LINDA PRITCHARD FROM INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE PRESENTS INCOME TAX MINICOURSE AT 2100-2200 SHERIDAN-THOMAS XXVI GET-TOGETHER

What is WIPOG?

WIPOG is a Willard district school-community program devoted to helping all residents come together through forming block clubs. Once organized, block clubs undertake a variety of educational, cultural, and recreational activities. Besides learning about school and community happenings, and getting to know each other better, residents in WIPOG block clubs share common concerns and work toward solution of neighborhood problems.

Organizing Progress

Block clubs organized or scheduled for organizing soon since the last edition of WIPOG include:

1900-2000 Upton XXXVII	2200 Upton-Vincent XLI
1400-1500 Thomas XXXVIII	2100-2200 Queen XLII
1300 Thomas XXXIX	1300-Russell-Queen XLIII
1900 Thomas XL_A (apartment club)
2100 Washburn-Xerxes XXXII_B (addition to XXXII)

Advisory Council Meets

The WIPOG Advisory Council met in January at WIPOG Central and jointly with the HIPOG Advisory Board in February and March to consider WIPOG business and to plan the WIPOG/HIPOG block club Convention to be held in May.

At the meetings, the council reviewed organizing progress, received visitors and heard presentations for inter-agency co-operation from several groups:

The Northside Health Maintenance Organization Research Group presented a request for a health survey through block groups. The Board examined the survey, made suggestions for changes, and approved the procedure and survey. - The Infectious Disease Committee of the Minnesota Veterinarians Association asked for cooperation in undertaking a small-animal survey through selected block clubs. At a second meeting more information and procedures were presented by Dr. William Dudley from the Association. The board approved a revised survey and suggested procedure.

The next meeting of the Council is scheduled for April 16th at the WIPOG Bungalow, 1606 Queen, from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. All WIPOGers are welcome to attend!

Highlights of WIPOGcon I and WIPOGcon II

Block clubs displayed some of their creative talents and fruits of cooperative labor such as 1700-1800 Queen
VII's bargain-priced throw rugs and colorful aquaria;
1600 Washburn XVI's artistic garbage can retainer; 1300
Washburn-Xerxes II's flea market and kool-aid concession; 1400-1500 Sheridan IV's beautiful hand-made jewelry; 1600 Vincent VIII's umpety dozens of tasty tantalizing tacos; 2100-2200 Sheridan-Thomas XXVI's stone jewelry creations and jiggle-berry juice; 1900-2000
Sheridan XIX's custom-made coat hangers; 1500-1600 Oliver-Penn XXIV's decorated cakes; to name a few.

Prominent speakers added to the community spirit of the convention: Superintendent of Schools John B. Davis, Jr.; Mayor Albert Hofstede; North Area Schools Superintendent Melvin Hoagland; Alderman Louis DeMars; Ascension Parish's Monseignor Coates; and Willard-Homewood Organization's Chairman Van White.

Entertainment included the Metropolitan Cultural Arts Center; the Willard chorus; a talent show; and WIPOG
VIII's own Grace Williams singing rhythm and blues.
Assistant Principal Roger Buttke presided over the awarding of over fifty door prizes. Arlene Howelton, 1400-1500 Washburn X, gave awards to those who had rendered service to the Willard community through WIPOG.

On hand through it all were WIPOG staffers Joseph Pur-vis, emcee and Willard Principal; Jules Beck, Project Administrator; community organizers Ella Harris, Ella
Johnson and Rose Hayward; and a host of Advisory Council helpmates who kept it all going.

Many community agencies participated in the Convention with informational displays: Minneapolis Public Health Department; North Regional Library; Boy Scouts of America; WISE Volunteers; Willard School Counseling Department; Jordan Junior High School; North High's SOS program; LaLeche League; North Side Food CO-OP; United Farm Workers; Phyllis Wheatley; The University's Food
For Better Health Program; Urban Pre-school Program;
Eden House; and the Urban League.

Community Inspection Hours

LARRY MARTIN
XVI

The housing inspection unit of the Minneapolis Inspection Department is starting a three-month trial period for Community Inspection Hours. Beginning on Monday, April 7th, the WIPOG bungalow will provide space for an inspector every Monday afternoon from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. Residents are invited to take advantage of this outreach service to get information, ask questions, or register complaints about codes, housing conditions, etc.

Telephone or personal appointments may be made through the WIPOG office, and appointments may be made anonymously. Residents may drop in during that time. The WIPOG facility was the only location chosen on the North-side. Our phone is 529-9560.

Minicourses

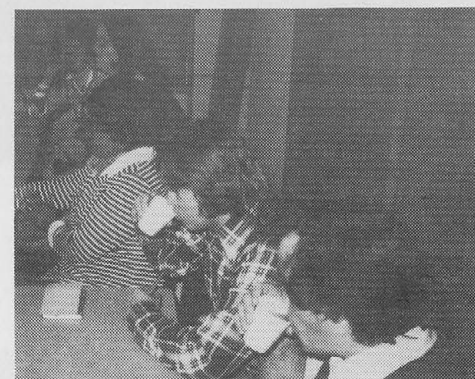

Besides the fifty-some minicourses already available to block groups, WIPOG has added several new ones at resident request. They include: bonsai (miniature trees-oriental style); lapidary; Bolivian culture (a WIPOG Central specialty); video tape; and income tax. For an up-to-date listing, contact your club leaders or WIPOG Central. If an area of interest to you has not been included, ask your nearest WIPOG staffer about starting one.

Block Club Activities

Chief of Housing Inspections Robert Holmbeck and inspector Gordon Hinseth met with 1300 Washburn-Xerxes II and 1400-1500 Washburn-Xerxes X during a March get-together to discuss housing inspection policies and procedures. - George Roadfeldt, Hennepin County Agricultural Agent, presented a minicourse on landscaping and lawncare to residents of 2100-2200 Russell XXXIV at their March meeting. - Stanley Grant, Electrical Inspector, presented a home wiring minicourse before an 1400-1500 Sheridan IV gathering in March. - Linda Pritchard, from the Internal Revenue Service, presented income tax minicourses to recent gatherings of 2100-2200 Sheridan-Thomas XXVI and 1600 Washburn XVI. - 1700-1800 Queen VII got a few hints on parent-child interaction during a March get-together where they had a minicourse on "How to Get Your Child to Listen to You" led by Jules Beck.

Bev and George

It was a quirk of fate that Bev and George Roberts found Willard Homewood at all.

In their search for a home, a real estate agent shuffled them from home to home in South Minneapolis, with never a thought about the north side. Most of the homes they saw on the south side were not acceptable if within their price range.

One Sunday in August, 1970, the agent asked if they would like to stop by a new listing in Willard Homewood on their way to see some "really nice houses" much farther north.

"As soon as we drove up, I knew this was the house we were going to buy," said Bev. "It looked just right for us."

"It had the big side yard," she explains, "and we had never seen anything with any property. We had two children, so we were looking for something with a nice play area. I wanted a big kitchen and a breakfast room."

The house also had a room upstairs in which George could work. In addition to his job as an English teacher at North Community High School's Alternative Program, he is a poet. Northsiders get a taste of his talents as poet and teacher at Metropolitan Cultural Arts Center (MCAC) where George regularly volunteers his services.

"There was a room upstairs tailor made for writing," George continued. "We didn't even go look at the other houses."

The Roberts had heard most of the bad things about North Minneapolis. "Immediately, when we moved in, the stereotypes fell apart," George explains. "I pulled up with a van full of stuff and neighbors just poured out of their houses all over the place and the van, which took me about eight and a half hours to load, was empty in about half an hour. That still happens every time people move in."

