ECONOMIC CONTROLS COMMITTEE

John S. Coleman

INCREASED PRODUCTION IS ESSENTIAL to our economic welfare. Consequently, various proposals made from time to time for economic controls of prices, investments, wages, rents, allocations, priorities, and other controls are of concern not only to industry but to everyone. Both the war and foreign conditions have demonstrated that private initiative is hampered by the imposition of government controls. This committee studies and makes recommendations with respect to all such proposals.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS COMMITTEE

Marion B. Folsom

THIS COMMITTEE CONCERNS ITSELF with two major areas: 1. problems relating to Social Security and the interpretation of proposals to extend and liberalize this law; 2. company programs voluntarily established to provide greater protection to employees against the economic hazards of sickness, disability, old age and death. Its activities include the study of these two subjects, looking toward the formulation of recommended policies.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING COMMITTEE

Lane D. Webber

This committee reviews Federal expenditures, appropriation methods and budget controls, and recommends economies. It seeks to achieve a balance of the budget each year at the lowest expenditure level which will support essential public services and yet yield a revenue surplus to be used for debt payment and tax reduction.

Chairman: LANE D. WEBBER, Vice President, Southern California Edison Company Ltd., Los Angeles, Calif.
