Mrs. William V. Raymond

3d Infantry Association Women's Auxiliary

Saint Louis Park, Minnesota 55426

Dear Mrs. Raymond: -

I should like to extend to your organization and to the 3d Infantry Association an invitation to help us commemorate Armed Forces Day at Fort Snelling on 16 May.

This year marks the sesquicentennial of the founding of Fort Snelling and the U. S. Army Reserve will usher in this 150th anniversary year with a review and various open houses and similar displays on Saturday 16 May.

Adjutant's call for the review will be at 1015. On the reviewing stand will be Governor Harold Levander, Congressman Clark MacGregor, Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army Robert Baker, and Major General Ward S. Ryan of Fifth Army headquarters. Over 4,000 Army Reserve troops will participate. The third battalion of the third infantry will lead the march-past and third infantry influence in the development of the post will receive due recognition.

The Governor will speak at a small luncheon at 1230, to be held at the Officers' Club. Reservations will be limited to 150. This luncheon is sponsored by the Twin Cities chapter AUSA. If you are interested in the luncheon, additional information may be obtained by calling 726-1320.

The afternoon will be devoted to tours of recently reconstructed Old Fort Snelling, and the Army Reserve displays. All the Reserve armories ring the "polo grounds" where the review will be held.

The activity which will capture the most interest is the one-day postoffice being established by our 329th Base Postal Unit. We have secured permission to establish a Fort Snelling post office and have evolved an appropriate cachet to commemorate the sesquicentennial. This could be a real collector's item.

We hope you can be with us.

Yours very truly,

UNITED STATES ARMY
THE CHIEF OF STAFF

29 June 1968

Dear Sergeant Kahnert:

Thank you for your recent letter requesting material on my service with the 3d Infantry to add to your historical collection and inclosing the photograph taken during my visit at Fort Snelling in 1966.

While I served at the beginning of my career with "The Old Guard," I have no especially noteworthy information concerning that tour. Inclosed is the photograph you requested and a copy of my biography. Sergeant Major Palmer of the 3d Infantry is sending you 50 copies of the pamphlet, "History of the 3d Infantry."

I have fond memories of my assignment with "The Old Guard" and am proud to have joined all those who have served with that distinguished unit.

Most sincerely,

HAROLD K. JOHNSON

UNITED STATES ARMY
OFFICE, CHIEF OF INFORMATION • DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

GENERAL HAROLD K. JOHNSON

Harold K. Johnson was born in Bowesmont North Dakota, on 22 February 1912. He was graduated from high school in Grafton, North Dakota, in 1929, and from the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York, in 1933 as a second lieutenant of Infantry.

General Johnson's service includes a tour of duty with the 3rd (Old Guard) Infantry Regiment at Fort Snelling, Minnesota; the 28th Infantry at Fort Niagara, New York; and the 57th Infantry, Philippine Scouts, at Fort McKinley, Philippine Islands. Upon the fall of Bataan in April 1942, he participated in the death march from Bataan and later was imprisoned by the Japanese at Camp O'Donnell, Camp Cabanatuan, and Bilibid Prison in the Philippine Islands.

He was moved to Japan from the Philippine Islands in the winter of 1944-45 after the Americans had landed on Leyte. The ships on which he was moved were twice subjected to air attack by allied aircraft. In April 1945, he was moved from Japan to Korea, where he was liberated by the 7th Division when they made their occupational landing in Inchon on 8 September 1945.

Upon his return to the United States, he attended the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and served for two years on the faculty. After attending the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Virginia, he commanded the 3rd Battalion, 7th Infantry Regiment stationed at Fort Devens, Massachusetts.

He took the 1st Provisional Infantry Battalion to Korea in August 1950, where he joined the 1st Cavalry Division in the defense of the Pusan Perimeter, later participating in the pursuit to the north, the encounter with the Chinese in late 1950, and the subsequent withdrawal to South Korea. During this period, he commanded both the 5th and 8th Cavalry Regiments of the 1st Cavalry Division.

In February 1951, he joined the I Corps in Korea where he served until October 1951 as Assistant Chief of Staff, G3.

