The image shows a vintage logo for 'Twin City Lines' centered on a piece of aged, tan-colored cardboard. The logo itself is a dark red square with a thin gold border. Inside this square, the words 'TWIN', 'CITY', and 'LINES' are stacked vertically in a bold, gold, sans-serif font. Each letter has a white outline, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. Behind the red square is a large, dark circular shape, also with a gold border, which is partially obscured by the square. The entire composition is set against the textured background of the cardboard, which has four small black crosshair marks at the corners and two circular punch holes on the left side.
