of the University of Miami in 1981. He arrived at a time when both the community and the university were in the midst of great change. The City of Miami was recovering from the riots and massive refugee influx of the year before, and the university had reached a crossroads. But Foote saw the inherent potential of the young university and the community surrounding it. "There are times when cities take off. When those times coincide, there is the stuff of combustible excitement," he observed at his inauguration.

Upon his arrival, Foote introduced a bold corporate-style strategic plan and made it his top priority to improve the academic quality of the student body and faculty.

In the last five years, the University of Miami has added nearly 400 new faculty positions. During the eighties, the number of full-time faculty with doctorates or other terminal degrees increased from 81 percent to 95 percent. Research funding has doubled over the past four years. The 1,722 members of the faculty attracted $133.7 million in sponsored research for the 1989-90 academic year. Ranked among the top 50 institutions in federal research funding by the National Science Foundation, the University of Miami is the largest, most comprehensive, private research university in the southeast.

Over the past decade, student quality, as measured by average SAT scores and class rank, increased by 13 and 35 percent, respectively. Approximately 60 percent of entering new freshmen at the University are in the top fifth of their high school class. In accordance with the Strategic Plan, the undergraduate student body decreased by 2,000 students during the 1980s as full-time faculty members were added, improving the student to faculty ratio.

During his decade of leadership, Foote has also added the School of Architecture, School of Communication and Graduate School of International Studies, bringing to 14 the total number of schools and colleges. He launched an ambitious $400 million five year fund-raising campaign, at the time the second largest capital campaign in the history of higher education. The campaign ended in 1990 with $517.5 million in commitments.

Most recently, Foote was instrumental in securing a $10 million federal appropriation for the North-South Center, devoted to exchanging ideas, technology, and research between the United States and the nations of Latin America, the Caribbean, and Canada.

Foote came to the University of Miami after a varied career in journalism, law and academia. Following his 1959 graduation from Yale University, he served until 1962 as an officer in the U. S. Marine Corps. From 1962 to 1965, Foote worked as a reporter in Washington, D.C., first for The Washington Star and later, while studying law at the Georgetown University Law Center, for The Washington Daily News. In his last year of law school, he worked as an assistant to the Page chairman of the Pennsylvania Avenue Commission.

From 1966 to 1970, he was Dean of the Washington University School of Law, where he taught constitutional law and legal ethics. Before coming to Miami, Foote was Special Advisor to the Chancellor and the Board of Trustees at Washington University in St. Louis.

In 1988, Foote and other concerned Miami civic leaders formed The Miami Coalition for a Drug Free Community, dedicated to solving the problems of illegal drugs in South Florida. As chairman, Foote oversees the group's efforts to address such issues as the causes for drug abuse and addiction, the need for stronger law enforcement, the expansion of education and communication efforts about the damage caused by drug abuse, as well as strategies for treatment and other related aspects of the drug problem. The Coalition has served as a model for community based anti-drug groups in over 140 U. S. cities and 15 countries, including Colombia.

DAVE MAGGARD
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

At the University of Miami's Hecht Athletic Cen... the walls are covered with photographs and portra... the men and women who, both on and off the field, h... built one of the nation's most prosperous athl... programs. This is a program in which acade... integrity and athletic success go hand-in-hand... program whose director must possess a vast degre... knowledge and experience in today's complica... world of college athletics.

The search for such a director following Sam Jankovich's departure to the New Eng... Patriots was a tedious one. But on February 11, 1991, University of Miami President Edw... T. Foote was strong and sure with his decision. "Dave Maggard is as respected as anybo... in this profession in the United States. His name was recommended to us by count... people, always with the phrase added on the end that 'You would be very lucky if you co... get him.' Well, this is a very lucky day for the University of Miami. We could not do be... than Dave Maggard."

Dave Maggard more than passed the test of time at California by serving as his a... mater's director of athletics since 1972. Considered the dean of Pacific-10 Confere... athletic directors, Maggard's Golden Bears produced a total of 22 national championsh... in five different sports. Additionally, California's baseball program finished third at the Co... World Series, the men's basketball program advanced to the NCAA tournament and t... football squad recently posted a victory over Wyoming in the 1990 Copper Bowl.

While fielding highly competitive squads on the field is a natural emphasis for Magga... success in the classroom and an uncompromising stance on the ideals of amateur athle... is a prerequisite. He spearheaded the development of one of the country's most comprehe... sive academic support programs for student-athletes.

