December 16, 2019

We can take pride in the fact that California fairs are world leaders in providing educational and competitive exhibits that showcase local communities and their talents, as well as providing a venue for all cultures and lifestyles to promote diversity within the community.

California fairs encourage their communities to learn more about the bounty of California agriculture. They foster the reconnection of consumers to the land and to the people who produce their food.

Fairs are a tradition for families and communities to come together to create lasting memories. However, our fairgrounds are much more than just a place to celebrate. We cannot overlook the events that take place at our fairgrounds throughout the year; from crab feeds to weddings and, as needed during emergency situations, fire camps and evacuation centers.

As we look ahead to the year 2020, I would like to express my appreciation for all fairground's staff, volunteers, and others who share a commitment to serve their local communities. Thank you all very much. Your support of California fairgrounds is invaluable.

Yours truly,

A DNA Matching Analysis test will be performed to verify that both the first sample (collected by exhibitor prior to ownership deadlines) and the second sample (collected at the Fair) match and confirm the identity of the animal.
6. Random Selections will be determined (but not limited to) taking the total number of Replacement Heifers, and Market Steers, Swine, Sheep & Meat Goats and dividing by 2. EXAMPLE: if there were a total of 149 animals divided by 2 = 74.5 rounded down = 74 the 2 Random Selections would be Animal 74 & 148.
7. The California Mid-State Fair reserves the right to collect DNA Tissue (Hair, Blood, Other Tissue) from any animal for any reason at any time. No advanced notification is required.
8. In the case where an animal sample of any species does not match after the DNA Analysis Test, the animal in question will be disqualified. If results are available before the Livestock Auction, the exhibitor will be blocked from the sale and the animal cannot be sold. All awards and premiums will be forfeited regardless of when the fair is notified of test results. If the results are not available until after the Livestock Auction has taken place, all sale proceeds, and awards will be held.

RESIDUE AVOIDANCE PROGRAM RULES

1. In an effort to increase awareness of responsibilities associated with the production of consumer-oriented products, the California Mid-State Fair requires exhibitors of market animals to sign a Medication Declaration Form. This form acknowledges the use of any substance in/on the animal regardless if the withdrawal period has and has not completely elapsed prior to arrival at the Fair. This includes substances used according to label or in an extra-label method. All extra-label drug usage MUST be done under the supervision of a licensed veterinarian and their contact information is required. The intent of the Residue Avoidance Program is not to prevent medically necessary treatment, but to ensure the animal's well-being, fair competition and a safe product being introduced into the food chain.
2. The California Mid-State Fair reserves the right to test any Market Animal officially entered in any division at any time without notice, for foreign substance including but not limited to drugs, chemicals or feed additives. At a minimum all Supreme Champion and Reserve Supreme Champion Market animals, 2 Random Selections and; any animal suspect in terms of unusual physical appearance, demeanor or activity. Random Selections will be determined (but not limited to) by taking the total number of Replacement Heifers, and Market Steers, Swine, Sheep & Goats and dividing by 2. EXAMPLE: if there were a total of 149 animals divided by 2 = 74.5 rounded down = 74 the 2 Random Selections would be Animal 74 & 148. those exhibitors selected as a random would be notified during weigh in. As a condition precedent to accepting an entry, and entry digitally signed by the exhibitor, FFA Agricultural Science Instructor, 4-H Leader, Grange Advisor, Parent or Legal Guardian grants the California Mid-State Fair permission to test any market or breeding animal.
3. All Supreme Champions and Reserve Supreme Champion market animals will proceed from the Show Ring after the Supreme Champion Selection to Sample Collection Area (Location to be determined by Fair Management). The Exhibitor and responsible adult (21 years of age or Older) will accompany the animal and stay with the animal until a sample is obtained (Urine Sample). The exhibitor, and responsible adult will witness the collection of sample, splitting of sample, and sealing of sample. The exhibitor and responsible adult will sign verifying they witnessed the collection of sample, splitting of sample labeling, signing and storing of sample from exhibitor's animal. No beverages or food of any kind are allowed in the collection area.
4. Any Other animals designated to have samples taken will be directed to SAMPLE COLLECTION AREA. The Exhibitor and responsible adult will accompany the animal and stay with the animal until a sample is obtained (Urine Sample). The exhibitor and responsible adult will witness the collection of sample, splitting of sample, and sealing of sample.