Upon his return to the United States, he was assigned to the Office of the Chief of the Army Field Forces at Fort Monroe, Virginia. He attended The National War College, graduating with the Class of 1953. He then was assigned to the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G3, of the Department of the Army, where he served as Chief of the Joint War Plans Branch, Assistant Chief of Plans Division, and as G3 Executive Officer until his departure for Fort Carson, Colorado, in January 1956 to serve as Assistant Division Commander of the 8th Infantry Division. The division gyroscoped to Germany in the late summer and fall of 1956. After serving 20 months as Assistant Division Commander, 8th Division, he was assigned to Seventh Army Headquarters in Stuttgart-Vaihingen as Chief of Staff. Then, in April 1959, he was moved to Headquarters, United States Army, Europe, as Assistant Chief of Staff, G3. In December 1959, he was assigned as Chief of Staff of the Central Army Group, NATO Headquarters concerned with planning for the employment of French, German, and United States troop operations in Central Europe in peacetime and for the control of these forces in the event of an armed conflict. In August 1960 he returned to the United States and assumed the position of Commandant, United States Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he served until February 1963. Upon reassignment to the Army General Staff in Washington, D. C., he served successively as Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations and as Acting Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, and was appointed Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations on 1 July 1963. In the latter two positions he also served as the Army Operations Deputy, Joint Chiefs of Staff, in which capacity he, in conjunction with the other Service Operations Deputies, acted on matters for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He was appointed Chief of Staff of the United States Army on 3 July 1964, the 24th in line of succession since the inauguration of the Army General Staff in 1903, and the youngest Chief of Staff since General MacArthur.

General Johnson has been awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge with Star, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit with three Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Bronze Star Medal. He is also the recipient of decorations from Brazil, the Philippines, Venezuela, Thailand, and Korea.

"A LOOK AT A SURGICAL PACK ROOM"

by Marvin D. Boegler, Building Management Trainee

Person on left, Gerry Soderberg, right, Rose Haller. Surgical Pack Room Employees make large lap pack placing each item in its proper place.

The surgical pack room of the VA Hospital, Minneapolis has recently moved into a new location on the first floor of Building 43. Supervising the move was the Laundry Superintendent, Mr. Dave Reed with the able assistance coming from Mrs. Rose Haller and Mrs. Gerry Soderberg. The new surgical pack room is conveniently located near the loading dock so as to expedite the delivery of the clean surgical linen. It is also much smaller than the previous room making it possible to save many steps during a days work. One other advantage of a smaller room and an important one in this case, is the fact that it is easier to keep clean. The surgical packs must be lint free and the air within the room constantly being filtered and circulated to help accomplish this.

Rose Haller has been working in the surgical pack room for two years and has been with the Veterans Administration since 1945. Her assistant, Gerry Soderberg has been working in the pack room for one year and with the VA since 1944. Stepping into the shoes of one of these ladies is not an easy task because it requires a month of on-the-job training, learning the methods and developing the skills needed to perform the job. Two Building Management Division employees, Ruby Nelson and Elsie Durrant have gone through the training period and are able and qualified replacements when one of the regular women is absent.

Through-out the hospital the term "Surgical Pack Room" will cause a variety of definitions in people's minds. Although it is often misconstrued, the definition is simply stated: the room or areas where surgical packs are prepared prior to sterilization. The surgical pack contains the necessary linen required to perform an operation placed in the proper sequence of usage. At our hospital there are four types of surgical packs used: the eye, ear, nose and throat pack, large and small, the lap pack, for general surgery, and the genital urinary pack. Each of the packs listed contains specific amounts of linen that will vary according to the type of operation.

The bluish green surgical linen is delivered to the surgical pack room, from the laundry where it is separated, inspected, and then distributed to surgical areas. All of the surgical linen must be inspected for holes and foreign matter, such as small hairs, before it can be considered for use. The sheets that are used in surgical packs must be fan folded, a process that makes it possible to have equal distribution of the sheet with the least movement. The hand towels have to be folded so the corners are in the upper right hand side and when placed in a pack they are all stacked the same way.

The lap pack is the most common and one of the largest packs prepared. The following items, each folded its proper way and each placed in the pack according to predetermined usage, are the items that make up the lap pack: 3 large action back gowns, 16 towels, 4 applicators, 4 fan folded sheets, 1 white hand towel, 1 mayo drape, and 1 bath towel. All these items are wrapped in two tagged sheets, folded in half, and taped with surgical tape. The completed packs are taken to central supply and stored in the non-steril cabinets prior to sterilization. Once the packs are sterilized they are removed and placed with other steril surgical material. Mrs. Haller counts the packs in the non-steril cabinet and then makes up new surgical packs to replace the ones used. This count, taken each day in the forenoon, helps to determine the work load of the day.

