Bias Major Cause For Complaints, Says FEPC

168 cases were recorded at the end of 1958 by the City of St. Paul Fair Employment Practice Commission, according to its 1958 Annual Report recently issued. 77% of the 34 new cases received during 1958 were from applicants seeking hire, or employees who had been terminated. The factor of race continued to be the basis of most complaints, as in previous years. As compared with previous years, there was an increase in the percentage of 1958 cases containing signed, written complaints. A noticeable decline appeared in the number of cases involving application form items and news ads. Of the 1958 cases, 59% involved private employers, 35% government, and 6% employment agencies, with none registered against labor unions. 29% of the cases closed during the year were done so on the basis of satisfactory conciliation.

The Report cited employment as a basic need of all individuals, the lack of which hinders the "development and cultural attainment" of the entire community, and also renders its

PLAT PLAN FOR STREETS OK'D BY CITY COUNCIL

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Coleman, 183 W. Central Ave., St. Paul, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Miller, 73 W. Nebraska, recently submitted to the city council a proposal on the property they own on the east side of Wheelock and south of Hoyt to replat the area from many small lots into 16 larger tracts which would be laid out to fit the contour of the land. The proposal has been okayed by the council.

Before this proposal was submitted that council had granted vacation of streets and alleys in the area to permit such replating when owners made the request. The land in question included the north 25 feet of Nebraska between Wheelock and Farrington, and of Hoyt from Wheelock to Matilda, including the alleys.

The tract of land is said to be so situated as to give a panoramic view of the city of St. Paul and is considered a choice property. In 1957 steps were taken to have the city create a look-out point on the property, but the move failed. May 15 of this year, residents in the area petitioned the city to create a park, but this was also denied.

According to reports, when the council approval is official the owners of the property plan to build homes or sell tracts for that purpose.

By Mary J. Kyle

Just wondering: Do we have an anti-loitering law in Minneapolis and, if so, why isn't it enforced? Or is it intended only for the majority group while minority group violations are tolerated or completely overlooked? . . . Who gives the orders to patrolmen manning the squad cars on what to do and how to do it—the ward alderman or the precinct captain, and how much authority do these patrolmen have "on their own"? Must the precinct captains and sergeants wait for the "go-ahead" from downtown before ordering arrests? . . . Where does an alderman fit in to the picture in police affairs if politics is supposedly divorced from the department? If his "yea" or "nay" is as effective as claimed, how can the police function in a protective capacity when needed? . . . Why bother to go through the gestures of enforcing the law without actually accomplishing that end? One reader posed this puzzle: "Is some special-interest group putting on pressure and calling the turn in a certain area of the city?" When "Joe Citizen" seeks police aid why is he treated like a crank or crack-pot, while the perpetrators of late-night disturbances are handled with kid gloves? . . . Since an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, why not destroy the seeds of potential violence before they flower into crime? . . . If you're wondering what this is all about, drive down a certain south-side street late on a Saturday night. You'd ask questions, too, if you knew the neighbors had sought police relief from the nuisance with very poor results. As one put it: "How so many squads can answer so many calls in so many hours and still do so little to correct the situation is beyond me." . . . Perhaps city hall has all the answers. I'm just wondering!

Entered as second class matter October 11, 1945, at the post office at St. Paul 1, Minnesota, under the act of March 3, 1879.

THE RESULTS of Tuesday's general election in Minneapolis were decisive in some cases, less so in others, and will, of course, inspire a number of varying reactions.

Primary interest was in the mayoralty race, one that created the most interest in a generally dull campaign, and the reelection of Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson was no surprise. The size of his majority may have been a little larger than anticipated, because his opponent, Gerald Dillon, with DFL and Organized Labor support, waged a solid, hard-hitting campaign that could have brought him more votes, in the opinion of some political observers.

