"TO THE FUTURE"

28th ANNUAL TRAINING
CONFERENCE
SEPTEMBER 17-21, 1990

RADISSON HOTEL
ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

OFFICIAL HOST

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety is the official host of the 28th Annual Training Conference.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Jackie Nink Pflug

A Woman Who Survived

Survived the Egypt Air #548 hi-jacking in Malta where she sustained a head shot wound, was thrown onto the tarmac, and left for dead. As a result of the head injury, Ms. Pflug copes with severe physical and emotional challenges plus learning disabilities. She has used her nine years of teaching the disabled to train and rehabilitate herself. Ms. Pflug's incredible story of the hi-jacking, her survival, her message of strength and coping skills have inspired many to identify, focus and set a course toward maximizing their own life achievements.

TRAINING SESSIONS

Training and exchange will follow 4 tracks; encompassing the futuristic trends in technology, issues, management and family/self.

- Officer Survival
- Talking Circle
- Violent Crime Profiling
- Wilding and Juvenile Violence
- Major Case Coordination
- Women of Color Within the Profession
- Bias Crimes
- Artificial Intelligence, DNA Profiling
- Family? Or Not?
- Why Are Some Women Leaving LE?
- Where We've Been...Where Are We Going?
- Media Relations
- Career Development — How to get there and survive

TO THE FUTURE

The year "1990" evokes futuristic trends as we approach the beginning of a new century. As law enforcement officers, we have witnessed, experienced and participated in this ever-changing profession. As women, we have spearheaded and cemented some of the most drastic changes this profession has ever witnessed, and we've only just begun!

We have helped to shape the future...from social awareness issues to the implementation of new technology, to the development of new ideas, new approaches. The IAWP's 28th Annual Training Conference lands in Minnesota in 1990, a state known for its innovative, progressive and trend-setting stance in the law enforcement and criminal justice systems. The City of St. Paul welcomes you and challenges you to an unforgettable exchange.

IAWP

To The Future is presented by the International Association of Women Police, a professional society dedicated to providing programs and services to women law enforcement officers around the world. Membership is open to all full time enforcement officers with the power to arrest, as well as part-time and retired law enforcement officers.

Members receive regular issues of WomenPolice, a magazine that focuses on a variety of issues of particular interest to IAWP members, reduced registration fees at the annual training conference, and timely information on IAWP activities, projects and programs. To join, contact: Pres. Kathy Burke, 20-25 45th St., Astoria, New York 11105

OF SPECIAL INTEREST

Officer of the Year Luncheon. To recognize the accomplishments of several outstanding women officers followed by special entertainment.

Murder on the Mississippi Dinner Cruise.

There's murder in the air and it's time we made a killing together again. It will take place on an authentic sternwheeler as it steams along the Mississippi River. When the murder occurs, you will become both a sleuth and a suspect. There will be open disputes, clues, cops (of course), and surprises, not to mention dinner.

Walleye and Wild Rice Fry in Rice Park, Minnesota-Style. Fish and rice fry sponsored by the Minnesota Indian Affairs Council held two blocks from the hotel in the beautiful outdoor setting of Rice Park.

Happy Hour Reception at the Heartthrob Cafe.

Enjoy the fifties era at the biggest "hot spot" in St. Paul. The entire place will be ours.

Banquet Dinner. Acknowledging new IAWP Board members and scholarship winners while being serenaded by the 11-piece "Golden Strings" violin entourage. Dance to follow.

CANCELLATION LIABILITY

In the event of cancellation of the conference for any reason, the International Association of Women Police's liability is limited to the return of the conference registration fee.

CANCELLATION POLICY

A cancellation fee of 25% will be charged for all cancellations made after July 25, 1990. All cancellations must be submitted in writing. Confirmed registrants who fail to attend and do not cancel prior to the conference are liable for the entire conference registration fee. You may, if you wish, send a substitute.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION...

Contact Barb Johnson, Minnesota Department of Public Safety at (612) 296-6642 or write: IAWP Conference, C/O Barb Johnson, 211 Transportation Bldg., St. Paul, MN 55155.

INCLUDED IN YOUR REGISTRATION

is 4½ days of educational programming, the opening reception, two luncheons, one brunch, the Walleye and Wild Rice Fry, Annual Reception and Banquet, assorted refreshment breaks, music and entertainment. For those who choose to register for one or two days rather than the full conference, there will be an additional charge for food functions.

Rise to the Challenge!

International Association of Women Police Annual Conference

September 25-30, 1988

Marriott Marquis Hotel
Atlanta, Georgia

The 1988 conference is designed to help you rise to the challenge.