The surgical pack room plays an important part in the surgery area of the hospital and adds its part to the smooth operation of the Building Management Division.

COLLECTIONS REFLECTIONS

Due to extenuating circumstances (Frankly, we forget just exactly what "extenuating circumstances" are, but they sound important enough to rate as a good excuse) we failed to reflect for last month so we'll try to get caught up now. It so happens we've forgotten most of August's vital activities that would have been recorded for posterity — and whatever else — in September so you take what you get . . . Guess the gone gals ought to rate first. The gal who sat next to us, Anne White, after a party at the Club last month, left to join her husband, Master Sergeant George, who, after a tour of duty in Vietnam will make his home in Fort Knox Kentucky . . . Another cashing in her chips was

Viola (a.k.a. Vi) Dunn who left us after 23 years of government service. Her departure was kinda sudden — she passed around some candy on September 20 and told us she was resigning. She had just spent 2400 miles of vacation in the northwest, but is making her home — or keeping it — in Minneapolis. A right cheerful gal she was . . . And now for some of the people who took off, but returned to sweat it out: . . . Grace Kelsey, Kay Thomas, Elizabeth Baxter and Mae Memmer made a recent weekend trip driving to Ironwood, Michigan, and Bay-Wisconsin to enjoy the fall field and Madeline Island, colors . . . Evelyn Engeseth, who takes care of the machinery and the fellows who use it, took off for a week in Chicago to visit his sister. Had a fine time, he tells us. . . Then there was Leone Nygard who, with her husband, took a trip to Albuquerque, New Mexico — and returned by way of Denver, camping out, by darn! . . . Ruby Whitney took a short trip to North Dakota to visit her father . . . Closer to home, Dorothea Benson, we were told moved to a new home. Seems eight bachelors living next door moved her furnishings for a case of beer and a gallon of herring in wine. It all ended up with everyone happy including the two Benson poodles! . . . Margaret Schroeder is off on a three weeks vacation to California. She plans to visit her sisters in San Diego and Vista. She also plans to take side trips to Disneyland, the Palomar Observatory, and the Pala Indian Mission near Los Angeles. Margaret also spoke of stopping off at Las Vegas to recoup some of her losses from a former visit . . . Then there was a special note we received, viz:

Ex-"Dallas — Denver" VAgal (as Ft. Snelling labels us) is finally (after 5 years) settled in Minnesota. To prove the point, D. L. Benson spent part of two weeks polishing pinewood floors and painting woodwork to move across the street into another duplex. Now she wants to give free estimates on that kind of work.

A new — and temporary addition to the work force is Renee Sengir, that cheerful little gal with the tall reddish black hair who came in around the first of the month and will be with us for six months or so. She has had Norma Cohoes to show her the ropes. Us, we had a break too — we had Paul Bergto get us started 'way back' . . . Lois Alexander had her sister Carol and her brother-in-law visit her for a few days. They're from Canon City . . . Ruth Samuelson made a nice bunch of trips with her mother — took in the Black Hills, Salt Lake City, Idaho and Wyoming in a two and a half week tour . . . At last reports, Roland Olsen was still in St. Mary's Hospital. Sure hope we get him back. . . Straying a bit with some close relations, Mary Leonard's son, Bill Jr., was married and is now living in Pensacola, Florida, where he is in training with the Navy. And Helen Smith's daughter is in Europe but she hasn't written so no details . . . We have a note: Norma Cohoes took a long trip — ask her. But we forgot, maybe next time . . . Lyle was telling us about a couple who recently celebrated their 72nd anniversary themselves. Guess there's nothing to this

Whiskey, Famed Jumping Horse of Army, Retired

The following article was printed in an article in the early 1940's thru the courtesy of Sgt. Arnold E. Kahnert, Historian, Vets Association 3rd US Infantry Div. (The Old Guard). 22 YEAR OLD AND TWO MULES TO GET FREE OATS AND HAY

The buglers no longer blow "Boots and Saddles" for three old Army pals at Fort Snelling. Whiskey, the Army's famed high-jumping horse, and his long-eared, mulish manger mates, Snelling and Nat, have been turned loose in the green pastures of retirement.

The 22 year old, high-hurdling horse, and the two mules, both of them 35 years old, have been on retirement since Monday, when a board of garrison officers concluded the animals no longer were serviceable.

