WAR DEPARTMENT
The Adjutant General's Office
Washington, D. C.

SUBJECT: Mothers' Day.

TO: Chiefs of all War Department Branches and Bureaus.

You are directed to bring to the attention of every officer and enlisted man in your command, the desire of the Secretary of War that each officer and enlisted man write a letter to his home on Mothers' Day, the second Sunday in May, May 11, 1924, as an expression of the love and reverence we owe to the mothers of our country.

By order of the Secretary of War.

ROBERT C. DAVIS, The Adjutant General.

AN ENQUIRY FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Say, Soldier! When did you last write to your mother? If she is forever gone from you, how often do you think of her? Do you realize that all you are or ever hope to be, started away back there when your Mother, her whole being pulsating with pride, held you tight, and with eyes lustered and watered with love, watched your very breath, and kept pace over the hours, with your faintest heart throbs? Think of how, all through those days of your helplessness, she wrapped you about in her unselfishness, and protected you in a thousand sacrifices. Remember, too, that the measure of your success in life will be the degree of honor which you pay to your mother and to motherhood. Yes, son! You'll be a great man, if you reach the topmost round of your mother's hopes and prayers. Why not let her memory guide and inspire you now, even as you in your helpless innocence and loveliness once guided and inspired her?

WHAT EVERY TRUE MAN OUGHT TO DO ON MOTHERS' DAY

1. Write her a letter telling her that you appreciate and reciprocate her love and her many sacrifices for you.
2. Wear a pink wild flower in memory of the purity and strength of her love. If she has gone to Heaven, wear a white flower in token of the fidelity with which you intend to keep her precepts.
3. Go to church, if possible, both for her sake and for your own sake. Remember her teachings, and answer her prayers by BEING the best possible sort of a man.
4. Resolve, from this day onward, to respect and keep inviolate the honor of all womankind. For this is the best tribute a noble man can pay to his Mother.

"Pure as the unsullied streams that flow
From rocky founts through vales below;
Holy as angels' thoughts above
Is that blest one—a mother's love."

—Selected.

YOUR MOTHER

She traveled the journey before you,
She has known all the cost of the way.
She paid out the price to its fullness,
That motherhood only can pay.
She loved when the world was against you,
She hoped when your hope sank and died;
She clung to your hand, when the clinging
Left scars in her heart deep and wide.
She labored and loved and was happy
For, down deep in her kind heart she knew
Your kindness and love would repay her
For all that she did—just for you. —Selected.

THOUGHTS FOR MOTHERS' DAY

The best monument that a man can erect in loving memory of his mother is himself. It will be the costliest to build, but it will last the longest; and in the end it will be the means of placing the brightest jewel in her crown.

MOTHER is the name for GOD, on the lips and in the hearts of little children.

SUGGESTION FOR YOUR MOTHERS' DAY LETTER

Fort Snelling, Minn., May 11, 1924.

My Dear Mother:

This is Mothers' Day and the War Department has requested that every officer and soldier who wears the uniform of our nation write a letter home today "as an expression of the love and reverence we owe to the mothers of our country."

I really did not need this admonition, mother, as you know, for I am determined to be your same boy, only, I hope, a better boy than I have ever been before. You perhaps may not have a clever or a brilliant son, but I have tried to keep up to the standard of morals in which you trained me, and which I believe in; and though it costs something at times, I am repaid in a lump sum every time I am able to state that I have kept myself clean. Sometimes I have been asked "Why?" and, besides other reasons, I have been able to say, "My Mother and my Dad believe that I am just as good away from home as I would be under their own roof. They trust me, and I would do anything rather than break that trust with my dad, or bring a blush of shame to my mother's sweet face."

And I have found, too, that though the world may sometimes bluster and scoff at morality and the good old fashioned religion—the kind that you have lived in the dear old home—all men respect the fellow who remembers the home training, and they will trust him always in preference to others.