Under Maggard's direction, the California program served as a prototype for the wa... contemporary college athletic department should be run -- a broad-based program enjoy... success on several fronts, backed by a vigorous fund-raising organization and continu... dedicated to academic integrity. Athletic departments throughout the country have be... plagued by cost overruns and budget cutbacks, but Maggard succeeded in maintaining a... upgrading the athletic facilities at California, establishing endowment programs for 13 spo... and continueing a high level of on-field success, all while avoiding the red ink.

Maggard has served on more than 20 athletic governing bodies and is currently in his th... year as a member of the NCAA Basketball Selection Committee. Most recently, he wa... selected to serve on the College Football Association's Board of Directors as the represe... tative from the Big East Football Conference, becoming one of four athletic directors on t... 11-member CFA Board. Taking a very early and active role in the Hurricanes' ne... conference home, Maggard also is a member of the Big East Football Executive Commit... and Bowl Committee.

While at California, Maggard was the chairman of six different Pac-10 Conferen... committees including delegations for basketball, football bowls, budgets and long-ra... planning. Since 1983, Maggard served as the Director and Chairman of Operati... Committee on the board of the San Francisco Federal Savings Bank, which has 44 branch... throughout Northern California with assets of 3.5 billion dollars.

On the national level, Maggard was chairman of the NCAA Council for Eligibility Appe... and served on the United States Olympic Committee Executive Board from 1979-86.

As a student-athlete at California, Maggard earned one football letter as a fullback a... three in track and field where he set a school record in the shot put that stood for more th... 19 years. He was the recipient of both the Brutus Hamilton Award for outstanding leaders...

in track and field and the Jake Gimbel Award as California's senior athlete exhibiting the best attitude toward athletics. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education and social science in 1962 and worked at several Bay Area high schools as a teacher and coach. While a member of the U.S. National Track Team, Maggard traveled to several countries including the Soviet Union, Poland, Germany, Australia and Great Britain. His years of training paid off at the 1968 Olympic Trials as he posted what was then the fifth-longest throw in the history of the shot put before going on to place fifth at the Mexico City Olympics.

In 1969, Maggard returned to his alma mater as an assistant track and field coach and became the head coach the following season. In just his second year, Maggard was named "Coach of the Year" in the Pacific Coast Region as his Golden Bear squad brought home the NCAA championship. In 1972, at the age of just 32, Maggard vaulted into the position of athletic director -- a position he held for 18 years before joining the Hurricanes.

Maggard was born January 12, 1940 in Turlock, California. He and his wife, the former Carolyn Johnson, have three children: David 28, Darin, 25 and Dana 21.

Just hours following his appointment as Miami's new athletic director, Dave Maggard and his wife, Carolyn, are introduced to UM fans and Hurricane basketball at the Miami Arena.

LEONARD HAMILTON
HEAD BASKETBALL COACH

To truly understand someone you must, as the saying goes, "Walk a mile in their shoes." If the person you are attempting to get to know is Leonard Hamilton, bring several pair.

On any given day the Head Basketball Coach at the University of Miami will wear, or wear out as the case may be, the dress shoes of an administrator, the basketball shoes of a floor coach, the track shoes of a sprinter hurrying to his next appointment, the jogging shoes of a runner going near and far to find the best talent available, the golf shoes of... No, there isn't time for golf.

It seems that if Leonard Hamilton could be granted one wish, it would be to have another eight hours added on to each day. As it stands, his regimen begins early each morning and does not end until the early morning hours of the following day. Hamilton's intense daily routine is focused on a very specific task -- to raise the level of Miami basketball to compete with the best the nation has to offer.

When he was hired as the new Hurricane coach on April 2, 1990, Hamilton knew that to compete with the best, he must play the best. But no one could have predicted how swiftly or emphatically the best competition would appear on the Miami schedule. After just six months at Miami, Leonard Hamilton was presented with one of the most difficult challenges a collegiate coach has ever faced -- to compete in the BIG EAST Conference.

In the world of college basketball, the BIG EAST is "The Conference." In just 12 years the BIG EAST has produced two NCAA Champions, eight trips to the Final Four by six different schools, and a membership of nine schools that all have appeared in the NCAA tournament.