Most of the aldermanic races were as expected, with the incumbents winning re-election without too much trouble. The only upset of an incumbent occurred in the 13th ward, where Alderman Stewart was defeated. In the Fifth ward, a former alderman, Jerry Egan made quit an effort to oust the man who replaced him two years ago, but missed in an exciting contest.

The Conservatives on the Council picked up a seat in the Second ward, where Mr. Rose, with DFL and Labor support, was beaten by Mr. Pomeroy, who generally was regarded as the Conservative candidate with Republican organization support. The Liberals still have a majority on the Council, however.

Naturally, most readers of this newspaper regret greatly the defeat of Municipal Judge Bennett in his bid for re-election. Judge Bennett, a Governor Freeman appointee, was the first Negro to be appointed to the municipal bench in Minneapolis, and certainly his record on the bench was such that his reelection should have come as a matter of course.

It is a pity that partisan politics, as well as other unworthy factors, should become a factor in selection of a Judge.

SIGNS ALREADY ARE APPARENT, and soon it may become a certainty that the month-old foreign minister's meeting in Geneva will turn out to be merely another in the long series of incidents revealing Soviet Russia's lack of good faith in anything it proposes.

The foreign ministers' meeting, you probably recall, was supposed to be the prelude to a "summit" conference between Russia and the three big Western powers a conference that Russians earlier had indicated they desired greatly and sincerely.

The meeting of the foreign ministers was to reach a settlement on Berlin, and here again the Soviet leaders had indicated they were prepared to retreat from their earlier ultimatum that the Allies get out of Berlin completely — or else.

Well, the West is always willing to meet and to talk in an effort to settle disputes in a peaceful manner, but there must have been considerable skepticism in London and Paris as well as Washington as to just how sincere the Soviet leaders were.

And that skepticism has been justified. The Soviets haven't had any discernible change of heart. There is still the threat, the show of strength, the unwillingness to reason.

And so last Monday, the Western Big Three handed Russia's Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko the ultimatum:

Unless Russia stops stalling on Berlin, unless the Soviets abandon their determination to undercut Western rights in Berlin, the present Big Four talks will be broken off without any hope of a "summit" conference.

The Western foreign ministers have been patient and long-suffering. They have listened to triads and abuse and sought in vain for some reasonable area of agreement. Well, 30 days is long enough to permit the Soviet propagandists to use the Geneva conference as a sounding-board for their boasts and threats.

It is time for the Soviets to get down to brass tacks or call the whole thing off. Just who do these Russian rulers think they are anyhow — telling anyone to get out of West Berlin?

How many votes were cast against Judge Bennett because he is a Negro — and how many organizations worked against him because he was an appointee of a DFL governor? Those are questions that cannot be answered now, but they may arise to become issues in future elections when the vote can be so close that even the majority of a minority group can tip the balance either way.

NORMAN-MOSS
NUPTIALS AT SAINT
THOMAS CHURCH

The Rev. Louis W. Johnson vicar of St. Thomas Episcopal church, performed the single-ring ceremony Sunday morning before the church altar, uniting Miss Catherine Norman and Mr. Harvey A. Moss in the bonds of matrimony in the presence of nearly 200 persons.

effect on the entire public welfare. Tribute was also paid to the community for its recognition and acceptance of fair employment as a legitimate public standard to be expressed and enforced.

The Report emphasized the value of the education function, but recognized that . . . "the power of enforcement is necessary, and itself a deterrent to many who would otherwise discriminate . . . a potential respondent is more prone to accede to education if the alternative might be involvement in enforcement matters."

The beneficial effects of the "commission" approach was cited. In reference to its case experiences, the Commission cited the strict observance it pays to the rights of all parties concerned. It also noted the value of its conciliatory powers by the many settlements which had been reached by such process.

