Intercultural Communication Workshops

with Karima Bushnell

These 2-4 hour modules, which can be expanded, shortened, or integrated into other multicultural events as needed, are designed to introduce deep, subtle and useful concepts in a lively and interesting manner.

Communicating Across Cultures.

How does culture shape everyday reality? How do "polite" and "normal" behaviors vary between cultures? What happens when worldviews clash? Cultural difference is all around us, usually either unnoticed or misinterpreted. Through lecture, discussion, brief journaling, and lots of stimulating hands-on exercises, encounter the software of the mind, and the fascinating world of successful communication between cultures.

Between Two Mirrors: Exploring Biculturality Hands-on.

Living between two cultures is like standing between two mirrors that reflect differently. What is beautiful or admirable in one is ridiculous or shocking in the other. Whether you deal with bicultural people or are bicultural yourself, you'll come away with a better understanding of this "dynamic in-between-ness."

Traveler and Village: an Experiential Ritual for a Multicultural World

Who are you really, and how does your culture affect you? Do you struggle with contradictions in your cultural identity? Are you in conflict with "mainstream" culture? Or would you just like to explore a bit? We have so many talents and resources we haven't suspected. An open, facilitated chance to speak your cultural and personal truths and witness the truths of others, Traveler and Village was a hit at the 1998 U of M Cultural Encounters conference.

"What comes from the mouth reaches the ear, but what comes from the heart reaches the heart." –Arab proverb

OBJECTIVE: Professional employment in multicultural affairs involving some or all of the following: program design / implementation / evaluation; diversity training; special events planning; qualitative research; writing; and human services.

PROGRAMS AND TRAINING: Designs and implements programs for cultural awareness and communicating across cultures. Original exercises presented in a stimulating, supportive atmosphere. Long-term dedication to building multicultural community includes conceiving and facilitating innovative multicultural and cross-cultural programs.

Comments: "Among the most fascinating three hours I have spent in some time. Infectious enthusiasm." "It was awesome." "I learned a lot!" "She has touched lives." "This took considerable courage . . . 'Walls into Bridges' was the first program of its kind in the Twin Cities Area, at a time when neither Jews nor Muslims wanted to be seen together at all."

RESEARCH AND WRITING: Many in-depth interviews of interpreters, medical providers, Native Americans, and immigrants / refugees including Somali, Hmong, Vietnamese, Cambodian, Bosnian, Arab, Afghani, and Russian Jewish people. Have written articles, training materials, cultural program publicity, and a multicultural comedy-drama, Voices on the Waves. Also proof reading and editing.

Comments: "Very interesting and contrasting insights." "Fascinating article . . . extensive research." "I am deeply grateful. I look with amazement at the time and thought this represents."

Publications Cross Winds. "Medical Interactions: Immigrants, Refugees, Interpreters and Health Care Professionals" (August 1999-Winter 2000)
MCDC News: Sharing Diversity. "Communicating Across Cultures", with Emmanuel Fru Doh, Ph.D. (1998)