The board also decided that the long and honorable story about marriage licenses expiring . . . Gosh, we almost forgot us. Around the first of the month our wife, Clara, had to take a whole flock of tests on some blood pressure deal and we took off while she was in the hospital for a few days. Put in the spare time getting caught up on the fall homework and collecting material on an article, "Variations In Doing Nothing" that we have contemplated writing . . . A couple of short notes we made back in August tell us "Candy from Clara Hagen in Austria" which was right thoughtful and right swell; and "Catherine Selig — Aug. 15. — back from gone" but details are lacking . . . And another note "No bell prize winner" per Larry reminds us with a shudder of one Finance — Insurance Observation Talley Sheet wherein bells rang sixteen times a day. Come to think of it we recall trying to get some poetry out of that event but we couldn't get much to rhyme with words like distraction, unnerving, disconcerting and a few others. Oh, well, just a few weeks and it'll be all over.

vice records of Whiskey, Nat and Snelling obligated Uncle Sam to keep them in free oats and hay for the rest of their lives without working for it.

Garrison veterinarians have found that the three animals are sound, considering their ages, and that Whiskey still can take a four-foot jump without straining his liver.

PAUNCH AND GROUCH

Snelling, a big white mule, is getting a bit swaybacked and has developed a paunch — and a grouch. A Service company private hitched him to a lawn mower Saturday and Snelling groused about it.

Whiskey and the white mule long were teamed as the feature attraction of horse shows at Fort Snelling and throughout the Northwest.

The mule impersonated a high hurdle for his spring-legged pal, and the act always drew loud applause. Whiskey and Snelling made their last show appearance in 1932.

WON MANY RIBBONS

Nat, a riding mule, won many blue ribbons in horse shows in the Twin Cities and at the garrison.

Whiskey was foaled on a Montana range in 1914, and landed at the garrison in 1921 as an unbroken remount. For months he was an outlaw — a chunk of vicious horseflesh, but under the hand of Captain William R. Hazelrigg, Whiskey became civilized and jumped his way up to fame as the Army's highest jumping horse.

Although Captain Hazelrigg left Fort Snelling several years ago, Whiskey never has forgotten the man who trained him. The captain appeared at the garrison corral one day last summer and whistled. Whiskey cocked his ears and came galloping to the fence to nuzzle the officer.

Hymn

O God, our help in ages past
Our hope for years to come
Our shelter from the stormy blast
And our eternal home.

Time like an ever rolling stream
Bears all its sons away
They fly forgotten as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

Before the hills in order stood
Or earth received her frame
From everlasting thou art God
To endless years the same.

O God, our help in ages past
Our hope for years to come
Be thou our guard while troubles last
And our eternal home.

HERALDRY

(AG Ltr 424.5 Coat of Arms 10 January 1921)

Arms within a bordure of the United States, a hill vert crowned with battlements gules on a field argent. On a chief azure three crosses patee of the field. Encircling the escutcheon an infantry officer's full dress belt (para 2, Special Regulation 42, 1917), with plate in chief proper inscribed with the motto "Noli Me Tangere" in base, and in chief "3d Infantry, 1784," all sable. The escutcheon and belt to be displayed in front of an old pattern bayonet and drum major's baton from the Mexican War crossed in saltire proper.

Crest on a wreath argent and azure an infantry officer's cocked hat of 1784 with white plume proper.

DESCRIPTION

The charge on the shield symbolizes the distinguished service rendered by the regiment during the Mexican War. At Cerro Gordo, the 3d and 7th Infantry Regiments carried the heights of Telegrafo Hill, the key to the enemy position, at bayonet point. At Churubusco the 3d Infantry was in the column which assaulted the citadel. The regiment also took part in the attack on the citadel of Chapultepec and was one of the first to enter the city of Mexico. It will be noted that the hill, battlements, and field on the shield are in Mexican colors.

The "Chief" commemorates the Civil War where the regiment served in Sykes' Division, the badge of which was a white maltese cross. Three of these crosses are used to denote the regiment's numerical designation.

The baton was made from the flag staff which stood in front of the Cathedral in the Grand Plaza in Mexico City at the time of its capture. This baton represents the Chapultepec Baton and is used as one of the supports of the shield together with the Mexican War bayonet.