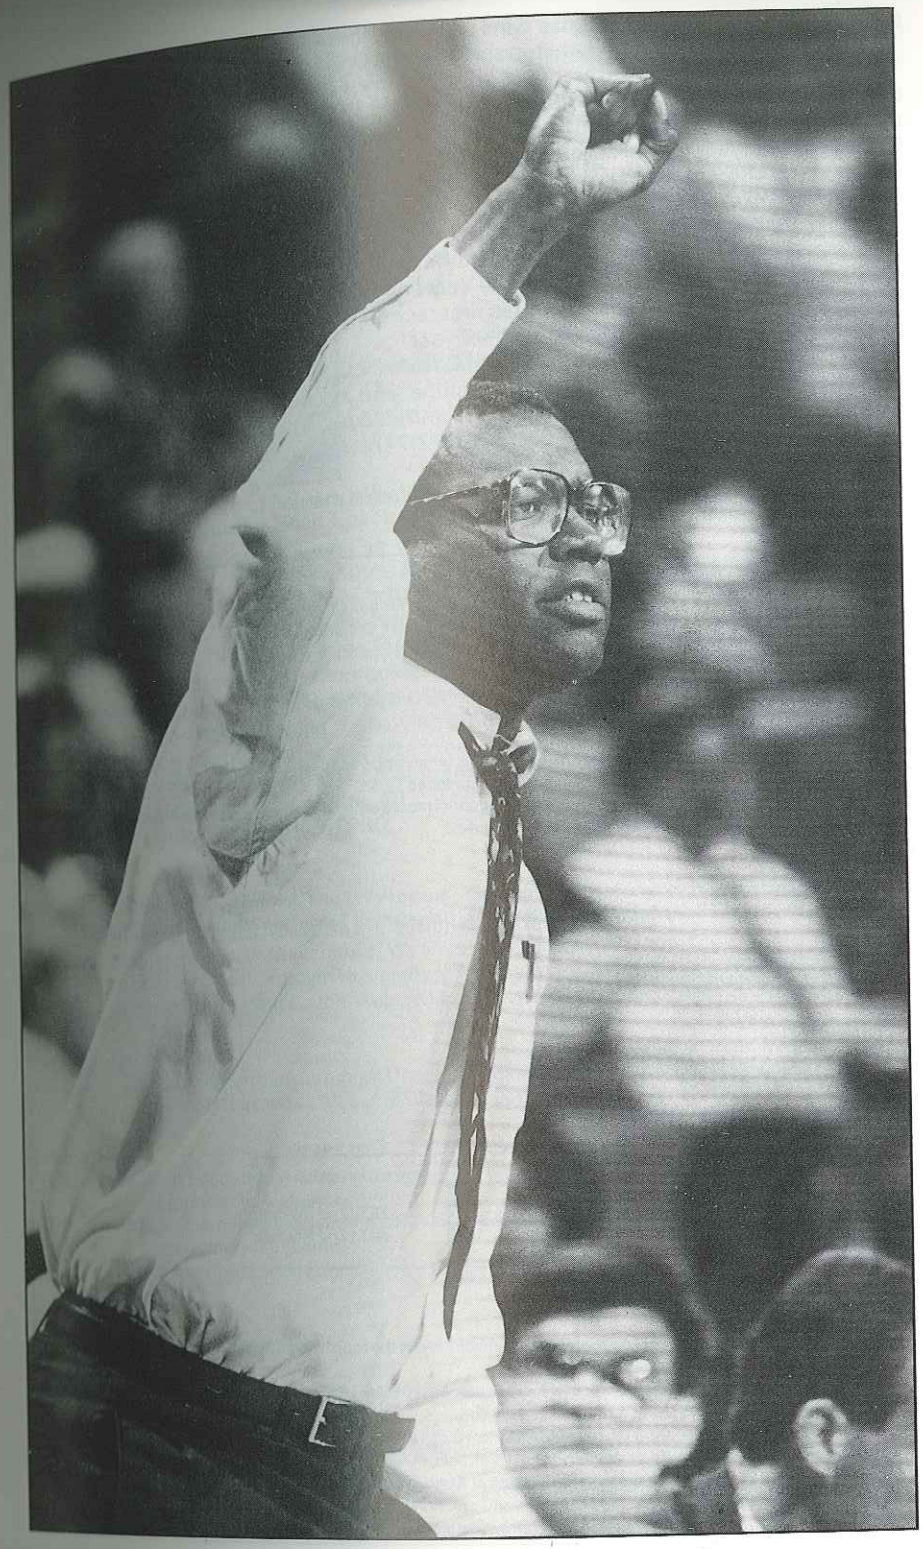

Hamilton had one year of coaching at Miami before entering BIG EAST competition. Determined to make the most of the Hurricanes' final season as an independent, Hamilton quickly laid the groundwork for the future of the Hurricanes. Off the court, Hamilton saw to it that both seniors on his squad would graduate by spring. On the court, he directed the development of Joe Wylie, who was selected in the second round of the 1991 NBA Draft, and inspired his Hurricane squad to produce their absolute best at all times. The efforts paid off as Miami finished the season with their highest final ranking by USA Today since the rebirth of the program.