IN THE NEWSBY ESTYR BRADLEY PEAKE

Over the past week-end about half of the 1959 graduating class from the high schools dropped by to give me their pictures and tell me of their school life the past four years, their hopes and ambitions for the future . . . It was a real thrill to look in the faces of all those "older" teens most of whom seem to know in which direction they want to go. Nearly all of them have plans for a higher education and seem to realize that education and training are vital factors in the world today. Practically all of them already had jobs for the summer with plans to save money for college. . . Bertha Strowder is receiving congratulations on all sides for landing a $2400 plus $125 scholarship at Macalester College—came from being an excellent student. . . Looking forward to a music career is Marcelene Henderson who has certainly been outstanding in that field in the Twin Cities . . . Paul Hailey has also done some excellent work in the music department at Central High . . . Diane Moore graduated from Our Lady of Peace High School (her picture will appear nextweek) . . . There were over fifty graduates from the St. Paul High Schools and five from the University of Minnesota. . . In addition to their school work, many of our graduates have taken a vital part in church and civic work. Martin Weddington Jr. has received plaudits all through the year for his outstanding contributions to the youth population of St. Paul. He is president of the Baptist Youth Fellowship and his hobbies are different than most in his age category—he likes small game hunting and fishing . . . Elaine Montague is accompanist for the Young Women's Choral Group at Pilgrim, belongs to the Senior Choir and is active in the Youth Department of the NAACP . . . Martine Anderson received a scholarship for four years to St. Francis Academy High School in Baltimore but could only go one year because of ill health. She is also active in youth activities at Hallie . . . Teresa Combs plays the piano, does art work, beauty work and sews . . . Antoinette Pertee sings in St. Peter Claver's Choir and belonged to seven different clubs at Central . . . Charlotte Smith is president of Y-teens at Hallie and is quite excited about her forthcoming debut . . . David McAdams had quite a music and art career at Central. He is a member of the First Christian Science Church and belongs to the Monitor Jr. Forum along with the Elk Drum and Bugle Corps, NAACP, and the U.S. Marine Corps Air Reserve . . . Leonard L. Davis Jr., sang with Central's "A" Choir, was in both the Junior and Senior class plays, active in a number of other organizations and still held a part-time job and banked all his money for his college education . . . Paul Allen Hailey was also in the Centennial Operetta 13 Clocks and was a King candidate on Snow Day at Central and had the lead in the senior class play and operetta . . . CONGRATULATIONS and my very best wishes to all of you! I sincerely wish that space would permit me to mention more. If you didn't get over with your picture and you still want it in, drop by sometime before next Monday. Hope to see a lot of you four years from now when you bring in your college graduation pictures.

A note and a check from Mrs. Harold K. Howland, San Diego, Calif., renews her subscription for another two years. Lillian informs with sadness that their pet dog, "Moose" was killed several weeks ago. I know how sad the Howlands must be because Moose brought quite a bit of pleasure to them. The Howlands are looking forward to an August vacation. Harold will be teaching summer school at one of the newest high schools of San Diego, Lincoln, during June, July and the first week in August. They enjoy the column and want to be remembered to the St. Paul and Minneapolis friends they miss very much. Lillian believes in our slogan—"others may imitate, but not duplicate."

A drive will begin within the next few weeks to raise money to pay our pledge to the Builders of Christ. "Give a ready ear and an open purse to members of the committee

The only requirement is to pay $1.00 each week into the Building Fund until your quota of $80.00 is paid in full. Vacation time is near and remember to send your envelopes to church before you go because the monthly expenses go on just the same.

Prayers were said in church for the repose of the soul of long-time member Oliver Taylor, 671 W. Central ave., who died June 7 at Ancker hospital. An abundance of good fellowship awaits visitors to St. Philip's . . . Estyr Peake, rep.

ANDERSON-PETERSON NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED

A double-ring ceremony performed at Zion Baptist church Saturday evening at 8 o'clock united in marriage Penny Gladys Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Anderson, 4220 Oakland Ave. S., and Mr. Gerald Ray Peterson, son of Mrs. Marlowe Peterson, 5214 Hampshire Ave. N., in the presence of 200 guests.