Bev's major interests are housing and education, especially since their two children, Andy, 7, and Juliet, 6, started school. She has worked part-time day care jobs in the community and helped start the move toward the availability of an open classroom for children in the north area.

Bev has been an active member of the Vacant Housing Task Force, a committee of the Willard Homewood Organization, since its inception and is committed to the rehabilitation of Willard Homewood — its homes and its image in the City of Minneapolis.

Cathy

When Cathy Christensen's name is mentioned, it is very difficult for Willard Homewood residents to avoid discussing the Vacant Housing Task Force. Cathy claims she was "appointed" a "volunteer" on the task force when it first originated and then became its chairperson because she was the only member representing the Willard Homewood Organization, but others don't see her commitment or her contribution quite as modestly as she describes.

Housing is important to Cathy, especially housing in Willard Homewood, where she resides with her three children, Ross, 11, Blake, 10 and Jessica, 9. The neighborhood she chose because of its diverse population also offered what she wanted in terms of a home, even after a prolonged search of other areas.

"We looked in a lot of different parts of this area," she remembers. "We looked at a lot of different houses, but I'm very rigid. The reason we had waited as long as we had (she and her husband had two children at the time) was that I didn't want a two bedroom starter home like a lot of people."

"A lot of people say, 'Get a little house in the suburbs.' I didn't want that. I wanted a house that I was going to be happy with. And when we walked in the front door of this house, we didn't have to come past the living room. We said, 'This is IT.'"

"So we purchased this house. And I've never, never, regretted it."

Cathy and her family are also sold on the Willard Homewood community. As she expresses it:

"The kind of people I find working in this community really impress me. They're people who really care. In most neighborhoods the attitude is, just make it for yourself and do better than your next door neighbor. Here, people work hard to do things to benefit everybody."

"I just couldn't go back to the type of neighborhood where the most your neighbor worries about is whether or not you mow your lawn to keep up with him mowing his lawn."

Van

Ever hear of Van's Rules of Order?

Willard Homewood Project Area Committee (PAC) meetings often use this practical method to accomplish business.

"Sometimes a group can become too caught up in Parliamentary Procedure," explains the creator of Van's Rules, Van White, an employment counselor for the Minnesota Department of Employment Services, who has chaired the PAC since it originated in 1971. In that capacity, Van has seen some conflict and much difference of opinion — differences which he has always managed to reconcile, not with power but with courtesy.

"Van wears power like a comfortable pair of slippers," says Janet Alexander of the PAC chairperson; and this approach has kept the group humming for five years now.

"We can discuss issues, just like a family, and get on with the business at hand," Van points out. "Time has always been an issue for the Willard Homewood Organization."

Time is what got Van White into the business of organizing his community some years ago when he noticed, on his return from a trip to the East Coast, some of the same problems beginning in Minneapolis that were obvious in the decaying cities of the east. "Right then, I started knocking on my neighbors' doors, sitting on their doorsteps and porches, and saying, 'It could happen to us.'"

Time has been a factor ever since, as community members hustled to obtain funds for the needed work, and then cut through the bureaucratic maze to spend those funds before the deadline.

"I would like to see Willard Homewood turn into the kind of community where people of all ages, races, and socio-economic groups are working in harmony as perfectly as possible," Van explains. "I think we caught it in time here, before they brought in the bulldozer."

Residents of Willard Homewood have long looked to Van White for leadership in their struggle to rehabilitate their community. As a person who grew up on the north side, Van feels the depth of its problems. At the same time he is a walking example of the power of individual commitment and persistence. For, in his own words, "we're movin' right along here."

George and Vivian

George Nelsen often says, "semi-tongue-in-cheek" as he puts it, "one of the nice things about the Willard Homewood Organization is that we don't take ourselves too seriously."

George himself typifies that description as he observes with obvious pleasure the goings-on at WHO meetings, where a set of diverse personalities almost always face some kind of conflict. But rarely do he or the other members lose sight of the purpose of the meetings which deal with the quality of life in Willard Homewood. Loyalty to the neighborhood is fierce, but carried off with a sense of humor.

