Mr. F. G. Dorety:-

Please note the attached correspondence about taxes on hotel company property in Glacier National Park and Yellowstone National Park.

Apparently, Yellowstone Park, for the reasons outlined in the correspondence, cannot be taxed by either Wyoming or Montana authorities. The difference between their situation and that of Glacier Park is also explained. However, I would like to ask about National Forest Reservations: certainly land in National Forest Reservations do not pay any taxes to any County in Montana, and if our Belton buildings are on National Forest Reservation land, would we pay taxes on those buildings? I am not clear whether we own the land they are on or whether we lease it.

Mr. L. W. Hill,

Chairman of the Board.

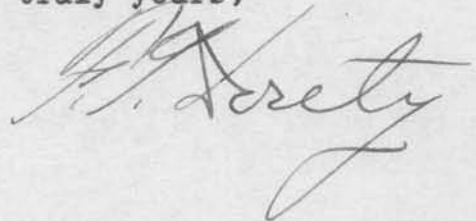

Dear Sir:

I return correspondence enclosed with your letter of April 25th about taxes on Glacier Park property. Mr. Nichols is correct in his statement about the difference between Glacier Park and Yellowstone Park. When Montana ceded Glacier Park to the United States, she reserved the power of taxing property in the Park, and this exception was recognized by the United States. However, I have some question whether this reservation is constitutional. I have had this question under investigation for some little time and hope to reach a conclusion shortly. Only about $7000 of our yearly taxes are assessed against hotels and chalets that are actually located within the Park boundary, the balance being upon the buildings at the main entrance and at Belton.

The Belton buildings are located upon property which was patented to us under a Special Act of Congress and they are, therefore, not located upon the National Forest Reserve. I do not think that there is any way to escape taxes on these buildings.

Very truly yours,

FGD/c

Dear Sir:---

I have yours of April 23rd. re peonies and the places you suggest planting them are very good we will prepare the ground for them immediately.

On the golf course we have a number of places where they will show up good, am leaving for the east tomorrow and will stop off at the Park

I understand everything there has come through the winter fine, I hope this is particularly true of our perennials.

Yours Truly,

Geo. W. Bushmaster

Mr. A. L. Aldrich:

As per my telephone advice, Mr. Hill has arranged with the Miller Seed Company, 170 East Tenth Street, Saint Paul, to ship seven barrels of peony roots to Glacier Park.

In order to not over-tax the baggage car on train three it will be all right to make three shipments of these roots.

Will you kindly arrange for the truck to call for same?

C. O. Jenks.
