

Cabell county primary critiques for Hunt

Hotel Frederick
Huntington, West Virginia
8 P.M.
March 23, 1960

*Bob Byrd
County Chr*
000687

Norman Rood - Chr (attly) Huntington Forum (Dinner)

I am delighted to be with you tonight, and to launch my campaign for your support at the Democratic National Convention.

*Bob Byrd
Jimmie Randolph*

I have, for reasons which you can all appreciate, had to choose carefully among the primaries open to me.
For anyone but a ~~millionaire~~ <sup>Rich man</sup>, aspiring to the Presidency of the United States is becoming more and more difficult.

Cong Hecker!

h Maybe the days of log-cabin to White House are over - but I still hope to prove that I can make it from a family drugstore.

L I have chosen to carry my campaign into West Virginia because it presents in sharp and dramatic

Wise Primary

Pat Hall

000688

Barboursville

Mr & Mrs Thompson

Milton, W. Va

000689

fashion the major failure of this Republican

Administration - the tragic waste of idle manpower and resources at the very period in history when we need the fullest possible production.

Waste neglect
Fear
Inaction!

I have no vast reserves of money to pour into this campaign. But I have, out of a lifetime's experience, a vast exposure to the problems which face you. I learned my brand of liberalism in the Dust Bowl and the depression - the school of hard times and hard knocks.

my liberalism
construction

I have travelled about this state, and enjoyed its rugged beauty and scenic grandeur. I have had the privilege of becoming acquainted with many of your citizens, descendants of our sturdiest pioneer stock.

000690

Yet, for all your richness in natural resources and in people, you are low man on the totem pole of this so-called <sup>prosperous</sup> affluent society. Too many of your coal mines are closed and silent. Too many of your <sup>workers</sup> miners are eating their hearts out in idleness.

Gas and oil have replaced coal in many industries.

Automation and technological progress have made it possible for one man today to mine five times as much coal as 70 years ago. The decline of this great industry has blighted your state's economy. Here are the figures.

The US Department of Labor listed 172 areas of chronic labor surplus in the United States in November, 1959. Of these 18 are in West Virginia.

Some 13% of the state's workers - 85,000 men and women - are unemployed. Here in Huntington, one man in every eight is looking for a job. Logan has 19%, Bluefield 21%, and Beckley 29% unemployed.

Yes, and there are counties where the figure reaches 40%.

Why is this? The decline of the coal industry is only part of the answer. A larger part lies in the shameful decline in our national concern for human values during these past seven years.

The days of the New Deal and the Fair Deal are past. To borrow a phrase from our teen-agers, what we have now is the Big Deal. If you're a Big Dealer, you can sit in the Cabinet or even play golf with the President at Augusta. If you work for a living - or, worse still, are seeking the opportunity to work for a living - you get the short end of the stick.

The small-minded men in Washington worship the Federal Budget like a new golden calf, and daily sacrifice the welfare of our people to it.

They see our agricultural abundance as "a problem of surplus", not an opportunity to help hungry people.

They even resent the stubborn tendency of our economy to grow! Whenever it shows signs of expanding at the old-fashioned Democratic rate of 5% a year, they get out the fire hose and damp it down with their tight-money, high-interest-rate policies.

Economic Expansion

✓

✓ We had a Marshall Plan to aid the war-stricken countries in Europe. I say to you that it's high time we had a Marshall Plan to aid our own people, right here in West Virginia.

The Marshall Plan depended for its success on two dynamic factors - bold and imaginative statesmanship in Washington and the readiness of the European leaders to pick up the ball and carry it through.

✓ We can put these same two factors to work for West Virginia. You have able Democratic candidates for the governorship. One of them will be sitting in the Governor's chair in Charleston next January. I am sure that one of his first actions will be to bring the leaders of business, labor, and agriculture together in conference to fashion a program for West Virginia's revival.

I'll do my level best to be on hand in the White House, ready and able to help. In fact, I've already been hard at work at what I call the eight-point
Humphrey Blueprint for Action. ||

1. First and foremost, I'm pushing for policies which will step up our economic growth from the GOP crawl of 2% a year to a dynamic Democratic thrust of 5%.

He Interest not

2. Second, I'm urging passage of the Area Redevelopment Act in this session of Congress. Both the House and the Senate passed such a bill in 1958, but the President vetoed it.

3. Third, I'm seeking the establishment of a Coal Research and Development Commission to seek new uses for your basic natural resource. This the President vetoed last year.

Your Senators

4. Fourth, we need a coordinated municipal, state, and Federal program to improve public facilities and highways, so that industry will be attracted here.

Hiway

5. Fifth, we need more effective legislation to direct Federal agencies, and particularly the Department of Defense, to channel government procurement into areas of chronic unemployment.

Dept Defense

Your able Senators, Robert Byrd and Jennings Randolph, and I are co-sponsors of a bill to establish a Senate Committee to study the impact of defense procurement on our national economy.

6. Sixth, we should have a Youth Conservation Corps, to give unemployed young people the opportunity for healthy and constructive work. I want to thank Senator Randolph for his fine work, both in committee and on the floor, in securing Senate approval for my bill on this subject.

7. Seventh, we should clear away the road-blocks between the abundance of our Midwestern farms and the hunger of so many West Virginia families - and particularly - the biggest roadblock of all, Ezra Taft Benson. Last year I pushed legislation through Congress authorizing Benson to establish a Food Stamp Plan. I find it really incredible that he has failed to do so. I have put in a bill this year directing the Government to act, and taking the program right out of Benson's hands to make sure than hungry people do get the feed.

8. Eighth, we should have a standby program of public works, to be triggered automatically any time an area or a community has unemployment in excess of 8% for 15 weeks or longer.

↳ We have the opportunity, with your help. to fashion a real working partnership between Charleston and Washington. We need in both capitals government with a head and a heart.

↳ I know the problems of your people. I know poverty and the soul-destroying ordeal of unemployment. These are lessons which only experience can teach. It is time we had in the high places of government men who have had this experience and have not forgotten it.

000698

-11-

###

Minnesota Historical Society

Copyright in this digital version belongs to the Minnesota Historical Society and its content may not be copied without the copyright holder's express written permission. Users may print, download, link to, or email content, however, for individual use.

To request permission for commercial or educational use, please contact the Minnesota Historical Society.

www.mnhs.org