Reading the marriage vows for the couple were the Rev. Stanley R. King of Sabathani Baptist church, and the Rev. Henry W. Botts, Sr., pastor of Zion.

Carrying out the motif of a "frosting wedding," the bride wore a full length gown of white nylon tulle over pink taffeta, fashioned with full skirt, boat neckline, and wrist-length sleeves of nylon lace. Her finger-tail veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and pink-tinted orange blossoms. Pink satin slippers accented her costume with pearl earrings as her only jewelry. She carried a bouquet of pink orchids on a white bible.

Maid of honor, Miss Connie McCoy, wore a ballerina length bouffant gown of white flocked nylon over pink taffeta. Her headpiece was a crown of white seed pearls and tulle veiling to match the gown. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Peterson, sister of the groom, Miss Norma Anderson, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Green. All wore bouffant, ballerina-length gowns of white nylon over blue taffeta with matching headpieces.

Albert Wallace, Jr. was the ring bearer, with little Kathy Allen, cousin of the bride, as flower girl. Kathy wore a full length gown of egg-shell taffeta fashioned in tiers. The flower girl's dress was designed and made by the bride, an accomplished seamstress, who also created the headpieces for her attendants.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Albert Allen, Sr. James E. Peterson, brother of the groom, was the best man. Ushers were Billy Douglas, Albert Wallace, Sr., and Allen Clark.

For the occasion Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, chose a gown of pink crystal-lette with clear lucite slippers as an accent. Mrs. Peterson, mother of the groom, was gowned in French blue. Both wore corsages of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Playing the nuptial music and wedding march at the organ was Miss Rita Dahlmeier of Jasper, Minn. Although only 12 years of age, Miss Dahlmeier is an accomplished organist. Her mother, Mrs. Glenn Dahlmeier, also came for the wedding.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors where pink and white color scheme was carried out in table appointments, decorations and floral arrangements. The five-tier wedding cake was frosted in pink and white, with pink candles in crystal holders and crystal punch bowl to accent the setting.

Nat'l. Alliance Postal Employees News

The North Star Branch of the National Alliance of Postal Employees will hold its next regular monthly social meeting, Saturday, June 13, at 8 p.m. at 800 W. Central ave. All postal employees are invited to attend and to bring their wives and sweethearts. Refreshments will be served.

A delegate will be elected at this meeting to the National convention which will be held in Atlantic City August 18-21. To those members who did not attend last month's meeting, we think they missed one of the very best social programs. At that meeting Mr. John H. Herriford gave a book review on Part II of the "Black Bourgeoisie" by E. Franklin Frazier. It was most interesting.

ST. PAUL LUTHERAN

REV. CARL C. SUNWALL
981 Marshall St. Paul
MI 6-0756

The topic for Pastor Sunwall's sermon last Sunday was, "There Must Be a First Love". The sermon lesson was taken from the Gospel of Luke 14-25 ff. He reminded us that when Christ is our First Love we render our service to Him and to our fellowmen because we want to, not because we must. It is then a service of love.

1 — When Christ is our First Love we want to go to church on the Lord's Day. 2 — When Christ is our First Love we want to share our money, and time for the advancement of the Kingdom. 3 — When Christ is our First Love we are concerned about the children and youth in the church and the community. There are opportunities for the children and youth in this church and the surrounding community to spend some of their vacation days, worshipping, singing and learning about Jesus. In order for the church to carry on such a program material, equipment, and teachers are needed. Jesus said, according to Gospel of Matthew 9-37&38, "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; pray therefore the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest."

We are happy to announce that Vacation Bible School will be conducted every day, Monday through Friday, for a period of two weeks, June 15th to including the 26th. The children of St. Paul Church and also other children of the community are invited to attend.