I am so happy, dear Mother and Dad, that you have given to me such a legacy of pure blood and clean life—something far better than silver and gold; and I trust that this letter, and my determination to follow the precious example of godly parents, may be, in part at least, your reward for all that you have suffered and endured and planned for me.

Affectionately,
YOUR SON.

MY MOTHER

Of all the words of tongue or pen,
Of all the thoughts of mortal men,
There is no word, there is no thought
So dear to me as that one taught

At childhood's dawn,
Long years ago:
That precious word, with visions fraught,
Is "Mother."

The days are many since she pressed
My baby head upon her breast;
The months have gone with flying feet—
Our youthful years are all too fleet:

But calm and clear
I still can hear
The voice of her—than life more sweet—
My Mother.

Not always have I walked the way
She taught to me, from day to day;
Sometimes I may have scorned her care,
And made her burden hard to bear;

But here, this hour—
God grant me power!
I'll walk her way, I'll heed her prayer—
And make her glad—
My Mother.

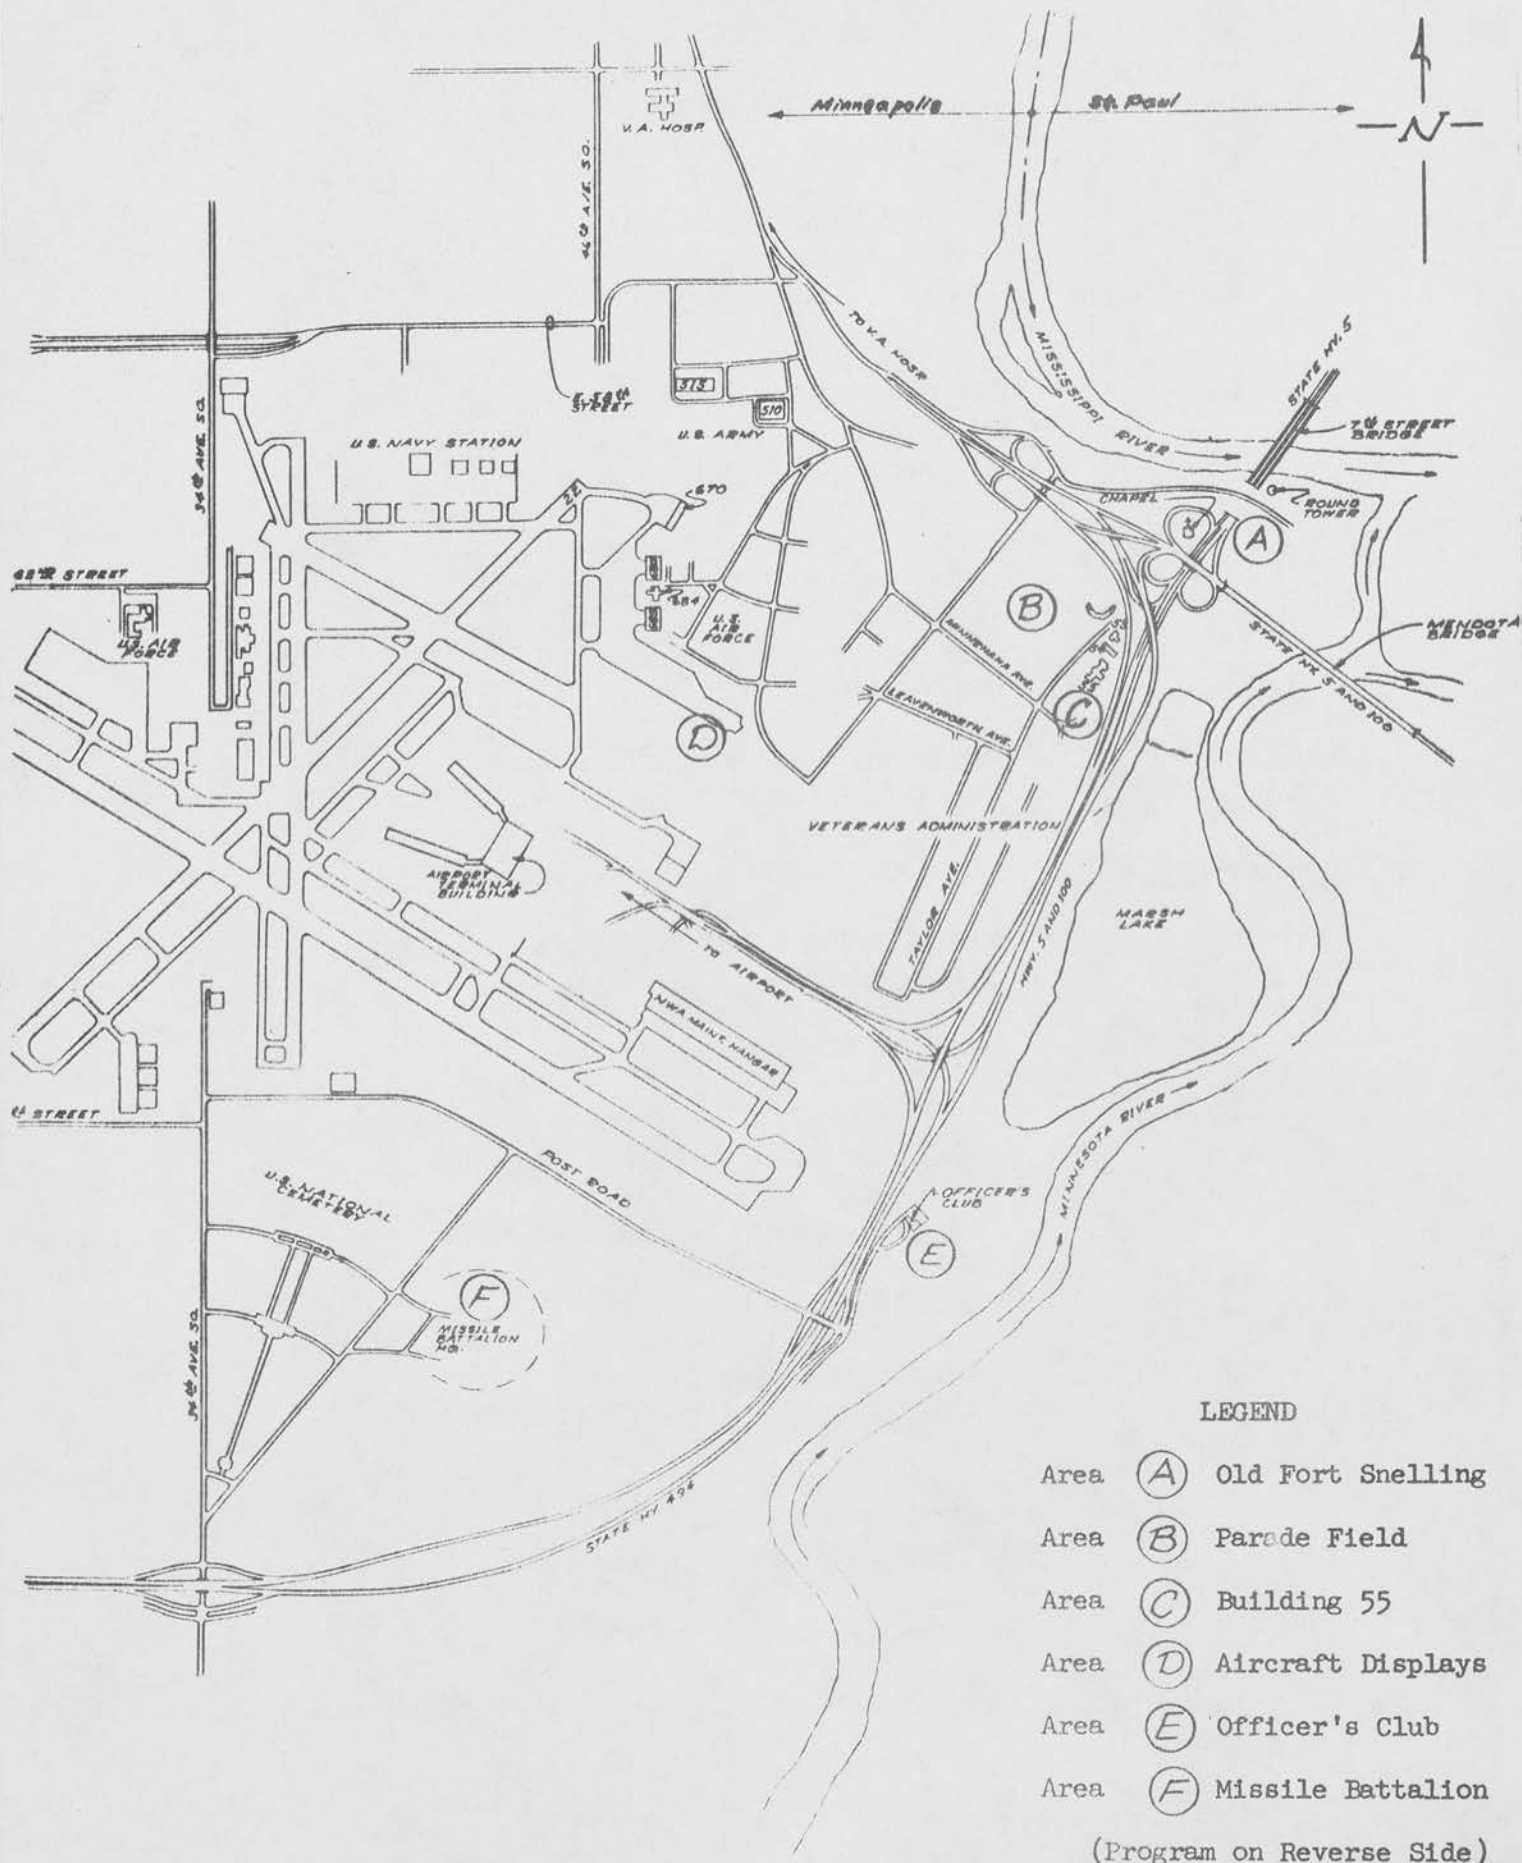

—Thomas Curtis Clark.

"Most all other beautiful things in life come by twos and threes, by dozens and hundreds! Plenty of roses, stars, sunsets, rainbows; brothers and sisters, aunts and cousins, but only one mother in all the wide, wide world."

—Kate Douglas Wiggin.

A TOAST

TO ALL GOOD MOTHERS everywhere, of every race and of every clime! They have not withstood the shock of battle array, but they have withstood the greater shock of enduring suspense and loneliness! They have not given their lives on the battlefield, but they have made the greater sacrifice of giving something more precious than life itself—for every true mother's son is more precious than her own heart's blood! These mothers of men have made greater sacrifices than mere men were capable of making—they have been patient with us in the long drawn out days and nights of our tender, helpless, and often petulant infancy; they have crooned their sweetest lullabies in our restless hours, and have joined in our innocent, childish play with all the enthusiasm of a best pal; they have watched over us in sickness, they have been patient with us in our wilfulness, they have toiled long hours that flowers might spring along our pathway, and they have reserved for us the daintiest dishes that our lips have ever tasted. They have cherished for us the fondest dreams of successful manhood and unsullied character, and at last, when their precious spirits have taken flight into the ethereal realms of the Great Beyond they have still followed us out across the long stretches of the vast eternity with their fondest prayers. O, Mothers of Men, God hallow your memory, and make us worthy of your dear love.

