My Dear Reverend Sir:-

May I take this opportunity of writing you this personal note in reference to the Citizens' Military Training Camp which is to be held at Fort Snelling during the month of August, 1924.

It has occurred to me that there may be a number of young men in your parish who might be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of attending such a camp, were its evident advantages brought to their attention in the same manner in which I know that you are able to bring it to them.

The Citizens' Military Training Camps, as you are aware, is now far past its experimental stage. Its benefits in the development of physical and moral stamina, the instilling of sane patriotic ideals, the inculcation of correct views of American traditions and institutions, the wholesome effect of rubbing up against individuals and groups of young men from city, town and countryside, from Minnesota and the Dakotas, all undoubtedly tend to produce a finer type of American manhood out of the material which is sent to camp.

I am quite familiar with the kind of men - officers and non-commissioned officers - with whom these boys will come into close personal contact during their stay at camp, and may I assure you of my deep conviction that the young manhood of our country will benefit greatly by having the opportunity of meeting and training under these splendidly disciplined, deeply patriotic representatives of our nation's military establishment. From my own personal observation of the Citizens' Military Training Camps, I can say that the great majority of the boys who attend camp go back to their homes with a keener appreciation of what it means to be physically fit, morally clean, mentally awake and patriotically sound.

Any good word that you may be able to say for the camp will not only be a patriotic service, and appreciated as such, it will also be a real service to the young man who may be assisted in his decision to attend camp. The lowered casualty report among the young men of the nation who have already attended one or more sessions of the camp during the past three years is an abundant proof of this.

As the Regular Army Chaplain on permanent duty at this station, more than likely I shall be closely associated with all the religious efforts for and amongst the young men who come to camp this year. I should welcome most sincerely any suggestions from my associates in the work of the Church as to most effective methods and means of bringing to them the most helpful, strengthening, upbuilding influences of religion, and I solicit your hearty co-operation, brethren, in making the very utmost of this magnificent opportunity.

I am enclosing sample copies of literature for your information, which you may pass on at your convenience. In case you can use more literature, kindly do not hesitate to let me serve you. Will you especially notice the list of St. Paul physicians who have volunteered to make physical examination of candidates for the camp, without charge.

Yours cordially,

FRANK C. RIDEOUT,
Chaplain, U.S. Army.

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of June 5th and appreciate your desire to be of service in advertising our product and are sorry to be obliged to advise you that we are not in a position to furnish the letterheads wanted. We will be glad, however, to furnish postal cards like the sample herewith. If you will let us know how many you think can be used, we will have them forwarded to you promptly. We have no letterheads that we can furnish that would be suitable for your use and it is not clear to the writer how such a letterhead could be prepared. Furthermore, the lid is on and we are trying to keep down our advertising expenditures. We have a good supply of the postal cards on hand and we will be glad to let you have as many as you can use to advantage.

Yours very truly,