In what may be the key area for the Hurricanes success, Hamilton continued his brilliant recruiting career by producing what many consider to be the finest class in Miami history and a group that ranks in the Top 25 nationally.

Hamilton came to Miami from Oklahoma State University where he directed the Cowboys to consecutive appearances in the National Invitational Tournament, marking the first back-to-back post-season tournament appearances for an OSU team since 1953-54.

The 1989-90 OSU squad earned a No. 49 national ranking by USA Today, finished the year with a 17-14 record and advanced to the second round of the NIT before dropping a decision to tournament semifinalist New Mexico. Offensive firepower was a key for Hamilton's corps as the Cowboys averaged more than 80 points for the second consecutive season and just the third time in school history, while also setting school records for most points and most three-point goals.

Hamilton's last two Oklahoma State teams both won 17 games, marking only the fourth and fifth OSU squads to reach the 17-win total in the last 32 years. And of the 14 losses during the 1989-90 campaign, seven came against teams ranked in the nation's Top 10 at the time of the game (UNLV, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas). The overall schedule was rated one of the toughest in the nation and included a total of 17 games against teams that went on to post-season play, with wins over Ohio State, Memphis State, New Orleans and a 2-1 record against Kansas State (one of those wins coming in the Big Eight Tournament).

Prior to Oklahoma State, Hamilton served at the University of Kentucky where he spent 12 seasons with one of the top programs in the country. From 1974-80, he served as assistant coach (the 'Cats won a national title in 1978), and in 1980 he was honored by being named the first associate head coach in Kentucky basketball history, a post he held until moving to OSU. In his 12-year tenure at Kentucky, seven recruiting classes were ranked among the nation's elite and 23 former Wildcat players were drafted by the NBA. Additionally, 83% of the seniors (30 of 36) earned their degrees.

His proficiency in the recruiting game carried over to Oklahoma State where his first two classes were rated 12th in the country by different services. He has signed four of the last five Oklahoma High School Players of the Year and has been involved with the recruitment of 30 high school All-Americans. Of his first recruiting class at Oklahoma State, two will graduate on time and the third has another year.

Hamilton played collegiate basketball at Gaston (N.C.) Community College, where he set a school record by scoring 54 points in a game, and at Tennessee-Martin, where he was a charter member of the school's Hall of Fame. His coaching career began as a graduate assistant (1971-72) and full-time assistant (1972-74) at Austin Peay State, where he received his Master's degree.

Born August 4, 1948, in Gastonia, N.C., Hamilton is married to the former Claudette Hale and has two children, Lenny, 21, and Allison, 7.

Thad Fitzpatrick
Assistant Coach

Year on UM Staff: Second

Having distinguished himself as one of the brightest and gifted young coaches in the college game, Thad Fitzpatrick enters his second season as an assistant coach on Leonard Hamilton's staff at the University of Miami.

The 35-year-old Fitzpatrick came to Miami from the University of Wyoming where he spent three seasons as an assistant under Head Coach Benny Dees. During his tenure at Wyoming, the Cowboys recorded a 56-38 record.

Prior to Wyoming, Fitzpatrick spent eight seasons as a full-time assistant coach at his alma mater, Auburn University at Montgomery. He served a dual role at AUM as both an assistant coach and the coordinator of student affairs. AUM enjoyed six 20-win seasons in his eight years with the Senators and totalled a 161-87 mark during that time.

A 1979 graduate of Auburn-Montgomery, Fitzpatrick lettered for the Senators for his final two collegiate seasons following a stellar career at Alabama Christian Junior College where he also was a two-year letterman. Following graduation, he was an assistant for two years at AUM while earning his master's degree in educational administration.

Born in Montgomery, Alabama on September 23, 1956, Fitzpatrick is married to the former Madis Hooks of Bayminette, AL. The couple has two children -- Dana, 4, and Thaddeus, Jr., born in August of 1990.

