Buffalo, N. Y. Nov 13th 1877.

E N Saunders.

Dear Sir. Yours of 17th duly read.

The only difference in the labels, or brands is, the ink with which they are printed. The Cement is all the same, not a particle of difference in the quality of the Cement. The red brands, were two colors, and had to go through the press twice, and they cost $\frac{5}{8}$ of a cent each, the black ones cost $\frac{3}{8}$ each, so by our saving $\frac{1}{4}$ on our labels we frightened ^{some} of your customers did we.
Now in all the other markets, Cleveland, Detroit & Toledo, & Chicago, the customers thought the black brand, the best cement. Isn't it queer what trifles will upset some people. You warrant the cement the very same, we like the black brand the best and intend to use it entirely, soon as the red ones run out. The price we gave

Dear Sir,
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st inst. in relation to the coal cars.

Edw. J. Lawrence
Saint Paul, Minn.

Your favor of the 21st is hand. The two cars of Pardee Coal went forward on the 21st in cars 1143-1024. I put the shipping directions in as Pardee Coal but in looking over the railroad books I see they were billed simply as coal. Do not know whether I intended it at the time or not, if I did, it is probable I did not mention the matter to the bill clerk. The two cars were from the run of the pile and was the best of the coal as far as I think the coal would give satisfaction if there was not so much dust and very small coal.
We used it in unloading the last vessel and the engineer spoke very highly of it. We are obliged to screen all the soft coal for your country orders. We have about seven or eight cars loaded today but has not time to weigh them tonight. Have all your orders
