BOARD MEMBER RESPONSIBILITIES

See individual assignment sheet.

Read State Handbook.

In relation to office staff:

The Board member, or her committee, will compose her communications.
Office staff will type and mail them.

The Board member and committee do their own research, whether from League or other sources. The staff will suggest information sources and will check the accuracy of facts available in League files, but cannot be expected to assemble data for individual Board members.

All official League communications should be cleared through the President, or Executive Secretary.

Except in cases of emergency - Calls for Action and such - communications should reach the office in time to be handled in an orderly and routine manner. Frequent requests for fast and special handling destroy the efficiency of a staff as tightly scheduled as ours.

up legislation in 1961, eased the 30-day residence requirement.)

Party designation: The League stands for party designation for state legislators; it is not in a position to support actively a separate bill for party designation for county officials; however, inclusion of county officials in a party designation bill for state legislators would be acceptable to the League. (No legislation passed to date.)

Corrupt practices: The League stands for complete reporting of all money actually spent in elections, bringing the volunteer committee under more control, and raising obsolete limits on campaign spending. (No legislation passed to date.)

Home rule: The League stands for strengthening home rule (local self-government) by putting realistic restrictions on special legislation and by easing the adoption and amendment of home rule charters. (The Home Rule amendment to the state constitution was adopted in 1958. Among other things, it legalized special legislation, required naming the community involved, and required local approval before the law goes into effect. In 1959 implementing legislation changed the vote necessary to adopt a home rule charter from 4/7 of those voting in the election to 55% of those voting on the question; to amend a charter the vote necessary was changed from 3/5 of those voting in the election to 55% of those voting on the question. In 1961 only a little additional implementation was achieved: charter amendments may now be initiated not only by charter commissions or citizen petitions, but also by local governing bodies; improvement was made in procedures for publication of proposed charter changes—two weeks necessary for both amendments and charters instead of four weeks for amendments and none for charters; and “reasonable and necessary” funds can now be provided for charter commissions.)

Constitutional revision by convention? We’ve run out of space, but you know that long story anyway.

Toward 62 in '62 . . .

Faribault became Minnesota’s 58th local League in June. The only League in Rice county, it is in the 1st congressional district and the 18th (or should we be saying the new 7th?) legislative district. It started its grown-up life with 43 members, and $5 dues like all new Leagues. President is Mrs. William Hacker; advisor during the provisional period was Mrs. Arthur Wangen, former president of the Owatonna LWV.

From the President's Pen . . .

Listening in on the analysis of how to get and keep members (at the recent Membership Workshop) made me newly aware of how keen is the competition, not only for the minds of men but for the time and attention of women.

At home we women are expected to be skilled organizers, expert chefs, final arbiters of questions ranging from hair styles to the finest point in a moral decision. We naturally want to help rather than hinder our husband’s ascent, upward and onward; we bear the brunt of countless community chores and of innumerable fund drives; we are chauffeurs; we counsel; and we bake cookies—endlessly.

Those scraps and pieces of time which women have left and can call their own are precious. They must be invested with the utmost discrimination and insight. When we hold out the offer of membership in the League, what kind of image are we projecting in our various communities? This rates a piercing look, for how we appear to a prospective member—what our public image is—often decides her choice.

We in the League know that our membership is open to all, that our organization is member-run, that our procedures are democracy itself, that our program leads the field. But how well are we telling our story?

I sometimes fear that we project the image of earnest but rather dull do-gooders who alone are conscious of the world’s problems, and because these problems weigh so heavily upon us we are seeking new shoulders to help carry the burden.

The image I hope we project is that of really wanting to share the dividends of the League: the thrill of gaining a little deeper knowledge in a few selected fields, the joy of free discussion in the company of other questioning minds, the positive accomplishment of helping to activate a passive citizenry.