The exhibitor and responsible adult will sign verifying they witnessed the collection of sample, splitting of sample labeling and signing of sample from exhibitor's animal.

5. Sample will be labeled LAB SAMPLE, and FAIR SAMPLE, these samples will be put into lockable ice Chest Containers. Samples labeled LAB SAMPLE will be shipped overnight to Lab for testing. Samples labeled FAIR SAMPLE will be transported to lockable freezer unit on Fairgrounds for storage.
6. In the case where an animal tests positive for an unapproved foreign substance including but not limited to drugs, chemicals any foreign substance or feed additives, and the exhibitor has not declared the identified substance on their Medication Declaration Form the Exhibitor and the animal will be disqualified. The exhibitor will be ineligible to receive awards, premiums or sale proceeds. The live market animal or carcass that test positive will immediately become the property of the California Mid-State Fair and the exhibitor may be compensated for the market value (resale), less expenses, if the animal passes inspection. Carcass of disqualified animal will be disposed of per written instructions from U.S.D.A. or FDA at the exhibitor's expense.
7. If an animal is disqualified, the animal and/or the exhibitor will be declared ineligible and will not receive awards, premiums and/or any sale proceeds, further the exhibitor will be responsible for payment of any fees or fines due or costs incurred by the Fair as a result of the disqualification; The owner/exhibitor and members of his/her immediate family members may not be eligible to compete in subsequent California Mid-State Fair Programs. The extent and degree of future eligibility and sanctions shall be determined by Fair Management based upon the severity of the offense and the circumstances given rise to the violation.
8. Test may be performed on any body tissue or fluid on both the live animal and the carcass.
9. The substance melatonin is not allowed for use in food animals (market and breeding).
10. Test samples collected from any animal must have zero tolerance for any identifiable or unidentifiable foreign substance including drugs (legal and illegal), chemicals of any kind or feed additives, unless established as permissible by the USDA or FDA or disclosed and reviewed in advance of any judging on the California Mid-State Fair Official Medication Declaration Form.
11. Animals testing to an unapproved foreign substance including but not limited to drugs, chemicals or feed additives, will be disqualified and declared ineligible to receive awards, premiums money or sale proceeds. The live market animal or carcass that test positive will immediately become the property of the California Mid-State Fair and the exhibitor may be compensated for the market value (resale), less expenses, if the animal passes inspection. Carcass of disqualified animal will be disposed of per written instructions from U.S.D.A. or FDA.
12. If foreign substance residues including drugs, chemicals or feed additives are found in tissue of carcass of animals sold through the auction, the Fair will in no way be liable or responsible for condition of carcass or sale price of animals.
13. If for any reason any part of a carcass must be removed by U.S.D.A. Inspectors, the sale price will be discounted accordingly.
14. Note: Exhibitors must submit a signed livestock medical release form as required time listed in the livestock schedule.
15. If an animal requires medical treatment while on the fairgrounds only a licensed veterinarian will be allowed to administer any drug and provide treatment. The Livestock Superintendent must be notified when there is evidence of illness or injury in any animal entered for competition. If a veterinarian visit and/or medical treatment is required all costs will be incurred by the exhibitor.
16. Post Mortem Examination: The Fair may request a post mortem examination of any animal at the expense of the exhibitor.
17. The management shall receive the right to vacate, declare ineligible for competition, and/or order the removal of any entry which is not in the best interest of the fair, is unsightly, unhealthy, injured, lame, unsound, endangers public safety, compromises or violates the Fair's Animal Welfare Policies, or has been entered in violation of these rules and regulations.