Because of lack of space and facilities we have to limit our enrollment to children who are Kindergarten age and up. If you are interested please call the church office, MI 6-0756. The office is open every day from Monday through Friday at 9:00 A. M.

During the summer months

Sunday School and Worship services are conducted at the same hour, 9:30 A.M.

Reverend
M. J. HENDRIETH
619 Fremont Av. N.
Minneapolis
FR 4-4711

Sunday morning the parishoners were surprised when they walked into an air-conditioned church. The committee worked hard to create a comfortable atmosphere for the worshippers. Fans were improvised to keep everybody cool.

The choir marched to the altar for the Consolation Prayer while Mrs. Lucille Ray played the processional.

Rev. Hendrieth preached a fine sermon packed with information and inspiration. He used for a theme "Abide in the Ship," which he drew from Paul the Christian preacher who sailed with other prisoners to Rome. He said unless you abide in the ship you shall be lost.

In the evening our churchmen sponsored a beautiful worship service. Rev. Cassius and his choir were our guests at this service. The minister preached a challenging sermon. His choir lifted our souls with their fine singing.

Our Sunday School was well attended and the lesson was dramatized by the teachers. King Ahab, his wife, Jezebel, Naboth and Elijah the prophet of God, were the leading characters. The youngsters were thrilled with this unique method of teaching. Even the adults were inspired.

Mrs. Tessie Morrow is doing a fine job playing the piano for the Sunday School.

We always make our visitors welcome at Wayman.

ZION BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. H. W. Botts, Sr. delivered an inspiring sermon Sunday, taking his text from Psalms 129. Mrs. L. C. Harris, Miss Grace Huff and Mrs. Inetha Adams united with the church by Christian Experience. Fellowshiping of new members and Holy Communion followed the morning worship.

The Gospel Chorus and the choirs were in charge of music. Rev. E. Henderson brought the evening message from Romans 1:17, "The Just Shall live By Faith." Mr. W. B. Hale and choir was in charge of music for the evening, with Miss Ann Blevings at the piano. Among the many visitors were Mrs. Dorothy Tucker of Topeka, Kans., sister of Mr. W.

C. Lewis, and Mrs. Mattie B. Jackson of Los Angeles. We welcome all visitors to Zion and invite them to come again. The oratorical shower at Zion Thursday evening was wonderful. Eight ministers were represented. Our pastor's wife was chairman.

Mrs. Gertrude John, 5111 Irving Ave. N., returned home Saturday from Mansville, La. where she went to attend the funeral of her uncle. The church extends deepest sympathy to the following families; Mrs. Lucille Shaw and family in the loss of her sister; Mrs. Alma Freeman and family in the loss of her son.

COLUMN

IT NEVER OCCURS, I SUPPOSE, to the busy people who travel the length and breadth of St. Paul's St. Anthony ave. that they are trampling on as historic an old trail as you can come by in Minnesota.

In the roar of traffic and the growling of motors, none can hear, probably, the echoes of the ear-grating roll of the Red river oxcarts as they plowed through axle-deep mud. And who, blinded by red and green traffic lights, can visualize the gay costumes and rakish air of the half-breed drivers who led the carts in sixes and eights up old St. Anthony?

Nor have many got time these days to note, as they drive, the site of the old Desnoyer Park inn or understand that four old buildings on the Concordia college campus—those backing on St. Anthony—date back to 1868 and were part of the view for those who rode the old wagons down St. Anthony. Only, then the buildings housed the State Reform school, a house of refuge, it was called.

St. Anthony is all of these things, as it runs five miles from the banks of the Mississippi on the west to Rice st. Though certainly not one of the city's "show" streets now, not even vain, old Summit can boast such heritage.

St. Anthony (named because it connected St. Anthony village to St. Paul) was the famed and romantic Red River trail as it entered St. Paul from the Northwest, shooting with remarkably few angles into the downtown district where, at the platforms of the fur trading posts, the contents of the oxcarts were dumped for barter and sale.

