PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 89th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

Vol. 111

WASHINGTON, MONDAY, JANUARY 4, 1965

No. 1

Senate

The 4th of January being the day prescribed by Public Law 88-649, 88th Congress, 2d session, for the meeting of the 1st session of the 89th Congress, the Senate assembled in its Chamber at the Capitol.

CARL HAYDEN, of Arizona, President pro tempore of the Senate of the United States, called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock meridian.

The Chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, D.D., of the city of Washington, D.C., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Father of mankind, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid: With an unappeasable longing, our lives are drawn and driven to Thee, with a haunting, never-sated thirst for the eternal.

In the dawn of a new year on the calendar of destiny, with a world confused and dark and disturbed by portents of fear, yet lured with glorious vistas of radiant possibilities for all mankind, we turn from the shadows and shams which hedge our path, even as we seek light and truth, to this cloister of the unseen and eternal, which our fathers set up so long ago. At this high altar of the Republic's life, we pray that these servants of the public by the will of the people, lifted to high places of state, may be so strengthened by the might of dauntless dedication that, scorning all expediency, they may match these dangerous days with daring deeds. Gird them, we pray, with cheerful courage, that they may bear the weight of vast concerns, the sting of criticism, and the drudgery of unapplauded toil.

As this day, in a tapestry of words and phrases, in a time so tangled and tragic, the Chief Executive and his coadjutors sketch out the pattern of the Nation's purpose as it is seen by them may it be heard with a sympathetic realization of the vast global responsibilities, complications, and commitments with which it deals. As the panorama of the Nation's life passes before anxious eyes and minds, may the chosen legislators here highly resolve that this white-domed Capitol edifice shall be not only an arsenal of material might, but also a cathedral of religious faith where are promised to all the earth the sanctions of irresistible moral force and the spiritual verities upon which our freedoms were reared, upon which they rest, and without which our boasted democracy is a bruised and broken reed.

We ask it in the dear Redeemer's name. Amen.