If we want people to “applaud the image” we need to keep it coming through, sharp and shining. We need to select and limit our activities, to give consistent, reliable, and accurate service to the voter, and to maintain an optimistic and enthusiastic attitude toward our privileges as citizens.

THOUGHTS FOR U. N. DAY, 1961

All the other troubles besetting the United Nations are now overshadowed by the crisis in its executive arm. What stop-gap solution can be agreed upon, or how, we do not know at this writing. We do know this is a time for steadfastness and courage.

President Kennedy, speaking before the 16th session of the U.N. General Assembly on September 25, said, “The problem is not the death of one man—the problem is the life of this organization. It will either grow to meet the challenge of our age—or it will be gone with the wind, without influence, without force, without respect. Were we to let it die—to enfeeble its vigor—to cripple its powers—we would condemn the future.”

The United States has a responsibility to lead in achieving U.N. growth and in using U.N. machinery to prevent chaos. “Lead” we can, and must. But “command” we cannot. Significantly, each nation in the U.N., giant or small, has but one vote. Unless a large number of nations awaken to their responsibility in this time of peril and are brave enough to oppose attempts to paralyze the U.N., it could founder. Should this happen, many people might despair, and despair leads to extremism.

To counteract voices raised against the U.N., to keep a healthy perspective, and to bolster our own courage, perhaps we need to remind ourselves of a few facts.

- The U.N. has weathered a good many other crises.
- It has demonstrated a capacity to act on behalf of peace and security in various situations without involving direct confrontation of the great powers. An uneasy calm has been maintained in the Middle East, for example, largely by the U.N.’s presence.
- The Congo operation, whatever the ultimate outcome, will remain a precedent-setting example of the possible in terms of U.N. executive action. Though Dag Hammarskjöld is dead, his convictions are eloquently alive.
- It is unrealistic to expect the U.N. to cure all the ills of the cold war. We need to accept its limitations, to recognize the danger of overloading it with responsibilities beyond its capacity to act, and at the same time work to make it what we wish it were. On the other hand, we must not fall into the error of underestimating its value in providing the world with the facility for multilateral diplomacy. Detractors call it a “debating society,” but as such it performs a signal service. Not only does it bring pressure to bear where pressure is needed; it pushes the great powers toward talking with each other about cold war issues which are subject to negotiation.
- Last but not least, the record shows a host of solid U.N. accomplishments not reflected in political headlines. Its quiet efforts steadily improve man’s lot in many areas.

PUT THE LABEL ON THE WOMAN

Are we as individual League members really showing our communities, our political parties, and our legislators that we do believe in the two-party system?

For some ten years we have been trying to persuade legislators to adopt party designation for themselves. Perhaps it is time to ask ourselves what we have done during that time about our own individual party affiliation.

As an organization we are nonpartisan, and to protect this nonpartisanship policy LWV Board members refrain from party activity while on the Board. Other members, as individuals, are encouraged to work in a political party. Have you done anything to indicate to the party leaders in your community your interest in the party of your choice?

Two of our LWV members have shown their willingness to “put the label on the woman.” Mrs. Stanley Kane and Mrs. Edgar Kuderling, former League lobbyists, have indicated they will be candidates for the 1963 legislature—Betty Kane in the new 30th district and Louise Kuderling in the new 35th. If we had party designation for legislators, Betty would be on the Democratic-Farmer-Labor ticket, Louise on the Republican.

Your first step might well be to attend your party’s caucus when it is held. It is there that party resolutions, policies, and selection of candidates start. You may want to join the party’s women’s group as your declaration of interest. You also can declare yourself as a party member by offering the party of your choice a financial contribution—small or large.

It is possible that we can increase our LWV political effectiveness by more of us being willing, as individuals, to PUT THE LABEL ON THE WOMAN!