The Red River trail—from 1844 to the late 1860s the main artery of commerce

SO YOU DRIVE down Main st. SE. to Sixth ave. SE., then up to University and cross the University of Minnesota campus, where all traces of the old Oxcart trail have been wiped clean by student feet and planning engineers.

The old trail picks up again on the E. River road, across Franklin ave., down river to the Short Line bridge, under and a swing into St. Anthony ave. This is where the famous section begins in St. Paul.

Here you could stand and listen for the squeak of the oxcarts in the distance, the sound carrying from about where the Franklin ave.

SOMEWHERE AMONG those weeds stood the old Baker place—built by Judge A. D. J. Baker. His was a roomy farm house, shaded by the same elms which still stand along the street. And which should help focus your imagination on how it was 100 years ago. The spot is on St. Anthony and Clifford.

Here it was that the children stood and waited for the oxcarts to pass, or halt, the lure of waiting being a chance to sample big cakes of maple sugar, carried from the north country, along with the furs.

In later years the women and children, who rode the covered wagons coming up from the south, were given special lodgings for the night at the Baker home, while the men stayed at that mecca of dubious distinction, the half-way house between St. Paul and Minneapolis — Stephen Desnoyer's inn. It was a fab-

SOME YEARS AFTER the oxcarts faded into the pages of history, and the railroad came, two commuter-type depots were built on either side of the tracks, not far from the Pelham overpass.

It was in one of these stations that two women, Miss Mary Cheney, first director of the art school in connection with the Minneapolis Art institute, and Miss Jessie Whitman, a school teacher, established a Sunday school for children of all creeds. They flocked there each Sabbath from throughout the Desnoyer Park district.

So you go on down St. Anthony, across Cleveland, Fairview and Snelling. And in the place where the Montgomery Ward parking lot now sprawls was the stable of the famous Norman Kittson, fur trader, whose lifeline was the Red River trail. And here also the oxcart drivers camped after their long ride.

Nearby, behind Corning-Donohue Co., was the old Kittson Driving Track.

Now eyes right for a view of Concordia college. Those four buildings, clustered along St. Anthony and just to the rear are original reform school structures, built in 1868.

This was presided over by J. G. Riheldaffer, who employed amazingly modern theories in moulding good citizens out of wayward youth. But it was more a school than a reformatory, with its population of 128 boys and 14 girls. The main buildings are now occupied by women at Concordia. And the old cookhouse is now a men's dormitory.

Though the reform school built pridefully by Mr. Riheldaffer has long since become a memory, remnants of its grandeur keep turning up. Dr. William Poehler, now president of Concordia, says that a few years ago during some basement remodeling in one of the main buildings, workmen uncovered deep cellar-like vaults which the students immediately decided had once been dungeons, but which more likely were cisterns, says Dr. Poehler.

And the ear-drumming squeal was a signal to tap the kegs and line up the mugs on the bar of the Desnoyer inn. But we haven't quite got to that place yet.

We're driving up the long grade now, the Milwaukee tracks slicing through the deep man-made ravine to the left. Those tracks weren't there in the long ago when the carts creaked.

The site of the inn, with its frontier false front and porch overhang, has been lost in recent land grading. But if you want to mark it in your mind today, slow down just after crossing Pelham Blvd. and look to the right.

That spot, between Glendale ave. and the alley behind it, is where the Desnoyer inn stood, in the shade of a basswood tree.

When you leave Concordia, the ride the rest of the way down St. Anthony is uneventful — historically — except for the brief section between Western and Rice, recently stripped of housing. That pastoral few blocks, with its old trees and vacant land, probably is as real a picture of how it must have looked 100 years ago from the back of an oxcart.

To adhere strictly to the old Red River trail route, you would find your way to the Cathedral now, then down Kellogg (old Third street) and through the Loop to Jackson and Kellogg where the fur houses stood.