SPECIAL LETTER TO ALL AFFILIATED MEMBERS:

In that Memorial Day this year creates a three day holiday period and so many people are out of the City, which includes those connected with Bands and other Musical Units, making it impossible to obtain such units for a parade, the usual Memorial Day Parade will not be held. Also, for the same reason, the Public Exercises held in the Auditorium the afternoon of May 30th, - Memorial Day - will not be held.

However, Veterans will appear at the various Schools for their programs held on Friday, May 27th. Schedules are being sent out to those who have so volunteered.

A Memorial Service will be held at the Central Presbyterian Church, Cedar at Exchange street, and the Veterans of all Wars have been invited, thru the association, to attend. Sections of the Church have been reserved for this purpose. Rev. Thomas C. Arthur, former Chaplain U.S. Army, will preach. The group will meet at the entrance of the Church at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, May 29th and enter in a body. Wear uniforms or Caps, but attend regardless. (Uniforms are not necessary or required.)

On Monday, May 30th - Memorial Day - Committees will decorate the graves of War Veterans in the various cemeteries and Memorial Exercises will be held. These are scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to about 11:00 a.m. Memorial exercises will be held at Harriet Island in memory of the Sailor Dead. A program has been arranged for Memorial exercises at the National Cemetery, Fort Snelling, and transportation will be furnished from the street cars to the cemetery, beginning about eight in the morning.

Sincerely yours in comradeship

Outline for Church Chairman

Fort Snelling Memorial Chapel and Community Center

Church Campaign General Information

Sunday, February 7th, has been set aside by the churches of Saint Paul and Minneapolis as Fort Snelling Memorial Sunday.

On that day soldiers in uniform from Fort Snelling will be sent from headquarters to act as honorary ushers in each Saint Paul church and will hand a pledge card to each worshiper as he enters. These cards will be marked for each church so that proper credit will be given.

During the service the minister, or in some instances the church chairman, will speak on the Chapel. Because of the time of the year in many instances the entire service will be a patriotic one and devoted to the Chapel. Pledges will be signed at some period during the morning service and will be collected by the regular ushers with the morning offering.

Soldier ushers will wait until after the services when they will act as messengers to take the pledges to headquarters. (If the chairman so desires.)

Prior to Sunday, February 7th Activities for Church Chairman

1. Send out letter on chairman's letterhead and over signature of chairman and pastor to all members of church.
 - a. A circular prepared by headquarters will accompany letter.
 - b. Machine work on letter will be done at headquarters if chairman so desires.
2. Secure small committee to secure pledges prior to February 7th of those in his church who should make the larger contributions. (List of 183 business men who are being solicited by a special committee will be sent church chairman so there need be no duplication of solicitation.)
3. Confer with pastor to ascertain whether he will give the sermon or sermonette on February 7th or whether he wishes church chairman to give talk.
4. If church has a bulletin get some material concerning the Chapel published at least on the Sunday of February 7th.

Note - It is expected that an informational mess for pastors will be held at one of the mess halls at Fort Snelling early in January.

Newspaper publicity will likewise appear during month of January.

Old Ft. Snelling about 1863

There is no single "history" of Ft. Snelling.

Instead, there is a history of two forts, each representing different purposes and typifying separate eras of development of the United States.

The "first" Ft. Snelling--and probably the one more familiar to Minnesotans--is the old Ft. Snelling that stood guard over the Minnesota and the Mississippi Rivers from the early 1820s until 1857.

Although no battle was ever fought at Ft. Snelling, it was the very existence of the fort that allowed much of this part of the country to become peacefully settled.

The heritage of Ft. Snelling actually dates back to 1805 when Lt. Zebulon Pike, then stationed at a military post near Prairie du Chien, Wisc., was asked to find a site for a military post near St. Anthony Falls (now Downtown Minneapolis). Although an agreement for a large amount of land in the present Ft. Snelling area was reached with the Indians, actual construction of the present old fort site did not begin until September 1820.