BIOSECURITY

2020 California Mid-State Fair Swine Influenza Vaccination Program

Below are a series of questions, answers and requirements for this important Animal Health Program. These requirements are part of our Bio Security Protocol Program as well as our Livestock Show Competition Handbook requirements. Vaccination is optional in 2020.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation and participation in this critical program.

What disease or diseases are we vaccinating for?

Swine Influenza A and the associated virus strains of H1N1, H1N2 and H3N2.

Swine Influenza is a respiratory disease of swine caused by Type A influenza viruses. Vaccination, when done properly and according to label instructions can prevent the disease in individual swine. This prevention is particularly important when swine that originate from a wide variety of farms are eventually housed together in one location like a fair.

Key things being required to vaccinate for Swine Influenza?

The health and welfare of your project animal should be your first concern. The Fair wants you to have a positive livestock experience. Since you have accepted the responsibility as a livestock owner, you must provide for the animal's well-being. With that responsibility also comes important health husbandry practices you must address. While this is not the only health concern for your project animal, this particular influenza has been recognized as a respiratory disease across the country that can compromise the health of both swine and humans. While a rare occurrence, the virus is transmissible from swine to humans and humans to swine. Because it is such an aggressive virus, because swine (or any animal) are stressed when brought to the Fair and away from their home farm, and finally because they are exposed to other animals that may carry the virus which make them more susceptible to sickness, it is critical that we take a proactive approach to their health. Vaccination is one proactive method that has proven effective. Proper care, good environment, appropriate diet, exercise and plenty of fresh water also protect your hog or any animal from sickness.

Key things first date I can vaccinate and what is the last day to vaccinate?

You may begin the vaccination process “any time prior” to June 21, 2020. It is a two-part vaccination process and it is absolutely critical that you provide the first of two vaccinations no later than June 21, 2020. Remember you may begin earlier. The vaccination process requires two steps taken 21 days apart.

Background: Typically, the two-part vaccination process is started by the breeder with the first vaccination given to the pig between ages 1 and 3 weeks. This early vaccination is only effective from 4-6 months for H1N1 and H1N2 and only 10 weeks for H3N2. Due to the short duration of the first vaccination's effectiveness, your hog could be susceptible as early as May 25 (approximate date).

Additionally, not all breeders vaccinate their hogs for Swine Influenza and your project animal could already be at risk.

The first thing to remember is that NO Influenza Vaccination shall be given to hogs after July 12 because of the 21-day withdrawal period requirement. It is essential that your animal's second vaccination happens no later than July 12. Any hogs who have received the second vaccination after July 12 will be disqualified and NOT allowed to be shown or sold at the Fair Auction. We have established this date based upon counting back 21 days from the Junior Auction set for August 1, 2020.

Vaccination Calendar: You may begin the vaccination process any time between May 15, 2020 and June 21, 2020. This is when you give the "first dose" of the injectable vaccine. This is followed up 21 days later by a second dose. Please do not wait until June 21 to begin this process. Vaccines may not be available if you wait until the last minute.

Example: First dose is given June 1, 2020 and the second dose is given 21 days later on June 22, 2020 and your hog is now vaccinated for Fair.

K \ Uh]Z=Uready'j UW]bUHX'a m\ c['df]cf'hc 'A Uhi% ž&$$?

If you have vaccinated your hog based upon vaccination label instructions after your hog was four months old and you can provide evidence of purchasing and administering the approved vaccine or veterinary proof of vaccination to your leader or advisor then you have met the vaccination requirements. Remember it is a two-part vaccination process so you must prove that both vaccinations were given 21 days apart.

I don't know how to give a shot. Can someone do this for me?

Yes! Please make arrangements with your leader, instructor, veterinarian, breeder or other experienced person to give your hog the vaccine. You must provide proof of doing so with a proof of vaccine purchase or veterinary verification to your leader or advisor to qualify for entry to the Fair.