The motto "Noli Me Tangere" is a derivative of the Revolutionary motto "Don't Tread On Me," and literally means "No One Dare Touch Me," "Do Not Touch Me," or more commonly, "Touch Me Not."

The 3d Infantry is the only regiment in the Army which is permitted to use the shield of the United States as a part of its coat-of-arms. This is a unique recognition by the Department of the Army for the service which the oldest infantry regiment of the Army has rendered.

HISTORY

The history of the 3d United States Infantry mirrors the growth and development of our Nation. Its flags have flown valiantly in virtually every war the Nation has waged and 39 well-earned Battle Streamers attest to its magnificent record of bravery in action.

Older than the Constitution, the 3d Infantry has borne on its roll the names of men who fought with Washington at Valley Forge and Yorktown. It has furnished the Nation with a President, and many statesmen and soldiers of note.

The 3d Infantry traces its lineage to the First American Regiment organized under the authority of a "Resolve" of the Continental Congress of 1784, as a measure of protection for the young Nation following the demobilization of the Revolutionary Army. Its complement of officers and men was made up chiefly of those who had seen service in the Revolution.

The muskets of the regiment saw their first engagement in 1794, when, under the command of General "Mad Anthony" Wayne, they defeated the Indians at the battle of Fort Recovery. It was not until 1815, however, that the regiment finally became known as the 3d Infantry. This was accomplished by the consolidation of the 1st, 5th, 17th, 19th, and 28th Infantry Regiments, each having played an important part in the War of 1812.

There were three fronts in the war: the North, the Atlantic Coast, and the Gulf Coast. The 3d Infantry's first organized units fought in the campaigns of the Northern Front.

For the next 11 years the 3d Infantry was stationed along the Great Lakes, garrisoning many frontier forts. Late in 1826 while at Camp Miller, Missouri, the 3d Infantry erected the post now known as Jefferson Barracks, and the following year moved up the Missouri River and constructed Fort Leavenworth, named in honor of the 3d Infantry's Commanding Officer. Thirteen years of frontier duty followed in what are now the States of Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.

In 1840 the 3d Infantry saw arduous duty in the Indian Wars, gaining a large part of the credit for ending the second Seminole Campaign in Florida. In 1843 it returned to Jefferson Barracks, but 2 years later was again on the move—this time to Texas as a part of the Army of Observation under the command of General Zachary Taylor, formerly a major in the 3d Infantry, and later President of the United States.

In 1847 there followed the war with Mexico, in which the 3d Infantry distinguished itself by valiant action not exceeded by any other regiment. Organization Day, celebrated by the unit each year on 21 September, commemorates the battle of Monterey in which the Regiment led the assault and capture of this strategic fort.

Because of its gallant and vital part in the campaign resulting in the capture of Mexico City, particularly because of its success in storming the heavily defended heights of Chapultepec with fixed bayonets, the 3d Infantry was accorded the honor of marching at the head of the column when the victorious army made its triumphant entry into the city. As the 3d Infantry approached, General Winfield

Scott removed his hat and, turning to the members of his staff, said, "Gentlemen, take off your hats to the Old Guard of the Army." It is as the "Old Guard" that the Regiment has been known and honored throughout the army since that time.

From Mexico the unit went back to frontier warfare, first in Texas, then in New Mexico, and for 10 years battled the Apache and Navajo Indians.

Back in Texas in 1860, the Regiment prepared to return to the North when the clouds of the Civil War lowered in 1861. From Texas to New York the unit travelled by transport, and five companies arrived in time to participate in the first battle of Bull Run. The 3d Infantry, according to General McDowell, "by its gallant conduct, unflinching steadiness, and perfect order in covering the flight of the panic-stricken army, saved the Union." The 3d Infantry took part in many battles of the Army of the Potomac, and, although reduced in strength to about 200 officers and men, was present at the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox.

Scarcely had the Civil War ended when the 3d Infantry was again on the frontier in Kansas, where the Indian tribes had taken advantage of the war to commit depredations. From 1874 to 1877 it was on duty in Missouri and Pennsylvania to quell riots against the civil government. Then came 10 more years of Indian warfare on the Montana Frontier.

In 1888 the 3d Infantry was ordered to its home station, Fort Snelling, Minnesota. Thus, the unit began a lengthy association with the Twin Cities, being stationed at Fort Snelling at various times until the outbreak of World War II.