Building continued during the next four years under the supervision of Col. Josiah Snelling. During that period,

Starting during World War I and continuing through World War II, Ft. Snelling was a major reception station for new soldiers and a training camp, both for soldiers, and during much of the period, for young civilians.

During the 1920s and the 1930s, Ft. Snelling became something of a civic center for the Twin Cities. The Friday night guard ceremonies nearly always attracted a large crowd of spectators.

The Sunday afternoon polo games and exhibitions by Whiskey, a performing horse, also were popular.

By World War II, buildings on the active part of the fort extended from the old Ft. Snelling area along the Mississippi River westward about two miles to the present Northwest Airlines complex at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport.

In 1946, Ft. Snelling was closed as an active military post. Most of the buildings were turned over to the Veterans Administration. In 1968, a new building was opened at the end of Ft. Snelling to house federal offices, including the Veterans Administration.

The U.S. Army Reserve was granted permission to move many of the components of the 88th U.S. Army Reserve Command to Ft. Snelling in 1969, thus resuming many of the Army traditions that began at the fort 150 years ago.

Building continued during the next four years under the supervision of Col. Josiah Snelling. During that period,

the men lived in Camp Coldwater, an area about a half mile up the Mississippi River from the fort and behind the present U.S. Bureau of Mines complex. Shortly after completion, the fort, then named Ft. St. Anthony, was renamed Ft. Snelling.

Although Ft. Snelling was built to protect trade and to preserve peace on the frontier, that role began to lessen in the 1850s as the rush for land in the south, north and west began. By 1857, three other posts had been built in outlying areas of the Upper Midwest and they began filling the functions that Ft. Snelling once provided.

By 1857, Ft. Snelling had been reduced to serving as a supply distribution point for posts further out and in 1858, the Ft. Snelling area was sold by the government and the last troops were withdrawn. In a highly controversial sale, the fort--which then included much of the present city of Minneapolis and eastern Richfield--was sold for $90,000.

As the original fort passed out of existence in 1858, the need for some type of military installation was underlined four years later when troops were mustered at Ft. Snelling--then still under private ownership--for the Civil War.

Ft. Snelling remained in full use during the Civil War. Some troops were quartered and trained there prior to service in the war; others participated in numerous skirmishes with bands of Indians during the early 1860s.

After the Civil War, the decision to keep Ft. Snelling open became even more firm when it was decided to make the fort headquarters for the Department of Dakota, a unit responsible for movement of troops and distribution of supplies.

The fort gradually continued to expand, and in 1881, several buildings on the present "new fort" area along the Polo Grounds were opened. The buildings, which included a post headquarters that still stands, signaled the long-range development of the fort.

In 1888, the Department of War decided to locate the famous 3rd Infantry at Ft. Snelling. The unit, the oldest in the nation, called Ft. Snelling home longer than any other post.

Troops have left Ft. Snelling for every major war from the Spanish-American War in 1898 through World War II. The fort had major expansions in 1898 when barracks for enlisted men and homes for officers were constructed.

THE ROUND TOWER

The Old Round Tower, the best preserved piece of construction of the original post, stands today as the most historic building in the Northwest. It is indeed a monument to those brave patriots--pioneers, explorers, traders, settlers and soldiers--who laid the foundation for developing the Great Northwest.

Plans are now under way to restore the Round Tower and make of it a museum containing exhibits of historic interest to visitors to the Twin Cities and Fort Snelling.

FORT SNELLING

Fort Snelling is a historic post, rich in legend and tradition. Its history dates back to 1805 when its site was acquired through a treaty with the Sioux Indians. Soldiers of the Fifth U. S. Infantry started the actual construction of the fort buildings in 1820. The old post, completed in 1821, was named in honor of its then commanding officer, Colonel Josiah Snelling who had supervised its building.