K \ Uh]Z=Wub'dfcj]XYdfccZH Uha mVfYYXYf'dfcj]XYX'h Yz]fghj UW]bU]cb'Zf'a m\ c[?

That makes your process easier because if you provide that proof in writing to your Leader/Advisor then you are only required to vaccinate one time between May 15, 2020 and July 21 2020. The first shot must have been given prior to March 15, 2020 by your breeder. This second shot is known as a booster shot. Do not wait until July 4 since this is a holiday and it will be difficult to provide verification to your Leader/Advisor during the holiday week. Please plan ahead.

What are the approved vaccines available for purchase?

The following vaccine products are available: Please read label instructions and check with your Veterinarian :

1. FluSure XP Vaccine (killed virus manufactured by Zoetis): Requires two injectable doses (2 ml each) and 21 days apart. Intramuscular shot.
2. Flu Sure XP/RespiSure-ONE/ER Bac Plus Swine Vaccine (manufactured by Zoetis)
3. Flusure XP/RespiSure
4. FluSure XP/ER BacPlus
5. (New) FluSure XP/FarrowSure Gold

6. Other option - Ingelvac Provenza MLV (Nasal) manufactured by Boehringer Ingelheim: 1 ml dose is given through the nasal cavity. Because of the difficulty in administering this product it is only recommended if given by a Veterinarian or highly experienced swine specialist.

Costs for these vaccines vary from $48.00 per bottle to $80.00 per bottle. Bottles come in 50 doses up to 250 doses per bottle. It is recommended that your club or chapter purchase the bottle so that the cost to individual members is greatly reduced.

These vaccines are not always available in stock so plan early and do not wait until the last minute.

Note: All these vaccines must be mixed with the sterile diluent provided in the box of vaccine. After mixing you only have two hours to administer the product so plan accordingly. You will need to purchase syringes and needles separately. ALWAYS FOLLOW AND READ LABEL INSTRUCTIONS.

K \ UhUfYH Yvaccination verification requirements to qualify my hog to come to the Fair?

For Exhibitors: Vaccination is optional in 2020. If you do choose to vaccinate, your 4-H Leader or FFA Advisor MUST verify in writing to the Fair that you, your breeder or your representative have vaccinated your hog according to Fair requirements and vaccine label instructions. Your Leader/Advisor must provide your name, the hog's ear notches and DNA Fair tag number as required by the Fair along with the name of the vaccine. Work directly with your leader/advisor to provide such proof. Your Leader/Advisor will compile a single list for the Fair of all exhibitors with hogs from your club/ chapter. Upon arriving at the Fair with your hog, such proof (provided to you as a list from your Leader/Advisor) is required to be presented to swine officials on arrival day and before unloading your hog. Your name must appear on that list. You must provide that proof of vaccination no later than July 12, 2020 to your Leader /Advisor or you are not eligible to bring your hog to the Fair. Independent Youth must have their Parent or Legal Guardian provide this proof to the Fair in writing with proof of purchase and vaccination of the approved vaccine.

For 4-H Leaders/FFA Advisors: A single comprehensive list (on the Fair's official form) of each club/chapter of swine exhibitors which provides proof of purchase of approved vaccines and that they were administered appropriately and timely for each exhibitor must be provided to the Fair. This list must be signed by the Leader/Advisor and must include exhibitor's name, vaccine used, official DNA

Ear tag number and ear notch for each animal. This signed list is due to the Livestock Department no later than 5:00 pm on Monday, July 20, 2020. An official form will be provided to Leaders/Advisors by Fair officials.

Finally, provide this list to each of your exhibitors for them to bring to the Fair in order to unload their animal. It is recommended that you have plenty of extra copies on arrival day.

California Mid-State Fair 2020 Bio-Security Commitments and Expanded Health Protocols for the Livestock and Other Animal Shows

Animal Health and Welfare are critical components of any competitive Livestock, Equestrian or animal event.