As law enforcement officers, you are constantly challenged to keep up with the latest techniques and tools, integrate your career with your personal lifestyle, and maintain a high level of dedication. This five day conference will provide 35 hours of training to help you meet these challenges. A major exhibit area will offer you the opportunity to see the most sophisticated products designed to give law enforcement the important edge it needs. And, the occasion to spend a week with the cream of the crop of law enforcement officers will help you recharge your batteries.

Conference Overview

Pre-conference activities begin on Sunday, September 25, with several regional meetings and a competitive fun run in the afternoon and a gala opening reception, sponsored by the Naval Intelligence Police.

The professional program will begin with the opening ceremonies on Monday morning, followed by our keynote speaker. The Officers of the Year luncheon will recognize women selected by IAWP affiliate organizations throughout the world. Monday afternoon the first of six series of concurrent sessions will be offered.

These sessions will continue until Thursday afternoon, which will feature the IAWP Annual Business meeting and election of officers. Friday morning the conference will conclude with a general session and very special speaker. The program will be over by noon.

Special Events

It's true, we have a lot of good, solid educational programming packed into this seminar week. But, all work and no play...well, you know what happens then. So, we've planned several special events throughout the conference just for you.

Our welcome reception on Sunday evening will be held in the Marriott Marquis for the convenience of everyone just arriving that day. Sponsored by the Naval Intelligence Police, this reception offers the perfect opportunity to greet old friends from previous years and meet officers from around the country and around the world.

Our luncheon on Monday will feature women officers of the year as selected by the IAWP affiliates from around the world.

Monday evening, the exhibit area will open with a reception. A perfect time to case out the exhibits, making note of those booths to which you want to return over the next two days.

Tuesday evening we'll all travel, by train, to the famous Stone Mountain and a spectacular barbecue. Sponsored by Southern Railway, the evening has been specially planned to provide fun for all.

Wednesday evening, we'll all be guests of Cobb County Police Department in Marietta, Georgia. Buses will depart from the hotel for this delightful city, featuring fun for all.

Thursday evening the festivities will culminate at the Annual Reception and Banquet, an IAWP tradition.

Friday morning, our seminar will conclude with a brunch where you'll have one last opportunity to say goodbye to all the old friends you've visited with and the new ones you've made in the past week.

Featured Speakers

Lois Haight Herrington is the second highest ranking female official in the Reagan administration. Mrs. Herrington was appointed to this newly created position in May, 1987. Formerly Assistant Attorney General of the United States for three and a half years, she now serves as the President's National Correspondent to the United Nations Congress on the Prevention of Crime and Treatment of Offenders.

William S. Sessions took the Oath of Office for the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on November 2, 1987. Prior to his appointment, he was Chairman of the Subcommittee on Judicial Improvements of the Committee on Court Administration of the Judicial Conference of the United States and was appointed as a member of the Committee on Court Administration of the Judicial Conference of the United States. Since serving as Section Chief of the Government Operations Section of the Criminal Division of the U.S. Department of Justice in the late 60's, Director Sessions has served the legislative branch of the federal government in several capacities.

International Association of Women Police

Rise to the Challenge is presented by the International Association of Women Police, a professional society dedicated to providing programs and services to women law enforcement officers around the world. Membership is open to all full-time enforcement officers with the power to arrest, as well as part-time and retired law enforcement officers.

Members receive regular issues of PoliceWoman, a magazine which includes information on law enforcement issues from around the world which impact women law enforcement officers, reduced registration fees at the annual training conference and timely information on IAWP activities, projects and programs.

If you are not currently a member, you can receive one year's membership at no additional charge. Please be sure to check the appropriate box on the registration form. Your membership will become effective with the receipt of your dues investment.

Official Host

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation is the official host of the 1988 Annual Conference. If you have questions about the conference program, please contact Special Agent L. Gale Buckner, Conference Director, at 404/244-2566.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN POLICE

A non-profit organization devoted to furthering the education and training of women police and encouraging the general improvement of police service. The I.A.W.P. is the only organization uniting women from every branch of law enforcement. All women who are in the criminal justice field are eligible for membership, regardless of rank, assignment or department affiliation.

The I.A.W.P., organized to prompt professionalism in police work and to further the utilization of women in law enforcement, conducts training conferences which serve as the forum for reporting on developments in police administration and other areas of the criminal justice sphere, as well as for presenting progress reports concerning current undertakings in policing that concern the membership.

This year the Eleventh Training Conference, to be held from October 14th through 19th, at the Island Inn, Westbury, Long Island, New York, will fulfill its theme - "New Horizons in Law Enforcement." A comprehensive program has been planned with outstanding guest speakers from the criminal justice, civil service and educational fields. Receptions, hosted by local police organizations, have been planned for leisure hours. A GALA BANQUET crowns the weeks activities.