Since its founding, with the exception of short periods of time, the fort has been garrisoned with Regular Army troops. While not one single hostile shot has ever been fired from its walls, nevertheless, the soldiers played a vital part in the maintenance of law and order in the early days of the development of this part of the Northwest, long before the founding of the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Throughout its long history, the post has been a training ground for the youth of Minnesota and adjoining states. Again this summer, young men of the R.O.T.C. and C.M.T.C. will assemble at the post to receive instruction in Military Science and Citizenship under the supervision of officers of the Regular Army and the Officers' Res. Corps.

THE THIRD U. S. INFANTRY

"THE OLD GUARD"

Stationed at Fort Snelling is the oldest Infantry Regiment of the United States Army--- The Third Infantry, known as "The Old Guard".

It was the famous General Winfield Scott who was responsible for the Third Infantry's sobriquet, "The Old Guard". This title dates back to the Mexican War, when the Third Infantry, because of its gallant part in the campaign resulting in the capture of Mexico City, was given the honor by General Scott of marching at the head of the column which made its triumphal entry into the city. Regimental tradition records that when General Scott, who was reviewing his victorious troops as they passed through the gates of the city, saw the Third Infantry approaching, he removed his hat and, turning to his staff, said: "Gentlemen, take off your hats to the Old Guard of the Army".

Old Ft. Snelling about 1863

There is no single "history" of Ft. Snelling.

Instead, there is a history of two forts, each representing different purposes and typifying separate eras of development of the United States.

The "first" Ft. Snelling--and probably the one more familiar to Minnesotans--is the old Ft. Snelling that stood guard over the Minnesota and the Mississippi Rivers from the early 1820s until 1857.

Although no battle was ever fought at Ft. Snelling, it was the very existence of the fort that allowed much of this part of the country to become peacefully settled.

The heritage of Ft. Snelling actually dates back to 1805 when Lt. Zebulon Pike, then stationed at a military post near Prairie du Chien, Wisc., was asked to find a site for a military post near St. Anthony Falls (now Downtown Minneapolis). Although an agreement for a large amount of land in the present Ft. Snelling area was reached with the Indians, actual construction of the present old fort site did not begin until September 1820.

Building continued during the next four years under the supervision of Col. Josiah Snelling. During that period,

Starting during World War I and continuing through World War II, Ft. Snelling was a major reception station for new soldiers and a training camp, both for soldiers, and during much of the period, for young civilians.

During the 1920s and the 1930s, Ft. Snelling became something of a civic center for the Twin Cities. The Friday night guard ceremonies nearly always attracted a large crowd of spectators.

The Sunday afternoon polo games and exhibitions by Whiskey, a performing horse, also were popular.

By World War II, buildings on the active part of the fort extended from the old Ft. Snelling area along the Mississippi River westward about two miles to the present Northwest Airlines complex at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport.

In 1946, Ft. Snelling was closed as an active military post. Most of the buildings were turned over to the Veterans Administration. In 1968, a new building was opened at the end of Ft. Snelling to house federal offices, including the Veterans Administration.

The U.S. Army Reserve was granted permission to move many of the components of the 88th U.S. Army Reserve Command to Ft. Snelling in 1969, thus resuming many of the Army traditions that began at the fort 150 years ago.

Although an agreement for a large amount of land in the present Ft. Snelling area was reached with the Indians, actual construction of the present old fort site did not begin until September 1820.

Building continued during the next four years under the supervision of Col. Josiah Snelling. During that period,

the men lived in Camp Coldwater, an area about a half mile up the Mississippi River from the fort and behind the present U.S. Bureau of Mines complex. Shortly after completion, the fort, then named Ft. St. Anthony, was renamed Ft. Snelling.

Although Ft. Snelling was built to protect trade and to preserve peace on the frontier, that role began to lessen in the 1850s as the rush for land in the south, north and west began. By 1857, three other posts had been built in outlying areas of the Upper Midwest and they began filling the functions that Ft. Snelling once provided.