These types of animal activities are challenged from a Bio-Security standpoint since most exhibition Livestock have been transported over several miles in their life while originating or being transported to and from multiple fairs, shows, sales, counties and states.

Exposure to animal health challenges via mixed populations, stress and compromised environments is commonplace. In addition, these animals are exposed to bacteria's or viruses through being housed and exposed to all other animals at the fair. If the animal is healthy upon arrival to the fair it certainly has a better chance of not getting sick. If the animal is not completely healthy or not cared for properly before arrival at the fair (and during the fair) they are at greater risk.

Pro-active solutions to this challenge start at home and include proper animal care education, Best Practices and common sense in addition to good environment, proper care, high quality feed, fresh water and a vet-client relationship with a licensed Veterinarian. If this happens at home, the Fair experience has a high percentage opportunity of being very positive. Although all animals are susceptible to health concerns, Swine and Poultry tend to have a greater propensity to health problems because common and complicated health conditions tend to spread more rapidly in these populations.

The California Mid-State Fair has excellent facilities for housing horses and Livestock. We also began (before the 2018 Fair) to identify a lead Veterinarian (Dr. Mike Lyons) on the grounds that would be with us for 14 days. Other licensed veterinarians working with exhibitors at home are welcome to assist during the Fair as well.

Relative to veterinary costs, Fair management will only be responsible for livestock arrival day inspections and a single inspection call each day of the show and auction. Any costs related to health-related treatments, additional inspections, emergencies and any medications approved and/or prescribed are the responsibility of individual exhibitors. Exhibitors may call upon their own licensed Veterinarian however the Livestock Superintendent must be notified prior to their arrival and that Veterinarian's report must be filed with the Livestock Superintendent prior to their departure from the Livestock facilities.

Our challenge in 2018 with the H1H2 strain of Swine Flu was the same problem faced at many Fairs across the mid-west this past summer and fall.

In 2019 we instituted an aggressive Bio-Security Protocol and Plan for all animals at the Fair. It was very successful and well received by animal owners and our community. We are committed to continuing that program.

We have made the following continued commitments to provide an improved Bio-Security program for 2020 for all animal shows.

Following are those commitments:

- ✓ Clean and disinfect all pens, stalls and wash rack facilities before and after each Livestock show. We practice this protocol currently with our equestrian and livestock events year-round.
- ✓ Provide for visual Veterinary inspection of livestock prior to unloading to ensure they are in good health. Treat, under Veterinary direction, sick animals and or release any animal that fair Veterinarians consider compromised from a health standpoint; Release injured livestock from the grounds as has been done in the past. Monitor livestock health throughout the livestock facility each day of the fair utilizing professional Veterinary services under the direction of our Lead Vet.
- ✓ Provide secure and comfortable housing for all livestock.
- ✓ The Fair has put some limits on the number of market livestock that may be entered into competition.
- ✓ Monitor the current condition of the Southern California Newcastle outbreak within the Poultry population of four California counties. Our poultry show for 2019 was canceled due to the potential for the disease to spread to other counties. Our intent is to offer a Poultry Show in 2020 depending on the statewide status of the disease. Final decisions will be made in the spring.

- ✓ Continue our strong Poultry Health inspection program at the Fair for 2020 and beyond.
- ✓ Provide (on our website) to all exhibitors, leaders and Ag teachers prior to the Fair, a significant amount of educational materials developed by the USDA, CDFA and universities on proper care of animals and specific disease concerns targeted at each specie where appropriate. This also includes other related animal care tips and resources.
- ✓ Provide educational signage during the fair for the public and exhibitors addressing the topic.
- ✓ Strategically locate handwashing stations in and around the livestock area.
- ✓ Market swine will be exhibited one less day during the fair in 2020 than other livestock (and in future years). This will reduce the amount of exposure and time that causes stress to swine specifically.
- ✓ Monitor the availability and practicality of vaccines that may be readily available for control of certain health conditions in advance of Fair arrival while working with our exhibitor base to utilize these products.
- ✓ Continue our protocol for providing an isolation area for sick or injured animals.
- ✓ Develop a strong checklist for the Fair and exhibitors titled “Protecting Guests, Exhibitors and Animals”.
- ✓ Maintain our terminal show policy for market animals. This may need to be expanded and strengthened.
- ✓ Continue to support the national campaign of “Youth Quality Care of Animals” (YQCA) and the training that is required by all our animal exhibitors.