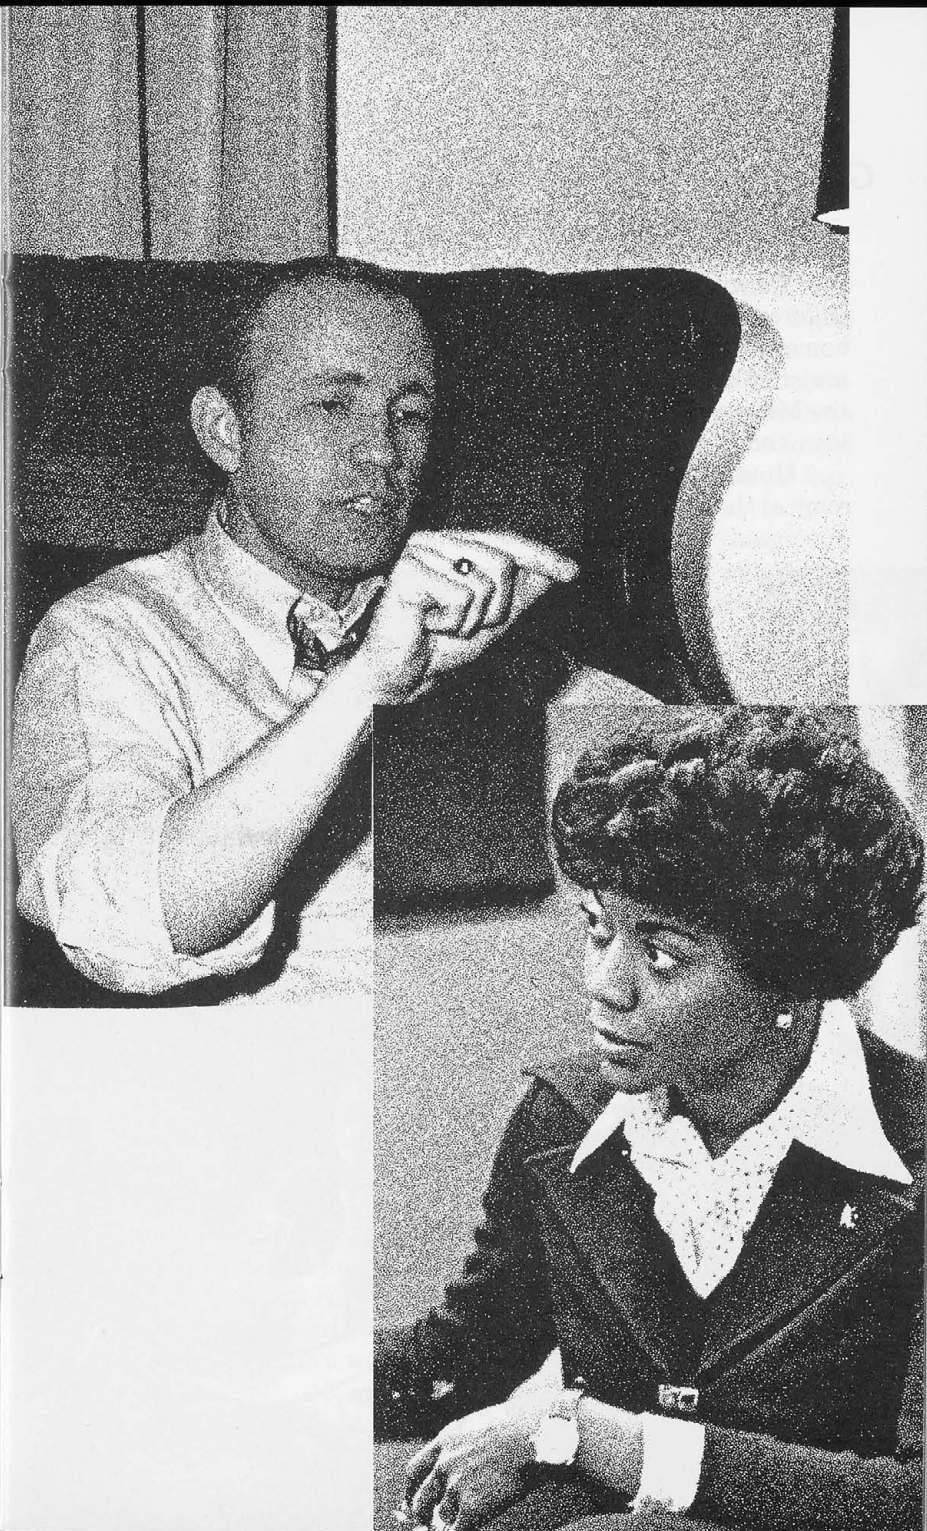

"There are a lot of groups that think they are going to change the world. We want to improve an established neighborhood," explains George, who serves as treasurer of the group.

"We have a lot of strange coalitions and we laugh a lot and try not to take ourselves too seriously because its easier to cope that way."

"We began by defining our objectives, marshalling our resources and deciding on an action plan — and then we set about accomplishing our goals. People often get bogged down in the rhetoric of redevelopment. We have plenty of rhetoric, but the question is always the same: do we want to rehab houses or don't we? We do."

George is a transportation analyst for the Minneapolis Public School System. He and his wife, Vivian, an educational psychologist who teaches at the University of Minnesota and also does consulting work, both chose Willard Homewood while still single and then later opted to buy a home in the community rather than leave.

"The nicest thing about Willard Homewood is having people we love and who love us," explains Vivian. "It's a different kind of caring. It's unlike a small town in that people let you have your privacy but they check in from time to time."

Kitty and Wayne

Wayne and Kitty Garnett are a young couple with two children, Saray, 2½, and Rita, 1½. They have lived in their home for six years and are currently in the process of some major rehabilitation work which they have financed through the Minneapolis Housing and Redevelopment Authority's local loan and grant program.

Upstairs, the children will have a new bedroom and playroom of their own. In the basement a recreation room and bathroom will be installed. General work such as patched walls, new roof, steps, handrails, sidewalks, wiring and pipes is also being done and the Garnett's excitement is evident.

"We were lucky to get a really good contractor," Kitty explained. "He itemized every item down to little things such as sanding the bathroom wall—$17. He got it right down to the nitty-gritty, so we could cross things off that we could do ourselves or that were luxuries."

"The contractor also shows us how to do some things ourselves," she added. Making the porch into an attractive expansion of the living room is one thing that Kitty and Wayne did together with helpful hints from their contractor. They have been able to make significant progress on their home with a $6,000 grant and $7,000 loan.

With the time and money the Garnetts have invested in their home, they are naturally concerned about the type of community they live in and what it has to offer their family. Subjects such as absentee landlords, schools and recreational facilities are very much in their thoughts.

"What do you want us to talk about?" they asked. "Why we're living here and why we're never going to move?"

Kitty, who coordinates women's programs at the local YMCA and Wayne, a fireman at the local station, can both bike to work when they want to. They are also within walking distance to the grocery store. "We wouldn't even need a car except in very cold weather," Kitty said.

Saray and Rita stay in the Y's day care center while Kitty works. The Y is located near North Commons, a nearby park utilized by the Garnett family for tennis, swimming and other recreation. For skiing, golf and biking, Theodore Wirth Park is on the other side of the neighborhood.

But those are just external reasons to be in Willard Home-wood. Wayne and Kitty point to things like the area block clubs and interested residents as reasons to make a home there and agree they wouldn't want to live anywhere else.

Willard Homewood is all these people — together with their combined reasons for choosing this neighborhood. What brought this diverse group of people to Willard Homewood?

a chance to participate

The Willard Homewood Organization is an elected resident advisory board, formed to provide community participation in the Minneapolis Housing and Redevelopment Authority's efforts in rehabilitation, conservation and development of the Willard Homewood neighborhood. The WHO was established in 1971 through the efforts of residents concerned with the deteriorating physical condition of the community.

WHO's first project was the development of a proposal for a program of loans and grants. On June 22, 1971, the City Council held a public meeting in the community to present the WHO proposal. Approximately 600 Willard Homewood residents attended the meeting to voice their support of the program.

Since that time WHO has continued to take an active role in the process of maintaining the character of the Willard Homewood area. One of the main obstacles inhibiting the rehabilitation process has been the periodic impounding of federal funds. The WHO has worked consistently to continue the flow of rehabilitation loans and grants into the area.

The WHO has worked closely with city officials on issues of zoning, traffic, and cleaning of streets and alleys to enhance the physical environment.

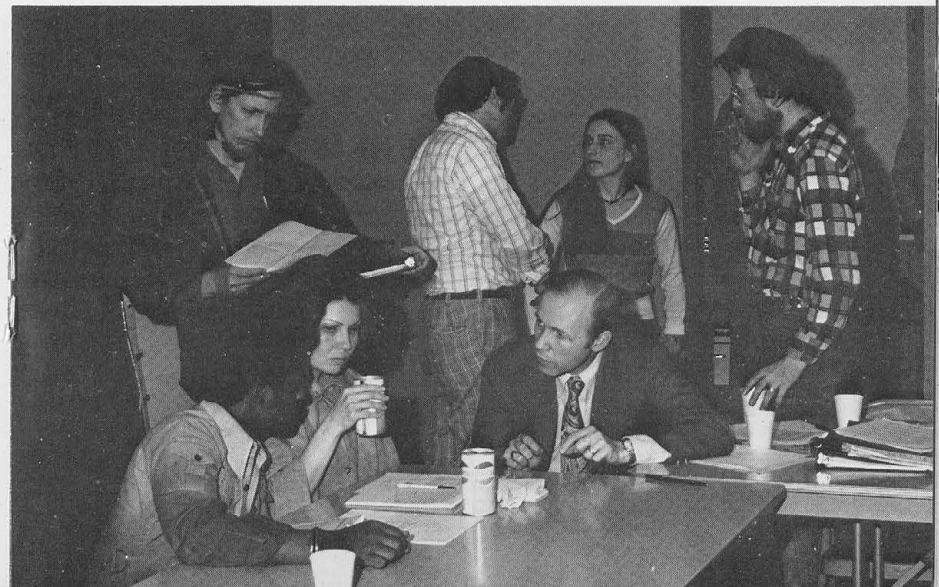

Part of Willard Homewood's persistence paid off when large amounts of Community Development Block Grant monies were allocated to this community. Willard Homewood is one of two neighborhoods in Minneapolis to receive CD funds for the purpose of major community rehabilitation. Now the WHO is working to see that the funds are spent in ways consistent with the philosophy of the residents.

The WHO meets on the first and third Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m. at 1800 Olson Highway. Much of the organization's business is conducted through its many active committees. The Vacant Housing Task Force, the Land Disposition Committee and the Marketing Committee are three groups which meet regularly and make recommendations to the board for approval.