USEFUL DATA

WEATHER—

Both Europe and Africa enjoy a pleasant climate in September and October.

CLOTHES—

A top coat, a suit to wear and one to carry, a minimum amount of light weight washables, two pairs of comfortable walking shoes.

TRAVEL DOCUMENTS—

All passengers must be in possession of a valid passport, properly visaed for entry into Nigeria, Ghana, Liberia and Senegal. Steps should be taken to secure these immediately.

A yellow fever and smallpox inoculation certificate not more than three years old on the prescribed health form are essential requirements. Recommended but not required are inoculations for typhoid, tetanus and cholera.

CURRENCY—

We recommend American Express Travelers cheques as they are easily negotiable.

RESERVATIONS:

Early registrations are a definite must as Nigeria space is limited and the demand for it is great. Reservations will be on a first come, first served basis.

A deposit of $100.00 per person at the time of booking is required. The balance of the payment is due six weeks before departure. Passengers who desire may use our convenient Go Now—Pay Later Plan, and the deposit can serve as your down payment, with up to 20 months to repay the balance. Refunds of deposits will be made up to 6 weeks prior to departure date. All cancellations afterwards will be subject to expenses incurred in effecting cancellation.

This tour takes us into three of Europe's most interesting and delightful capital cities before exploring the cultures of ancient and modern Africa. The gay cosmopolitanism of London, Paris and Rome will delight us, just as the vast, constantly changing panorama of Africa will enchant us. The Dark Continent is now a land of enlightenment, progress and modern achievement. Africa—the ancient past—the new tomorrow.

We shall see history being recorded as the Independence of Nigeria unfolds, still this tour will be at the same time a never-to-be-forgotten holiday and adventure.

LEONTYNE PRICE

SOPRANO

Leontyne Price, born in Laurel, Mississippi in 1933, received her first musical training as a pianist. Though she sang in the church choir, her early ambition was to become a teacher of music in the public schools. With this in mind, her parents sent her to Central State College in Wilberforce, Ohio. There, Charles Wesley, the College's President, urged Miss Price to cultivate the voice she was discovered to have while singing in the College Glee Club.

Following the soprano's graduation from college, Mrs. Alexander Chisholm, member of a prominent Laurel, Mississippi family and wife of a local banker, made it possible for her to accept a scholarship offered by the Juilliard School of Music. Miss Price's warmest tributes of appreciation are paid to these two benefactors—Charles Wesley and Mrs. Chisholm, as well as to Florence Page Kimball, her teacher of singing since the beginning of her professional training at Juilliard.

Leontyne Price's achievements are impressive, including coast-to-coast concert tours since 1954 and star roles with the world's leading opera companies. Of her sensational Metropolitan Opera debut in January of this year one critic stated, "Her debut as Leonora in 'Il Trovatore' not only vitalized the Metropolitan's 76th season, but also qualified as one of the big nights in the annals of the Opera House."

In 1952 while singing Bess in "Porgy and Bess" she married her Porgy, the famous baritone, William Warfield. Their home is a charming little house in Greenwich Village, New York City.

PROGRAM

I.

- Thanks Be to Thee.....George Frederick Händel
Bel piacere, from "Agrippina".....George Frederick Händel
Every pleasure in full measure true love imparts—it rejoices all our hearts.
Aria—V'adoro, pupille, from "Julius Caesar".....George Frederick Händel
In this beautiful aria from the second act of the opera, Cleopatra sings an ardent confession of her love for Caesar:
I adore you, darts of love, whose every spark warms my heart. Pitifully oppressed, my heart longs, as the lover has always yearned for the beloved.

II.

