Dear Sir:

I beg to inform you, that I have just arrived in this city and have brought with me a splendid and very important painting by Rembrandt and also some other choice master-pieces of the old Dutch and Flemish School, which all are from great and well known European Collections.

Besides these old Masters I have a small and select collection of Paintings of the Barbizon and the modern French School.

I should be greatly pleased to show you these pictures in case you will take occasion to visit Chicago, but I beg to remark that I shall only stay here until the first days of next month.

Very respectfully yours,