BIG EAST NOTES

· · · The BIG EAST was born on May 31, 1979 following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence College, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse Universities. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven-school alliance. Three additions have been made to the conference with the admittance of Villanova in 1980-81 and Pittsburgh in 1982-83 and Miami in 1991-92.

· · · In its 12 years of existence, all nine BIG EAST members received bids to an NCAA Tournament while six of the nine advanced to an NCAA Final Four.

· · · Through its first 12 years, BIG EAST teams received a total of 58 invitations to the NCAA Tournament and 18 bids to the National Invitational Tournament -- a total of 76 post-season bids out of a possible 105 (.724). In the last five years, BIG EAST teams have received 37 of a potential 45 post-season bids (.822).

· · · Seton Hall is a classic example of the potential for improvement that the BIG EAST Conference provides. During the first six years of conference play, the Pirates won a total of just 11 regular season conference games, including a 1-15 record in year six (1984-85). Seton Hall then improved its conference win total to three games in 1985-86, four games in '86-87, eight contests in '87-88 and 11 victories in '88-89 -- the year the Pirates finished second in the NCAA Tournament.

· · · Eight of nine BIG EAST teams were crowned the regular-season conference champion through the first 12 years of Big East play. The only school which has not captured the title is Providence. Despite not winning the BIG EAST Conference, PC has received two NIT bids and three invitations to the NCAA tournament, including 1987 when the Fryars advanced to the Final Four.

· · · In 1990-91, BIG EAST teams compiled a 49-23 (.681) home record in conference play.

· · · In 1990-91, BIG EAST teams compiled a 98-26 (.790) overall record in non-conference play, including an 11-7 mark in the NCAA Tournament.

What's new?

Number three in a series from Savin Corporation.

It works on the same principle as the new Savin 9350 copier.

What could a six-figure sports car and a mid-size copier possibly have in common?

They both use high performance injection technology. Fuel injection for the Lamborghini.® Image injection for the Savin.

Savin's image injection technology makes it one of the most reliable copiers in the world.

It's easier to maintain and keep clean, too. The ink is kept in a sealed can. Just drop the whole thing in, and it's done.

Best of all, the 9350 can copy complete sets of originals faster than any other machine in its price class.

For more information on where to test drive the Savin 9350, call (305) 591-8000 in Dade or (305) 525-1405 in Broward.

To test drive the Lamborghini, consult your Yellow Pages.

The Miami Maniac

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI BASKETBALL THROUGH THE YEARS -- 1926-1991

It lay silent for 14 years. Collecting dust and going unnoticed, the Miami basketball program was the Rip VanWinkle of college basketball from 1971 to 1985.

Now, Hurricane Basketball is back. In a big way.

Since 1985 the Miami program has undergoned such dramatic and frequent changes, it seemed that the Hurricanes were continually entering "a new era." First came the "Era of Miami Basketball" itself. Then came the "Bill Foster Era," followed by the "Tito Horford Era," "The Leonard Hamilton Era," and finally, "The Big East Era."

The latest step taken by the blossoming Hurricane program serves as the most dramatic in the 41 seasons and 66 years since the team's formation. With the entry into the Big East Conference, the University of Miami not only sheds its previous life-long status as an independent, it enters the ranks of the most competitive and successful basketball conference in the nation.

The road to conference affiliation in the Big East has not been an easy one for those who have thirsted for basketball in this continually prospering section of the country. Moreover, the previous path traveled by Miami basketball players, coaches and fans was dotted by flashes of brilliance, color and sometimes disappointment.

Here is a capsule summary of the 66 years of Miami basketball that have intermittently played a part in the history of the athletic program at the University and its neighboring community.