On-going business of the organization is handled by two staff people. They can be reached at 348-6325 in the WHO office at 1800 Olson Highway. The WHO and its committees are always eager to welcome new residents to their meetings.

The WHO acts as the watchdog of the community, working closely with the MHRA and public officials to assure resident participation in decisions affecting the neighborhood. WHO feels that while the neighborhood is unique, the problems are not, and that success in dealing with the problems of the Willard Homewood area will be a favorable sign in the overall rehabilitation of the city.

lovely homes

Lovely homes on streets lined with graceful old trees are the symbol of Willard Homewood.

The homes in this community are full of house-hunters' treasures: oak staircases, hutches, woodwork, lovely fireplaces, stained glass windows and little nooks and crannies which are a decorator's dream. These make the homes very adaptable to renovation and well worth the effort.

An established neighborhood, Willard Homewood has experienced many changes over the last decade. It has perhaps been one of the most successful urban neighborhoods in the country in enlisting the cooperation of its residents to prevent neighborhood deterioration. An atmosphere of expectancy and enthusiasm surrounds the activity in the community.

When the Vacant Housing Task Force was formed several years ago, its members began to identify homes in the neighborhood which for one reason or another were vacant and susceptible to vandalism and deterioration. They succeeded in identifying 120 properties, approximately 58 of which will have been rehabilitated by the end of the summer of 76. The vehicles through which this rehabilitation takes place include MHRA's Urban Homestead and Homeownership programs.

Willard Homewood now has more Urban Homesteaders than any other single neighborhood in Minneapolis. Homesteaders lease a home for one dollar from the housing authority for two years while they complete required repairs to bring the house up to code. At the end of two years, when the work is complete, the homesteaders gain title to the home.

The exciting thing about programs such as Urban Homesteading is that they bring even more energetic, committed residents to the neighborhood, a goal of the Willard Homewood Organization.

Through the Homeownership Program, non-profit organizations purchase homes from the housing authority and resell them to eligible buyers at fair market value after thorough rehabilitation work has been completed.

In addition to programs which aim to "recycle" vacant dwellings, there are loan and grant programs through which the housing authority makes money available to residents of Willard Homewood for the purpose of rehabilitating their own homes. Grant guidelines are somewhat flexible, and people who do not qualify for grants can avail themselves of low-interest loans.

Homes which are beyond repair are occasionally torn down as a last alternative. These lots are resold through the housing authority to contractors or private owners for the construction of new homes.

It is becoming more and more difficult to pick out the homes in need of work, such is the progress of the Willard Homewood Organization, the Vacant Housing Task Force and the Minneapolis Housing and Redevelopment Authority. The community is an example of what can be done when a community group and public agency work together toward a common goal.

For more information on buying a home in Willard Homewood or MHRA programs, call 348-2511.

excellent schools

"This neighborhood has a fine educational system," observed Vivian Nelsen, an educational psychologist.

There are two elementary school districts in the neighborhood: Willard and Hay. Elementary school children in the Willard district attend the Willard School for kindergarten through third and Bremer School, on Lowry between Emerson and Fremont, for grades four through six.

Hay district children attend McKinley, Loring and Penn for the first three grades and Lincoln for the upper elementary grades.

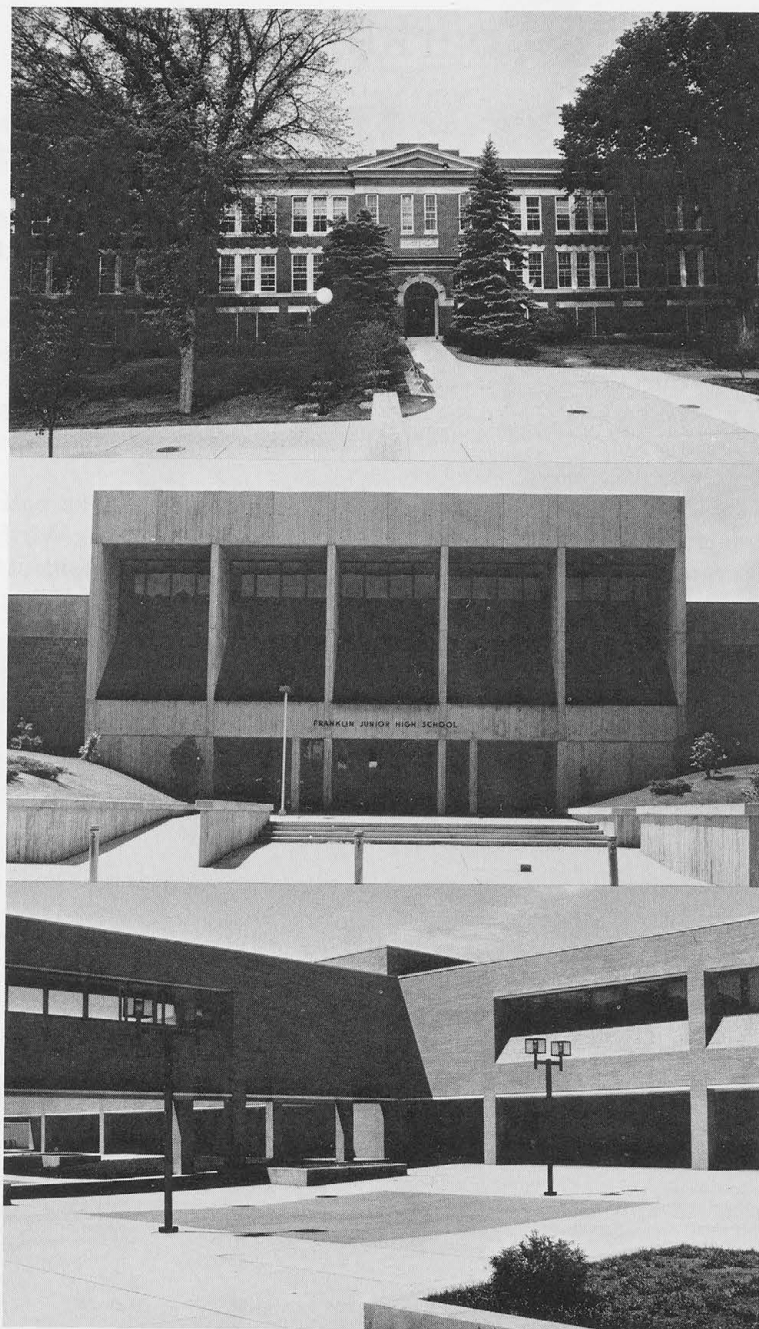

For children and parents desiring an alternative, students have the option to attend a modified open school at the Holland School or a continuous progress program at the Bethune School. These alternatives are widely used by Willard Homewood residents.

Junior high students attend Jordan and Franklin Junior High Schools and high school students attend the new North Community High School.

Children at the extreme eastern edge of Willard Homewood attend the new North Star Community School and Hawthorne Junior High for elementary and junior high but they, also, attend North High for the upper grades.

In addition to the many public schools serving the Willard Homewood community there is a wide variety of private and parochial schools for children of varying age levels.