The years of comparative quiet were ended in 1898 by the outbreak of war with Spain, and the battle-ready unit was one of the first regiments ordered to Cuba. The "Old Guard" participated in every important engagement until returning to its home station in September, 1898.

At Leech Lake, Minnesota, the following month, Old Guardsmen were again locked in conflict with an old foe in the final battle against the Indians in the United States.

In January 1899 the 3d Infantry left Fort Snelling en route to the Philippine Islands by way of New York. There, for 3 years, it saw strenuous service in the "Philippine Insurrection."

After this campaign The Old Guard spent 2 years at Fort Thomas and other stations in the Midwest, and then went to Alaska in June, 1904. When the Regiment returned to the United States in 1906, it was stationed at Fort George Wright and other stations in that vicinity until 1909, when it was again sent to the Philippines. It saw little fighting this time but was engaged in constructing roads, marking trails, building telephone lines, and making some sections habitable.

Orders came to return to the States in 1912. The 3d Infantry settled down to 4 years of duty at Madison Barracks and Fort Ontario, New York. In 1916 the unit was ordered to the Mexican Border. Here, although it gained little glory, it performed necessary security missions along the Mexican border during the First World War.

In 1920 the 3d Infantry left Texas for Camp Sherman, Ohio, and in July, 1921, left there for its home station, Fort Snelling. It marched all the way, 940 miles, reaching home in an early November snowstorm. Soon, however, the weather was forgotten in the warm welcome extended by old friends. Here the unit remained, training large contingents of civilians, Organized Reserves, National Guard Units, and college students. By 1939 over 10,000 of these college students became Reserve Officers, a great contribution toward the future safety and welfare of our country. The entire unit next participated in extensive peacetime maneuvers as a part of the Sixth Division. On 13 January 1941, part of the 3d Infantry left the States for foreign duty to occupy a strategic outpost—Newfoundland.

The unit remained in Newfoundland until September, 1943. After its return to the United States, it was stationed at various parts of the country until 8 March 1945, when the unit departed from Boston for the campaign in Europe.

Late in March of 1945 the 3d Infantry, along with the 159th Infantry, was attached to the 106th Division, which had borne the brunt of the German counteroffensive ("Battle of the Bulge"). The 3d Infantry was further assigned as a reserve element for the 66th Division, which was holding the Germans in check in the St. Nazaire area. Plans were being formulated to relieve the 66th with the 3d, but orders were issued directing the 3d Infantry, as a part of the 106th Division, to move to Germany.

The 106th Infantry Division, composed of the 3d, 424th, and 159th Regiments, raced across Germany corralling thousands of prisoners in the final drive to victory against the Axis Powers. Approximately 1,500,000 prisoners of war passed through the processing centers, of which the 3d Infantry was responsible for a large portion. It was an important and sensitive mission receiving, processing, interrogating, and discharging the hoards of vanquished German soldiers.

Following the German surrender, the 3d Infantry was deactivated in Germany on 20 November 1946 and remained in an inactive status until 6 April 1948, when the unit was reactivated at an impressive ceremony on the U.S. Capitol Plaza. During the ceremony the colors were presented to the Regiment by Major General Hobart R. Gay, then Commanding General of the Military District of Washington.

The 3d Infantry was reorganized with the First Battalion and Regimental Headquarters located at Fort Myer, Virginia, and the Second Battalion at Fort Lesley J. McNair, Washington, D.C.

In keeping with its esteemed tradition and glory, The Old Guard was given the vital assignment of guarding the heart of our land, the Nation's Capital. Simultaneously, the 3d Infantry became the Army's official ceremonial unit in the Washington, D.C., area.

In addition to maintaining a constant state of readiness to provide security for the Nation's Capital, some of the new duties assumed by The Old Guard were: serving as personal escort to Presidents of the United States; marching as lead element in Inaugural, Armed Forces, and other parades; guarding the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier; planning, coordinating and executing State Funerals and conducting military funerals in Arlington National Cemetery; participating in wreath-laying ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier; participating in arrival and departure ceremonies for American and foreign dignitaries; and performing in various military drills and pageants.

One of the most important obligations of the 3d Infantry is to render the best possible impression of the United States Army to the American public and to national and international dignitaries. Consequently, the standards of conduct and appearance in The Old Guard are of the highest level, and each individual soldier is conscious of the fact that he represents not only the Army, but his Nation.