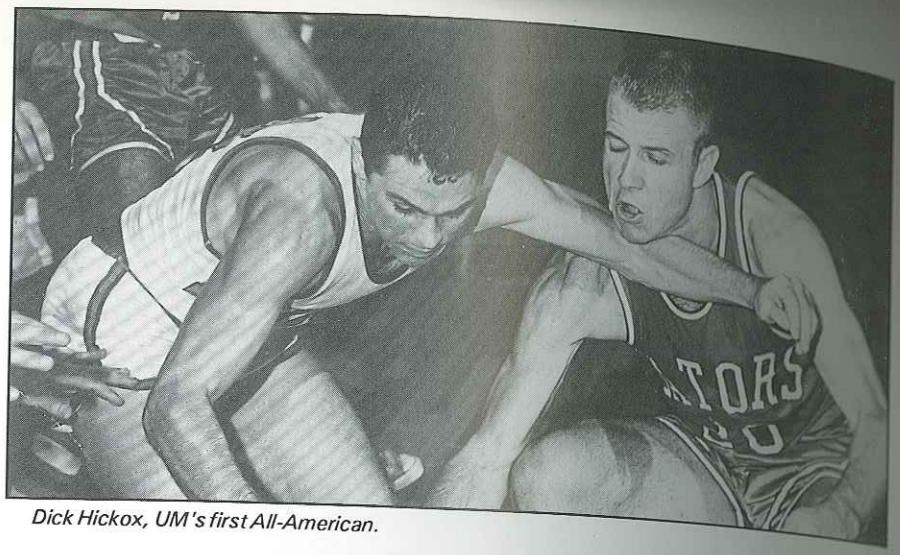

* The Hurricanes fielded a freshman team in 1926-27, finishing 7-1 under Head Coach Art Webb.
* In 1927-28, the first official varsity basketball team at the University of Miami posted an 8-4 mark, knocking off Rollins, 51-15, in the opener.
* Miami records list no official results from 1932 through 1938. During that period of time, representatives from the school played local AAU and church sponsored teams under Coach Tom McCann.
* The Hurricanes returned to intercollegiate competition in the 1938-39 season, posting a 4-6 record under Head Coach Hart Morris.
* Like many other institutions across the nation, Miami dropped intercollegiate basketball during the war years of 1942 through 1945.
* In 1954, the University named Bruce Hale as its head basketball coach. The retired Air Force captain and former professional basketball star held the UM head coaching post for 13 seasons, leading the Hurricane program through its glory years of intercollegiate basketball. Before the end of Hale's tenure in 1967, the Hurricanes won 220 games and lost 112 for a .663 winning percentage. Hale's first Miami team turned in a 9-11 record, but there were no other losing campaigns in the next 12 years. The streak of non-losing seasons extended in the 1968-69 season -- marking 14 consecutive campaigns of .500 basketball or better for the UM.

Bruce Hale (center) was the Hurricane head coach from 1954 to 1967.

* Hale's 1959-60 club was the only UM men's basketball team to ever advance to the NCAA Tournament. That 1959-60 edition ran its record to 23-3 before bowing to Western Kentucky, 107-84, in the first round of the tournament.
* During that historic '59-60 NCAA Tournament year, junior guard Dick Hickox became the first UM basketball player to earn All-America recognition. Hickox averaged 22.1 points per game during that season en route to becoming a member of the AP and UPI All-America teams.
* The Dick Hickox-led Hurricanes of 1960-61 returned to post season play -- falling in the first round of the NIT to St. Louis, 58-56. The 1960-61 squad compiled a 20-7 record.

Dick Hickox, UM's first All-American.

* In 1962-63, Miami advanced to the second round of the NIT before falling to Providence, 106-96. An opening round NIT victory over St. Francis, 71-70, marks the only Miami victory to date in post season play.
* From 1962 through 1965, Miami recorded three consecutive twenty-win seasons, rolling up a composite record of 65-16. The star of these Hurricane glory teams was a brilliant scorer named Rick Barry.
* In 1964-65, Barry became the Hurricanes' only consensus All-America selection. The 6-7, 200-pound native of Roselle Park, New Jersey led the nation in scoring with a 37.4 average in his senior season. He later went on to become the only player in basketball history to win single-season scoring titles in the NCAA, the ABA and the NBA.
* The 1964-65 Miami squad, led by Barry's scoring brilliance, established a new NCAA offense record by averaging 98.4 points per game. The 'Canes, however, were not allowed to participate in the NCAA Tournament that year -- after posting a 22-4 record -- because of recruiting violations.
* Bruce Hale resigned as head coach after the 1966-67 season and UM assistant Ron Godfrey assumed the head coaching responsibilities.
* Don Curnutt closed out his Miami basketball career in 1970 as the Hurricanes' third and last player to receive All-America recognition.
* February 27, 1971 -- The last victory by a University of Miami men's basketball team came in the second to the last game of the season, a 100-94 triumph over Florida State at home in the Dinner Key Auditorium. The 'Canes shot a season-high 62.5% from the floor as all five Miami starters scored in double figures.

Rick Barry scored a UM-record 2,298 points and is the only Hurricane to have his number retired -- #24.