* Introducing The Appointees

Nine years ago Maxine Harkness joined the Falcon Heights League as a charter member, probably not suspecting then how large a part of her life it would claim. On her local Board she has held three chairmanships—finance, legislative, and public relations. Whether her hobbies—gardening and 4-H—got her a husband or vice versa she didn't say, but her husband is State 4-H Club Leader. They have three children, aged seven, 12 and 14. Not until prodded did the fact that she is from Texas come out.

Many of you know Irene Janski, in her fifth year of state organization work. Organizing new Leagues is the most interesting job in the LWV, she maintains, and she should know; she's done a lot of others, including a three-year stint as local president. A woman of many parts, Irene is chairman of the administrative committee of the Camp Fire Girls' Richfield-Bloomington district, is on the board of the Richfield Safety Council, works in her church, and is associate director of the 1961 United Fund Campaign. Reading heads her list of hobbies; she plays bridge, loves to cook and consume, sews, gardens, hikes, and this summer took up archery. What's more, she is her real estate appraiser husband's bookkeeper. "It must be a hobby," she says. "I'm not on the payroll." A daughter (and a dog) make her life complete.

The only Board member holding a paying job outside the home is Hazel Shimmin. Bemidji State College claims her time. "Though I wasn't a Leaguer early enough to help put civil service into Minnesota, I've been with it since the start," she says. She had to take a qualifying examination to keep her job, and has taken many since. Hazel is a native South Dakotan and taught history, English, and Latin in a high school of 150 students before she became an office worker. She was the Bemidji League's able president for four years and since then has been legislative chairman.

Peggy Thompson is from Missouri. She entered Washington University intending to become a lawyer, but was side-tracked by a navy flier and ended up with a political science major. "I like to think the legal profession's loss was the navy's gain," she says. The Thompsons came to Minnesota 14 years ago and they love it. Peggy joined the North St. Paul League in 1955 and served as president for four years. With the exception of her home and family (Steven, Linda, Terry, and that ex-navy man) nothing, says Peggy, has given her the sustained pleasure and satisfaction that her League has. Her other loves are tennis, swimming, bowling, bridge, camping, gardening, knitting, the Minnesota Twins and the St. Paul Saints.

In the first year of Dora Zaidenweber's life with the League she ran St. Louis Park's local candidates meetings. The fact that she spent the next four years on the Board as foreign policy chairman indicates the kind of impression she made. Why foreign policy? Dora was born in Poland and went to what we would call high school there. Then came the war. During most of those years she was incarcerated in labor and concentration camps. Mere survival was a day-to-day uncertainty. Liberated by the British from a camp in Germany, she moved to the American zone (Stuttgart), where both she and her husband went to school. In 1950 they emigrated to the U.S. Dora finished her university work at Minnesota and took a master's degree in economics; her minor is political science. Her husband is an electrical engineer with Northern States Power. Hobbies include sewing for her two children, traveling (Yellowstone this summer), and skating—and of course, the LWV and foreign policy.

HOW ARE YOU ON CONTINUING RESPONSIBILITIES?

Joining the LWV is a little like marrying a widower with children. Some "continuing responsibilities" come with it. But don't quail at what you have done. Just invest 10c in the new state publication and gain the necessary understanding to cope, at least with the CR'S on the state program. Or maybe you know all there is to know about this CR business. ARE YOU GAME TO TEST YOURSELF?

1. What is the difference between a Continuing Responsibility and a Current Agenda item?
2. Who decides when action should be taken on a CR, and what that action should be?
3. What is a member's responsibility for CR's?
4. Going down the line on state CR's, what is the LWV's position and the legislative status with regard to:

Conflict of interest?

Lobby regulation?

Election laws?

Party designation?

Corrupt practices?

Home rule?

Constitutional revision by convention?

1. Every CR once was on the CA. At this stage members studied the issue, reached substantial agreement, and took action. But perhaps the legislative goal was not reached, or perhaps the League wanted to be able to protect the legislation it helped to achieve against future threats. So the appropriate convention (or annual meeting in the case of a local CR) voted to make the item a CR. As such it no longer receives intensive study, but the League may continue to act on those aspects of the issue covered by the League's position.