On 1 July 1957 a reorganization of the 3d Infantry was effected, based upon the Pentomic concept, which converted battalions to battle groups and eliminated active regimental organizations as such. As a result of the reorganization, the Regiment was consolidated and designated the 1st Battle Group, 3d Infantry. The Battle Group was located at Fort Myer, Virginia, with the exception of Company A, which was stationed at Fort McNair, Washington, D.C. The missions of the unit remained unchanged.

The Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps was activated on 28 March 1960, to provide music for the 1st Battle Group, 3d Infantry (The Old Guard) at ceremonial functions. The Corps' colorful costumes are exact reproductions of Revolutionary War Uniforms, and the tunes which they play are taken from authentic music of that period. The Corps also is noted for its use of the colonial drill as formulated in 1779 by Baron Friederich Wilhelm von Steuben, the Prussian General who trained George Washington's soldiers.

On Organization Day, 21 September 1960, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, visited the 3d

Infantry at Fort Myer. He observed the Fife and Drum Corps' presentation of colonial music and drill and the intricate maneuvers of the United States Army Drill Team. The men of the 3d Infantry then passed in review for their Commander-in-Chief. The highlight of the Corps' many activities was their appearance in the Inaugural Parade and at the Inaugural Ball in 1961 for the late President John F. Kennedy.

On 13 January 1961 an old tradition of military pageants was revived at the Fort Myer gymnasium with the performance of "PRELUDE TO TAPS" by the 3d Infantry and the United States Army Band. The colorful military pageant featured the "History of the Stars and Stripes," a story of state and national flags depicting the evolution of "Old Glory"; the celebrated Fife and Drum Corps; the United States Army Drill Team, which performed intricate rifle and drill maneuvers with fixed bayonets; a Ranger demonstration of rugged hand to hand combat; "The Army Story," an act which traces the entire history of today's modern Army; "Muskets in Motion," an exhibition of coordinated rifle drill set to music; and the inspiring music of the United States Army Band and Chorus. The performance that year was so successful that it has become another tradition with The Old Guard and is staged every year in conjunction with the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.

On 20 September 1963 the 3d Infantry was reorganized into a reinforced Battalion, according to a new concept, ROAD, a reorganization of Army Divisions developed by the Department of the Army. The missions of the 1st Battalion (Reinforced), 3d Infantry (The Old Guard) remained basically unchanged.

With the reorganization of the Battle Group into a Battalion, the custodianship of regimental trophies, battle streamers and historical mementos passed to the control of the 1st Battalion (Reinf), 3d Infantry (The Old Guard). Some of these trophies, as well as pictorial exhibits showing the history of the unit, are on display at 3d Infantry Headquarters, Fort Myer, Virginia.

In order to accomplish effectively its dual mission of ceremonies and combat proficiency, The Old Guard constantly emphasizes perfection in its training program. Many hours are spent each month on field training alone. A great deal of stress is placed on subjects such as troop leading procedures, tactical formations, day and night patrolling, offensive and defensive tactics, land navigation and domestic emergency training. In addition to instruction and the practical application of these subjects at Fort Myer, each year the entire unit qualifies with basic infantry weapons at Camp Pickett, Virginia, and Fort Meade, Maryland.

Annually, field training culminates at Camp A. P. Hill, Virginia, where squad, platoon, and company tactical proficiency is tested on a progressive scale. Each company conducts squad training and each individual squad is evaluated through a standard Army Training Test. In a similar manner, platoon and company training tests are conducted. Thus, The Old Guard maintains a constant state of combat readiness.

The bulk of the ceremonial training for newly assigned soldiers is conducted during an individual's first 3 months with The Old Guard. Ceremonial proficiency is gained by emphasizing posture, appearance, the manual of arms and marching. Once these are perfected, an individual constantly improves by actual performance in the many ceremonies in which he is required to participate. During the period 1 September 1963 to 1 September 1964, The Old Guard conducted 8,120 separate ceremonies. These functions varied in scope from the State Funerals for Presidents John F. Kennedy, Herbert C. Hoover, and General of the Army Douglas MacArthur to simple wreath-laying ceremonies in Arlington National Cemetery.

To Honor Guard Company of The Old Guard is entrusted the singular honor of providing a select detail of sentinels to maintain an eternal vigil at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. Night and day, regardless of weather conditions, the finest examples of America's fighting men are placed on public view. Each sentry takes his appointed turn to pace the narrow mat before America's shrine to the Unknowns . . . symbol of those who have fallen in defense of our Nation.