By 1857, Ft. Snelling had been reduced to serving as a supply distribution point for posts further out and in 1858, the Ft. Snelling area was sold by the government and the last troops were withdrawn. In a highly controversial sale, the fort--which then included much of the present city of Minneapolis and eastern Richfield--was sold for $90,000.

As the original fort passed out of existence in 1858, the need for some type of military installation was underlined four years later when troops were mustered at Ft. Snelling--then still under private ownership--for the Civil War.

Ft. Snelling remained in full use during the Civil War. Some troops were quartered and trained there prior to service in the war; others participated in numerous skirmishes with bands of Indians during the early 1860s.

After the Civil War, the decision to keep Ft. Snelling open became even more firm when it was decided to make the fort headquarters for the Department of Dakota, a unit responsible for movement of troops and distribution of supplies.

The fort gradually continued to expand, and in 1881, several buildings on the present "new fort" area along the Polo Grounds were opened. The buildings, which included a post headquarters that still stands, signaled the long-range development of the fort.

In 1888, the Department of War decided to locate the famous 3rd Infantry at Ft. Snelling. The unit, the oldest in the nation, called Ft. Snelling home longer than any other post.

Troops have left Ft. Snelling for every major war from the Spanish-American War in 1898 through World War II. The fort had major expansions in 1898 when barracks for enlisted men and homes for officers were constructed.

BRIEF REPORT OF THE ASSOCIATION.

On April 15th, 1923, fifteen (15) members of the regiment representing seven (7) of the twelve (12) companies and the field and staff, gathered at a noon luncheon at the Minneapolis Elk's Club to formulate plans to celebrate the 25th anniversary of our call and assembly April 29th, 1898.

As this date came on Sunday, it was decided to hold the meeting Saturday evening April 28th and out of the total of about four hundred (400) addresses we were able to get from all sources, one hundred and forty-two (142) gathered at the Minneapolis Traffic Club for the first reunion of the regiment since being mustered out October 3rd, 1899. A permanent organization was then formed to be known as the 13th Minnesota Regimental Association and the officers and executive committee were elected.

Col. A. W. Bjornstad (H Co.) Colonel of the 3rd U. S. Infantry and Commandant at Fort Snelling then invited the association to hold their first Annual Reunion August 13th, 1923 at the fort as his guests and it was accepted unanimously.

Our first roster printed for the occasion had addresses for seven hundred and twenty-four (724) comrades, two hundred and ninety-four* (294) dead and three hundred and thirty-seven (337) unaccounted for. Of these, three hundred and twenty-eight (328) registered during the three day reunion on August 11, 12, and 13, coming from nearly every state in the Union.

The business meeting was held August 13th and after the constitution and by-laws had been read and adopted, the officers elected at the April 28th meeting were re-elected to serve for the term of one year. It was a wonderful reunion and Col. Bjornstad was given a hearty vote of thanks by all present.

On April 29th, 1924, another reunion meeting was held to prepare plans for the Annual Meeting August 13th and one hundred and thirteen (113) members were in attendance.

As there are no dues provided for to pay the expenses of the organization, the officers take this opportunity to express their appreciation of the hearty support given by all who have assisted in the work by donating their time, energy and financial support.

Report of Receipts and Disbursements to August 4th, 1924, is as follows:

Balance on hand as per Treasurer's report Aug. 13, 1923	$120.62
Donations received from members since August 13, 1923	467.00
Expenditures for postage, printing, etc., since Aug. 13, 1923	397.44
Leaving a balance Aug. 4, 1924 of	190.18

(Cost of this roster, postage, and envelopes to non-attendants will be about $125.00.)

Everyone is a member and as long as we have their addresses they will receive all the notices, so you should keep the Secretary informed of your whereabouts as well as any others whom we do not have addresses for.

A copy of this roster will be mailed to all those who could not attend this Reunion.

A. X. SCHALL, JR., President.