George Roberts, who teaches at North High, believes in living in the neighborhood where he teaches. "I like to be involved. After all it is North 'Community' High School. And I like to meet my students in the supermarket."

beautiful parks

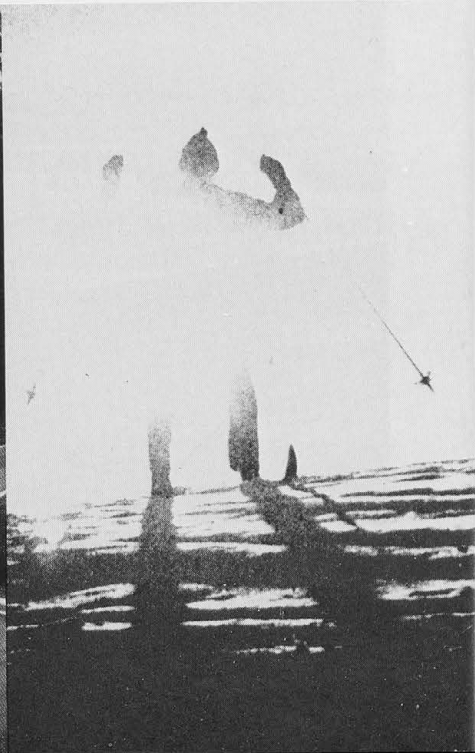

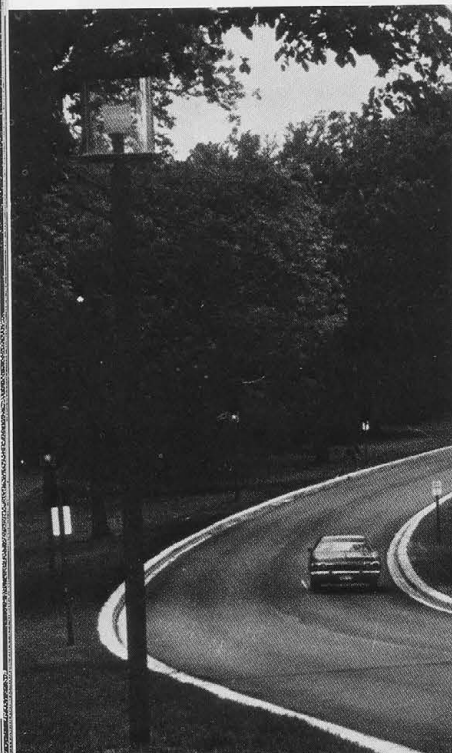

Topping everyone's list on the subject of leisure time is Theodore Wirth Park, which borders the Willard Homewood neighborhood on the west.

"We can put our canoe on top of the car and in five minutes be paddling away to our heart's content," noted George and Vivian Nelsen.

In addition to Wirth Lake for fishing and boating, Theodore Wirth offers the Eloise Butler Wildflower Garden, both educational and inspirational in its quiet beauty.

The park is known in the winter for its skiing, including a ski jump for downhill skiers, and sloping expanses for the cross country aficionado.

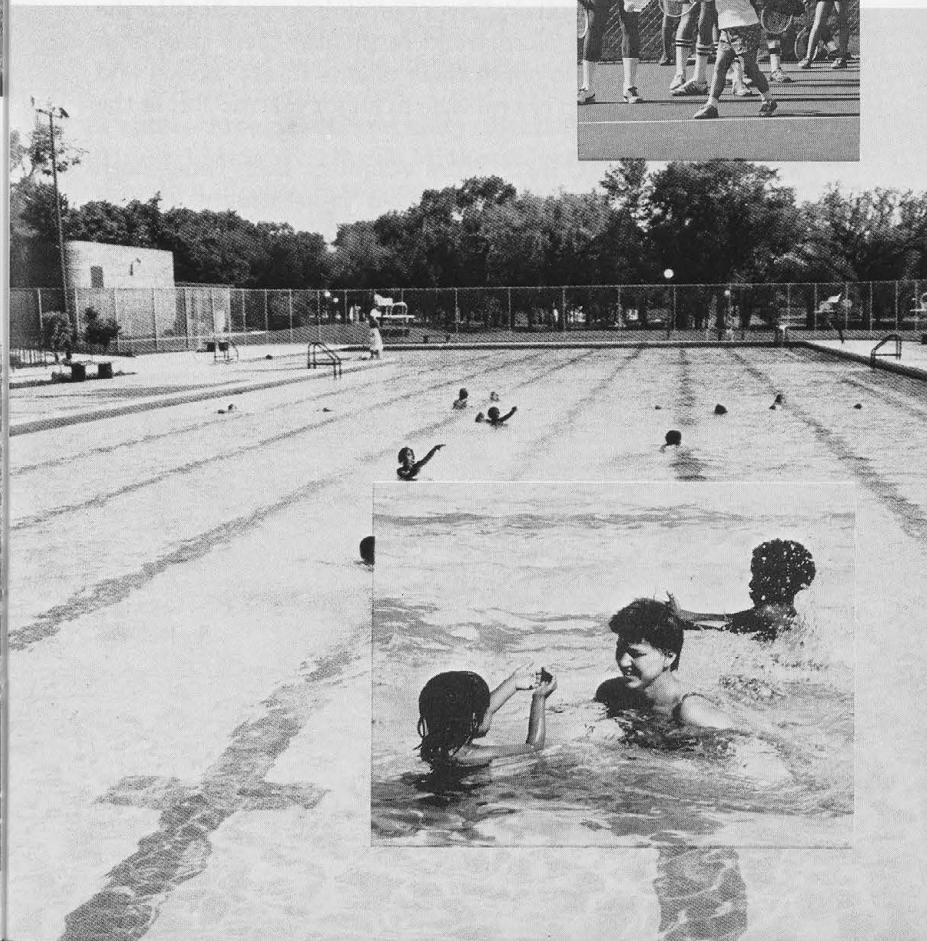

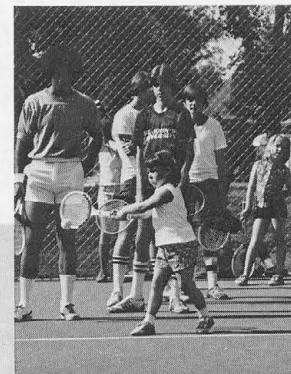

There are two golf courses, plus an exceptional bike path which runs throughout the park and along Theodore Wirth Parkway on a tree-lined route. Willard Homewood residents have only a short bike ride to the park where a day of picnicing, biking or what you will awaits them.

Located on the eastern edge of Willard Homewood is North Commons, a lovely park offering tennis, outdoor swimming, a wading pool for the little folks, and a new park facility complete with gymnasium and organized recreational programs.

For that last half hour of play before supper, Willard Homewood is sprinkled with neighborhood parks such as Farwell and Willard which offer swings, slides and other playground equipment for the little people.

leisure time activities

The new YMCA where Kitty Garnett is employed is at 1711 West Broadway, near North Commons Park. So, in addition to the park's recreational facilities, the Y offers varied classes on a quarterly basis and athletic facilities including a pool, exercise room and sauna.

Other recreational facilities within easy access to Willard Homewood residents include Jerry Gamble's Boys Club on North Irving; Phyllis Wheatley Community Center, Inc. on Fremont Avenue; Ruth Hawkins Center of the YWCA on James; and the Plymouth Christian Youth Center on North Oliver.

The Metropolitan Cultural Arts Center is a spot dear to the hearts of many Willard Homewood residents; there people of all ages come together to share their talents in art, music and drama. Free membership is available to all for instruction in the arts.

Most of the MCAC instructors volunteer their time. Both George Roberts and Cathy Christensen have taught classes there and both families use the resource widely.

community services

Willard Homewood has an abundance of community organizations serving the area. Pilot City Regional Center, on Penn and Plymouth, is a major facility offering social and health services to area residents.