2. The appropriate LWV Board has that responsibility. It must provide members with up-to-date information. It must evaluate proposed legislation and decide which specific bills, if any, the League will support or oppose. Its yardstick for making these decisions is the League position previously determined by the members.

3. She must know what the League's position is. She is invaluable in the development of public support for that position. She can respond to a "Time for Action" when one comes.

4. Conflict of interest: The League stands for financial disclosure by a public official of sources and amounts of income related to his public service; on the spot disclosure of personal interest in legislation; prohibition against any public official representing a private interest before a state agency or representing a private interest against the state in any action in which the state or state agency is the complainant; prohibition against disclosure of confidential information; prohibition against private employment of a public official where activity would be incompatible with proper discharge of public duties; and prohibition for two years against a former official representing a private interest against the state in any matter for which he was responsible during state service. (A weak bill with serious omissions, from the League's standpoint, passed the 1961 legislature.)

Lobby regulation: The League stands for disclosure of name and address of lobbyist; name of his employer; nature of legislation with which he is concerned; nature of activities in which he engages; amount of money contributed in his lobbying action and by whom; and terms of his employment. (Acceptable bill passed by House in 1961, but killed in Senate Civil Administration committee.)

Election laws: The League stands for centralized responsibility in the state government for achieving uniform election procedures and for training officials (but some members expressed reservations on adding to bureaucracy and increasing costs); changing the 30-day residence requirement; some provision to allow an otherwise qualified voter to vote for president and vice-president before he meets residence requirements; extending registration to smaller municipalities, counties, or the whole state; giving more latitude to local councils in determining qualifications and number of election judges; the open primary. The League opposes lowering the voting age; raising filing fees. (A bill passed in 1959 revised seven of the 13 chapters of Minnesota election laws; changes made were mainly for clarification and codification. In addition, the law required municipalities with a population of 10,000 or more to provide for voter registration; increased filing fees for some candidates; gave local councils greater authority over some election procedures; allowed the secretary of state to distribute instructive literature to voters and election officials. A constitutional amendment adopted in 1960, and follow-

MEET MADAM PRESIDENT
BUSY SUMMER AND NO TIME FOR FISHING

Family fishing trips to Rainy lake are on every summer's program for the O.H. Anderson family of Mahtomedi--but this summer may be the exception. Mrs. Anderson will be busy this summer (for the next two years, in fact) as president of League of Women Voters of Minnesota.

She took office at the recent state convention and will conduct her first board meeting next Tuesday. The board meets every month except July. The calendar and materials must be prepared this summer for the opening of the league's season in the fall.

Mrs. Anderson joined the league 10 years ago. She has served as vice president and president of the Mahtomedi league, on the state organization committee for three years, on the state board for three years as organization chairman and as state second vice president.

As wife of Mahtomedi superintendent of schools, Mrs. Anderson also takes part in many community activities. At St. Andrews Lutheran church, she belongs to Martha circle. In PTA, she works with her husband in the adult education program. She also works with American Field Service.

The Andersons have three daughters, Mary, 16, Kathryn, 13, and Jane, 9--which means they have a Girl Scout at every level, Brownie, intermediate and senior. Mrs. Anderson has served on Scout troop committees and on the St. Paul area camp committee.

Mary is just graduating from Mahtomedi high school as valedictorian. Last summer she went to Germany as an American Field service visitor.

Mrs. Anderson's interests include gardening, knitting, sewing, cooking and helping her daughters to perfect skills along those lines.

"Very exciting," Mrs. Anderson says of league work--especially the growth the League has had in Minnesota, with more than 500 new members in the last two years.

A high point of this year for Mrs. Anderson was going as a delegate to the national council in Washington last month, one of two from the state. The group met President Eisenhower. They also traveled to New York and toured the U.N. building.