- An die Leier (To the Lyre).....Franz Schubert
I would sing of Atreus' sons and Cadmus, but my lute will only sing of love. So, farewell, ye heroes of whom I would sing, for my lute will sing only of love.
Liebe schwärmt auf allen Wegen (True Love).....Franz Schubert
Fickle love will always meet you, true love has its secret shrine. Fickle love is swift to greet you. Seek true love and make it thine.
Nacht und Träume (Night and Dreams).....Franz Schubert
The night descends, bringing dreams that soothe to rest the aching heart. Descend again, oh holy night, and bring us dreams that have no ending.
Liebesbotschaft (Love's Message).....Franz Schubert
Murmuring brooklet, hasten to my beloved, take her my greetings and bring her sweet dreams as she sleeps.
Die Allmacht (The Omnipotence).....Franz Schubert
Great is God our Lord. Heaven and Earth proclaim His might. Thou hearest God in the rushing tempest, in the budding woods, in the brilliance of starry-decked skies, and more truly still in thine own heart. Great is God, our Lord!

III.

- Aria—Poveri fiori, from "Adriana Lecouvreur".....Francesco Cilea
In Paris, in the early eighteenth century, Adriana Lecouvreur is an actress of the Comédie Française. She is a rival of Princess of Bouillon for the love of Maurice de Saxe. In the last act Adriana receives from the Princess a bunch of poisoned flowers. As the poison begins to take effect and her mind wanders, she sings the aria "Poveri fiori" (Poor Flowers).
Aria—Io son l'umile ancella, from "Adriana Lecouvreur".....Francesco Cilea
This aria comes early in the opera as Adriana is rehearsing her lines in a new play. In the midst of her impassioned performance her colleagues interrupt to tell her how superb she is in the part. She answers: "Oh, you give me too much applause, my friends. I feel humble before the genius of the Creator. He gives me the words, I speak them."

- INTERMISSION -

IV.

- Tu vois le feu du soir (You See the Evening Light).....Francis Poulenc
You see the evening light on the cool forest, the bare plain, the snows, the deep blue sea. Cities tinged with melancholy are gilded with pavements full of excuses. Animals are immaculate brothers whose shadows merge in a desert of blood. Earth abandons her greenery to summer who covers it with fruit. From ancient mirrors women bring you their youth, secretly letting you see the world without yourself.
Main dominée par le coeur (Hand Ruled by Heart).....Francis Poulenc
Hand ruled by heart, heart by lion, lion by bird. Hand again closes in vain as cloud, wastes, and death inhabit all that is disappearing. I can just see myself an absence between walls, exile among shadows, eyes pure, head still.
C'est ainsi que tu es (This Is How You Are).....Francis Poulenc
Now that your love for me has disappeared I send you this poem, my portrait of you. When you read it you will remember how much we once meant to each other.
Je nommerai ton front (I Will Name Your Effrontery).....Francis Poulenc
I will give a name to your effrontery, your sobs, your false pain. I will demolish your charms, bind your hand and foot with my whip. Your heart and eyes were shallow, your mouth a spoiled echo, your hands counterfeit pennies. I will shatter the rusty keys they control. Should I be calm again some day, or forget I knew not how to conquer, you will have known the greatness of my hate.

V.

- *Rain Has Fallen
*Sleep Now
*I Hear an Army
*Nuvoletta
(Settings of Poems by James Joyce).....Samuel Barber

VI.

- Spirituals:
Swing Low, Sweet Chariot.....arr. Harry Burleigh
My Soul's Been Anchored.....arr. Florence Price
His Name So Sweet.....arr. Hall Johnson

Fare-well, speed-well, now pales the evening sky.
Fare-well, speed-well, 'tis time to say good-bye.
Floats on the breeze the sound of sunset bell,
We pray God bless you, one and all!

SALUTATION TO THE DAWN

Look to this day, for it is life
 The very breath of life.
 In its brief course lie all the realities
 Of our existence.
 The bliss of growth, the glory of action,
 The splendor of beauty.
 For yesterday is already a dream,
 And tomorrow is only a vision,
 But today, well lived,
 Makes every yesterday a dream of happiness,
 And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
 Look well, therefore, to this day.