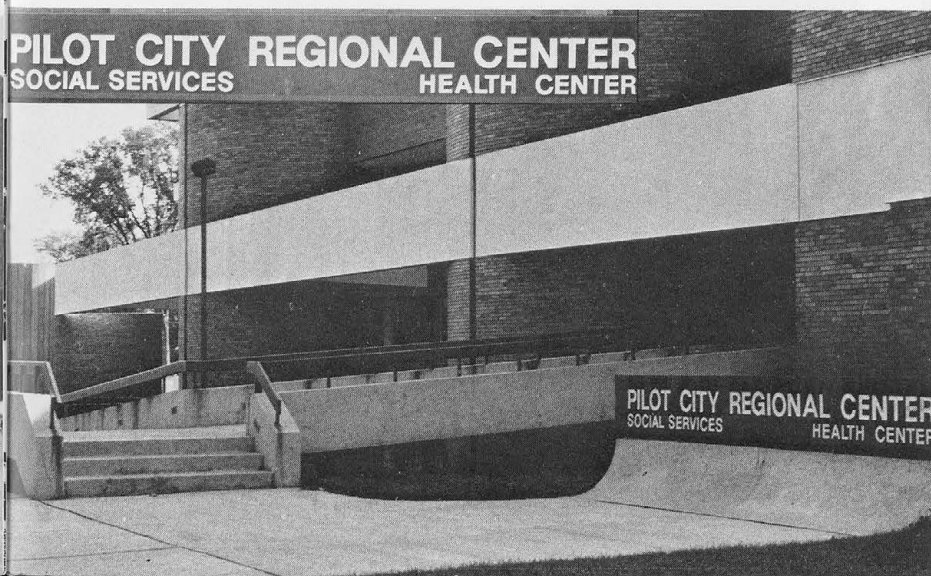

"I'm a block from Pilot City and when my kids were little, that was fantastic," said Cathy Christensen. "Somebody was always getting a cut. There was a broken arm, there was a this, there was a that."

"I could just grab their hand and run a block to the health center and they were taken care of and that was that."

In the area of child care, the Northside Childcare Resource Center and the Messiah Willard Day Care Center are only two of the services available in the area.

United Seniors Inc., Upper Midwest American Indian Center, Fremont Community Health Services, Minneapolis Urban League, Northside Minneapolis Association for Retarded Children, Unity Settlement, the New Way, and Emergency Food Shelf give one an idea of the diversity of services available to the neighborhood, although such a list is never inclusive of all.

Nearby Sumner and North Regional libraries service Willard Homewood area's reading needs.

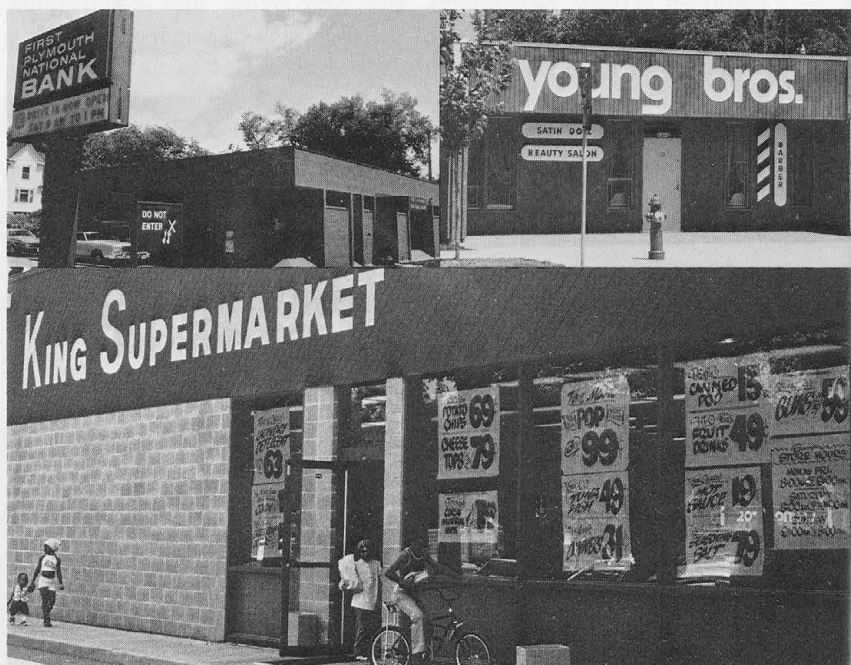

nearby shopping

In addition to their close proximity to both downtown Minneapolis and suburban shopping areas, Willard Homewood residents take advantage of the small shops located on Broadway.

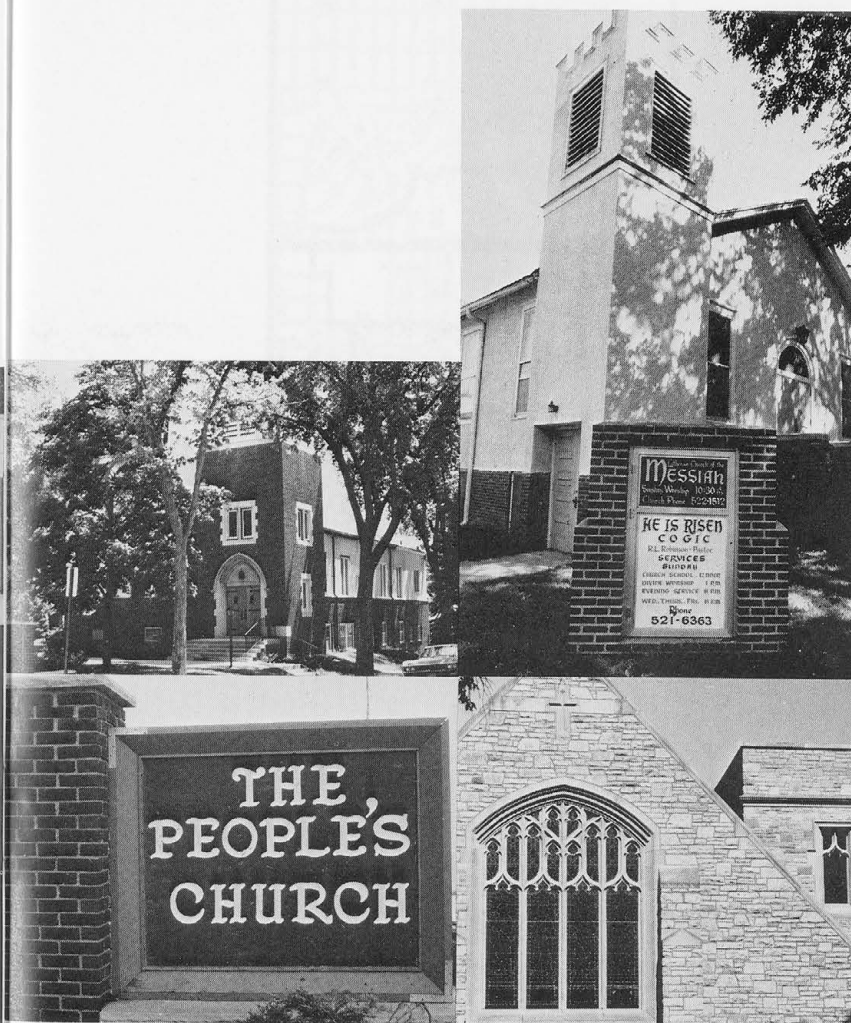

A new shopping center is also under construction which will add to the existing Plymouth Avenue Shopping district. This center will include grocery, liquor and hardware stores.