March 1, 1971 -- After posting a four year record of 47-56 at Miami, Ron Godfrey resigned his post as head basketball coach, effective following Miami's final game of the season against nationally ranked Jacksonville.

March 2, 1971 -- The last basketball game played by a University of Miami men's team until 1985 took place at the Dinner Key Auditorium where one of the largest UM home crowds in years turned out to see the Hurricanes host nationally ranked Jacksonville. The Dolphins handed Miami a 94-75 loss that would remain as the UM's last contest for the next 14 years.

* April 22, 1971 -- The University of Miami Board of Trustees voted to drop the sport "temporarily until such time as a permanent field house can be constructed on the main campus." Sagging attendance figures and serious financial losses were also believed to contribute to the discontinuation of basketball at the UM.
* July 15, 1983 -- Sam Jankovich was named athletic director at the University of Miami. Coming to the UM after a successful stint as the athletic director at Washington State, Jankovich immediately announced that the resurrection of men's basketball at Miami would be his primary priority in the early months of his tenure, enabling the UM to have "one of the nation's most complete and visible overall programs in the country."
* October 12, 1983 -- The University of Miami Board of Trustees unanimously voted to reinstate men's basketball at the University of Miami. The Board made the decision after reviewing a report submitted by newly hired Athletic Director Sam Jankovich which stated that men's basketball can be a revenue-producing venture. Moreover, nearly $500,000 had already been raised in support of bringing intercollegiate basketball back to the University. It was also announced that the Hurricanes would be ready to compete on the Division I level in the 1985-86 season, and the downtown James L. Knight Center would serve as the home court for the reborn program.

"This is an exciting day for the University and for the athletic program," UM President Edward T. Foote, II said at a press conference. "And we are keeping in mind the priorities of academics first and athletics second ... we are pleased that the changes in the economics of intercollegiate basketball allow the University to resurrect one of the country's most popular sports ... and the rise in television income during recent years makes basketball a money-maker at universities like ours. We look forward to welcoming these Hurricanes home again."

* March 21, 1984 -- Bill Foster, a 47-year-old native of Hemingway, South Carolina was named the seventh men's basketball coach at the University of Miami. Foster came to Miami after 19 years as a head coach at three different institutions: Shorter College, North Carolina-Charlotte and Clemson. Foster also announced on this day that Clint Bryant, a long-time assistant at Clemson, would also join the Miami staff in a similar capacity.

* July 1, 1984 -- A third assistant coach was hired to complete the basketball staff as Miami native Cesar Odio returned home after serving as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Florida Southern College.
* October 11, 1984 -- Nearly one full year after the announcement that basketball would return to the University, Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that a million dollar-plus practice facility would be constructed on the Coral Gables campus. The new all purpose structure -- located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Track would be totally funded through a gift from the James L. Knight Charitable Trust.
* The first phase of the 1985-86 basketball schedule was also announced on this day, and the line-up included such perennial powers as North Carolina, Georgia, Notre Dame, Marquette and Dayton.

* October 15, 1984 -- The first men's basketball practice session in over twelve years was held on the patio in the center of campus. More than 200 members of the student body participated as Foster and his assistants searched for prospects under the warm Florida sun.
* April 25, 1985 -- Foster announced that the UM's 1985-86 basketball roster would include nine freshmen, one sophomore and one junior as the spring signing period ends for NCAA basketball.
* August 16, 1985 -- Athletic Director Sam Jankovich announced that the 1985-86 basketball schedule had been completed and that network television coverage of the Hurricane program would include two games to be broadcast by CBS (Arizona) and ESPN (Notre Dame).
* Jankovich also announced the completion of a local television schedule (on WBFS-Channel 33) that would bring all nine UM road games back to Miami by way of live local broadcasts. Channel 33 would also carry selected home games in the Knight Center.
* WIOD Radio, the radio voice of UM football and baseball would also carry all Hurricane basketball games with veteran Hurricane announcer Sonny Hirsch at the microphone.
* October 15, 1985 -- Basketball practice officially begins at the University of Miami in the Knight Sports Complex.

The facility now serves as the practice home to the men's and women's basketball programs while also housing the men's basketball coaching staff offices. In addition, the Knight Sports Complex enabled the athletic program to more than double the size of the existing strength room, while also providing meeting rooms and lecture rooms for all of Miami's student athletes. The structure is located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Track.

James L. Knight (right) addressed the crowd of more than 500 who attended the dedication ceremony of the Knight Sports Complex as James McLamore, Chairman of the UM Board of Trustees, looked on.