2020 BIOSECURITY TRAINING AND PROTOCOL

Purpose: The purpose of the biosecurity training is to educate our exhibitors about the correct practices to ensure the health and wellbeing of their animal projects while entering, exiting and housing their project before and after the California Mid-State Fair. It is our intent to educate all parties at the fair regarding good animal husbandry practices that will help keep our animals, exhibitors, parents, leaders, advisors and fairgoers healthy.

We further encourage exhibitors to adopt these practices at the location where projects are housed prior to and after the fair.

How this works: This process is intended to be educational, simple to conduct and easy for leaders and advisors as well as the fairgrounds staff to be able to account for each exhibitor to have completed the training. We are kindly asking all advisors and leaders turn in ONE form (see attached) per species club leader or project advisor. Please DO NOT turn in a form for every exhibitor.

Exhibiting at the Fair: Animal agriculture is an important component of the United States agricultural industry. The quality and diversity of California animal agriculture is evident at livestock exhibitions and fairs throughout the State and nation. Many hours of training and hard work are invested to prepare healthy, high-quality animals for competition and in most cases for the food chain. Exhibition of animals is a rewarding experience. Unfortunately, even healthy animals entered in fairs are at risk for exposure to disease, stress or other negative health conditions.

Fairs and expositions may pose a potential threat to individual animal health. The commingling of animals of different species, breeds, and ages, from multiple premises and herd management backgrounds, creates an environment for potential exposure and spread of animal diseases. The stresses of travel, close confinement, and a changing environment, may compromise an animal's resistance to disease. People attending the fair also contribute to potential disease spread. At the end of the fair, animals that return to their home premises may also pose a risk of disease spread to their home herd or flock mates.

Fair Biosecurity: Biosecurity refers to measures taken to prevent the introduction of new disease agents into a herd or flock. Commingling of animals, multiple human contacts, and contaminated equipment represent the greatest threats for disease exposure and spread at a fair. To minimize risks, fair exhibitors can implement a fair biosecurity plan.

The objective of a fair exhibitor's biosecurity plan is to minimize potential exposure to disease and to prevent or limit disease spread from the fair to the home premises. Even the best biosecurity plan may not eliminate all risk of disease exposure; each step taken will reduce the potential.

Some practices to keep in mind:

- Provide fresh , clean water and feed
- Restrict animal contact with other animals, people, and livestock equipment,

- Clean and disinfect equipment, and tools
- Isolate and remove sick animals.
- Keep pens, stalls and surrounding areas clean and dry
- Communicate immediately with your specie superintendent or the official veterinarian when you suspect your animal is sick. Signs include: listlessness, not eating, not drinking water, appears to have a high temperature, the animal is injured, heavy coughing and heavy sneezing, heavy mucus discharge from eyes, nose and/or mouth.

Biosecurity Before the Fair: Disease prevention and fair biosecurity start before exhibitors leave home. Only healthy animals should be entered in the fair. Before animals leave the home premises, the herd or flock veterinarian should examine each animal to ensure healthy animals enter the fairgrounds. To help with this process the fairgrounds will be enacting vet checks before each trailer is unloaded, this check will be a visual check to assess, quarantine or remove any animals that are actively, or visibly ill or those that display other health conditions of concern before they enter pens or stalls.