For groceries, a choice of three major stores right in the neighborhood makes shopping convenient. In addition, many residents are active in the Northside Food Community, a co-operative located on Broadway between Emerson and Fremont. The co-op offers an alternative food selection plus an opportunity to get involved in the store management.

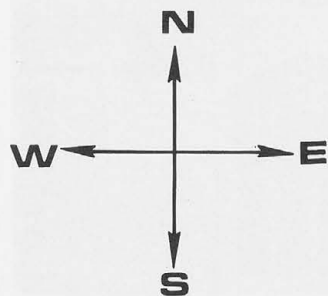

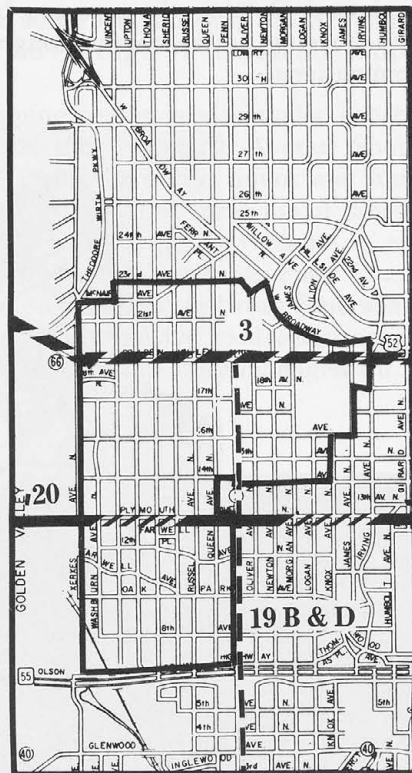

choice of churches

Willard Homewood has an extensive selection of churches from which to choose. Dotting the area are buildings of all sizes and shapes housing active church congregations of all faiths and denominations.

Prayer Breakfast

Thursday, April 3, 1980

Downtown Radisson Hotel

Minneapolis

WELCOME AND THANKS

You are welcomed to the 19th Minnesota Prayer Breakfast by the committee in charge. The event is planned and conducted by a committee of volunteer lay persons in the metro area representing a cross-section of community life and religious beliefs and practices. Most committee members rotate, but there is a small nucleus which gives the breakfast continuity. The chairmen alternate between Saint Paul and Minneapolis.

The Minnesota event was initiated in the 1960's, patterned after the National Prayer Breakfast in Washington D.C. Through the years more and more Minnesotans have participated. Unfortunately, for the past few years the capacity of breakfast accommodations has been sold out weeks ahead of the date, necessitating the turning down of hundreds of requests for reservations. The committee has considered but decided against moving the breakfast into larger civic facilities, because it is felt that some of the spirit of fellowship will be sacrificed.

The prayer breakfast is a non-profit project. The price of breakfast tickets has been held the same for many years, despite inflated actual costs of food and service. This is done to make it possible for more people to afford attending. Substantial costs for printing and mailing and other necessary expenses would create a deficit, but generous sponsors' contributions cover deficits. Overages of income are donated to appropriate causes of the speaker's choice each year.

International Platform Association

A Non-Profit Organization

(Founded by Daniel Webster & Josiah Holbrook in 1831 as The American Lyceum Association)

2564 Berkshire Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio 44106

WHAT IS THE INTERNATIONAL PLATFORM ASSOCIATION?

By Lowell Thomas (who was in his 10th term as IPA President when he died in 1981)

Fourteen U.S. Presidents starting with Theodore Roosevelt (who as one of the greatest orators in his day initiated this tradition) have belonged to the International Platform Association and among the many other great and varied personalities of the English speaking world, both living and dead who have been members and have participated in its activities are Winston Churchill, Mark Twain, Zbigniew Brzezinski, James Kilpatrick, Henry Kissinger, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, William Colby, Carl Sandburg, Bob Hope, Eric Sevareid, Barbara Walters, Leon Jaworski, Norman Lear, Glenn Seaborg, Senator Goldwater, Ralph Nader, Eliot Ness, Jack Anderson, Art Buchwald, Drew Pearson and a galaxy of others including many senators, ambassadors, columnists, writers, judges, stars of the entertainment and business world and most of the presidential candidates of both political parties in recent elections. A club's reputation is established by the stature of those who associate themselves with it. Please see the enclosed list of a few who have attended our meetings in recent years to share their thoughts.

Founded by Daniel Webster and Josiah Holbrook more than a century and a half ago as the American Lyceum Association, the IPA has always had our nation's leaders as members for the important reason that there is no one who cannot profit business-wise and pleasure-wise from the high level shoulder-to-shoulder contacts available to IPA members; friendships with men and women of unusual capacity that cut across professional lines. As the professional organization of the American Lecture Platform and of those interested in the rapidly increasing power of the spoken and written word on T.V., radio, and the platform, its membership includes the great speakers and writers, and our nation's leaders in business and politics and the professions.

The IPA Convention, strictly limited to members, is the great event of Washington's summer season. Here IPA members, all together for once for a few days in one hotel, make and reinforce friendships with our nation's most interesting fellowship while listening to the nation's top VIPs tell their fellow members the inside story on what is going on in the world. It is the year's high point for even the leading figures who attend. Featured at different IPA meetings in recent years have been Lyndon Johnson who entertained his fellow IPA members in the White House rose garden, Winston Churchill II who has twice invited his fellow IPA members to a personally conducted tour through the Churchill home at Chartwell; sculptor Henry Moore who invited us to his estate at Much Haddam outside London; Drew Pearson who gave a yearly banquet for members at his Maryland farm, and a sampling of some of the greatest names in recent American and English history.

Between conventions our "Talent" magazine, one of the most unusual publications in our nation, keeps our members in touch. Available only to IPA members (one cannot subscribe to it), it has the most distinguished roster of contributors of any magazine anywhere. A magazine is measured by the stature of those whose words appear between its covers. Recent issues of "Talent" magazine have featured contributions by Jack Anderson, Winston S. Churchill II, Eric Sevareid, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Eaton Corporation Chairman E. Mandell de Windt, Ron Nessen, Nobel Prize winner Glenn Seaborg, former Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, Secretary Joseph A. Califano, Jr., California's Howard Jarvis, Senator Proxmire, U.S. Senate Chaplain the Rev. Edward Elson (retired), Senator Henry Jackson, Gen. John Singlaub, Admiral Hyman Rickover, columnist James Kilpatrick, Dr. Michael DeBakey, Dr. Arthur B. Laffer, Bob Orben and others of equal stature.

On the theory that humor makes all our tasks and relationships flow more smoothly, we are sending all IPA members who are speakers a three months subscription to our nation's number one gag writer and one liner, Bob Orben's "Current Comedy," with the hope that it will amuse them and their friends as much as it has Bob Hope and our other great humorists who use it. Write "Orben" on your membership application and we will see that you get it. In the past few years platform speaking, because of rocketing lecture fees, has become the highest paid profession in the U.S. so if you prefer our brochure, "How To Get Started In Professional Public Speaking," write "Moore" on your membership application. Or you may request IPA Governor Bob Leiman's booklet, "Meeting Management and Parliamentary Horse Sense," by writing LEIMAN on your New Member card.

Neither Republican nor Democrat, liberal or conservative, the IPA works on the theory its unusual members can make their own decisions if they meet and hear and can question the top voices on both sides of the important issues of the day. IPA's influence stems from being the meeting place of those who have the ideas and those who have the power to do something about them. Its members are linked together by imagination and by the important and fruitful friendships made at our meetings and by their common interest in the power of the spoken word.