* The 1986-87 season -- Though still considered "America's Youngest Team," Miami compiled a 15-16 slate -- recording upset victories over Marquette, Stanford and Florida State, while losing by only four points to a Providence team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four.

Eric Brown ends his brilliant UM career with 2,270 career points, just 28 back of All-America Rick Barry's Hurricane record of 2,298.

Eric Brown finished his UM career as the 'Canes' No. 2 all-time scorer with 2,270 points. Above, Brown scores two of his 23 points in Miami's 87-86 upset of No. 16 Kansas on Jan. 12, 1989.

* October 10, 1990 -- On the combined recommendation of President Edward T. Foote and Athletic Director Sam Jankovich, the University's Board of Trustees unanimously votes to accept an invitation to become the tenth member of the BIG EAST Conference. The University of Miami Basketball Camp annually provides the finest instruction available to boys age 8 to 18.

Under the direction of the Hurricane Basketball coaching staff, the camp is held on the UM's Coral Gables campus at the Knight Sports Complex. Personal instruction is given to campers by the entire Hurricane coaching staff as well as many of the area's outstanding high school coaches.

The 1992 schedule features a full range of specifically tailored sessions to fit the needs of all individuals and teams.

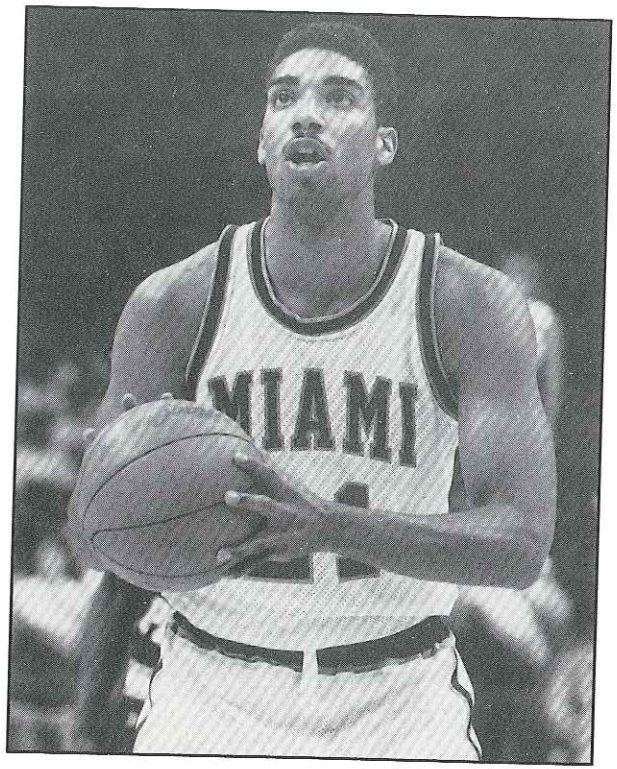

MIAMI BASKETBALL

Individual camps will feature a Father/Son Camp, Private School Camp, Shooting Camp, Fundamentals Camp and Post/Perimeter Camp. In the individual sessions, special attention is given to developing individual skills and the overall knowledge of the game through personal instruction by camp staffers.

A High School Tournament Camp will be held June 19-21. This camp is designed to give entire high school teams the opportunity to learn as a group during the summer months.

Additional camp highlights include: instructional films; a Miami Basketball Camp T-Shirt for all participants; daily lunch served in the campus dining hall; participation awards; contests and prizes; and team and individual champions.

For more information on the 1992 University of Miami Basketball Camp call (305) 284-2680.

KNIGHT SPORTS COMPLEX

The most visible sign of the roundball resurrection at the University of Miami can be seen right on the Coral Gables campus. Serving as the practice home and office headquarters for Hurricane Basketball is the Knight Sports Complex.

Dedicated Nov. 12, 1985, the new structure was made possible through a gift from the James L. Knight Charitable Trust. In addition to housing the offices for the men's basketball staff, the building also serves as a home court to most of the Hurricane women's basketball games, more than doubled the size of the strength training area and houses a lecture room capable of seating more than one hundred student-athletes. The Knight Sports Complex is located between the Hecht Athletic Center and the Greentree Practice Field and Track.

The interior took on a new look in the summer of 1990 as a new portable floor was layed on top of the old court surface. The new floor enhances the both the esthetic value of the gym area and the quality of playing surface itself by decreasing the likelyhood of injuries.