APPENDIX CUSTOMS AND TRADITIONS OF THE OLD GUARD

COLONIAL COSTUMES

At many parades and ceremonies of The Old Guard, the color team wears the uniforms of the original 3d Infantry. These blue and white uniforms are exact replicas of the uniform worn by the enlisted men of the Regiment when organized in 1784. The purpose of the old uniform is to recall to the minds of every member of the unit the long and honorable history of the 3d Infantry.

THE BUFF STICKS

The 3d Infantry became known throughout the Army as the "Buff Sticks" commencing with a period shortly after the War of 1812. The reason for this being that soldiers used buff sticks (a strip of wood with a piece of leather or other buffing material fastened to it) to polish the buttons on their uniforms. The name was originally applied to one soldier whose equipment was in exceptionally bright and excellent condition. Gradually this designation came to be applied to the entire unit because of its soldierly appearance at all times.

KNAPSACK STRAP

It is further related that the soldiers of the 1st Sub-Legion, being proud of their colors, took every occasion to display them and so distinguish their members from members of other units of the Army. One of the methods used was to weave straps of rawhide (natural buff color) into the broad black shoulder straps of the knapsack which formed part of the equipment at that time. The present distinctive insignia of the 3d Infantry, the "Buff Strap" worn on the left shoulder of the coat, is a direct descendant of that old custom of the 1st Sub-Legion. The insignia is a strap of black leather one-half inch in width with a strip of buff leather one-fourth inch in width woven into it in such a manner that two lengths of the buff leather, each $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches long, appear in front of the shoulder.

ORGANIZATION DAY

Among its many campaigns, the 3d Infantry received particular commendation for its role in the Mexican War. The 3d Infantry colors were seen in the vanguard of General Winfield Scott's Army from the initial battle at Palo Alto to the final capitulation of the Mexican forces in Mexico City. From events which occurred during the war, many regimental traditions sprang up to be continued to the present day.

A fierce battle lasting three days was fought early in the war at Monterey, with the 3d Infantry emerging victorious. In that period of lull and rest that follows any contest, the officers and men decided to celebrate annually an Organization Day on the 21st of September, the date of the battle of Monterey. Still celebrated today as a day of rest, Organization Day is a sort of birthday celebration even though 3 June 1784 is the actual birthday of the 3d Infantry.

CHAPULTEPEC BATON

This baton was made of wood from the original flagstaff which in 1847 stood in front of the cathedral in the Grand Plaza in Mexico City. The head and ferrule are made of native Mexican silver. The baton was presented to the 3d Infantry in 1848 by Brigadier General Persifer F. Smith, its Division Commander, to commemorate the part the unit took in the capture of the city, and especially the successful bayonet assault it made upon the fortress of Chapultepec.

On 10 April 1952, President Truman presented a baton to the Regiment. The baton was fashioned from 136-year-old white pine used in the construction of the White House after the destruction of the mansion by the British during the War of 1812. The new baton commemorated the long service of the 3d Infantry in the Army as well as the years spent in the Washington area as the Guard for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Honor Guard for the President, and the Honor Guard at other official ceremonies and functions. In recognition of this, the baton was named "The Presidential Baton" by members of the Regiment and is presently displayed in the 3d Infantry Headquarters.

WHY WE MARCH IN REVIEW WITH BAYONETS FIXED

On 18 April 1847 the 3d Infantry, leading the Army under General Winfield Scott on the march from Vera Cruz to Mexico City, came in sight of the enemy strongly posted on the heights of Cerro Gordo. The 3d Infantry, under command of Captain Alexander, with the 7th Infantry on its left and the 1st Artillery (serving as Infantry) in support, was detailed to capture the position. It was carried by a brilliant charge of which General Scott made special mention.

"The style of execution which I had pleasure to witness was most brilliant and decisive," he said. "The brigade ascended the long and difficult slope without shelter and under tremendous fire of artillery and muskets with the utmost steadiness, reaching the breastwork, drove the enemy from there, planted the colors of the 3d and 7th Infantries and the 1st Artillery—the enemy's flag still flying—and after some minutes of sharp firing finished the conquest with the bayonet." In 1922 the 3d Infantry was granted permission from the War Department to "Pass in Review" with bayonets fixed in commemoration of that charge. This colorful tradition has been a conspicuous feature of the 3d Infantry to this day.