Tools and equipment may harbor disease agents. To minimize potential disease spread from the home premises to the fair, before packing for transport, clean and disinfect:

- Feed equipment: buckets, feeders, and hay racks.
- Cleaning utensils: shovels, pitch forks, and wheelbarrows.
- Grooming equipment: clippers and brushers.
- Vehicle and trailer (inside and outside).

Biosecurity at the Fair: To protect fair animals and minimize disease transmission risk while at the fair:

- Limit animal-animal contact,
- Limit animal-human-animal contact,
- Avoid sharing equipment with other exhibitors unless you thoroughly clean and disinfect between use,
- Cover feed and equipment to reduce risk of contamination, and
- Change clothing, hats, and shoes used at the fair before doing chores at home.

At the end of the fair disinfect all equipment before loading the trailer. Unused feed, hay, and bedding should be discarded at the fairgrounds, not taken home.

Biosecurity After the Fair: The possibility of animal exposure to disease agents can occur with even the best biosecurity practices at the fair. Since they may be harboring disease agents without clinical signs, animals returning from the fair should be isolated from other animals and pets. Monitor animals in isolation daily for signs of illness and contact your veterinarian if any unusual symptoms are observed. To minimize the possible chance of disease spread to the main herd or flock, modify your chore routine to care for isolated fair animals last. Change your clothes after completing chores for isolated animals. Consult your veterinarian to develop an isolation plan suitable for your premises and herd or flock.

Help Protect Fairgoers: Animal show barns are one of the most popular areas of fairs. Fairs are great places to learn about different livestock species. Fair exhibitors have an opportunity and responsibility to educate fairgoers about animal safety and biosecurity practices. Animal diseases such as ringworm, E.coli, and Salmonella may cause significant problems in humans. It is important the people visiting fair show barns wash their hands after contact with animals. Handwashing or use of hand sanitizers, reduces possible disease transmission from animals to humans.

Handwash Stations : Please make parents, exhibitors, leaders, advisors and fairgoers aware of the locations around the barns where handwash stations are located. This is a proactive approach to good Biosecurity practices.

Veterinary Inspection upon arrival at the Fair

Veterinarians and their assistants will inspect all livestock upon arrival prior to unloading into pens and stalls. Each animal owner must have veterinary clearance for their animal to be penned or stalled. Animal health will be monitored throughout the fair as well.

Health conditions that will be of concern and may be cause for quarantine , removal or at the very least treatment include but are not limited to : Parasites (internal and external) signs of communicable disease, unsightliness caused by a health condition and any wounds open or closed . Specific conditions that may further warrant quarantine include: active ringworm, advanced lamb fungus, advanced flu like symptoms, sore mouth, pink eye, lice, mites, infectious pneumonia, infectious or bloody scours or dysentery ; abbesses that are balding showing hair separation, draining, or still scabbed; animals that are seriously lame or injured; surgical sites that still have stitches or are not healed and any health condition that would compromise the animal or other animals if left untreated.

All Veterinary fees including health visits and medications are the responsibility of the exhibitor when treatment, medication or veterinary service is required or requested. The fair will provide limited veterinary hours each day. Exhibitors are responsible for costs associated with any treatment required or requested during those hours but not the inspection. Outside of those hours , if the animal's welfare is at risk as determined by management or if the exhibitor calls upon the veterinarian for service outside of those hours, the exhibitor is responsible for all those fees.

All first place winners of beef, sheep, swine, dairy cattle, dairy goats and meat goats, are required to compete in Round Robin Showmanship. Exhibitors may compete if they have placed in Round Robin in prior years.

Any youth who is exhibiting more than one (1) specie of livestock and wins first place in the earliest advanced showmanship class entered will be eligible to compete in the other showmanship class with the other species of livestock. If they win first place in a second specie of livestock, he or she will be allowed to choose which specie they will represent in Round Robin. For example, if an exhibitor wins sheep showmanship and then later wins beef showmanship, he or she can represent either sheep or beef in round robin and the second place exhibitor of the specie not selected will compete in round robin.