A non-profit corporation, the club's dues are not only deductible for those who use its contacts, but its members' prestige has caused certain large companies to grant them discounts on important consumer items. These discounts are not why members belong, but corporations like Hertz car rental, Marriott Hotels, Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. (hospital money plan), Durham Life Insurance Co. (life insurance), Insurance Company of North America (cancer expense plan), Baker Book House, The National Writers Club and others grant discounts which make the IPA one of the few clubs in which members, particularly if they travel, can actually end up with negative dues. For information on our discounts, write "Discounts" on your application card.

Any additional information concerning the IPA can be obtained from the Heights Chamber of Commerce (Cleveland and Shaker Heights), 2133 Campus Rd., Shaker Heights, OH 44122, and Gale's ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ASSOCIATIONS.

Maybe one of the speakers heard over the weekend will someday surpass the record take for a one-hour speech, set by actor Hal Holbrook, who once got $225,000 to do his "Mark Twain Tonight" in front of TV cameras. But even if they don't, most of these interesting and interested conventioners probably will be back next year for more of the same.

Orators Hall of Fame welcomes five new members

Who were the greatest speakers in modern history? The 152-year-old International Platform Association chose Daniel Webster, Abraham Lincoln, Winston Churchill, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Martin Luther King in a survey last year.

The Cleveland, Ohio-based National Association of Speakers, which is dedicated to effective use of the English language, has now chosen five other orators for inclusion in its Hall of Fame. It was a tight election with President Reagan and the late Eleanor Roosevelt losing out, along with other also-rans such as Henry Kissinger and the late Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir.

The orators chose, instead, John F. Kennedy, Adlai

Stevenson, former Israeli foreign minister Abba Eban (only living person selected), Gen. Douglas MacArthur and William Jennings Bryan.

Kennedy led the five who will be inducted in the Hall of Fame in Washington at the annual convention this month.

What made the five great orators? Says Glen Seaborg, the group's president: "Kennedy, MacArthur and Bryan were chosen primarily for the emotional impact of their speeches, while Stevenson and Eban were vividly remembered for the clarity and elegance of their orations."

P.S. Write-in votes were also registered for Oral Roberts, Hubert Humphrey and Adolf Hitler.

INTERNATIONAL PLATFORM ASSOCIATION

"There are many objects of great value to man which cannot be attained by unconnected individuals, but must be attained if at all, by association."

Daniel Webster

The Statesman orator who founded the American Platform and became the Grandfather of the nation's oldest professional association, the I.P.A.

History of the International Platform Association

Daniel Webster, the most famous orator in American history, Secretary of State under three presidents, the lawyer who changed American history by winning the famous Dartmouth College case, made his greatest contribution to America in 1826 during the presidency of John Quincy Adams. He helped found the first "Lyceum" in Milbury, Massachusetts and launched the most effective medium for influencing public opinion any nation has ever had, the tens of thousands of audiences in thousands of cities and towns that comprise the American Lecture Platform. It has never been as powerful as it is now and its influence is growing yearly.

Webster's idea spread so rapidly that five years later the AMERICAN LYCEUM ASSOCIATION (the first name of the International Platform Association) was formed under his aegis to unite the various units that had sprung up all over the nation.

The thousands of statesmen, politicians, and businessmen who have formulated U. S. public and private opinion over the last one hundred fifty years owe their influence and contribution largely to these audiences of millions of Americans that have, since 1826, been set up all over our nation eager and ready to hear them and be influenced by their theories and arguments.

The greatest single impetus to the growth of the "Lyceum" resulted from efforts to schedule an American lecture tour for Charles Dickens, the English author. His representative had contacted a Boston journalist, James Redpath, who established the first lecture bureau in America over one hundred years ago.

The first lecture bureau presented such speakers and concert artists as Mark Twain, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Julia Ward Howe, Josh Billings, Henry Ward Beecher, P. T. Barnum, and other leaders in the political, business, entertainment and concert fields of those days.

The International Lyceum Association, founded in September 1903, took over where the American Lyceum Association left off and in 1952 was reincorporated under its present name as THE INTERNATIONAL PLATFORM ASSOCIATION. It is the oldest international association in the United States, going back in its ancestry one hundred fifty-four years. It has always been the club and sounding board of those interested in the power of the spoken word and has had on its membership rolls an appreciable percentage of all the great names of our American heritage.

Those early guests plus later IPA members such as Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, Richard Nixon, William Howard Taft, Herbert Hoover, John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, William Jennings Bryan, Nelson Rockefeller, Carl Sandburg, Harry Truman, J. Edgar Hoover, Hugh Downs, Woodrow Wilson, "Dear Abby" Van Buren, David Brinkley, Victor Borge, Art Buchwald, Lowell Thomas, Calvin Coolidge, Henry Kissinger, Jack Valenti, Mario Cuomo, Barry Goldwater, Otto Preminger, Winston Churchill, Ralph Nader, Jack Anderson, Dr. Walter Alvarez, Averell Harriman, Gerald Ford, Hubert Humphrey, Art Linkletter, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Walter Lippman, Rex Harrison, Hal Holbrook, Drew Pearson (and a host of others in the fields of statesmanship, business, oratory, the theatre, the movies, and entertainment have bequeathed a portion of their greatness to their associates, living and dead, in what our members feel is the most interesting organization in our nation.

Fourteen U.S. Presidents have been IPA members, as have a good percentage of the most influential members of the U.S. Senate and many state governors, cabinet officers, and foreign ambassadors accredited to the United States who are on IPA rolls.

Each year hundreds of the top political figures and orators of our nation, the Platform people who belong to the IPA, appear before colleges, forums, school assemblies, conventions, concerts, executive and women's clubs, service clubs, and industrial association audiences. Anywhere and everywhere that audiences of any kind convene there are IPA members not only on the Platform but in the audience, functioning as program chairmen or just listening.

The late Lowell Thomas, former IPA President and Membership Chairman, for the last ten years of his life said, "No other medium can compare with the Platform."

One privilege of membership is the opportunity to attend the annual five-day assemblage in Washington, D.C. where the most outstanding personalities and programs seen anywhere in this country are presented in an atmosphere where, with only IPA members being admitted, an extraordinary volume of top level "off-the-record" conversation takes place. Here the top statesmen of both parties, time-honored orators, TV, radio, and newspaper personalities and celebrities from many fields find memories. Hopeful beginners find counsel and help and patrons and program chairmen find new talent and everyone finds enjoyment.

The top echelon of our nation in many different fields meet for five days of fun, recreation, fellowship and reunion, and genuine relaxation after a strenuous year. The workshops, previews, and programs elicit enduring friendships and lasting admiration one for the other.

THE INTERNATIONAL PLATFORM ASSOCIATION is not only the professional association of the American program chairman and of those who belong to organizations that put on programs for their members, but in fact of all persons interested or engaged in the lecture, concert, TV, radio, newspaper, and entertainment fields. It is the organization of those interested in the power of oratory and of the spoken word.

For over a hundred fifty years IPA membership has included many of the most distinguished men and women of our nation in every field. If one thing about the IPA can be pinpointed as most valuable to its unusual membership, it is the fruitful and lasting friendships developed at high level across ordinarily inaccessible professional and geographic boundaries.

Membership is limited to persons recommended for membership whose applications are approved by our Membership Committee and by our Board of Governors.

Any questions concerning IPA's status or reputation can be referred to the Heights Chamber of Commerce (Cleveland and Shaker Heights, Ohio) or Gale's Encyclopedia of Associations.
